Business Outlook

Commenting on the business environment, Mr. M. P. Taparia, Chairman & Managing Director, said:

The operating environment during the second quarter of FY27 has shown encouraging signs of stabilization after the unusual volatility witnessed in polymer prices during the first quarter. Although prevailing geopolitical situation in west Asia has its own impact on Polymer prices volatility but measures taken by the Government including implementation of Minimum Import Price (MIP) on Suspension Grade PVC Resin and withdrawal of customs duty exemption have supported the market environment towards reduced volatility.

India continues to remain one of the fastest-growing major economies, supported by sustained investments in infrastructure, housing, urban development, water management projects, irrigation networks and expansion of city gas distribution infrastructure. These structural growth drivers provide long-term demand visibility across all major business segments of the Company.

The Plastic Piping Systems business continues to strengthen its market leadership through an expanding portfolio of value-added products, enhanced manufacturing capabilities and deeper market penetration. The successful integration of the former Wavin business and access to advanced technologies are enabling the Company to offer differentiated solutions for building and infrastructure applications. The Company remains focused on increasing the share of Value-Added products including PERT piping systems, Gas piping system, Electrofusion fittings, premium range of Bath Fittings, industrial valves and PP Silent Pipe Systems.

The Company had a growth of about 2% in volume during first half of the year over the corresponding period of previous year in Plastic Piping Division. In such an uncertain geopolitical situation, precise growth forecast is not feasible but encouraged by about 24% volume growth achieved in second quarter, Company aims to continue the momentum and achieve better growth in full year.

The Company's newly launched uPVC Windows & Doors business has received encouraging acceptance in the marketplace. The business is steadily expanding its dealer network and is expected to emerge as an important growth driver in the building products segment over next couple of years.

The Composite Cylinder business is witnessing gradual improvement in capacity utilization with procurement activities now initiated by all three Oil Marketing Companies. The division continues to explore various export markets and is also expanding its participation in CNG cascade applications, creating additional avenues for growth.

The Industrial Component, Material Handling and Packaging Product segment businesses continue to perform satisfactorily. The introduction of PP Bubble Guard Sheets and sustained focus on customized solutions are helping widen application areas and enhance customer engagement. The Company's consumer products portfolio continues to struggle for growth amid high volatility of base polymer prices.

The Company remains committed to its growth path and continues to invest in capacity expansion across businesses. Development of new manufacturing facilities at Bihar, Jammu, second site at Erode, another site at Puducherry, Malanpur and brown field expansion at other strategic locations is progressing as planned. With healthy cash flows and robust internal accruals, the Company is well positioned to fund its expansion plans while maintaining financial discipline.

Looking ahead, the Company remains optimistic about the business outlook for the remaining half of FY27. With encouraging outlook of Plastic Piping Division and other businesses in the second quarter, Company expects to grow by about 10% in volume for the full year despite big degrowth in first quarter. Diversified product portfolio, strong brand, extensive distribution network and continued focus on operational excellence will enable the Company to deliver sustainable long-term growth.
