Additionally, our audit approach incorporates ideal practices that are customised in accordance with the capacity of an organisation. Complicated issues like International Financial Reporting Standards and Sarbanes will easily be resolved with our thorough understanding of legislations and regulations.

CONCURRENT AUDIT

Most organisations such as banks, asset management firms, finance institutes and insurance organisations utilise the internal audit approach. Concurrent Audit is much the same as Internal Audit and is carried out at regular intervals. This is done to supervise the effectiveness in standard operations with statutory proclamations from time to time. Concurrent Audit usually acts as an appendage to the internal audit team, and assists it on a regular basis with factual findings.

DEPARTMENT AUDIT

In this type of audit, a periodic analysis of the administrative functions is undertaken. It is done to ensure effectiveness of control, protection of property, and productive use of resources in agreement with the laws and policies.

FINANCIALS STATEMENT AUDIT

A financial statement audit is conducted to determine whether the overall financial statements are stated in accordance with specified criteria such as Indian Accounting Standard or IFRS or US GAAP. It becomes difficult for auditors to only concentrate on accounting affairs when the complexity in a business rises. We apply a holistic technique which involves a deep knowledge of the business that gradually inflates audit efficacy. We employ a risk based audit technique that is in complete agreement with the ISAs. Our technique is based on cycles and includes:

- A clear comprehension of the business as well as an understanding of pertinent industry factors
- Evaluating the risks involved and developing a desired approach
- Concise registering of review procedures, audit planning and implementation
- Direct and communicative process, offering added benefits with stronger internal controls
- Ensuring higher professional benchmarks with quality control processes

INTERNAL AUDIT

This kind of audit is specifically designed to enhance a firm's functioning. It assists an institution in achieving its goals by ushering a methodical system to inspect and better the efficiency of risk evaluation and management. It has a widened scope within an organization and may incorporate spheres like effective functioning, accuracy of financial collaterals, inspecting and discouraging frauds, protecting assets, and productive usage of the company resources that is in agreement with the company's rules.

REVENUE AUDIT

This helps in discerning revenue leakages. It could either be due to deficiency of internal control policies, frauds or errors by the personnel. It is generally conducted once or twice a year. N N Jambusaria & Co possesses expert skill in this section, in the banking segment of the firm.

STATUTORY AUDIT

The monetary statements of a firm for a given period of time are to be looked after by the Statutory Auditor. We carry out statutory auditing of Indian Companies in compliance with the Indian Corporate Laws. The role of the auditor here is to report all the current affairs of the company. It is a crucial tool for stakeholders to gauge the substantiality of the firm with regard to their proceedings.
