Axis Bank shares slip 5.2% after poor Q1

Lender's earnings forecast reduced for FY26 and FY27

By NITESH VARSHNEY
New Delhi, 18 July

Frequent negative surprises on the earnings front, as seen during the first quarter of 2025-26 (Q1FY26), have led analysts to cut Axis Bank's earnings forecast for the coming years.

Nuvama Institutional Equities downgraded the stock to "hold" on repeated volatility in asset quality and earnings growth. "We cut earnings by 5-6 percent for FY26 and 10-12 percent for FY27 on a already below consensus base, and trim our target to ₹1,800 from ₹1,400. Since Axis Bank price more catching up to do on rate cuts compared to peers, we expect the stock's discount to peers to widen, given repeated volatility," the brokerage said.

Axis Bank's share price crashed 7.4 per cent intraday on Friday to hit a low of ₹1,079.65 on the BSE. It ended 5.24 per cent lower at ₹1,099.1, against a 0.6 per cent dip in the Nifty 50.

Share price (₹)

settled accounts would, therefore, lead to elevated NPA flow in the near term, they added.

Slow growth begets margins
Axis Bank's Q1FY26 earnings also had the impact of slow loan growth and rate cut cycle. The bank's total deposits allpiled 1 per cent Q-o-Q, but rose 9.8 per cent Y-o-Y to ₹1.61 trillion. Total loans, meanwhile, grew 1.8 per cent Q-o-Q and 8 per cent Y-o-Y to ₹1.59 trillion. This led to an increase in loan-to-deposit ratio (LDR) to 91.4 per cent.

Net Interest Income was broadly flat Y-o-Y but down 3 per cent Q-o-Q to ₹34,500 crore, with net interest margin (NIM) contracting 17 bps Q-o-Q to 3.80 per cent. Notably, Axis Bank's NIM contraction came even when the lender has been the slowest among peers in cutting rates.

"We cut FY26, FY27, and FY28 earnings estimates by 7 per cent, 3 per cent, and 1 per cent, respectively. We expect the RoA to dip to 1.6 per cent in FY26 (estimate), and gradually recover to 1.7 per cent," said Emkay Global.

It has, however, maintained a "buy" rating on the stock, with an unchanged share price target of ₹1,400 as the share trades cheap at 1.4x P27 adjusted book value.

Medical Central Financial Services, maintained its "neutral" rating on the stock, with a target of ₹1,850 as it anticipates higher allparges and credit costs in the near term.

The management had earlier given guidance for the policy change to ensure industry-wide productivity, the exact of NPA formation is higher than expected. The management indicated that Q1FY26 bore the impact of the stock plus flow, and so allparges during the first nine months of FY26 (9M FY26) should be relatively modest (about 0.45 per cent, respectively, in Q1).

PRECIOUS METAL ETFs

Avoid overexposure after recent runup in gold and silver prices

HIMALI PATIL

Gold and silver exchange-traded funds (ETFs) saw recent net inflows of over ₹100 crore in June 2025. Gold ETFs received ₹2,060 crore, while silver ETFs attracted ₹2,005 crore. After the sharp price rally in these ETFs in recent times, experts suggest avoiding overexposure to them.

Price performance
Driving inflows
Gold prices have risen steadily over the past two years, a major driver being sustained buying by central banks. Recent price performance has been a major driver of flows.

"Gold prices rose in June. Also, growing uncertainty led investors to view gold as a safe haven," says Sachin Dandekar, fund manager, Kotak Mahindra Asset Management Company (AMC). Silver is benefiting from strong industrial demand. "There has been strong demand from industries like solar power, electric vehicles, electronics, and AI (artificial intelligence) chips," says Dandekar.

Nearly a third of global silver demand comes from cleantech and renewable energy applications. "This structural demand is expected to keep the silver market in deficit in the coming years," says Vikram Dhaswan, head—commodities and fund manager, Nippon India Mutual Fund. Limited supply has widened the demand-supply gap, driving silver to record highs in India.

Silver's recent price performance has also led to enhanced investor interest. Many investors track the gold-to-silver price ratio, which has been above long-term averages due to the sharp rise in gold prices. "The gold-to-silver ratio reached 100

In April 2025, indicating silver's undervaluation vis-à-vis gold, as the ratio historically moves between 80 and 90," says Gurvirinder Singh Wasan, senior fund manager, Bharat KPIF Private Mutual Fund. This led to a catch-up rally in silver. Advisors emphasise diversification across asset classes, which augurs well for the demand for these ETFs. Inflows may persist in the near term, supported by the above-mentioned factors.

Risks to future flows
An increase in US interest rates would make bonds more attractive and reduce the appeal of gold ETFs. A stronger dollar would also weigh on gold prices. An improving economy would shift investor preference to risky assets. "As equity markets pick up, flows into gold ETFs could possibly slow down," says Wasan. A decline in geopolitical risk would similarly reduce the demand for this safe-haven asset. Silver could flow back from a possible slowdown in clean energy investments. "This could occur if markets and policy support are rolled back in the US under the Trump administration, or if China's solar manufacturing sector decelerates significantly," says Vikram Dhaswan. Silver's demand stems from its use in solar panels, electronics, and electric vehicles. "A slowdown in these sectors — due to technological changes or delays in energy transition — can negatively affect silver's appeal," says Vaidhavya Porwal, co-founder, Deserv. Changes in import duties on precious metals in India would also create price volatility that affects the performance of these ETFs.

Limit exposure
Exposure to gold and silver should be capped at 10 per cent of the overall portfolio, at a 70:30 split in favour of gold is recommended," says Vishal Dhaswan, chief financial planner, Plan Ahead Wealth Advisors. Given recent price gains, he recommends a move to 10-year investment horizon and staggered purchases via systematic investment plans (SIPs) or systematic transfer plans (STPs).

Vikram Dhaswan cautions against tactical trading in precious metal ETFs and recommends using them instead as portfolio diversifiers. Vishal Dhaswan cautions that past returns from gold and silver may not be sustainable. Hence, investors should not overinvest their portfolios in them. Porwal recommends choosing ETFs with low expense ratio and minimal tracking error.

Post offices to freeze inactive accounts: What customers must do

The postal department has begun the twice-a-year drive to freeze small savings accounts inactive for more than three years after maturity. The aim is to protect depositors' funds and prevent unauthorised access.

As a new provision, post offices will identify such accounts every January and July. If your account has matured but you haven't withdrawn the funds or extended the tenure within three years, it risks being frozen.

Which accounts will be impacted?
The rule applies to all major small savings schemes, including:
• Time Deposit Scheme
• Monthly Income Scheme
• Public Provident Fund
• Senior Citizen Savings Scheme
• Kisan Vikas Patra

National Savings Certificates
• Recurring Deposit
• Fixed Deposit (FD) accounts, withdrawals, deposits, standing instructions or online services will be allowed until the account is reactivated.

How to unfreeze an account?
To regain access, account holders must visit a post office and submit a few key documents for verification. Here's what you need:

- Passbook or certificate of the frozen account
 - KYC documents: Aadhaar, PAN, and address proof
 - Account Closure Form (SB-PA)
 - Cancelled cheque or a copy of a bank/post office savings account passbook for crediting the maturity value.
- Post office staff will verify your identity and signature before reactivating the account.
