Issuers/Investors/readers of this document are, therefore, cautioned to know the risks involved in dealing in such instruments. Such instruments can carry Liquidity and Price Risk which pertains to how saleable a Security is in the market. If a particular Security does not have a market at the time of sale, then the Investor’s investments may have to bear an impact depending on its exposure to that particular Security. It is not possible to predict if, and to what extent, a secondary market may develop in the debt securities or at what price the debt securities will trade in the secondary market or whether such market requirements, or if liquid. The more limited the secondary market for the instrument, the more difficult it may be for holders of the securities to realise value for the debt securities prior to redemption of the debt securities. If the debt securities are unlisted, then the ability of the investors to resell or trade them may be limited, leading to liquidity and price risk on the debt securities. The returns from a particular asset class may not underperform returns from other asset classes. The changes in government policy in general and changes in taxation may impact the returns to investors. There can be external risks arising out of operations and activities which can lead to the volatility in price of the securities.
