WABAG WINS REPEAT ORDER FROM DANGOTE GROUP FOR US$ 105.5 MILLION

May 23, 2017: VA TECH WABAG LIMITED (WABAG), a leading Indian MNC in the water sector has won an order from Dangote Oil Refining Company in Nigeria for a value of about US$ 105.5 million. Dangote Oil Refining Company is the largest single train petroleum refinery in the world.

This is the second direct order for WABAG from Dangote after the Raw Water Treatment Plant order for Dangote Fertilizers which is in an advanced stage of execution. Dangote Group is the largest Industrial Conglomerate in West Africa. WABAG's scope of work includes Design, Engineering, Procurement, Supervision of Installation and Commissioning & Testing of an Effluent Treatment Plant with Reverse Osmosis, Demineralization & Condensate Polishing and Raw Water Treatment Package.

Continuing on the success of ETP and effluent recycling contracts for the Oil & Gas industry across the globe including executing plants for marquee clients like Reliance Industries, Indian Oil Corporation, PETRONAS and a large Oil & Gas major in Saudi Arabia, the Dangote Contract exemplifies WABAG's strong positioning in this growing segment.

Commenting on this significant development, Mr. Rajiv Mittal – Managing Director & Group CEO said, "We are very happy to win this prestigious contract, a repeat order for us, amidst competition from International players. Winning of this order goes to prove our technological superiority and engineering capabilities in executing world class large and complex industrial projects both at home and abroad."
