'DELAY DECISION-MAKING' Big firms ask markets regulator to reverse related-party rule

DHWANI PANDYA
February 21

COMPANIES WANT INDIA'S capital market regulator to change proposed rules on transactions between group firms, founders and related entities as they will lead to an increase in compliance costs and delay decision-making.

Engineering major Larsen & Toubro and lobby groups including the Confederation of Indian Industry want the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) to scrap the mandatory shareholder approval for deals beyond ₹1,000 crore ($134 million). Instead, the existing rule of 10% of annual turnover should prevail even after the new rules kick in on April 1.

Lately last year, Sebi tightened rules on related-party transactions to curb siphoning of funds by founders and ensure better corporate governance. These transactions are essentially conducted between a listed company and its founders, entities related to the owners or with large shareholders.

"The recent proposals announced by Sebi makes compliance quite tedious and complicated particularly

■ Late last year, Sebi tightened rules on related-party transactions to curb siphoning of funds by founders and ensure better corporate governance for large companies," L&T's chief financial officer R Shankar Raman said. "Thresholds should have had a linkage to the size of the company, say in terms of turnover. Approaching shareholders on multiple occasions in the course of the year for approval is not efficient time wise and business wise." Emails sent to Sebi did not receive a response. The regulator tightened the norms after alleged irregularities were observed in the case of some companies including DHFL and Fortis Healthcare. The regulator set up a working group in November 2019 to strengthen regulatory norms and later notified the amendments for implementation from April 2022.

"While Sebi norms on related party transactions intend to set a higher governance bar for listed companies to predominantly limit cash stripping and to ensure fraud and siphoning of funds can be reduced, it comes with its own practical challenges, especially for large conglomerates," said Gaurav Mishra, associate partner at DSK Legal. —BLOOMBERG

Will deposit ₹600 crore for DAMEPL in escrow a/c in two days: DMRC to HC

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, February 21

DELHI METRO RAIL Corporation (DMRC) on Monday told the Delhi High Court that it will deposit ₹600 crore in the escrow account of Reliance Infrastructure arm Delhi Airport Metro Express within two days even as the latter sought enforcement of the arbitration award of over ₹7,000 crore, including interest, that it had won in May 2017.

Justice Suresh Kumar Kait reserved its judgment on a petition by DAMEPL seeking enforcement of the arbitration award enforceable against DMRC.

Even the Supreme Court had on September 9 upheld the ₹4,600-crore arbitration award in favour of Anil Ambani's group firm.

However, both sides have differed on how much additional interest has accrued on the amount. While DMRC says the liability now stands at around ₹5,000 crore, the RInfra arm says it is close to ₹7,000 crore now and increasing each passing day.

During the hearing on Monday, the HC observed that if government declined to follow the arbitrator's order, the award may just become a "paper award".

The judge also said that a solution has to be found to deal with such situations when government finds unable to implement the rulings.

While DMRC said that it has ₹6,208.03-crore funds lying in various banks, its senior counsel Prag Tripathi argued that that it cannot use whatever money is in its account to pay off the airport express operator, as the grants received from the Consolidated Fund of India do not belong to it, and are earmarked for infrastructure development.

The money lying in its bank accounts is earmarked for various projects for metro development and the same did not belong to it.

Besides, the corporation does not have any power to dispose of the same, he said, adding that out of the funds lying in its bank accounts, DMRC can only use ₹600 crore to pay DAMEPL.

DAMEPL senior counsel Rakesh Khanna argued that DMRC was trying to draw a line between government funds and its own money, while being a company owned entirely between the Centre and the Delhi government.

Besides, the government grants can be used to fulfil legal obligations of a PSU, he said.

Earlier, the High Court had asked DMRC to furnish details of its bank accounts in India and abroad and how much money is lying in these bank accounts, even as DMRC cited financial inability to paying dues of over ₹6,000 crore to DAMEPL.

NSE co-location case: Probe shifts towards money trail, illicit gains

BARUN JHA
New Delhi, February 21

AS A MULTI-AGENCY probe into the NSE case gathers pace, the grant of preferential server and data access to select brokers and their suspected misuse are being investigated threadbare to unveil all quid pro quo arrangements in a highly-sophisticated scheme that worked like a cricket betting scandal, officials said on Monday.

While the bourse has said it has taken several steps over the years to strengthen its technology infrastructure, including as per regulatory orders, the officials said certain fresh disclosures call for a detailed probe into whether a select group of individuals in high positions had banded together to make illicit gains by facilitating the preferential trading slots, beginning over a decade ago.

Even a split-second faster access is said to result in huge gains for a trader. The preferential access allegedly did not include just close proximity to the exchange servers but also provided faster and 'Tick-By-Tick' (TBT) data containing minute details about all trades and orders.

Explaining how the system worked, one of the senior officials said, "The best analogy to understand this highly-technical matter is cricket and betting." "For a common investor or a broker trading on his or her normal terminal is like watching the live telecast of the match on television or in a stadium. But imagine your eyes and ears right behind every single player in the field, getting to know their moves and strategies on a real-time basis before anyone else," the official said.

"And, we are not even talking about match-fixing. The sophisticated algorithms at play make it possible to access a huge amount of data on a real-time basis with the use of modern computer systems and high-tech software solutions," the official added.

He also countered an ongoing narrative that there was no loss to investors, saying the genuine investors were definitely on the losing side as this system was facilitating a select few to buy shares at a lower price and sell those at a higher price due to their faster access.

"The difference may be very small for one individual investor, possibly just one rupee or a few paise per share, but when you look at the huge amount of trades running into lakhs and crores every day, the overall gains for the selected brokers could have run into hundreds and thousands of crores of rupees over a period of few years," he added.

The issues under the scanner include possible pecuniary gains made by some top exchange officials and certain middlemen as also internal and external approvals for roll-out and operation of controversial 'co-location' and sophisticated algorithm-based 'high frequency trading' facilities.

The officials said the money trail at various levels, including to and from the concerned brokers' accounts, would be looked into, in addition to financial accounts of a large number of individuals who were directly or indirectly associated with the matter, especially between 2009 and 2016, from inside or outside the exchange. If required, help would be sought from foreign regulators and agencies, they added.

The officials said the money trail at various levels, including to and from the concerned brokers' accounts, would be looked into, in addition to financial accounts of a large number of individuals who were directly or indirectly associated with the matter, especially between 2009 and 2016, from inside or outside the exchange

The National Stock Exchange, the country's largest bourse, is believed to have rolled out the co-location services in 2009-2010.

One major roadblock in the investigations so far has been a missing trove of e-mails and fresh attempts are being made to retrieve those as a large number of computer hardware, including laptops, used by some top officials were destroyed by the exchange long back as 'e-waste'.

The Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) began its probe into the matter in early 2015 after it was brought to light by a 'whistle-blower' that some brokers were allegedly getting preferential access through co-location facility, early login and 'dark fiber' — which can allow a trader a split-second faster access to data feed of an exchange.

NSE's co-location facility allowed brokers to take on rent-specific racks to co-locate their servers and systems within the exchange premises for a low latency connection to the exchange. The servers and systems placed in these racks got to receive live market data feed and accordingly place their trade orders with access to features like direct market access, algo trading and smart order routing. Besides, the 'Tick-By-Tick' (TBT) data feed provided information on every change in the orderbook but this information was allegedly delivered one by one, unlike a broadcast where everyone gets the price information at the same time if they were at the same distance from the server.

Rather, the TBT data feed was disseminated sequentially in the sequence the brokers connected or logged in to the server.

This allegedly created a benefit to the first one to connect to the lowest-load server in terms of receiving the data faster than others.

It was also alleged that some brokers got to access back-up servers as the load on those servers was low while a few not only logged in first on select high-tech servers but also tried to crowd out others by occupying the second and third positions on those servers.

Over the years, Sebi has put in place stricter regulations to close the loopholes and to address concerns relating to algo trading and co-location facilities, including by making TBT feed free of cost to all trading members and asking exchanges to provide 'managed co-location service' through eligible vendors for ensuring low-cost services to all interested brokers.

It has also been alleged that some brokers colluded with NSE's employees and outsourced staff to obtain information regarding load and starting of servers, including backup servers. This enabled 'first-to-connect' brokers to get data ahead of others for three years between 2011 and 2014.

Colliers expects more REITs in India as peers combat pandemic

BLOOMBERG
Mumbai, February 21

COLLIERS INTERNATIONAL GROUP expects more real estate investment trusts (REITs) to be formed in India's nascent market following the robust performance of their listed peers in the country.

"We expect a lot more REITs to happen over the next one year given that all REITs have done well in spite of uncertainties," Ramesh Nair, chief executive officer for the property consultancy firm's Indian operations, said in an interview with Bloomberg Television. "Going forward, there would also be industrial and retail REITs, while office REITs will continue."

Three REITs, which mainly hold commercial office assets, have listed on India's stock exchanges so far. Embassy Office Parks REIT, Mindspace Business Parks and Brookfield India Real Estate Trust have risen more than 15% over the past year, collecting more than Still, recovery in the leasing of office space has been slow. Overall space leased out for offices across the top six Indian cities was around 33 million square feet, 10% higher compared with 2020, but nearly 30% below pre-pandemic levels in 2019. Nair expects the Indian office market to take two years to recover completely. India's industrial and warehousing property market has staged a quicker recovery, with the space leased out reaching pre-covid levels, Nair said. Demand will continue to rise as India has one of the fastest growing e-commerce and third-party logistics market.

Normal monsoon this year: Skymet

SANDIP DAS
New Delhi, February 21

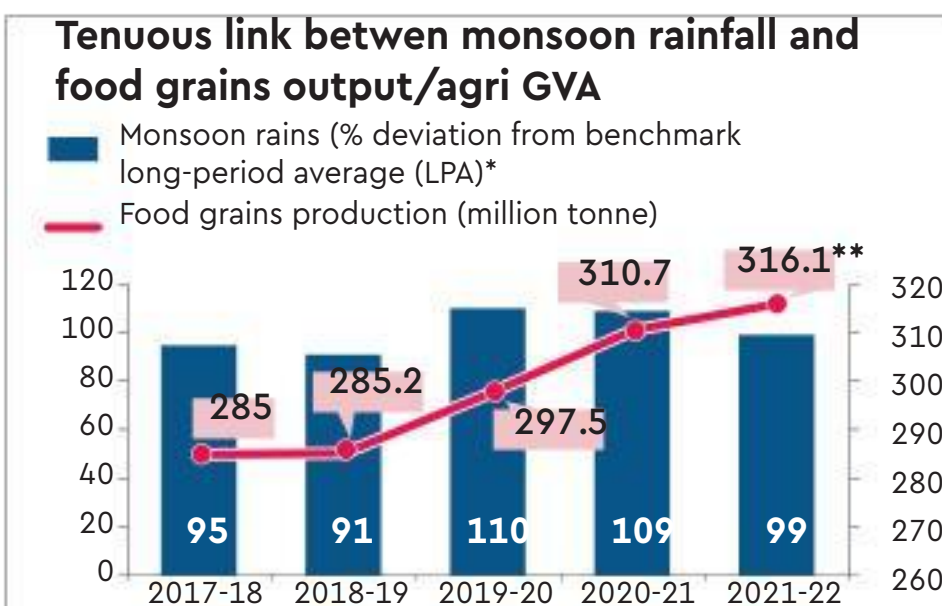

THE SOUTHWEST MONSOON (June-September), which accounts for 70% of the country's rainfall, will be 'normal' this year, private weather forecaster Skymet stated on Monday in its preliminary guidance; if this comes true, the country will have normal precipitation from the annual phenomenon for the fourth year in a row.

Though India's agriculture activities depend significantly on monsoon rainfall, increased irrigation facilities (45% of cultivable land is irrigated), improved farming practices and rising crop productivity seem to have made the link between the two rather tenuous in the recent years (see chart).

India's food grains output has risen from 297.5 million tonne (MT) in the 2019-20 (July-June) crop year to 316 MT in 2021-22 as per the second advance estimates released by the ministry of agriculture last week. Higher food grain output ensures adequate availability in the market and curbs the possibility of spike in prices of commodities. An increase in production doesn't necessarily result in higher income for farmers, given India's complex agriculture marketing system. Also, implementation of the government's support price mechanism is uneven across regions and crops.

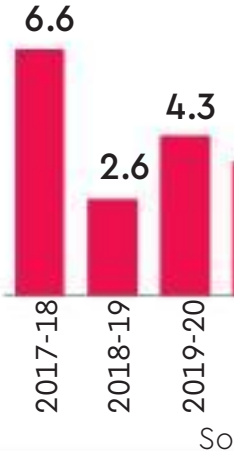

The 'agriculture and allied sectors', which employ more than half of India's workforce, are expected to witness a growth of 3.9% in 2021-22 in terms of gross value added (GVA). These sectors grew at 3.6% in 2020-21 even as Covid-19 severely impacted other economic activities. Agriculture GVA was 18.8% of India's GDP in 2021-22; the sector's share in GDP hovered around 18-20% in the last few years.

ather forecaster, and Skymet will give its first monsoon forecasts for the current year in April. Later forecasts will be expressed as percentage of the benchmark long period average (LPA).

The indication of 'normal' monsoon rains by Skymet is expected to provide enough time for the farmers to prepare for Kharif crops such as paddy, pulses, oilseeds, etc, a senior official told FE. Skymet noted this could be one of the 'normal' monsoon years making a robust start and finishing around the midway mark of the normal range. A cumulative monsoon rain between 96-104% of LPA (89 cm) is considered 'normal'.

While stating that the agriculture sector has been 'resilient' to the Covid-19 shock, the economic survey (2021-22) identified factors such as good monsoon and various government measures to enhance credit availability, improve investments, create market facilities, and promote infrastructure development which have helped the sector.

Cairn Vedanta makes oil discovery in Rajasthan block

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, February 21

VEDANTA GROUP FIRM Cairn Oil & Gas on Monday announced an oil discovery in a Barmer district block of Rajasthan, not very far away from its prolific oil-field in the same desert.

In a stock exchange filing, the firm said it has notified the government and the Directorate General of Hydrocarbons (DGH) of the discovery in exploratory well WM-Basal DD Fan-1 drilled in OALP Block RJ-ONHP-2017/1. The discovery has been named 'Durga'.

The firm said the approval of the block oversight panel, called the Management Committee, has also been sought. The block is one of the 41 areas that the company had won in the first round of the open acreage licensing policy (OALP) bid round in October 2018.

Cairn Oil & Gas, a unit of Mumbai-listed Vedanta Ltd, holds 100 percent participating interest in the block.

"Durga-1 (earlier WM-Basal DD Fan-1) is the second well drilled in the Block RJ-ONHP-2017/1 to a depth of 2615 meters," the firm said.

This is the third hydrocarbon discovery notified by the company under the OALP portfolio.

"During the drilling of the well, four hydrocarbon zones were encountered in the Dharvi Dugar formation of Late Paleocene to Early Eocene age," it said. The 542 square kilometre RJ-ONHP-2017/1 Block is located in Gudamalani and Chohan Tehsil of Barmer district, Rajasthan. The block lies in the vicinity of the prolific Rajasthan block which produces about 150,000 barrels per day of oil and gas.

Separately, the company said it is committed to achieving net-zero carbon emissions by 2050.

"The company is committed to investing $4 billion over 3-4 years to double its production, and the newly announced ESG (environmental, social, and corporate governance) roadmap will enable the company to achieve this vision sustainably," it said in a statement.

Vedanta founder and chairman Anil Agarwal said, "Our oil and gas business is today well-poised to meet India's energy needs and growth aspirations."

"Guided by the philosophy of 'zero harm, zero waste, zero discharge', we have formulated robust ESG targets for our operations which will help India's energy sector become more efficient and enable the country's journey towards 'aatmanirbharta'," Cairn Oil & Gas deputy CEO Prachur Sah said, "ESG has always been a top priority for Cairn Oil & Gas. As we continue our sustainability journey, we are committed to our vision of ensuring holistic socio-economic development while achieving our goal of ensuring energy 'aatmanirbharta' for India."
