Sources: US and China: Hurun Future Unicorns: Global Gazelles Index 2025 (released January 2026, cut-off October 2025); India: 2026 ASK data

India has overtaken the UK to secure the third position in the 2026 ASK Private Wealth Hurun India Gazelle Index, with 51 companies making the list, four more than the previous year. The US and China retained the top two positions with 302 and 278 Gazelles, respectively. India also ranked third in the global Cheetah and Unicorn lists. The index was released on Tuesday. Gazelles are privately held companies founded in or after 2000, valued between $500 million and $1 billion, and considered likely to achieve Unicorn status (valuation of over $1 billion) within three years.

Data centre industry to attract ₹3 trn investment by 2030: Crisil

India's data centre industry is entering an investment super-cycle with installed capacity expected to increase fivefold to 7.5 Gigawatt (GW), attracting investments of over ₹3 trillion over the four financial years through March 2030, credit rating agency Crisil said on Tuesday. "The surge is being driven by generative artificial intelligence (GenAI)-led computing demand, enterprise digitalisation and rising data consumption. The pace of this expansion and credit quality of the data centre developers will hinge on timely power connectivity, regulatory approvals and disciplined project execution," Crisil said.

Firms need better understanding of AI agents: WSO2 CEO

AASHISH ARYAN
New Delhi, 3 November

Enterprises will need to have a better understanding of how artificial intelligence (AI)-powered agents behave and interact with all systems, rather than focusing only on whether the right agents have access to these networks, WSO2's chief executive officer (CEO) Harry Ault has said.

WSO2 is a United States (US)-headquartered open source software company founded in 2005. It works on software system integration, user identity and access security for enterprises.

Though AI-powered agents have been used for quite some time, most were used in deterministic systems, where security and governance are baked into the networks, leaving very little room for agents to perform tasks outside their mandate, Ault said in a virtual interview.

"As things move to generative AI, you move into a more probabilistic scenario where you don't know what the outcomes are going to be. That is really hard for production-level apps, and it's a transition every enterprise is going through," he said.

To rein in such agents, companies must build custom AI control plans, their own mock gateways, and authentication services instead of picking one off the shelf, so they own the intellectual property in perpetuity, Ault said.

> Harry Ault
> Chief executive officer, WSO2

He took over as the CEO of WSO2 from founder and long-time CEO Sanjiva Weerawarana, who retired in August this year. Ault believes that going forward, all issues that occur due to AI, such as agents going rogue or a large language model showing responses that it is not designed to, will be solved by "open source and open standards", allowing more people to work together on the same problem.

Most revenue-generation opportunities for nearly all technology and product companies globally are coming from AI-related demand, and the trend is likely to continue in the near future, he said.

"The question, when you think about growth, is, how do you cater to solving all those problems that exist in AI. We then talk to companies about their budgets and try to offer them solutions around it," Ault said.

In countries and regions such as the US and India, being AI-first has become the norm for all companies, he said, adding that in a country like India, the scale and value of what technology can do is unlikely in any other region.

The company, which has around 950 customers in 92 countries worldwide, also works with several large government institutions, regulators, and financial institutions in India.

There has also been a strong emergence of founder-led product companies in India with the improvement in generative AI technology, which presents companies such as WSO2 with a lot of options for either acquiring some of them or merging them with the parent company, he said.

Merger with ITC Infotech on track: Happiest Minds MD

AVIK DAS
Bengaluru, 3 November

Mid-tier information technology (IT) services company Happiest Minds said its merger with ITC Infotech is on track and it expects listing and trading of new securities of the combined entity to begin in a year.

While the board and shareholder approval have been received, the company is awaiting nod from the Competition Commission of India (CCI) and review from exchanges and market regulator Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI).

"It's going very well. So, we are looking to tick all the boxes and within the time that we had set for ourselves, so that we can get ahead with the marriage," Managing Director Venkatraman Narayanan said.

"The big one is the CCI, which we are hoping to get by November and SEBI also in the same time frame. Once that happens, then it's NCLT (National Company Law Tribunal), shareholder approval and its all done."

ITC Infotech and Happiest Minds announced their merger earlier this year in a ₹1,330 crore deal with ITC being the promoter of the merged company with about 73.4 per cent stake. Happiest Minds said earlier the merger will help the combined entity target larger deals and focus on broader capabilities at a time artificial intelligence (AI) is upending the services industry and there is an increased focus on outcomes and vendor consolidation.

> Q2 PROFIT RISES 15% TO ₹62 CRORE; REVENUE UP 12% TO ₹645 CRORE

Indian services companies have been on an acquisition spree over the last one year as revenue growth has slowed and acquisitions become a viable route to show some steady growth to investors. TCS, Infosys, HCLTech, Coforge and Persistent have been some of the major companies that have mopped up smaller counterparts. Such acquisitions are expected to gather pace as the macroeconomic environment continues to remain volatile.

"Merger is an opportunity when times are difficult. It works as a protection as well because you get a larger canvas, which is growing at a higher rate," he said.

For the second quarter, Happiest Minds reported a 15 per cent rise year-on-year (Y-o-Y) in net profit to ₹62.2 crore. Revenue was up 12.5 per cent Y-o-Y to ₹645 crore. Growth in the second quarter was led by banking financial services and insurance and healthcare, while US led the growth in terms of geographies. India contributed 18 per cent to the topline.

Apple logs record India revenue

Apple reported an all-time high revenue in India for the September quarter, alongside record performance in Mac and services revenue and a September-quarter high in terms of iPhone upgraders, reflecting strong momentum across its businesses in the country.

India emerged among standout markets for the Cupertino, California-headquartered tech titan, with several callouts in the September quarter performance. CEO John Ternus, during the company's earnings call, said Apple grew in the vast majority of markets it tracked, setting September quarter records in the Americas, Europe, Greater China, and the rest of Asia-Pacific. "We also set September quarter revenue records in both developed and emerging markets, in addition to an all-time record in India," he said.

It also recorded a September quarter high for iPhone upgrades in India, contributing to its best-ever fiscal year for upgraders globally. Apple's global iPhone revenue rose 17 per cent year-on-year to $57.6 billion during the quarter, despite supply constraints and foreign exchange headwinds.

"We grew strong double digits in the US and greater China to achieve September quarter revenue records," Ternus said.

Inbound plans $10 mn in seed funding

UDISHA SRIVASTAV
New Delhi, 3 November

Space-tech startup Inbound Aerospace is looking to raise around $10 million (approximately ₹95 crore) in a seed-funding round as it steps up the development of its reusable space re-entry vehicle, according to sources familiar with the development.

The company is in discussions with multiple investors, including existing investors Speciale Invest and Piper Serica, for the proposed round. Given the size of the proposed investment, the funding is expected to be raised through a consortium of investors.

"Inbound is looking at the $10 million mark and is getting a good response," said a person aware of the developments, adding that the final fundraising target and structure were still being discussed.

The funds will primarily be used to advance the development of its reusable re-entry vehicle, including testing and demonstrating its autonomous landing system prior to the actual mission in 2028. The company is also working on developing thermal protection technology and improving flight-control systems to ensure the vehicle can withstand re-entry and land within a designated 100-metre radius.

The proposed funding round is linked to the company's efforts to demonstrate its autonomous parachute-based landing system, which is a key component of its reusable re-entry vehicle. For context, the Chennai-based startup recently completed a one-kilometre drop test using a drone and is preparing for an eight-kilometre drop test in the coming weeks.

The company aims to demonstrate that its vehicle can land within a radius of less than 100 metres of a designated location after re-entry. The capability is crucial for bringing back payloads and experiments from space.

Inbound is developing a reusable vehicle that can carry payloads into space and bring them back to the Earth. It is targeting its first actual mission in 2028, with laboratory simulations currently indicating the possibility of reusing the vehicle eight to 10 times.

The company founded by Aravind I B, Abhijeet Bhutey and Vishal Reddy, had raised ₹9 crore in a pre-seed round last year.
