Quarter (Q1) ending September 30th, 2015 – Pre-Quarter earning briefing Note for Investors and Analysts

September 30, 2015: HCL Technologies would announce its first quarter (July-September'15) earnings in the fourth week of October 2015. The Company, through this pre-earnings brief, would like to highlight certain items likely to impact the results.

HCL Technologies revenue growth performance has been in top quartile in the industry. For the quarter ending September 30, 2015, the revenue growth is likely to be tepid on account of a) adverse currency impact b) a client specific issue as described below and c) skewness in revenue growth due to transition timelines for complex engagements particularly in Infrastructure Services.

During this quarter, revenues to be reported in US dollar would have an adverse impact of 80 bps on account of sharp depreciation of multiple currencies against USD.

Also, in one of the multi-million multi-year custom application development project being executed for one of the customers in the Public Services vertical by HCL Technologies, certain differences have arisen with reference to the program objectives. While the discussions are on with the customer and we are in the process of disengagement, as a matter of prudence the Company is considering reserving up to US$20 million this quarter.
