SEPTEMBER SHOW The flow of IPOs kept foreign investors interested in primary market even as they were sellers to the tune of $4.8 billion in listed equities

Ranjit Shinde
ET Intelligence Group: The relentless flow of IPOs in September kept FPIs busy buying in the Indian primary market even as they accelerated selling in listed equities. They invested $1 billion ($5.676 crore) in the primary market while offloading $4.8 billion ($45,537 crore) worth of equities in the secondary market during the month, the highest since April 2025 when the outflow was $6.7 billion ($63,367 crore).
Of the 96 IPOs in 2026 so far, 34 were listed in September alone. It implies that one out of every three IPOs this year so far was crammed in a single month as IPO-bound companies scrambled to dodge the requirement of filing audited financials for the current financial year's recent quarters. It also means the pace of primary market offerings may cool off in October since companies would take time to gather audited financial data for the June and subsequent quarters in the current fiscal year. Still, the expected launch of the Jio Platforms IPO in the second half of October may offer some support to the primary market investments given its anticipated size of over ₹35,000 crore-40,000 crore. FPIs have invested $5.3 billion in the primary market while selling $3.7 billion worth of equities in the secondary market in 2026 till the end of September. This compares with a net inflow of $5 billion in the primary market and an outflow of $2.7 billion from the secondary market in the corresponding period of the previous year. It means they continue to show interest in new equity papers while offloading their stakes in listed companies. Primary markets offer an opportunity to buy into businesses with strong growth potential, usually at a discount to the valuations of existing listed peers. Also, it does not involve the impact of bulk deals on stock prices as in the secondary market.

SMALLER EXPENSES WEIGH Hidden Cost of Foreign Travel Can Add Up

Riju Mehta

When Siddhartha Kapoor and his wife decided to holiday in Thailand, in March this year, they budgeted a seemingly adequate ₹2 lakh for the eight-day trip. Yet, somehow, their budget ballooned to ₹3 lakh, a 50% rise. It's a miscalculation most travellers make while vacationing abroad, whether they plan a do-it-yourself trip or take a package tour. Focused on higher costs, they either forget or ignore the smaller expenses that they believe will somehow be taken care of.

Local transport, sightseeing and attraction tickets, visa fees, travel insurance, portage, city taxes, hotel security deposits, SIM charges or international roaming, airline seat selection charges, and mandatory tips in certain countries are among the costs that are often overlooked at the planning stage. If you, too, want a tighter control over your travel spending, consider these expenses.

Airfare: In addition to the airport charges and platform booking fees, seat selection and excess baggage fee can substantially increase the total fare. For instance, India's excess baggage fee can surge to over ₹1 lakh for specific destinations and higher weights. You could also surprise surge in fares due to currency fluctuations between the time you planned the vacation and the actual booking, and when you actually book the tickets.

Card costs: Your spending choices—regular credit card, zero fare credit card, forex card, cash—is important because as the associated fees and charges are among the sneakiest add-ons to a travel budget.

Govt Malhotra Has Flagged AI, Debt and Cyber Risks RBI Could Keep Rates Higher for Longer Amid Global, Local Risks

Factors including higher crude prices and US bond yields could shape the RBI's policy response

Joel Rebellio

Mumbai: Overseas developments could play a greater role in the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) monetary policy decisions as financial risks become more cross-border and interconnected, economists said.

Speaking to ET, economists said governor Sanjay Malhotra's speech at the Fifth Kautilya Economic Conclave, three days before the monetary policy decision, was a hawkish signal indicating that RBI may remain higher for longer as global and domestic risks converge.

"In a way the governor's speech is preparing the market for a higher-for-longer interest rate environment than previously anticipated. The key driver of the RBI's policy reaction function is likely to be the steady tightening in global financial conditions," said Madhavi Arora, chief economist at Emkay Global Financial Services.

Arora said countries with a current account deficit such as India are facing challenges because higher US rates mean a significantly higher risk premium needs to be offered, particularly as global volatility and oil prices increasingly drive financial conditions.

Indeed, the gap between the 10-year benchmark Indian yield and the 10-year US treasury yield has narrowed to 180 basis points from a recent peak of 270 basis points in March as the US bond yield has risen to 3.4% from high.

In his speech on Saturday, Malhotra listed elevated global debt, stretched asset valuations linked to AI, higher leverage, defaults in private credit and cyber risks compounded by AI as emerging risks to global financial stability.

"The challenge before us is to build a financial system that can withstand the shocks we anticipate and those we cannot yet foresee. This requires resilient institutions, better data, deeper markets, credible safety nets, effective resolution mechanisms and regulation and supervision that are proactive and forward-looking, while being proportionate," Malhotra said.

Economists said Malhotra's comments so close to the policy decision had put any doubts over a rate hike on Wednesday into only to rest. With most of the risks listed by the governor stemming from overseas, global factors have also come to the forefront.

"Overseas factors are now more challenging with oil prices higher US treasury yields up and generally market a little uncertain. On the domestic side, household debt is higher, credit growth is above the 10-year average and rupee remains under pressure. All these risks will play out into higher rates now with at least 50 to 75 basis points hike priced in this cycle," said Indrani Pan, chief economist at Yes Bank.

Large Caps Bear Brunt of Selloff

84% of Nifty 50 stocks below 200-DMA; Smaller stocks show some resilience

Ravindra Sonavane

Mumbai: The Indian stock market's latest selloff is increasingly becoming a large-cap story, with 84% of Nifty 50 stocks now trading below their 200-day moving averages (DMAs), while smaller stocks have shown greater resilience. In the Nifty 50, 42 of the 50 stocks are below their 200-DMA. In the Nifty 500, 330 stocks, or 66%, are below the level, compared with 452 stocks, or 45%, in the broader BSE1000.

The 200-day moving average (200-DMA), calculated from the average closing price over the past 200 trading sessions, is widely regarded as a key indicator of the long-term trend of an index or a stock. When a stock trades above it, the trend is considered positive, while when it falls below, it shows weakness.

"The divergence reflects the performance of different market segments over the past six months, with small- and micro-cap stocks seeing strong outperformance and mid caps also performing better than the Nifty," said Rohit Srivastava, founder of Indicharts.

The pressure is particularly visible among blue-chip stocks. Tata Motors PV, Maruti Suzuki and Infosys are trading nearly 15% below their respective 200-

DMA levels, while TCS is down around 18%. HUL, ITC and Jio Financial are each around 17% below their 200-DMA, while RIL, HDFC Life, Tata Consumer, ONGC, M&M and HDFC Bank are around 14% below the level.

Some of the weakness has spilled over into mid caps too but not as much in small- and micro-cap stocks, suggesting that selling remains concentrated in large caps. Within the Nifty 500, 180-odd stocks are trading above their 200-DMA. Of these, 52 are 1-5% above the level, 28 are 5-10% above, 65 are 10-20% above, 21 are 20-30% above and 15 are more than 30% above their 200-DMA.

The BSE 1000 presents a broader picture, with 542 stocks still trading above the 200-DMA. Of these, 97 are within 1-5% of the level, 114 are 5-10% away, 188 are 10-20% away, 100 are 20-30% away and 43 are more than 30% above their 200-DMA.
