Saab offers to make aircraft in India

fe Bureau

New Delhi, Feb 10: Swedish defence major Saab has offered to make single-engine aircraft in India—for the Indian Navy's aircraft carrier and air defence systems for the armed forces.

This comes close to US-based Lockheed Martin saying that it is in a fix whether to go ahead with its plan to produce F-16 combat jets in India given President Donald Trump administration is not in favour of moving manufacturing out of the western country.

Talking to the media on the eve of the Aero-India 2017, Tony Ogilvy, head of marketing for Gripen Maritime, said, "We have responded to the Indian Navy's request for information (RFI) to procure 57 multi-role combat aircraft for its carrier." The RFI says the aircraft are "intended as day-and-night capable, all-weather, multi-role, deck-based combat aircraft which can be used for air defence, air-to-surface operations, buddy refuelling, reconnaissance etc from Indian Navy aircraft carriers".

According to Ogilvy, the Gripen M will have all the capabilities of the Gripen E.

"All the sensors, avionics and weapons and the GE 414G of the Gripen E will be offered. The small logistic footprint, high availability and a smaller, lighter air frame results in significant gains from a maintainability point of view," he said. Besides offering to set up production line for the Gripen E, in case it receives orders from the Indian Air Force for 200 single-engine fighter planes, it is also exploring strategic tie-up with Indian SMEs under the 'Make in India' programme.

According to Ogilvy, the company is ready to make changes to the Gripen E for meeting the Indian Navy's requirements.

"The Gripen M is still on the drawing board and if we get positive response from the Indian Navy, we will be able to meet its requirements."

Saab is already producing camouflage equipment in Gurgaon and has set up a research and development (R&D) centre in Hyderabad. It also has a joint venture with Tech Mahindra in Belgaum to provide parts to Airbus and Boeing.

"Saab is actually planning to go beyond Make in India. We want to make India a net exporter and provide indigenous capability to the Indian Air Force," said Kent-Ake Molin, sales and marketing for Gripan.

Passenger opens plane's emergency chute

Mumbai, Feb 10: A passenger onboard an IndiGo plane from here to Chandigarh opened the emergency chute of the aircraft "accidentally", resulting in injury to a co-passenger, following which the airline lodged an FIR against the accused.

The incident occurred this morning when the flight was getting ready to depart for Chandigarh, IndiGo said in a statement.

Just after the boarding completed, a passenger seated on seat number 12C suddenly opened the emergency exit door and inflated the slide, it said.

IndiGo staff onboard immediately observed this and alerted the Captain-in-Command. A co-passenger seated on 12A received bruises, the statement said.

The captain immediately informed the ground staff and instructed the team to arrange for medical assistance and other necessary action, the airline said.

Simultaneously, the captain informed all 176 passengers via inflight announcement, and switched off the aircraft engine.

The passenger who opened the emergency exit doorwas handed over to the security staff and the CISF at the airport, it said. PTI

DGCA suspends GoAir aircraft engineer's licence

New Delhi, Feb 10: Aviation regulator DGCA has suspended the licence of an aircraft maintenance engineer of GoAir for failing to detect a fault and clearing the aircraft which had to make an emergency landing at the Delhi airport.

A Bengaluru-bound GoAir flight, carrying around 190 people, made an emergency landing due to technical issues on February 8.

According to a senior DGCA official, there were problems with the magnetic plug attached to the main gear box but the Aircraft Maintenance Engineer (AME) did not notice it and the flight was cleared for operations.

He noted that in such conditions, the aircraft should not be operated but the engineer concerned did not read the trouble shooting manual.

The plane had almost completed the earlier permitted flying period of ten hours when it started for Bengaluru and without noticing that, the AME had cleared it for further journey, the official added.

"Due to wrong action on the part of AME, DGCA suspended his licence yesterday pending investigation," he said.

Providing a brief chronology, the official said prior to its flight from Delhi to Bengaluru, there were some issues with this particular aircraft. Earlier, after one hour of its journey from Mumbai to Delhi, there was low oil pressure indication and chip warning. However, there was no such warning later and the same plane flew to Leh but came back to Delhi due to bad weather.

Then, the aircraft was operated from Delhi to Guwahati and made return journey. Subsequently, after these flights, the aircraft made emergency landing after taking off to Bengaluru on February 8.

The Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) would be analysing the Digital Flight Data Recorder (DFRD) to gather more information and depending on the findings there could be more regulatory actions, the official noted.

There was no immediate comment from GoAir. The plane involved was an A320 neo having Pratt & Whitney engine. The DGCA official said the regulator is already in touch Pratt & Whitney seeking more data about the engine.

"We have sought data... Failure of main gear box is for the first time. We are getting the worldwide data and also getting our data," he added. PTI
