BJP set to get working majority in Upper House

ARCHIS MOHAN
New Delhi, 23 March

The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) on Friday moved closer to a ‘working’ majority in the Rajya Sabha as it improved its tally from 58 to 68 seats.

Its biggest gains came from Uttar Pradesh. It won 9 of the 10 seats from the state for which voting and counting took place on Friday. The Samajwadi Party (SP)’s Jaya Bachchan won. But, Bahujan Samaj Party’s (BSP’s) Bhimrao Ambedkar, who had been assured support by the SP, Congress and Rashtriya Lok Dal (RJD), lost because of cross-voting. BSP chief Mayawati had promised support to SP candidates in Phulpur and Gorakhpur Lok Sabha by-elections in return for support to her candidate in the Rajya Sabha. Among the BJP’s winners was Finance Minister Arun Jaitley, who was earlier a Rajya Sabha member from Gujarat.

At a meeting of the BJP parliamentary party here in the evening, Prime Minister Narendra Modi said the Opposition was spreading lies against his government out of frustration stemming from electoral losses. He asked BJP MPs to make better use of technology to take the truth to the people. Party chief Amit Shah asked MPs to hold press conferences in their constituencies to explain to the people how the Opposition was not letting Parliament run.

As for the Rajya Sabha polls, of the two seats in Jharkhand, the Congress candidate defeated the BJP’s by the thinnest of margins. The BJP won the other seat.

Of the four seats in Karnataka, the Congress won three seats, the third with the help of Janata Dal (Secular) rebels. The fourth seat was won by the BJP’s Rajeev Chandrasekhar.

The Congress lost seats in some states, but also gained in Bihar, Gujarat and Karnataka, which kept its tally at 54 seats in the Rajya Sabha. In West Bengal, Congress’s Abhishek Manu Singhvi won with the help of the Trinamool Congress.

In Kerala, the Left Democratic Front ensured the victory of dissident Janata Dal (United) leader MP Veerendra Kumar.

Voting was held on Friday for 26 of the 59 seats which will fall vacant in April. Candidates for the rest of the 33 seats were elected unopposed on the last day of withdrawal of nominations for the election on March 15. The counting of votes was marred by controversies in Uttar Pradesh, Karnataka and Jharkhand, where elections were held for 10 seats, four seats and two seats, respectively. The SP lost the most number of seats, its tally coming down from 18 to 13. The Telangana Rashttra Samiti doubled its tally to six, while the RJD’s went up from three to five. After the Rajya Sabha polls, the BJP is still short of the halfway mark of 123 in the 245-member House, but can now muster a “working” majority with help of allies, friendly parties, some of the independents and nominated members.

Apart from the 68-odd seats the BJP has, its allies have 18 seats. Of the five independents, at least four are inclined towards the BJP. Of the 12 nominated, four have already officially joined the BJP. Of the rest, four are set to retire by June.

Cong moves no-confidence motion

ARCHIS MOHAN
New Delhi, 23 March

The Congress party on Friday moved a no-confidence motion against the Narendra Modi government in the Lok Sabha, even as Speaker Sumitra Mahajan continued to insist she couldn’t consider other no-confidence motions moved by the YSR Congress Party (YSRCP) and Telugu Desam Party (TDP) amid din.

Opposition parties apart, many ruling Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) MPs and its allies also demanded the Modi government file a review petition in the Supreme Court on the apex court’s recent order on the SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act. BJP Lok Sabha MP Udit Raj said he would raise the issue with BJP leaders, including the PM and party chief Amit Shah, at their parliamentary party meeting on Friday. Congress chief Rahul Gandhi led a party demonstration on the issue inside Parliament’s premises.

“The government must file a review plea against the order. If it does not, it will definitely impact us (BJP) adversely. When the government takes credit for positive developments, it will also get discredited for something that goes wrong,” Raj said.

Several Dalit MPs of the BJP want the government to file a review petition against the order. Dalit ministers such as Ram Vilas Paswan, also chief of the Lok Janshakti Party, an ally of the BJP, have spoken in favour of filing a review petition. Law Minister Ravi Shankar Prasad has said the government will examine the order and then come out with a structured response.

Mallikarjun Kharge, leader of the Congress in the Lok Sabha, will move the no-confidence motion when the House reconvenes on Tuesday. The motion has been listed for Tuesday and the Congress has issued an order to all its MPs to be present in the House on that day.

In the Rajya Sabha, Chairman M Venkaiah Naidu said the members needed to introspect, since persisting with disruptions for three long weeks had no justification. The House couldn’t transact any business and he was pained by it.

‘The country can’t subsidise education too much’

Q&A

RAGHURAM RAJAN
Former RBI governor

You are on the advisory council of KREA University. Will you be teaching also?

Just like I was previously associated with ISB (Indian School of Business), I go there once in a while, I taught a course there, and I visit classes. My wife teaches there now. So, there will be an engagement of course. I am working with the academic council and the board. It’s a bunch of people who have come together. I don’t want to occupy any bigger position than I am holding now. I am merely helping, along with a large group of very dedicated people.

You are a product of an Indian education system. What do you think the system is lacking now?

We have fantastic institutions. But remember, we have so many young children coming in now, looking for admission into colleges. And our system is inadequate in terms of numbers to serve all of them with high-quality education. And of course, every time there is an opportunity to rethink what the old institutions are doing. Can we do things differently? Is there room for something new even when the old continues? We need more institutions to meet the demand. We have 100,000 students going abroad every year. So, we have room for at least 100 universities of very high quality to service those 100,000 students. We have the freedom to create a new model and that’s what is exciting.

Why is Raghuram Rajan, who is very much a public figure, not engaged in the public education system, and

Eminent economist and former Reserve Bank of India (RBI) governor RAGHURAM RAJAN is part of an elite group that launched a unique undergraduate private university for liberal arts. In an exclusive chat with Anup Roy and Nikhat Hetavkar, Rajan says there is a need to give quality education in India to students who fly overseas every year. Edited excerpts:

“WE HAVE LOTS OF ENTITIES THAT CAN PROVIDE QUANTITY, BUT WE NEED TO ENSURE THAT WE HAVE AT LEAST SOME THAT CAN PROVIDE QUALITY”

why do you have to branch out into the private sphere?

It’s not much of private. The intention is to make it available to those who qualify. There will be scholarships for those who can’t afford to pay. There is far more flexibility in creating a new institution when you come together without the existing structures. That’s why it’s important to try and experiment outside the formal public structure.

But even then the fee is ₹700,000-800,000 per annum for a four-year course.

This is what it costs. When we talk about IITs, you will have to look at what the true cost per student the country is paying. Now that is buried somewhere in the government budget. And students are paying only a fraction of it. I paid a fraction of the cost it took the country to educate me. With private institutions, the cost is all out there. If you want quality, you want to pay your faculty a reasonable amount, you want buildings as places in which you feel like learning, you have to spend money. What we are trying to say is that we will try and ensure that anybody who is admitted can afford to pay. Certainly in this country we can’t subsidise education too much.

Education inflation was always a worrying factor for you. Now that if you have such a high fee structure for a premier institute, there is a good chance that other private institutions will hike their fees.

I don’t think the intention is to make enormous amounts of money here. This is a not-for-profit institute. What we will try to do is to keep it as affordable as possible. But you have to ensure a certain quality of education. Now if this institution turns out to be overly expensive, alternatives will come up. Competition will always work, even in the education market. We have lots of entities that can provide quantity, but we need to ensure that we have at least some that can provide quality. As I said, there are institutions that are very respectable out there.
