With new launch, TaMo eyes 'coupé' in mid-SUV segment

Priced ₹17.49 lakh onwards, electric Curvv looks to take on Creta, Seltos

SOHINI DAS
Mumbai, 7 August

Tata Motors Passenger Vehicles MD Shailesh Chandra said EV sales would rebound as people are postponing their purchase in anticipation of FAME-III

Tata Motors is taking on internal combustion engine (ICE) vehicles such as the Hyundai Creta and Kia Seltos in the mid-SUV segment with its aggressively-priced electric Curvv SUV coupé, which will be available from ₹17.49 lakh onwards.

The car will come in two battery sizes — 45 kWh and 55 kWh — and offer a range of 502 km to 585 km. Tata Motors claims that the battery can get up to 150 km worth of charge in just 15 minutes, and 10-80 per cent charge in 40 minutes.

The Curvv electric vehicle (EV) takes on the MG ZS EV directly.

However, prices of the Curvv overlap with the Tata Nexon EV (₹14.49-19.49 lakh) and the Mahindra XUV400 (₹15.49-17.69 lakh).

It is also competitively priced against ICE models like Hyundai Creta (₹11-20 lakh) and Kia Seltos (₹10.9-20.37 lakh).

On September 2, the company will unveil pricing of the ICE version of the Curvv. At present, the mid-SUV segment clocks around 680,000 units a year and contributes nearly a third of the overall SUV volumes.

"While the industry is seeing a flattish growth, mid-sized SUVs are growing very strong, above 20 per cent or so," said Shailesh Chandra, managing director (MD), Tata Motors Passenger Vehicles and Tata Passenger Electric Mobility.

Chandra also said that the relative slowdown in the first four months of the financial year in the EV space has been due to the fleet segment (which saw an impact of the FAME-II subsidy withdrawal). The personal segment EV sales remain stable, he said. Chandra felt that the fleet segment will rebound in the coming months as people are postponing their purchase plan in anticipation of the FAME-III scheme.

"Whatever becomes popular in the premium SUV segment also becomes popular in the mass segment. India has a very good aesthetic sense. It will be able to pick up this trend (coupé) fast, as people now also travel a lot globally.

AHEAD OF THE CURVE

Price overlaps with the Tata Nexon EV (₹14.49-19.49 lakh) and the Mahindra XUV400 (₹15.49-17.69 lakh)

Priced against ICE models like Hyundai Creta (₹11-20 lakh) and Kia Seltos (₹10.9-20.37 lakh)

Curvv EV takes on the MG ZS EV directly

Price of the ICE version of the Curvv to be unveiled on Sept 2

The car will come in two battery sizes — 45 kWh and 55 kWh and offer a range of 502 km to 585 km

Firm unveils new vehicle architecture

With the Curvv, Tata Motors unveiled a new vehicle architecture — Adaptive Tech Forward Lifestyle Architecture (ATLAS). The platform will underpin the future ICE-powered as well as EVs in Tata in a 3.9 to 4.6 metres category. "This platform has the ability to take on different powertrains, different wheel bases, and body styles. Some cars which are on the older platform will eventually move to this platform," Shailesh Chandra, MD, Tata Motors Passenger Vehicles and Tata Passenger Electric Mobility said.

There is a lot of noise around coupé as a body style," Chandra said.

He does not think that Curvv will eat into Nexon's share as 60 per cent of customers of Nexon are first-time buyers.

In Curvv, he expects 60-70 per cent of buyers to be 'upgraders' from a current sub-4 metre car. "There will be some cannibalisation as it is an adjacent segment," he said.

Overall, SUVs as a category have grown from 20 per cent share of the passenger vehicle market about five years back to more than 50 per cent now.

Along with this, there has been a lot of fragmentation as well — sub-compact SUVs (3.8 metres in length), compact SUVs (up to 3.99 metres), mid-SUVs (about 4.3 metres) and high-SUVs (4.5-4.6 metres). Finally, there are also the larger SUVs which go beyond that.

Mid-SUVs are emerging as the largest category within SUVs, commanding a market share of over 33 per cent.

Sub-compact SUVs have a 20 per cent share in overall SUV segment, and the compact segment will have around 25 per cent.

YouTube Shorts hits 1 trillion views; CEO lauds Indian creators

YouTube Shorts, a 60-second video format which made its global debut in India in 2020, has surpassed a trillion views, YouTube Chief Executive Officer (CEO) Neal Mohan announced on Wednesday as he highlighted the global impact of Indian content creators. Mohan, who was speaking at the YouTube Brandcast 2024 event, said YouTube has become a platform that enables people to tell their stories.

"Indian creators are making videos inspired by local trends that go on to define global culture. YouTube is number one in reach and watch time in India. And we just passed a huge milestone. Shorts, which we first launched in India, now have trillions of views here," he said.
