RateGain Powers Sunlight Air's Growth Journey with Smarter Pricing Decisions

India, 15th January 2026: RateGain Travel Technologies Limited (RateGain), a global provider of AI-powered SaaS solutions for travel and hospitality, today announced that Sunlight Air, a boutique leisure airline based in the Philippines, has selected AirGain to gain deeper market visibility and strengthen its competitive edge across Southeast Asia.

Known for offering curated travel experiences and seamless connectivity to the Philippines' most stunning island destinations, Sunlight Air is expanding its presence in a market where travelers increasingly seek affordable yet personalized journeys. To keep pace with growing demand and evolving traveler expectations, the airline will leverage real-time rate intelligence using AirGain's unified platform, designed to deliver both rate intelligence and rate parity insights.

The platform provides competitive insights, market movements, and pricing anomalies into a single, intuitive dashboard. With AirGain, Sunlight Air can track fares across OTAs, airline sites, in real time, helping its teams anticipate demand shifts, protect yields, and craft strategies that resonate with digitally savvy travelers. This capability enables Sunlight Air to balance affordability with premium leisure experiences, marking a major step in its regional growth journey.

Commenting on the partnership, Carina G. Jayme, Manager – Revenue Management at Sunlight Air, said, "Our travelers choose Sunlight Air because we combine comfort and style with access to the Philippines' most stunning destinations. As we expand across Southeast Asia, we need sharper visibility into pricing trends so we can continue to offer journeys that are both accessible and rewarding. AirGain gives us the intelligence to anticipate shifts in demand and shape fares that keep our promise of affordable, experience-driven travel."

Vinay Varma, Senior Vice President and General Manager at AirGain, added, "Competing in Southeast Asia requires real-time intelligence to strike that balance between affordability and quality. With AirGain's AI-powered platform, Sunlight Air's teams can respond faster to market changes, protect yields, and continue building their reputation as the leisure airline of choice for travelers seeking both comfort and value."

With this partnership, AirGain reinforces its commitment to helping regional and boutique airlines compete more effectively. As part of this mission, AirGain is introducing its AI-powered Route Performance Digest to select airline partners. This daily automated insight highlights pricing anomalies and route-level performance gaps, enabling nimble carriers like Sunlight Air to respond quickly to market shifts while protecting both value and profitability.
