Retailers write to govt against Amazon, Flipkart festive sales

PEERZADA ABRAR
Bengaluru, 19 October

The Federation of All India Vyapar Mandal (FAIVM), the apex body of traders and retailers representing 40 million merchants, has requested finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman and commerce minister Piyush Goyal to probe some suspected aspects of the festival sales by Amazon and Flipkart.

In a letter jointly written to Sitharaman and Goyal, and which has also been addressed to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, the FAIVM alleged that three issues need to be scrutinised.

They include hefty discounts in the nature of predatory pricing; cashback by banks via credit and debit cards, and high rate of interest on EMIs (equated monthly installments) offered to buyers.

The FAIVM said it is concerned whether goods and services tax (GST) collected by vendors is being properly deposited with government as per norms. This is because about 6.5 lakh new vendors have been added by the e-commerce portals. The retailers' body also said most sales are taking place in tier-3 towns and rural areas where awareness on GST is not adequate.

"The share of e-commerce is likely to double this festive season from 5 per cent to 10 per cent," said V K Bansal, national general secretary of the FAIVM.

He said reports indicate that the gross merchandise value (GMV) of e-commerce in this festive season is expected to be $7 billion (about ₹50,000 crore). This is an 84 per cent increase over last year's festival sales.

Bansal cited reports, saying that 50 million new shoppers are expected to be added to the e-shoppers' list. About 50 per cent of this will join from tier-3 cities and rural areas.

Jayendra Tanna, national president, the FAIVM, said he is sceptical about the deposit of GST into government coffers collected by the new 650,000 vendors.

Since most sales are happening in tier-2 and 3 cities and villages and that too on cash on delivery (COD), he said there is not much awareness on the GST system.

According to him, the government needs to check whether after collecting GST, the vendors are properly paying the government.

CH Krishna, president, Federation of All India Distributors Association (FAIDA), said to check the predatory pricing by e-commerce companies, the ministry of commerce brought press note No 2 on December 26, 2018. He claimed that the hefty discounts being offered now seem to be a violation of the press note.

Another senior functionary of FAIVM, Sushil Poddar, who is also president of Confederation of West Bengal Traders Association, felt there is some "wrongdoing" related to credit and debit cards, where banks are offering cashback of up to 10 per cent to buyers.

Poddar said he is "surprised" that banks charge heavily for services from business customers on one hand, and on the other, they are offering cashback of up to 10 per cent on transactions done on e-commerce platforms.

He said debit and credit cards are for facilitating an e-transaction and they have certain service charges from vendors. He suggested that this entire issue of cashback on credit and debit cards be examined.

Another issue raised by the FAIVM is that buyers who purchased on EMI are being charged interest ranging from 20 per cent to 36 per cent by non-banking financial companies (NBFCs). Besides, they are also charging a one-time processing fee. The FAIVM added there is a need for intervention by the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on such exorbitant rates of interest.

Subhash Chandra's net worth sinks amid deluge of debt

SURAJEET DAS GUPTA
New Delhi, 19 October

He was once in the coveted Fortune list of Indian billionaires, ranked 27th with a net worth of over $4.7 billion in 2018.

However, 70-year-old media baron Subhash Chandra (pictured) — also a Rajya Sabha member — declared a few days ago that the value of his personal assets had slumped to under ₹10 crore for FY20.

Chandra, who filed details pertaining to his financials to the Ethics committee of Parliament, said the total value of his assets stood at ₹9.85 crore. The media mogul had, in an earlier declaration as required under the rules for members, submitted that his personal assets in FY15 stood at ₹39.07 crore — or nearly 4x the present declared value.

An Essel spokesperson, however, declined to comment. Chandra has been an independent sitting member in the Rajya Sabha since 2016 from Haryana. The reduction in value of Chandra's assets comes close on the heels of the group's debt burgeoning to over ₹12,000 crore, much of which he had raised by pledging his shares to banks and mutual funds in his flagship company Zee Entertainment Enterprises (ZEEL), and the initial plan was to sell only 50 per cent stake.

However, following the sale of mortgaged shares by many lenders, burgeoning debt, and the delay in sale of infra projects, they changed strategy and currently their shareholding has reduced to just 4.9 per cent, even though Puneet Goenka runs the business.

It inked a pact with Oppenheimer to sell its 11 per cent stake to the US-based fund manager for ₹4,224 crore, which was used to pare debt. In November 2019, Chandra stepped down as chairman of Zee after selling off a major portion of the promoters' stake in the company, and now serves as chairman emeritus.

Traditional brands bank on e-com giants to tap buyers

PEERZADA ABRAR
Bengaluru, 19 October

With coronavirus restrictions playing a spoilsport for physical retail, an increasing number of regional brands are banking on e-commerce platforms such as Flipkart and Amazon to reach customers on a massive scale during the festive season.

Walmart-owned Flipkart is hosting its biggest six-day flagship festive sale 'Big Billion Days' (BBD) and its rival Amazon is conducting a month-long 'Great Indian Festival' (GIF).

These brands are selling products ranging from traditional silk saris, footwear to work-from-home furniture. The pandemic has accelerated the shift to online retail. The huge growth of e-commerce is driven by consumers in tier-2 and tier 3 towns. These brands are also discovering new frontiers and consumers by creating special product lines catering to the pan-Indian market.

"Enabling brands to break geographical barriers and venture into the hinterland is an important focus this year," says Nandita Sinha, vice-president, events, engagement and merchandising at Flipkart.

"This year, some traditional brands are exploring wider market access with us. We are enabling them to expand their reach and acquire more customers."

For instance, sari buying has traditionally been an in-store experience. But the pandemic is leading The Chennai Silks to reach out to customers in innovative ways.

"At a time when people could not directly walk into our stores, our collaboration with Flipkart has enabled us to maintain business continuity and reach out to a wider set of consumers across the country," says P.A. Ravindhiran, general manager at The Chennai Silks.

As a heritage brand operating in the country for over five decades, The Chennai Silks is one of the largest regionally-renowned brands operating in South India. The partnership with Flipkart has provided the business an opportunity to build a relationship with over 250 million customers online.

Flipkart has also provided The Chennai Silks with a deep

Digital media FDI rules put focus back on Chinese apps

VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO
Mumbai, 19 October

The foreign direct investment (FDI) rules announced recently will help the government to monitor foreign firms, especially, Chinese ones, who've been investing in India's digital media market, experts said.

News aggregator apps such as Dailyhunt and InShorts have nearly 80 per cent foreign ownership and do not adhere to the FDI norms for digital news media ownership, a letter by the Indian Newspaper Society (INS) to the government said.

The government has made it mandatory for news aggregators and new agencies, which supply information to digital media firms and companies uploading news and current affairs on websites, apps and other online platforms, to comply with the 26 per cent foreign investment cap.

Experts said security clearance to the CEO and foreign personnel of a digital media firm will put pressure on foreign firms to fall in line with local regulations. "The aim is to provide a level playing field to domestic media companies," said Karan Taurani, vice-president, research, Elara Capital.

INS' letter had highlighted the same, saying that Chinese and foreign-owned news aggregators had spent $200 million in promoting its apps in India over the past few years.

"Additionally, they accumulate Indian consumer data and attempt to monetise it and potentially share it with foreign partners," the body said. A level-playing therefore is a must, argue some media experts.
