RICO'S REVISED PROVISIONS TO STRENGTHEN PUBLIC AMENITIES IN INDUSTRIAL AREAS

In a progressive move aimed at improving the quality of infrastructure and social support systems in industrial zones, the Rajasthan State Industrial Development and Investment Corporation (RICO) has introduced significant simplifications in its regulatory framework. These revised provisions are designed to facilitate the development of essential public amenities by streamlining the land allotment process within industrial areas. As part of the amendments to Rule 3(G) of the RICO Land Disposal Rule 1979, RICO has decided to allocate land free of cost for critical public utilities such as police posts, ESI dispensaries, primary and community health centers, government schools, and childcare centers (creches). This initiative is expected to substantially improve the accessibility of basic services for workers, thereby enhancing their overall well-being and productivity. Under the revised provisions, a maximum of one acre of land will be allotted free of cost for establishing police posts, with only a nominal one-time lease rent of ₹ 10 and complete exemption from service charges. Similarly, government schools in designated service areas will also be provided land free of cost, encouraging better educational facilities for the families residing in and around industrial zones. Special emphasis has been placed on supporting working women through the provision of creche facilities. Land measuring 250 square meters or more will be allotted free of cost for setting up creches by the Women and Child Development Department or through a Special Purpose Vehicle (SPV). These facilities will also attract only a token lease rent of ₹ 10, with no additional service charges.
