Rolta Establishes Gold Tier Partnership with Esri

Mumbai, India – Rolta International, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Rolta India Limited, a leading provider of enterprise Geospatial Information Systems (GIS) and IT services, today announced its selection as a Gold Partner in the Esri Partnership Network in North America, Europe and the Middle East.

GIS capabilities are embedded in the very foundation of Rolta, being a part of the solutions the company has offered for a quarter-century. Advancements in Esri technology combined with Rolta's Geospatial Fusion™ technology and industry expertise provide a strong solution framework that businesses can leverage to achieve real operational return on investment and value to their stakeholders. Rolta extends the benefits of traditional GIS to the enterprise through its deep Oracle and IT services expertise. This breadth of expertise is uniquely required to provide the integrated IT, GIS and Analytics / Business Intelligence solutions that businesses need to achieve operational performance objectives and to support critical decision making.

The Esri Partner Network is designed to serve the needs of Esri's global partner community. The program provides partners with greater access to detailed product information, development practices and sales and marketing resources. As a Gold Tier Partner, Rolta International will benefit from a higher amount of collaboration in developing geospatial technology, building successful applications and providing valuable services.

"We are pleased to have Rolta International join our partner community as a Gold Partner," said Josh Lewis, director of the Esri Partner Network. "We value Rolta's 25 years of experience delivering impressive GIS-centric solutions to customers around the globe."

"Rolta's GIS solutions and services enhance Esri technology and are based on Rolta's deep technical expertise, industry knowledge and software solutions," said Dean Angelides, director of Esri International Operations. "Together, we provide impressive spatial solutions that are critical to the world community."

"Rolta values the partnership with Esri and its position as a global geospatial leader," said Ben Eazzetta, president and COO, ROLTA International. "Geospatial solutions provide the analytical knowledge that organizations need to make the critical decisions that shape their future. At Rolta, we are dedicated to providing geospatial and IT solutions that make a real impact."
