PNGRB Plans to Open City Gas for External Investors

Move to bring fresh capital to areas where infra exclusivity has lapsed

Sanjeev Choudhary

New Delhi: The Petroleum and Natural Gas Regulatory Board (PNGRB) plans to enable third-party capital investment in city gas distribution (CGD) areas where infrastructure exclusivity has expired. The downstream regulator has identified expanding the reach of natural gas, accelerating the shift of petroleum products from road and rail to pipelines, and promoting transparency and competition in petroleum and gas infrastructure among its priorities in its action plan for FY27. The regulator describes its annual action plan as a "comprehensive roadmap of strategic priorities, regulatory commitments and institutional vision for the year ahead". "Enable competition and infusion of capex through third parties in the geographical areas where pipeline and infrastructure exclusivity has expired," the regulator said in the action plan. It also aims to "improve visibility of infrastructure capacity unbundling of functions and creation of an independent Transmission System Operator (TSO)".

Ending the exclusivity of city gas distributors and unbundling gas transmission and marketing have long been among the regulator's most complex challenges.

ACME Solar Secures ₹3.4k cr Funding from Power Finance Corp

State-backed co to be sole financier for 250-MW project; Co's FY27 total funding tops ₹6,000 cr

Our Bureau

Mumbai: ACME Solar Holdings (ACME Solar) has secured ₹3,404.37 crore in long-term funding from Power Finance Corporation (PFC) for the development and construction of its ACME Urja One (Phase-III)

250-MW FDRE project, the company said on Wednesday. PFC will serve as the sole financier for the project, with a repayment tenor of 19 years. This takes the overall project funding raised by the company during the current financial year to ₹6,051 crore, the company said.

PPA SIGNED WITH NHPC
The power purchase agreement for this project was signed with NHPC for a period of 25 years at a tariff of ₹4.33 per unit. The tariff has already been approved and adopted by the central and state regulators. The ACME Urja One (Phase-III) FDRE project combines multiple renewable energy technologies, including solar, wind and battery energy storage systems (BESS). It spans Faridkot-II in Jaisalmer, Rajasthan, and Jambhaliya in Dehkhumbi Dwarka, Gujarat, with necessary land and connectivity in place.

Cos Sharpen Gen Z Outreach as Social Media Buzz Reshapes Marketing

Anumecha Chaturvedi & Ratna Bhushan

New Delhi: Brands are expected to sharpen their focus on Gen Z consumers following recent developments, with companies across food and apparel increasing their engagement on social media, particularly Instagram. The renewed push comes even as the Bharatiya Janata Party released a new video targeting young Indians. Executives at three Gen Z-focused brands told ET they are stepping up marketing efforts aimed at this demographic. "Given the explosion of interest on Instagram in the past few weeks, we are allocating at least 25% more ad and promotional spends on the platform compared to last month," one executive said. On Wednesday, fashion brand Provogue announced a digital campaign featuring actor Fardes Khan, aimed at Gen Z consumers. Earlier this week, KFC India marketing director Tamisha Sajani said in a LinkedIn post that the brand had crossed one million followers on Instagram, thanking the Gen Z community "for rewarding authenticity and making KFC more KFC, every single day." Sandeep Goyal, managing director of advertising agency Rediffusion, said there has been a "tremendous spike" in brand promotions targeting Gen Z across social media platforms. "Brands are stepping up visibility not just on Instagram but across social platforms. However, higher ad spends alone will not be enough. Content has to be relevant to drive engagement and stand out in a crowded digital space," he said. Shivam Shahi, co-founder of Blue Tokai Coffee Roasters, said the company's Janpath outlet has seen sales rise 20% week-on-week after receiving appreciation from Gen Z users on Instagram for offering assistance during the protests in Delhi. "But we are not supporters of the Cockerroach Janata Party. We helped students in distress out of basic human decency," he said. "Our policies have always been centred around helping those in need. Customers don't have to place an order to use our washrooms, first aid is always available."

Hershey India to Focus on Top 6 Cities, Exit Non-Metros

Aanya Thakur & Sagar Malviya

Mumbai: In a rare distribution shift in India's fast-moving consumer goods sector, Hershey India is pulling out of general trade in non-metro markets to focus on the country's top six cities, breaking from rivals who continue to expand deeper into smaller towns through kirana stores. The Pennsylvania-based confectionery maker on Wednesday told employees at a town hall that it will concentrate investments on premium urban consumers, prioritising modern trade, quick commerce, e-commerce and general trade in the largest metros while revamping its distribution network across select traditional trade markets to drive profitable growth. Rather than seek a presence in every town, the company is betting that India's largest cities and rapidly expanding digital commerce ecosystem will generate stronger returns as consumers increasingly spend on premium chocolates and packaged food, said a person familiar with the development. India is among Hershey's most important growth markets globally supported by rising premium consumption, rapid urbanisation, increasing digital adoption and the expansion of omni-channel retail, the company said.

Protesting students not terrorists, stop troubling them: Dipke

Chhatrapati Sambhaji- nagar: CJP founder Abhi- ject Dipke on Wednesday said govt should stop troubling protesting students, saying they are not terrorists but are the future of the country. He also said the youth will change govt if it does not fall in line.

Dipke was talking to reporters at Chhatrapati Sambhaji nagar airport following his return from Delhi, where CJP led a vehement month-long protest over the NEET paper leak issue that gripped the nationwide movement and culminated in Union minister Dharmendra Pradhan's resignation.

After landing in Chhatrapati Sambhaji nagar, Dipke said he is happy that he will be able to meet his parents now.

"I am coming home after almost 40 days. Since I came to India, the agitations were on. Then I was at Jantar Mantar in Delhi for almost 36 days. The agitation turned out to be successful and the country's students won... I have come here and I am happy that I am going to meet my parents," he said.

Dipke said govt in many states were troubling the students after the protest. "The government should behave well now. The blood of students was spilled on the streets on July 20 (during the March to

'Gutter chaap' remarks: Ranaut & CJP trade barbs

New Delhi: Actor and BJP MP Kanganana Ranaut on Wednesday doubled down on her caustic comments against the recent student agitation, using terms like "Janti-Nazis" and "gutter chaap" to describe Gen Z protesters and taking on the CJP founder Abhiject Dipke in a sharp, unpleasant exchange of words.

Ranaut, known for making provocative comments, has sparked a massive row with a series of posts and media bites targeting the CJP spearheaded protests over exam irregularities.

She has called Gen Z "generation gutter", described their reels as "puke inducing" and asked who "is birthing and raising them", landing at the centre of controversy with opposition MPs and others lashing out at her. In an Instagram selfie video, the MP from Mandi in Himachal singled out the media for attacking her.

"I asked them not to normalise the 'gutter chaap', unethical and filthy behaviour of some protesters who were doing it on the streets in front of kids, elders, and women. We do not accept this in this society. We do not want our children to be sexualized and feel embarrased in front of our elders.

We do not accept this kind of behaviour," she said. Ranaut also brought in PM Modi into the discussion & said some protesters had used abusive language against him. "People call PM an exam buddy. Some consider him as a friend. Some consider him as family. Some consider him god. In the same way you cannot hurt anyone's feelings. This is not being cool. This is a basic civic sense," she said.

BS-III vehicles' rubber parts may need replacement with E20 fuel, says govt

New Delhi: The government on Wednesday said some rubber parts and gaskets in BS-III vehicles, introduced from April 1, 2005, & manufactured before 2016, may need to be replaced when operated with E20 fuel (petrol containing 20 per cent ethanol).

In a written reply to the Rajya Sabha, Road Transport & Highways Minister Nitin Gadkari said that with regard to the concern of vehicle mileage due to the use of E20 fuel, automobile manufacturers and vehicle engine testing agencies have clarified that vehicle mileage is influenced by a host of factors beyond just fuel type. Gadkari said a study for the evaluation of effect of E20 on two-wheelers and four-wheelers was carried out jointly by IOCL, IIP Dehradun, SIAM and ARAI.
