Rolta announced today that its flagship product Rolta OnPoint™ – An award winning Geospatial Fusion™ solution (2009 Microsoft Partner Network IMPACT Award winner for the "Data Management Solution of the Year"), has been "Certified OGC Compliant" – (An International interface and encoding standard for geospatial interoperability).

Rolta OnPoint™ is an enterprise wide GIS, Geospatial and Data integrator that allows users to connect to and integrate complex geospatial and non-spatial data from disparate sources using web technologies. Its unique administration tool enables complete application configuration without the agony of custom programming and replacement of legacy applications. New levels of operational insights become possible as this solution allows users to easily access business data isolated in numerous data structures, turning their existing GIS investments into true enterprise solutions in an extremely user-friendly and cost-efficient manner.

OGC (The Open Geospatial Consortium, Inc) is an international industry consortium of 400+ companies, government agencies and universities that collaborate in developing publicly available interface standards. OpenGIS® Standards support interoperable solutions that "geo-enable" the Web, wireless and location-based services, and mainstream IT. The standards empower technology developers to make complex spatial information and services accessible and useful with all kinds of applications on a global scale.

Speaking on the occasion, Mr. K. K. Singh, CMD of Rolta Group of Industries said, "We are delighted that our exceptional IP has been given world-class recognition with the OGC certification of Rolta OnPoint™.
