5G trial process begins

MEGHA MANCHANDA
New Delhi, 28 May

The Union government has begun the process of conducting 5G trials in the country by allotting airwaves to telecom service providers.

It is learnt that the Department of Telecom (DoT) has allocated spectrum to telecom operators to start 5G trials at locations including Delhi, Mumbai, Kolkata, Bengaluru, and Hyderabad, according to industry sources. The operators have been allocated spectrum in the 700 MHz, 3.3-3.6 GHz, and 24.25-28.5 GHz bands in various locations.

It is learnt that the telcos have been allocated 100 units in the 3.5 GHz band, 800 units in the 26 MHz millimetre wave, and 10 units in the premium 700 MHz band.

Chinese telecom gear makers have been kept out of the 5G trial list. After completing the trials, preparation for 5G spectrum auctions will begin.

According to sources, the telecom service providers can use their existing 4G spectrum for trials in the 900 MHz, 1800 MHz, and 2300 MHz bands. The six-month period for conducting trials starts on the date of allotting the spectrum, i.e. May 27, 2021. "Usually after the trials get over, the data is submitted to the government and experts and soon after the vetting process ends, work on conducting the spectrum auctions begins," Cellular Operators' Association of India (COAI) Director General S P Kochhar said.

On May 4, the DoT had approved applications from Reliance Jio, Bharti

4G AUCTIONS IN 2021

- Value of spectrum bought (in ₹ cr)
- Quantum of spectrum bought (in MHz)

Airtel, Vodafone Idea, and MTNL for conducting 5G trials without using technologies from Chinese firms.

The department had approved trials of 5G with Ericsson, Nokia, Samsung, and C-DoT. In addition, Reliance Jio Infocomm will be doing trials using its own indigenous technology. The government said 5G technology is expected to deliver 10 times better download speed than 4G and up to three times greater spectrum efficiency.

During the trials, the application of 5G in Indian settings will get tested. This includes tele-medicine, tele-education, and drone-based agriculture monitoring. Telecom operators will be able to test various 5G devices on their network. The duration of the trials, at present, is six months. This includes two months for procuring and setting up the equipment.

The permission letters specify that each telecom service provider will have to conduct trials in rural and semi-urban settings in addition to urban settings so that the benefit of 5G technology spreads through the country and is not confined only to urban areas.

Airwaves in the E&V band have also been allocated for conducting trials. Spectrum in the E&V band can be utilised for both high-capacity access spectrum for voice and data services as well as backhaul link spectrum.

These spectrum bands are mostly used as backhaul, which means they connect the core of a telecom network to the towers to transmit data.

The industry has been pitching for auctioning these waves because both these airwaves will go hand-in-hand in ensuring a seamless 5G experience.

Meanwhile, according to reports, the much-awaited 5G spectrum auctions may be pushed to the next financial year, due to the ongoing second wave of Covid-19.

The process was earlier expected by the end of the current fiscal year. The 5G auctions may see some sort of rationalisation in the base price of airwaves to be offered, including the premium 700 MHz band, which went unsold again in the recently concluded auctions, after a price reduction of nearly 40 per cent from the previous auctions.

India on the cusp of AI innovation: Nilekani

Non-executive chairman of Infosys and Aadhaar architect Nandan Nilekani said India is on the cusp of major artificial intelligence (AI) innovation.

Nilekani was talking at a fireside chat organised to celebrate the one-year anniversary of INDIAai — the national AI portal set up by the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY), National E-Governance Division, and National Association of Software and Service Companies (Nasscom). Nilekani said with the government's focus on setting up transaction systems over the past few years, the by-product of this has been huge datasets across systems. "The time is right to apply AI to India's most challenging issues across sectors like health care and education. Both on the business side and on the government side, we are well placed to apply AI in a unique way," said Nilekani.

When asked if India could see a breakthrough application from AI (as ubiquitous as Aadhaar or Unified Payments Interface), Nilekani said, "To my mind, the work that the NITI Aayog is doing on the national translation mission is a huge disruption. India is a unique country where a diverse set of languages is spoken. I think we can show the rest of the world how well we can create such a platform."

INDIAai has been created as a central knowledge repository of all things related to AI. MeitY Secretary Ajay Sawhney pointed out that AI can be applied to improve services, quality of delivery, and decision-making.

Beware of fake agents of Sputnik V: DRL

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 28 May

Hyderabad-based pharma major Dr Reddy's Laboratories (DRL) on Friday said it is not supplying the Russian Covid-19 vaccine Sputnik V to any residential welfare associations (RWAs).

There have been several messages in circulation on social media claiming to organise vaccinations at housing colonies with Sputnik V.

DRL cleared the air and said, "In the past few days, there had been several unsubstantiated reports and claims from various quarters in India on alleged tie-ups for the Sputnik V vaccine. We wish to clarify that neither DRL has entered into any partnership or collaboration with any party to supply Sputnik V vaccine to residential associations, nor has the company authorised any third party or intermediary to supply the vaccine on its behalf in India." The company also cautioned against "unauthorised individuals offering fake deals or procurement of the vaccine posing as its representatives in India". DRL said, "If approached, alert the authorities immediately."

5G trial process begins

MEGHA MANCHANDA
New Delhi, 28 May

The Union government has begun the process of conducting 5G trials in the country by allotting airwaves to telecom service providers.

It is learnt that the Department of Telecom (DoT) has allocated spectrum to telecom operators to start 5G trials at locations including Delhi, Mumbai, Kolkata, Bengaluru, and Hyderabad, according to industry sources. The operators have been allocated spectrum in the 700 MHz, 3.3-3.6 GHz, and 24.25-28.5 GHz bands in various locations.

It is learnt that the telcos have been allocated 100 units in the 3.5 GHz band, 800 units in the 26 MHz millimetre wave, and 10 units in the premium 700 MHz band.

Chinese telecom gear makers have been kept out of the 5G trial list. After completing the trials, preparation for 5G spectrum auctions will begin.

According to sources, the telecom service providers can use their existing 4G spectrum for trials in the 900 MHz, 1800 MHz, and 2300 MHz bands. The six-month period for conducting trials starts on the date of allotting the spectrum, i.e. May 27, 2021. "Usually after the trials get over, the data is submitted to the government and experts and soon after the vetting process ends, work on conducting the spectrum auctions begins," Cellular Operators' Association of India (COAI) Director General S P Kochhar said.

On May 4, the DoT had approved applications from Reliance Jio, Bharti

4G AUCTIONS IN 2021

- Quantum of spectrum bought (in MHz)

Airtel, Vodafone Idea, and MTNL for conducting 5G trials without using technologies from Chinese firms.

The department had approved trials of 5G with Ericsson, Nokia, Samsung, and C-DoT. In addition, Reliance Jio Infocomm will be doing trials using its own indigenous technology. The government said 5G technology is expected to deliver 10 times better download speed than 4G and up to three times greater spectrum efficiency.

During the trials, the application of 5G in Indian settings will get tested. This includes tele-medicine, tele-education, and drone-based agriculture monitoring. Telecom operators will be able to test various 5G devices on their network. The duration of the trials, at present, is six months. This includes two months for procuring and setting up the equipment.

The permission letters specify that each telecom service provider will have to conduct trials in rural and semi-urban settings in addition to urban settings so that the benefit of 5G technology spreads through the country and is not confined only to urban areas.

Airwaves in the E&V band have also been allocated for conducting trials. Spectrum in the E&V band can be utilised for both high-capacity access spectrum for voice and data services as well as backhaul link spectrum. These spectrum bands are mostly used as backhaul, which means they connect the core of a telecom network to the towers to transmit data.

The industry has been pitching for auctioning these waves because both these airwaves will go hand-in-hand in ensuring a seamless 5G experience.

Meanwhile, according to reports, the much-awaited 5G spectrum auctions may be pushed to the next financial year, due to the ongoing second wave of Covid-19.

The process was earlier expected by the end of the current fiscal year. The 5G auctions may see some sort of rationalisation in the base price of airwaves to be offered, including the premium 700 MHz band, which went unsold again in the recently concluded auctions, after a price reduction of nearly 40 per cent from the previous auctions.

India on the cusp of AI innovation: Nilekani

Non-executive chairman of Infosys and Aadhaar architect Nandan Nilekani said India is on the cusp of major artificial intelligence (AI) innovation.

Nilekani was talking at a fireside chat organised to celebrate the one-year anniversary of INDIAai — the national AI portal set up by the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY), National E-Governance Division, and National Association of Software and Service Companies (Nasscom). Nilekani said with the government's focus on setting up transaction systems over the past few years, the by-product of this has been huge datasets across systems. "The time is right to apply AI to India's most challenging issues across sectors like health care and education. Both on the business side and on the government side, we are well placed to apply AI in a unique way," said Nilekani.

When asked if India could see a breakthrough application from AI (as ubiquitous as Aadhaar or Unified Payments Interface), Nilekani said, "To my mind, the work that the NITI Aayog is doing on the national translation mission is a huge disruption. India is a unique country where a diverse set of languages is spoken. I think we can show the rest of the world how well we can create such a platform."

INDIAai has been created as a central knowledge repository of all things related to AI. MeitY Secretary Ajay Sawhney pointed out that AI can be applied to improve services, quality of delivery, and decision-making.

Beware of fake agents of Sputnik V: DRL

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 28 May

Hyderabad-based pharma major Dr Reddy's Laboratories (DRL) on Friday said it is not supplying the Russian Covid-19 vaccine Sputnik V to any residential welfare associations (RWAs).

There have been several messages in circulation on social media claiming to organise vaccinations at housing colonies with Sputnik V.

DRL cleared the air and said, "In the past few days, there had been several unsubstantiated reports and claims from various quarters in India on alleged tie-ups for the Sputnik V vaccine. We wish to clarify that neither DRL has entered into any partnership or collaboration with any party to supply Sputnik V vaccine to residential associations, nor has the company authorised any third party or intermediary to supply the vaccine on its behalf in India." The company also cautioned against "unauthorised individuals offering fake deals or procurement of the vaccine posing as its representatives in India". DRL said, "If approached, alert the authorities immediately."
