Planned Turnaround at Nagothane Manufacturing Site

Mumbai, December 27, 2014: Reliance Industries Ltd. (RIL) has scheduled a planned turnaround at its Nagothane manufacturing site. The cracker and some of the downstream units will be shut for approximately four weeks, starting around mid-January 2015.

This opportunity will be used to carry out routine maintenance activities and for implementing other profit improvement and energy conservation measures. RIL's crackers and other downstream units at other locations will continue at normal levels of operations.

With advance planning and inventory management, impact on external sales is likely to be minimal.
