Cyient distinguished again by Zinnov as a leader among global engineering service providers

Hyderabad, India, 03 February 2016 — Cyient was recognized as an 'Established and Expansive' player in engineering research and development (ER&D) services, in the Global Service Provider Ratings (GSPR) 2015 published by Zinnov, a leading management consulting and globalization advisory firm. The ratings continued to distinguish Cyient as a leader in the Aerospace and Transportation segments for the fifth consecutive year. Cyient's leadership position also remained unchanged in the Energy and Utilities, and Construction and Heavy Machinery industries for the third consecutive year.

Cyient was also recognized as an 'Established and Expansive' player in Mechanical Engineering, and an 'Established and Niche' player in Embedded Systems—the two new service segments Zinnov added to its GSPR research in 2015.

"Zinnov's ratings of Cyient are extremely encouraging. A key differentiator, which places us continually in a leadership position, is our unrelenting commitment to building and deepening our domain expertise in close collaboration with our clients. The fact that Cyient continues to maintain its top rating year after year across a number of industry verticals is a testimony to our spirit of innovation and growth", said Krishna Bodanapu, Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer, Cyient Limited.

"Cyient is one of the leading Engineering Service Providers holding deep expertise in Mechanical Engineering, Value Engineering and Telecom Network operations. Through directed acquisitions and investments they have emerged as a true full-stack integrated engineering services provider in core engineering verticals including Aerospace, Construction, Transport and Heavy Machinery verticals. Their acquisition of Rangsons Electronics has further equipped them with end-to-end capabilities to deliver design to build solutions to customers. Beyond the core engineering verticals, Cyient has made steady progress in Semiconductor and Medical Devices verticals, where they have built deep expertise backed by a strong talent pool across key technologies/sub-verticals", said Sidhant Rastogi, Partner & Practice Head, Zinnov.

The Zinnov GSPR ratings evaluate service providers on a range of parameters, such as solution capabilities, innovation, human capital, financials, ecosystem linkages, infrastructure, and business sustainability.
