GREEN WAR | Civic body clarifies tree impact after protests; says the ones to be removed won't affect biodiversity

Concrete vs canopy: NMMC defends Sanpada underpass

Raina Assainar
NAVI MUMBAI

Following objections and protests by citizens, the Navi Mumbai Municipal Corporation (NMMC) has clarified details of its proposed underpass project at Sector 19, Sanpada along Palm Beach Road, which will impact 440 trees in the area.

According to the civic body, a total of 808 trees were identified within the project zone. Of these, 368 trees will be preserved at their existing locations, while 329 of the affected trees will be scientifically transplanted within the same vicinity. Officials said only 111 trees will be removed for the project, of which 92 belong to the subabul (a tree with medicinal value) species, which experts consider less significant from a biodiversity perspective. The trees identified for transplantation include mango, tamarind, amla, jamun, ramphal, putranjiva and gulmohar.

The proposed underpass near the Kesar Solitaire building has been planned as an alternative access route to reduce congestion for residents of Sanpada and Juinagar. At present, Moraj Circle is the only entry point to the Sanpada node from Palm Beach Road, which often leads to traffic bottlenecks.

Officials said vehicular pressure on Palm Beach Road is expected to increase further due to upcoming developments such as the Navi Mumbai International Airport, the expansion of Jawaharlal Nehru Port and the planned Third Mumbai project. The underpass has been proposed after examining traffic movement patterns and consulting technical experts to facilitate smoother travel between Belapur, Uran, Vashi and Mumbai.

"The project is aimed at easing traffic congestion and saving travel time for citizens while ensuring that environmental concerns are addressed through preservation and transplantation of trees," an NMMC official said.

The proposal has triggered concerns among residents about the impact on the city's green cover. On March 1, a human chain was formed along Palm Beach Road where citizens urged the civic body to reconsider its plan and explore greener alternatives.

Residents have suggested constructing an elevated corridor instead of an underpass to avoid disturbing the green canopy. They also pointed out that mature trees take nearly 10-12 years to grow and provide optimal oxygen, arguing that planting new saplings cannot compensate for the loss of established trees.

The civic body, however, maintained that the Sanpada underpass project is expected to improve traffic flow, reduce travel time and fuel consumption, while attempting to maintain a balance between development and environmental conservation.

NMMC panel okays 60 as retirement age

NAVI MUMBAI

The standing committee of the Navi Mumbai Municipal Corporation (NMMC) has approved a proposal to increase the retirement age of municipal employees and officers from 58 to 60 years under the proposed NMMC Service Regulations 2026. The proposal will now be placed before the general body for final approval. The resolution was moved by house leader and standing committee member Sagar Naik during the meeting. The move aims to retain experienced personnel within the civic administration. Naik said several experienced officers have retired in recent years, leading to a loss of administrative expertise.

Relief for Amazon in abortion pill case

FPJ News Service
MUMBAI

In a major relief to directors of Amazon, a sessions court has quashed the proceedings initiated on the complaint of a drug inspector for allegedly selling abortion pills on the platform. The court held that Amazon was not the seller of the tablets but the tablets were sold by an independent vendor.

The court was hearing the appeal filed by the two directors Kandula Rao and Noorulamin Patel, of Amazon Seller Services Pvt Ltd. The duo had challenged the order passed by the metropolitan magistrate court, Mazgaon, initiating the criminal proceedings against them and also against Gurumanak Enterprises, a vendor. The proceedings were initiated on the complaint of the drug inspector (Intelligence Branch), office of FDA commissioner in Bandra.

SP Yadav, the drug inspector, had claimed that there was illegal online sale of drugs on Amazon, where they were displayed by other alternative names. He ordered the tablets and claimed that the portal did not ask for any doctor's prescription. The order was confirmed for cash on delivery. Yadav alleged the suspects had committed a breach of several rules and thereby committed offences under the Drugs and Cosmetics Act.

The court held that the order passed by the magistrate court against the directors was perverse and grossly erroneous and the said order is cryptic in which law is not considered properly. T

Blind third eye? Civic workers flag non-functional CCTVs

BHIWANDI

Several CCTV cameras and metal detectors at the Bhiwandi Nizampur Municipal Corporation (BNMC) headquarters have been allegedly non-functional for months.

According to civic sources, around 105 CCTV cameras were installed inside the main municipal building to monitor corridors, entry points and other important areas. In addition, around 20 cameras were installed separately outside the offices of the Municipal Commissioner, Mayor and Additional Commissioner.

Municipal employees claim that nearly 50 cameras inside the building are currently non-functional as the machines have developed technical faults. This has raised serious concerns over the effectiveness of the surveillance system within the civic headquarters.

The cameras were installed at a cost of lakhs of rupees on the walls of the main municipal building and outside the chambers of senior officials to monitor movement and ensure security within the premises. However, several of them are currently lying defunct in the name of repairs.

Executive engineer of the electric department, Siddiq Kazi, confirmed to the FPJ that several cameras within the premises are not working. He said many of the cameras are old and around 12-14 units have become outdated. However, he denied claims that 50 cameras are non-functional and clarified that about 35-40 cameras are currently out of order. Office-bearers of the People's Republican Party and social activists have expressed concern over the situation and demanded that civic chief Anmol Sagar immediately intervene to restore the surveillance system and strengthen security at the civic headquarters.

Adding to the concern, the metal detector machine installed at the main entrance of the municipal building to check visitors and prevent any untoward incidents has also reportedly remained non-functional for a long time. The authorities must repair the cameras and the metal detector immediately and conduct a proper inquiry into the negligence," said social activist Tej Khan, further urging the civic chief to take the matter seriously.

Security guard killed for questioning water wastage

DOMBIVLI

A 35-year-old security guard, Umesh Wagh, was murdered after he questioned a man for leaving a water tap running in Dombivli. The accused was arrested and produced before a Kalyan court on Thursday. He has been remanded to police custody till March 16. According to police, the incident took place in Annabhau Sathe Nagar in the Kopar area of Dombivli on Wednesday.

The police said Wagh noticed water flowing from a tap in the area and confronted a resident, Akshay Jadhav, 30, asking why the tap had been left running and advising him not to waste water. What began as a simple query soon escalated into a heated verbal argument between the two.

During the altercation,

Jadhav allegedly lost his temper and attacked Wagh with a sharp weapon. Jadhav repeatedly stabbed the security guard, leaving him critically injured. Residents immediately rushed Wagh to a nearby hospital for treatment. However, doctors declared him dead during treatment.

After receiving information, the Vishunagar police rushed to the spot. Acting swiftly, the police tracked down and detained Jadhav within a few hours of the incident.

Further investigation is underway.
