TCS and Vanderbilt University Medical Center Partner to Advance Healthcare and Life Sciences Research

SAN JOSE | MUMBAI, December 10, 2015: Tata Consultancy Services (BSE: 532540, NSE: TCS), a leading global IT services, consulting and business solutions organization, today announced a new partnership with Vanderbilt University Medical Center (VUMC) to drive innovation in the healthcare and life sciences fields.

TCS and VUMC will drive specific research in areas including; genomics, metagenomics, systems biology, bio-informatics, improved care management, and advanced healthcare analytics. This important collaboration will also lay the foundation for TCS' COIN™ Emerging Technology network to connect with Vanderbilt University's Center for Technology Transfer and Commercialization (CTTC) start-up community.

"At TCS, we're investing in new and emerging digital technologies to develop innovative solutions that our clients need to re-imagine their businesses," said Suresh Muthuswami, President, Head of Insurance and Healthcare. "TCS and VUMC share a passion and curiosity that will enable us to collectively solve complex healthcare challenges and problems. The unique combination of TCS expertise and solutions, coupled with VUMC academia and private research, will create an environment that accelerates innovation in a critical industry like healthcare."

"Research is one of VUMC's core missions," said Dr. Kevin Johnson, Cornelius Vanderbilt Professor and Chair of Biomedical Informatics, Professor of Pediatrics, Chief Informatics Officer, Vanderbilt University Medical Center. "We are thrilled about this new partnership with TCS, as it allows us to enrich our initiatives to create the largest impact on the lives of people globally and provide the highest quality of research possible."

As a partner in TCS' Co-Innovation Network (COIN™), the two organizations will combine forces surrounding product development, enhancement capabilities and go-to-market strategies in healthcare IT.

"Being part of TCS COIN™ will help to accelerate the time-to-market for Vanderbilt's start-up community and bring a global perspective to the innovation agenda," said Ananth Krishnan, Chief Technology Officer, TCS.

About TCS Co-Innovation Network (COIN™)
TCS Co-Innovation Network (COIN™) is a rich and diverse network that connects entities such as emergent technology companies, research labs of academic institutions, leading technology vendors, venture funds, and several other research bodies to facilitate collaborative IT and IT services innovation for customers. COIN™ has a dedicated team to watch the technology landscape for new ideas and emergent technologies that can gain market traction in order to feed TCS' robust innovation pipeline. As our network connects to some of the most ambitious venture capital firms in different geographies, we are able to observe funding patterns.
