DETHRONES PAYTM

Byju’s is India’s most valued start-up at $16.5 bn

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, June 13

BYJU’S HAS DETHRONED Paytm to become the country’s most valuable start-up after it climbed close to $350 million in fresh funding from a clutch of investors including UBS Group, Blackstone, Abu Dhabi state fund ADQ, Phoenix Rising and Zoom founder & CEO Eric Yuan, the company’s filings with the RoC showed. The latest investment values the company at about $16.5 billion. Paytm is valued at $16 billion.

Byju’s did not respond to FE’s queries. The funding is understood to be an extension of the Bengaluru-based ed-tech firm’s broader over $1 billion financial round it has been raising in tranches. As part of the investment, the Byju Raveendran-led startup was backed by a group of investors including Facebook co-founder Eduardo

Founder & CEO Byju Raveendran

Saverin’s B Capital Group, Baron Funds, XN Exponent Holdings and others at a valuation of about $15 billion earlier this year. The recent $350 million investment takes the total size of the funding round to more than $1.5 billion.

Bulk of the capital raised will be used to fund a spate of acquisitions Byju’s has lined up. In April, the firm acquired brick-and-mortar test prep service provider Aakash Educational Services (AESL) in a close to $1 billion cash and stock deal. Byju’s is also understood to have acquired rival Toppr in a transaction estimated to be over $100 million; the deal has not yet been formally announced. Besides, it is also closing in on discussions to acquire other related businesses including Great Learning and Gradeup, according to reports.

The ed-tech space led by Byju’s also cornered the bulk of the start-up funding in 2020 as the pandemic led to a boom in subscriptions for online educational services. A bunch of investors including new backers like Silver Lake and Alkeon Capital collectively infused over $1 billion into the

Byju’s that claims to have as many as 80 million registered users and 5.5 million subscribers, saw its revenues double in FY21 over the previous year.

In an interview with FE in late September last year, founder & CEO Byju Raveendran mentioned the company added more than 25 million free users on the platform between April and August compared with just about 40 million in the first four-and-a-half years.

The market size of Indian ed-tech sector is estimated to grow by 3.7 times in the next five years, to touch $10.4 billion by 2025 from $2.8 billion in 2020, according to a recent report by EY-IVCA. The segment will see more than 37 million paid users by 2025.

No plan to get into vaccine making as it needs separate manufacturing infra: Sun Pharma

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, June 13

SUN PHARMA has no immediate plans to enter into vaccine production as getting into the vertical would require an altogether different manufacturing set-up, according to a top company official.

The Mumbai-based company, which is strong in various generic therapeutic segments, is eyeing biosimilars to fuel its future growth.

“I think our preliminary assessment indicates that vaccines will require a dedicated manufacturing facility and it cannot be produced in a facility where we are making multiple other products,” Sun Pharmaceutical Industries managing director Dilip Shanghvi said in a call with analysts.

The billionaire industrialist noted that for getting into vaccine production, a completely new set of manufacturing infrastructure is required.

Managing director Dilip Shanghvi

“So, that’s broadly our understanding. So, we currently don’t have any facility which we are looking at for producing vaccines,” Shanghvi said.

On the biosimilar front, he noted that the drug firm is looking to develop a range of such products.

“We are evaluating development of some biosimilars which can be classified amongst the third wave of biosimilars,” Shanghvi said while clarifying that the company is looking at 2030 kind of timeline for such products to hit the market.

A biosimilar is a product which is similar to another already approved biological medicine.

The company is looking at products which have significant future patent expiry dates so that it could be amongst the first firms to get initial approvals, Shanghvi said.

“That’s the focus and priority. And that’s not the only (thing), there are multiple priorities, and also (we are) trying to find a way by which we can leverage our presence in the market so that we can successfully build a biosimilars portfolio,” he added.

He noted that the development of the biosimilars would not be a “big drain” on the company’s cash flow and profitability.

Commenting on the US business, he said the drug firm’s current generic pipeline for the US market includes 94 abbreviated new drug applications (ANDAs) and nine new drug applications (NDAs) awaiting approval with the US FDA.
