In order to increase the efficiency of the voting process, pursuant to a public consultation, it has been decided to enable e-voting to all the demat account holders, by way of a single login credential, through their demat accounts/ websites of Depositories/ Depository Participants. Demat account holders would be able to cast their vote without having to register again with the ESPs, thereby, not only facilitating seamless authentication but also enhancing ease and convenience of participating in e-voting process.

SEBI/HO/CFD/CMD/CIR/P/2020/242 dated December 9, 2020 on e-Voting facility provided by Listed Companies, Individual shareholders holding securities in demat mode are allowed to vote through their demat account maintained with Depositories and Depository Participants. ANNEXURE VIII*MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS REPORT

This chapter on Management's Discussion and Analysis ("MD&A") is intended to provide the stakeholders with a greater understanding of the Company's business, business strategy, and performance, as well as how it manages risk and capital. The following discussion and analysis is intended to help the reader understand the results of operations and financial condition of OBSC Perfection Limited ("the Company") for the financial year ended 31st March, 2026 ("FY 2025-26" / "FY26").

1. Industry Structure and DevelopmentsGlobal Economy

The global economy has remained resilient through FY 2025-26, though growth has moderated from the pace seen in earlier years. According to the IMF's July 2026 World Economic Outlook Update, global growth is projected at 3.0% for 2026 and 3.4% for 2027, broadly unchanged in cumulative terms from the April 2026 World Economic Outlook. The outlook remains uneven: the conflict in the Middle East that erupted earlier in the year has weighed on energy-importing and vulnerable economies, while strong AI-driven investment demand continues to lift countries integrated into the global technology value chain. Global disinflation has stalled, and while downside risks are somewhat more balanced than at the start of the year, a renewed escalation of conflict, financial market repricing, elevated public debt, and eroding institutional credibility remain key vulnerabilities.

Amid this backdrop, India continues to stand out as the fastest-growing large economy in the world, underpinned by a young population, resilient domestic demand, strengthening institutions and effective governance, and remains on track to become the world's third-largest economy in the coming years.

Indian Economy

The Indian economy has demonstrated considerable strength through FY 2025-26, even as global geopolitical uncertainty, tariff-related disruptions and volatile commodity prices tested supply chains and investor sentiment worldwide. Key growth drivers during the year included the rationalisation of GST rates (GST 2.0) which boosted consumption, successive repo rate cuts by the RBI, sustained government capital expenditure, benign inflation [within the RBI's tolerance band through the year], and healthy corporate and bank balance sheets.

Looking ahead, private sector capital expenditure is expected to gather further pace, supported by global supply chain diversification, and the durability of domestic demand. Nevertheless, prolonged geopolitical tensions, volatility in global trade policy, and financial market fluctuations continue to pose risks to an otherwise constructive outlook. India's structural reforms and improving physical and digital infrastructure position it well to navigate these external headwinds.

Automobile IndustryGlobal Automobile Industry

The global automotive market remains a large and structurally evolving industry with the Asia-Pacific region continuing to lead on the back of rising disposable incomes and demand for higher-performance vehicles. The industry continues to undergo significant transformation — a shift from internal combustion engines toward electrified powertrains, and from hardware to software-driven differentiation — which has allowed new entrants, particularly from China, to gain global market share. This transformation overlaps with a challenging macroeconomic backdrop in Europe, including elevated energy costs, inflation and geopolitical tensions, making the pace and manner of adaptation critical to the region's competitiveness. Companies across the value chain continue to navigate regulatory change while investing in sustainable and advanced mobility solutions.

Automobile Industry in India

India's automobile industry delivered a record performance in FY 2025-26. According to the Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers (SIAM), total automobile wholesales crossed 2.83 crore units during the year, with every vehicle category — passenger vehicles, two-wheelers, three-wheelers and commercial vehicles — recording its highest-ever sales in a financial year, for the first time in seven years. SIAM has indicated that the industry expects this positive growth trajectory to continue into FY 2026-27, supported by policy-led tailwinds, even as it remains watchful of evolving global geopolitical developments.

India continues to hold a strong position in the global market for heavy vehicles as the largest producer of tractors, the second-largest manufacturer of buses, and the third-largest producer of heavy trucks, and remains an increasingly important base for global automotive exports and component sourcing.

Auto Components Industry in India

Overview

The Indian auto components industry continues to benefit directly from the strong momentum in domestic vehicle production and sales, as well as from India's emergence as a globally competitive sourcing and manufacturing base. As demand for vehicles has grown, so has the depth and sophistication of India's component manufacturing ecosystem, resulting in increasing international demand for Indian-made components and sub-assemblies.

Industry Impact

As per the Automotive Component Manufacturers Association of India (ACMA), the Indian auto component industry recorded its highest-ever annual turnover of Rs. 7.60 lakh crore (USD 85.9 billion) in FY 2025-26, registering growth of 12.7% in rupee terms over the previous year, supported by robust domestic demand, higher vehicle production, sustained investment in capacity and technology, and steady export growth despite a challenging global trade environment. Supplies to Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEMs) grew 16.3% to Rs. 6.63 lakh crore (USD 75 billion), while the aftermarket segment expanded 9% to Rs. 1.08 lakh crore (USD 12.3 billion), aided by a growing vehicle parc and greater formalisation of the repair ecosystem. Component exports rose 5% to USD 24 billion (Rs. 2.12 lakh crore). Over the past five years, the industry has more than doubled in size, growing at a CAGR of 17% between FY 2020-21 and FY 2025-26, reflecting India's growing stature as a global automotive manufacturing hub. Notably, EV components (excluding lithium-ion batteries) contributed 4.6% of domestic OEM supplies during the year, underlining the gradual but steady electrification of the component base.

Investment Landscape

The Indian auto component sector continues to attract significant investment from both domestic and international players, aided by continued policy support for localisation and manufacturing under initiatives such as "Make in India" and the PLI scheme for Automobile and Auto Components. The Government's continued push toward electric mobility, with a stated ambition of 30% electric vehicle penetration by 2030, along with customs duty concessions for critical EV manufacturing inputs, is expected to further catalyse investment into new-generation component categories.

Future Prospects

As the automotive sector transitions toward electric, connected and hybrid vehicles, new opportunities are emerging for component manufacturers who can offer precision engineering, faster development cycles and diversified process capabilities. Programmes such as the Bharat New Car Assessment Program (BNCAP) are expected to encourage the production of more advanced, safety-oriented components. Manufacturers that invest in sustainable and lightweight materials, digitalisation, and diversification beyond the automotive sector — into segments such as defence, aerospace, marine and renewables — are best placed to benefit from the next phase of the industry's evolution.

2. Opportunities and Threats

Opportunities

- Fuel-Efficient Vehicles: Improved fuel combustion engines and cost-efficiency programs present opportunities, especially in emerging markets where demand for fuel-efficient vehicles remains strong.
- New Industries: Diversification from a pure-play automotive components manufacturer to a precision metal components manufacturer serving multiple non-automotive industries — such as defence, aerospace, marine and renewables — is leading to higher customer traction, better order inflows, and reduced sectoral concentration risk.
- Market Expansion: Continued expansion into new geographies is expected to significantly increase addressable demand for precision components.

Threats

- Intense Competition: The industry has a large number of players, leading to intense competition for market share and making it difficult for new entrants to gain ground.
- Slow Economy / Geopolitical Disruption: Macroeconomic uncertainty, geopolitical conflicts, or a slowdown in key end-markets can negatively impact the automobile and component industry over an extended period.

3. Performance Overview

The Company is engaged in the manufacture of precision metal components for a diversified set of end industries, including automotive, defence, marine and renewables. The Company's operations are structured as a single operating segment, with the chief operating decision maker identifying India and outside India as the two geographical segments.

4. Outlook

a) Market Growth Potential

The outlook for the auto components manufacturing sector remains positive, driven by:

- Rising vehicle population across emerging markets continues to increase demand for components.
- Aging vehicles in both developed and developing regions.
- The global shift towards electric vehicles (EVs) is creating new component categories (e.g., battery management systems, e-motors, inverters), opening up new manufacturing opportunities.

b) Evolving Customer Preferences

- Customers are becoming more quality-conscious, with stringent, globally benchmarked quality expectations.
- Faster delivery expectations are encouraging investment in supply chain and logistics capabilities.

c) Technology and Innovation Focus

- Transition to evolving emissions standards continues to drive product innovation.
- Smart and connected vehicles are boosting demand for electronic components and sensors.
- Investment in R&D for lightweight materials, sustainable manufacturing, and longer-lasting parts remains critical.

d) Government Support and Policies

- Government initiatives such as "Make in India" and the PLI scheme continue to offer significant benefits to local manufacturers.
- Increased localisation requirements by OEMs are creating more business for domestic component suppliers.
- Regulatory support for EV ecosystem development is expected to further fuel component demand.

e) Export Growth Opportunities

- India continues to strengthen its position as a key manufacturing hub for global auto parts, supported by cost competitiveness, skilled labour, and growing bilateral trade agreements.
- Strong export demand persists from regions such as Europe, North America, the Middle East, and Southeast Asia.

f) Industry Consolidation & Partnerships

- OEMs and Tier-1 suppliers are increasingly seeking strategic partnerships and joint ventures for technology sharing and market expansion.
- Mergers and acquisitions in the component manufacturing space are expected to continue, as players seek scale, technology, and market access.

g) Challenges to Watch

- Volatility in raw material prices (steel, aluminium, plastics).
- Continuous need for capital investment in automation, quality upgrades, and regulatory compliance.
- Managing supply chain risks amid a globalised and increasingly uncertain trade environment.

h) Strategic Outlook for the Company

To remain competitive and capture future growth, the Company's focus continues to be on:

- Diversifying from a currently automotive-dominated revenue base into newer industries such as defence, aerospace, marine and renewables.
- Continuing to grow export sales.
- Expanding the product portfolio, including EV and hybrid-compatible components.
- Investing in automation and smart manufacturing (Industry 4.0).
- Building stronger relationships with OEMs and Tier-1 players.
- Adding further process capabilities — including forging, stamping, and eventually sub-assemblies — to move up the manufacturing value chain.

5. Risks and Concerns*a) Raw Material Price Volatility

- Parts manufacturing relies heavily on raw materials like steel, aluminium and other metals.
- Fluctuating global commodity prices can significantly impact production costs and margins.
- Companies may face difficulties in passing on cost increases to customers due to pricing contracts or market competitiveness.

b) Dependence on Automotive Industry Cycles

- Demand is closely tied to the overall health of the automotive industry.
- Any slowdown in vehicle production, due to economic downturns or policy changes, directly affects order flows.
- Dependence on a concentrated set of OEM clients exposes the business to customer concentration risk.

c) Exchange Rate Fluctuations

- Export-oriented manufacturers are exposed to foreign exchange risk, which can affect profitability if not adequately managed.
- Import dependence for machinery or raw materials also exposes the business to currency volatility.

d) Cybersecurity and IT Infrastructure Risks

- Increasing digitalisation (ERP, online ordering, supplier portals) exposes the Company to cyber threats and data breaches.
- Inadequate cybersecurity infrastructure can lead to loss of designs, production data, or customer information.

6. Internal Control System and Their Adequacy

The Company has devised systems, policies, and procedures/frameworks that are currently operational for ensuring the orderly and efficient conduct of its business, including adherence to policies, safeguarding of assets, prevention and detection of fraud and errors, accuracy and completeness of accounting records, and timely preparation of reliable financial information. In line with best practices, the Audit & Risk Management Committee and the Board review these internal control systems to ensure they remain effective and continue to achieve their intended purpose. Where weaknesses are identified through these reviews, new procedures are put in place to strengthen controls, which are in turn reviewed at regular intervals. These systems/frameworks include proper delegation of authority, defined operating philosophies, policies and procedures, effective IT systems aligned to business requirements, an internal audit framework, an ethics framework, a risk management framework, and adequate segregation of duties to maintain an acceptable level of risk. The Code covers transparency in financial reporting, ethical conduct, regulatory compliance, review of conflicts of interest, and reporting of matters. All audit observations and subsequent actions thereon are tracked by the Internal Audit function and reported to the Audit Committee.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the financial statements, as a whole and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Auditor's responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion.

Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance but is not guaranteed that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We, also:

- a) Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- b) Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances. Under section 143(3)(i) of the Companies Act, 2013, we are also responsible for expressing our opinion on whether the company has adequate internal financial controls system in place and the operating effectiveness of such controls.
- c) Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- d) Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- e) Evaluate the overall presentation, structure, and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards. From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditor's report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
