Silkflex Polymers (INDIA) Limited

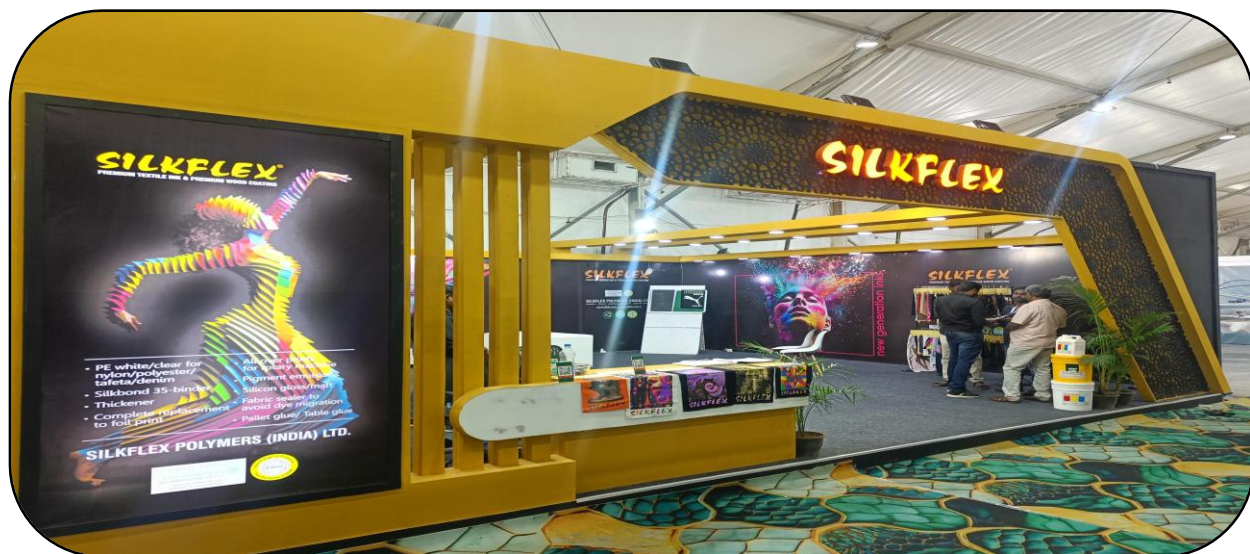

Tirupur, India – 11th August 2025 - Silkflex Polymers (India) Ltd, a leading innovator in eco-friendly and high-performance textile printing inks, successfully showcased its product range at the Textile Printing Ink Exhibition during the Tirupur Knit Show 2025, held from 8th to 10th August 2025 in Tirupur, Tamil Nadu.

Recognized as India's largest knitwear and textile technology fair, the Tirupur Knit Show serves as a hub for innovation, networking, and business opportunities in the global textile industry. Hosted in Tirupur – India's knitwear capital, which contributes to over 54% of the country's knitwear exports, the event draws thousands of industry players, innovators, manufacturers, exporters, and buyers from across the globe.

During the exhibition, Silkflex Polymers presented its latest range of eco-friendly, water-based, and high-performance textile printing inks, developed to meet the evolving requirements of modern textile manufacturing. Special emphasis was placed on sustainable ink technologies and advanced formulations tailored specifically for knitwear, fashion, and casual apparel segments. These innovations reflected the company's commitment to reducing environmental impact while maintaining superior quality and performance.

Key Highlights at Silkflex Polymer's Booth:

- Full Portfolio on Display - From high-opacity whites to soft-hand feel pigments, special effects inks, and eco-certified formulations.
- Sustainable Innovation - Products developed to reduce environmental footprint without compromising on quality.

With 500+ exhibitors and around 30,000 trade visitors, the Tirupur Knit Show offered unparalleled exposure for Silkflex Polymers to engage with decision-makers in printing, garment manufacturing, and export businesses. The event also underscored the growing significance of high-performance, eco-friendly, and water-based inks as a critical component in the future of textile printing.

SILKFLEX

Silkflex Polymers (INDIA) Limited

By actively participating in this prestigious exhibition, Silkflex Polymers reaffirmed its position as a frontrunner in technological advancement, sustainable manufacturing, and market leadership within the textile printing industry.

"Our participation in the Tirupur Knit Show 2025 was an excellent opportunity to connect directly with customers, partners, and industry leaders. The feedback we received reaffirms our belief that innovation and sustainability can go hand in hand in textile printing," said Tushar Sanghavi, Managing Director of Silkflex Polymers (India) Ltd.
