India lodges 'strong protest' over US attack on commercial vessels

DEEP CONCERN. US envoy summoned twice in three days over Gulf of Oman strikes that killed 3 Indians

Amiti Sen
New Delhi

India summoned US Chargé d'Affaires Jason Meeks on Friday, the second time in three days, and lodged a "strong protest" against the continuing attacks by US naval forces on commercial vessels carrying Indian mariners in the Gulf of Oman, which resulted in the loss of three lives.

DIPLOMATIC MOVE
"The Ministry once again conveyed its deep concern over the use of lethal and deadly force against civilian shipping. Such actions are unacceptable and undermine the safety, security and stability of international maritime commerce in a sensitive region at a difficult time," the MEA said in a statement.

The high-level diplomatic meeting followed American forces "disabling" three commercial ships in the Gulf of Oman this week.

The attack on one of the ships, oil tanker MT Settebello, killed three Indian mariners. In its defence the US Central Command, on Thursday, stated that the vessels had violated the blockade against Iran.

The operator of Settebello said it had no connections with Iranian oil. "The US Chargé d'Affaires was requested to convey India's strong concerns to his authorities and to ensure that US forces operating in the region take all necessary measures to prevent the loss of civilian life," the MEA statement noted. Iran's Foreign Ministry spokesperson Esmail Baghaei condemned the US attacks.

"The brutal US attacks on Indian commercial vessels which have killed at least three Indian nationals, stand as clear evidence of America's ongoing policy of armed robbery and State piracy," Baghaei said in a post on 'X'.

He said the international community must hold the US accountable for its "lawless conduct", which threatened global peace and security while endangering the freedom of navigation.

The All India Seafarers Union, in an official statement, expressed its deep concern over the recent attacks on merchant ships and the growing security threats faced by seafarers across international waters.

Govt proposes common draft broadcasting regulations for both television and radio

Our Bureau
New Delhi

The government on Friday published the draft telecommunication rules related to television, radio and associated services for public consultation.

The proposed rules aim to establish a single regulatory framework for these mediums, extending the existing mandate to air programmes on "themes of national importance and social relevance" from television channels to private radio services.

The draft Telecommunications (Television, Radio and Associated Services) Rules, 2026 state that TV channels would be required to air at least 30 minutes of content every day on themes of national importance and social relevance between 6AM and 11PM. Radio stations will have to dedicate one hour for the same purpose every day.

SET OF RULES

With this set of rules, the industry will now have a unified and significantly simplified rule book. These rules are designed to simplify and harmonise the existing regime while promoting ease of doing business in the television and radio broadcasting sector, the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting (MIB) said in the notification.

UNIFIED RULE BOOK

- TV channels would be required to air at least 30 minutes of content daily on themes of national importance and social relevance from 6 am to 11 pm
- Radio stations will have to dedicate one hour for the same purpose every day
- The MIB has sought comments from the stakeholders by July 27

While airing of such content was made obligatory for TV four years ago under the 'Guidelines for Uplinking and Downlinking of Television Channels in India, 2022', no time slot was specified in the earlier rules. Therefore, the latest draft seeks to address that gap.

Also, under the FM Policy Phase-III, private radio stations were so far required to broadcast "public interest announcements" for one hour every day "as may be required by the Central government/ State government".

However, in the draft released on Friday said that every authorised private radio service should "broadcast programmes focusing on themes of national importance and social relevance, in such manner as the Centre may specify, for a minimum duration of one hour per day", making the nature of the public interest announcements that they will be expected to make clearer.

Moreover, while the current guidelines say that TV channels "may undertake public service broadcasting", the draft seeks to change it to "shall", making the obligation more airtight.

THEMES OF CONTENT

The suggested themes of content — education and spread of literacy, agriculture and rural development, health and family welfare, science and technology, women's welfare, welfare of weaker sections of society, protection of environmental and cultural heritage, and national integration — in the existing rules have been retained in the draft.

EXEMPTION

The obligation will exempt certain categories where compliance may not be feasible, it said.

Channels uplinked from India exclusively for foreign audiences will also not be covered, subject to government clearances and ensuring that content does not affect India's sovereignty, integrity, national security or foreign relations, the draft noted.

Incidentally, a clause in the existing guidelines for television that the Centre may issue a general advisory to channels for telecast of "content in national interest, and the channel shall comply with the same" finds no mention in the draft rules.

The draft retains the existing policy that private radio players can only broadcast the "unaltered news bulletins of Akashvani", other than certain other "non-news" subjects, including sports events, information related to traffic and weather, examinations, and results. The MIB has sought comments from the stakeholders by July 27.

Rupee rises to one-week high of 95.11 on optimism over US-Iran peace deal

Our Bureau
Mumbai

The rupee was buoyed on Friday, closing at a one-week high, as crude oil prices softened to a three-month low amid rising hopes of a peace deal between the US and Iran and rally in the domestic equity markets.

Opening stronger at 95.35 per US dollar, the rupee closed at 95.11, up about 0.7 per cent, against previous close of 95.76. It tested an intraday high/ low of 94.95/ 95.53.

Crude oil prices thawed to about $85 per barrel against $90 on reports of US and Iran inching closer to a peace deal. Benchmark indices BSE Sensex and NSE Nifty rose 2.30 per cent and 1.99 per cent, respectively, due to the possibility of a peace deal and softening oil prices.

Amit Pabari, MD, CR Forex Advisors, said: "The rupee delivered a strong performance today, appreciating below the 95-mark during the session. The move was largely driven by a sharp improvement in global risk sentiment, with markets reacting positively to reports suggesting progress in negotiations between the US and Iran." Another supportive factor for the rupee has been the evolving global interest-rate environment.

Pabari observed that as major developed economies show limited scope for further rate hikes, capital is likely to flow towards emerging markets in search of better returns, supporting currencies such as the rupee.

STRONG RESISTANCE

"USD/INR continues to face strong resistance in the 96-96.50 zone. As long as oil prices remain contained and foreign inflows stay supportive, the near-term outlook for the rupee remains constructive. A sustained move below 94.80 could gradually pave the way for a test of the 94.50-94 region in the coming weeks," per his assessment.

Meanwhile, Motilal Oswal Financial Services Ltd (MOFSL), in a report, said the Reserve Bank of India's latest measures to boost foreign currency inflows are set to strengthen India's forex reserves, improve banking system liquidity and support the rupee, with total inflows estimated at $40-50 billion in FY27.

Microfinance sector shows signs of recovery after seven quarters of contraction

Press Trust of India
Mumbai

The microfinance sector has shown early signs of recovery after a prolonged period of stress, with the industry portfolio witnessing a sequential uptick in the fourth quarter of financial year 2025-26.

"Data for Q4FY26 indicates early signs of recovery in the sector. After seven quarters of portfolio contraction, this quarter witnessed a q-o-q uptick of over 3 per cent," as per a Micro Finance Industry Network (MFIN) report. As on March 31, the industry portfolio stood at ₹3,25,174 crore.

The portfolio expansion was supported by quarterly disbursement of ₹77,524 crore, which was the highest in the last seven quarters, though still below the peak achieved in Q4FY24, as per the report.

"We can now say that despite the tough two years, industry is turning the corner as evidenced by uptick in portfolio and continued improvement in portfolio at risk..." said Alok Misra, CEO and Director of MFIN.

Alcobeve industry urges Telangana govt to clear ₹3,700 crore pending dues

Our Bureau
Bengaluru

Associations of the Indian alcoholic beverage sector have written to the Telangana government raising their concern regarding the State government's unilateral decision to start paying for supply of alcoholic beverages after 15 days upon a deduction of 2 per cent cash discount.

The Telangana government has started a new payment mechanism with effect from June 1, under which payments for alcoholic beverage supplied to Telangana State Beverage Corporation (TGBCL) in May have been made after 15 days upon deduction of an early payment cash discount of 2-2.75 per cent.

The associations, including the Brewers Association of India (BAI), the International Spirits and Wines Association of India (ISWAI), and the Confederation of Indian Alcoholic Beverage Companies (CIABC), pointed out that while the cash discount is part of the tender conditions, it is intended to be exercised at the request of suppliers, not the buyer, that is, the government.

This, they argued, is against standard accounting practices, as the government has begun making payments for recent dues, while the old undisputed dues of over ₹3,700 crore for the period from December 2025 to April 2026 remain outstanding.

DUES SETTLEMENT

The Associations mentioned that settling newer dues before clearing older ones defies established commercial norms and could expose companies to scrutiny from auditors.

The associations are also concerned that the government may divert its monthly payouts towards clearing

The associations point out that while the cash discount is a part of the tender conditions, it is intended to be exercised at the request of suppliers, not the buyer, that is, the government new dues in order to earn the cash discount, while older outstandings continue to remain unpaid. Over time, this could result in legitimate receivables turning into bad debt, creating massive financial burden and risk for the industry.

In their joint letter to the Telangana government, the three associations said, "We would like to bring to your notice that, as per our records, as on date, payments have been cleared for sale up to first week of December, 2025, and pending payments for the period first week of December to first week of April 2026, to the tune of ₹3,725.73 crore is still pending.

"In light of the above, we find the proposed action by the government to start deducting early payment on current supplies very disturbing and against the principles of normal commercial transactions, and is fraught with non-compliance accounting standards, and subject to scrutiny by auditors."

The alcoholic beverage industry has instead urged the government to release payments in chronological order and clear the old outstanding immediately.

"We urge you not implement any such proposals as may have been contemplated," said their joint letter.
