Steel firms given state-wise quota for supply of oxygen

JYOTI MUKUL
New Delhi, 22 April

As it scrambles to ensure the supply of oxygen to Covid-19 patients, the central government has enlisted the help of steel firms, which have been given state-wise quotas to ensure adequate supply.

The Union government's Empowered Group 2 (EG2), which reviews the production, consumption, and stocks available at all the steel plants in the country, has allocated distribution of liquid medical oxygen (LMO) from each steel plant to various states. Each firm, including the oxygen making units that are in the business already, have been allocated state-wise quotas for supply.

The Indian steel industry has the capacity to supply about 3,000 tonnes a day of medical oxygen. Tata Steel, Steel Authority of India (SAIL), and Jindal Stainless are among those that have already started supplying medical oxygen to states. Besides, Vedanta's Sterlite Copper has sought Supreme Court's permission to reopen its Tuticorin plant to produce oxygen. The Tata group has said it will import 24 cryogenic containers through a group company to transport liquid oxygen to meet the logistic requirement.

The sector has capacity to provide 3,000 tonnes of oxygen per day

SAIL has already supplied 36,747 tonnes of LMO since August 2020. With the increase in demand across the country, both SAIL and Tata Steel have enhanced their capacities.

In the last six days, SAIL supplied 660 tonnes per day from its plants on an average. The company supplied 891 tonnes on Wednesday alone. SAIL has reduced the production of gaseous Oxygen, Nitrogen and Argon besides optimising process parameters in its plants to boost production of LMO," the company said.

A Tata Steel spokesperson said the company is currently supplying 300-400 tonnes of LMO daily to the states of Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, Jharkhand, Odisha, Bihar, and West Bengal and hospitals through its manufacturing units in Jamshedpur, Kalinganagar, and Dhenkanal. "We stand ready to increase the supply though currently there is a shortage of containers and trailers to carry and transport the oxygen. We hope that the transportation issue is sorted out expeditiously and the required quantity of LMO reaches the desired destinations. We are working on the alternative sourcing as well," he said.

Sterlite Copper has one of the largest oxygen facilities in the country at Tuticorin. It said it has reached out to the Tamil Nadu government and Union Health Minister Harsh Vardhan seeking approval to operate its 1,000-tonne per day oxygen plant to meet the rising demand. The company has also filed a petition outlining its offer to help in the Supreme Court since the Tuticorin plant has been shut over environmental concerns. Another Vedanta group company, Hindustan Zinc, has supplied 1,500 litres of oxygen to the Udaipur health administration. The company transported a 1,000-litre liquid oxygen tank from its industrial oxygen plant at Rajapur Darba Complex, IZTL, to supply industrial oxygen, which will undergo a clinical procedure to be used for medical treatment.

ISIL, the Vedanta group's steel maker, has registered its plant near Pokhara for LMO. It has committed to supply up to 10 tonnes of oxygen daily, based on the steel ministry's requirement. Jindal Stainless, which produces LMO at its Hilar facility in Haryana for industrial purposes, has been supplying eight tonnes a day to nearby medical facilities. This includes Jindal Institute of Medical Sciences in Hilar, Mahatma Agrasen Medical College in Agroha, Mahatma Markandeshwar Institute of Medical Sciences in Mullana, and the rest is being supplied to cylinder retailers. Noting an acute shortage of oxygen in the Delhi-NCR region, Jindal Stainless recently began supplies to Medanta, Gurgaon, and Moolchand hospital in Delhi, the company said.

JLR to suspend output at two units

Tata Motors on Thursday said its British arm Jaguar Land Rover (JLR) will be suspending production at two of its plants in April 26 due to supply chain disruption because of Covid-19 pandemic.

The company's wholly-owned subsidiary, JLR UK, is currently experiencing some Covid-19 supply chain disruption, including the global availability of semiconductors, which is having an impact on its production schedules and ability to meet global demand for some of their vehicles, Tata Motors said in a regulatory filing. "As a result, JLR have adjusted production schedules for certain vehicles which means that the Castle Bromwich and Halewood manufacturing plants will be operating a limited period of non-production from Monday, April 26, 2021," it added.

Tiger Global makes its first India cryptocurrency firm investment

CoinSwitch Kuber, an Indian cryptocurrency investment platform, has raised $25 million ($1.81 crore) in a Series B round of funding from Tiger Global Management, at a valuation of over $500 million.

This marks the New York-based Tiger Global's first investment in an Indian cryptocurrency company. This also marks CoinSwitch the highest-funded cryptocurrency player in India. It sets CoinSwitch on the growth trajectory of global cryptocurrency platforms like Coinbase and Binance in the Indian market.

"This is a monumental time for the crypto industry in India and globally, as institutional adoption, as well as retail adoption for this asset class, is increasing exponentially," said Ashish

Singhal, chief executive officer (CEO) and co-founder, CoinSwitch Kuber. "We are thrilled to have Tiger Global Management, the most prolific backers of the Indian start-up story, as investors and mentors in our journey. This investment round brings us at par with some of the most sought-after cryptocurrency companies in the world."

The crypto company said it has seen exceptional growth and momentum in less than a year of operations in India. In January 2021, CoinSwitch Kuber raised $15 million in Series A funding from leading global fintech and crypto investor Ribbit Capital, San Francisco based crypto-focused investment firm, Paradigm and Sequoia Capital India. PETERJADA ABHAR
