EXPLANATORY STATEMENT PURSUANT TO SECTION 102 OF THE COMPANIES ACT, 2013ITEM NO. 1 to 12*Brief about business of the Company in context of proposed Related Party Transactions:

The Company operates in the renewable energy sector, providing integrated solar and battery energy storage system (BESS) solutions to commercial, industrial, and utility customers across India. Its capabilities span the entire project lifecycle, including project design, engineering, procurement and construction (EPC), commissioning, and long-term operations and maintenance (O&M), enabling it to deliver comprehensive and reliable energy solutions.

The Company executes projects under two primary business models—OPEX and CAPEX—allowing flexibility to cater to diverse customer requirements. Under the OPEX model, the Company designs, procures, and installs solar and BESS systems for customers, who retain ownership of the assets and benefit from turnkey project execution. Under the CAPEX model, the Company develops, owns, and operates renewable energy assets through its project entities and supplies electricity to customers under long-term power purchase agreements (PPAs).

For projects developed under the CAPEX model, the Company typically adopts a project-based structure through special purpose vehicles (SPVs). Each SPV is established for a specific project and is responsible for owning and operating the corresponding solar or BESS asset. This structure enables efficient execution, enhances operational focus, and allows for effective risk management through ring-fencing of project-level exposures. It also facilitates access to project-specific financing from financial institutions and provides flexibility for potential asset monetization through sale to third parties, in line with the Company's capital recycling strategy.

As part of its project development activities, the Company invests in these SPVs in accordance with the requirements of the lenders under the project financing documents and provides a range of operational and financial support.

Brief on Proposed Related Party Transactions:

As outlined above, the Company undertakes EPC, commissioning, and operation and maintenance services for solar power/BESS plants and executes renewable energy projects through SPVs incorporated for specific projects. Such SPVs are typically subsidiary entities established for developing, owning, and operating solar power/BESS plants, and for entering into project-specific financing arrangements and long-term PPAs with customers.

In order to facilitate the development, implementation, and operation of these projects, the Company, in the ordinary course of its business, enters into certain transactions with such SPVs. These transactions qualify as Related Party Transactions under the applicable provisions of the Companies Act, 2013 and the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015. The proposed transactions broadly include the following:

Item No. 13Brief about business of the Company in context of proposed Related Party Transactions:

The Company operates in the renewable energy sector, providing integrated solar and battery energy storage system (BESS) solutions to commercial, industrial, and utility customers across India. Its capabilities span the entire project lifecycle, including project design, engineering, procurement and construction (EPC), commissioning, and long-term operations and maintenance (O&M), enabling it to deliver comprehensive and reliable energy solutions.

The Company executes projects under two primary business models—OPEX and CAPEX—allowing flexibility to cater to diverse customer requirements. Under the OPEX model, the Company designs, procures, and installs solar and BESS systems for customers, who retain ownership of the assets and benefit from turnkey project execution. Under the CAPEX model, the Company develops, owns, and operates renewable energy assets through its project entities and supplies electricity to customers under long-term power purchase agreements (PPAs).

In the course of executing solar EPC projects, the Company is required to procure various critical equipment and materials that constitute the core infrastructure of solar photovoltaic power plants, including solar photovoltaic modules, inverters, module mounting structures, transformers, cables, and other electrical and mechanical components. Among these, solar modules and Balance of System ("BOS") components constitute the most essential elements of a solar power plant, as they collectively enable the generation, transmission, and integration of electricity from solar energy. Solar modules convert sunlight into electricity, while BOS components include electrical systems, mounting structures, cabling, junction boxes, switchgear, monitoring systems, ACDB panels, metering panels, auxiliary panels, and other infrastructure necessary for the installation, interconnection, and operation of the solar power plant.

Accordingly, the timely procurement of high-quality solar modules and BOS components forms an integral and indispensable part of the Company's EPC and project development activities, as these materials are required for the construction, installation, and commissioning of solar power projects undertaken by the Company for its customers, as well as for projects implemented through its SPVs.

Brief on Proposed Related Party Transactions:

In order to execute its ongoing and upcoming solar EPC projects and renewable energy installations, the Company is required to procure solar photovoltaic modules and BOS components on a regular basis. Solar modules are the primary electricity-generating units of a photovoltaic system, while BOS components comprise the supporting infrastructure required for the safe installation and efficient operation of solar power plants. These components together form the core equipment required for the development and commissioning of solar photovoltaic projects.

Given the scale and pipeline of solar EPC projects undertaken by the Company, the procurement of such equipment and materials constitutes a significant and recurring operational requirement. The availability of a reliable supply of solar modules and BOS components is critical to ensure timely project execution, cost efficiency, compliance with technical standards, and adherence to project schedules under EPC contracts and power purchase agreements.

The engagement supports the Company's strategic plan to scale its renewable energy portfolio while minimizing execution risks and optimizing capital costs. Such EPC will contribute to revenue of the Company. Further, the commercial terms have been evaluated against market benchmarks to ensure they are on an arm's-length basis and in the ordinary course of business, thereby protecting the Company's and its shareholders' interests. The Company have obtained the Transfer Pricing Report for the same.	The investment by the Company will enable its Subsidiary, Truere Current Private Limited, to develop solar power plants, for which the EPC activities will be undertaken by the Company. Further, the investment requirement arises from the loan sanction terms prescribed by the lender, which mandate that the promoter company provide a specified level of equity or quasi-equity to support the development and execution of solar power plant projects being undertaken by the subsidiary. As part of the financing arrangements, the Company is required to pledge its investment in favour of the lender, to the extent agreed in the loan documents.	The Company extends the loans to its Subsidiary, Truere Current Private Limited, to support operational requirements, business expansion, and general corporate expenses. As the subsidiary's project is currently under construction and revenue generation will commence only upon commissioning, ongoing financial support is required to meet routine expenses.
