Quick Heal® Technologies Co-founder and Chief Technology Officer Sanjay Katkar Honored with Info Security Products Guide Global Excellence Award

- Katkar has been named as the Product Development / Management Executive of the Year – gold winner in the 12th Annual 2016 Global Excellence Awards for his contribution to the worldwide Information Security sector
- Quick Heal to exhibit at RSA Information Security Conference 2016 for the first time #RSAC North Expo in booth #N5004
- Quick Heal's Seqrite product line – silver winner in the category of 'Security Products and Solutions for Small Businesses and SOHO'

San Francisco/RSA Conference – March 2, 2016 – Quick Heal Technologies today announced its Co-founder and Chief Technology Officer, Sanjay Katkar, has been named the gold winner in the Product Development / Management Executive of the Year category in the 12th Annual 2016 Global Excellence Awards.

Overseen by Info Security Products Guide, a leading information security research and advisory guide, the elite awards program also recognized Quick Heal's Seqrite product line as a silver winner in the category of Security Products and Solutions for Small Businesses and SOHO.

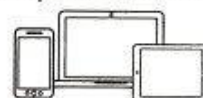

The awards were presented to Quick Heal and other honorees from around the world in San Francisco at a gala event timed with the RSA Conference, taking place from February 29 through March 4 at San Francisco's Moscone Center. Quick Heal is exhibiting at RSA for the first time, offering product application demos in the North Expo in booth #N5004.

Katkar, who spearheaded the invention and development of Quick Heal's core antivirus engine and has overseen its development and maintenance, was selected as the gold winner for his efforts to not only advance Quick Heal's technology, but also elevate the company's position as a trustworthy security brand in the global market.

"Sanjay has devoted his career to addressing the information security challenges of businesses and consumers around the world. Quick Heal is extremely proud of his accomplishments, and to have him recognized by Info Security Products Guide is a tremendous and well-deserved honor. The recognition for our Seqrite offerings further validates Quick Heal's commitment to our customers' security needs, and serves as an excellent testimony to the value that our technology delivers to the market," said Farokh Karani, Director, North America, Sales & Channels, Quick Heal Technologies, while accepting the award on Katkar's behalf.
