INTO 2025, WITH CAUTIOUS OPTIMISM

MACRO INDICATORS

Economic expansion of around 6.5% seems the norm, while the aspiration is for 7.5-8%. Average growth between FY19-24 was even lower. Growth loss for the Indian economy over recent years is considerable.

AS 2024 DRAWS to a close and 2025 dawns, the need for a policy push to arrest a fall in the GDP growth seems more urgent. FY25 growth is widely seen in the range of 6.5-6.7%, with no big improvement in FY26 either. For a nascent recovery in private investment to take root, domestic consumption demand has to grow much stronger, especially given the external uncertainties. This doesn't look spontaneous, with household liabilities being high, and savings at a low ebb. Consumption is highly leveraged, as is evident from the worsening of asset quality in the unsecured loan segment. Growth in government investment is plateauing. To take the economy to a higher growth trajectory, the key imperative is a well-designed policy package, including structural tweaks, to boost income and wage levels, and stimulate job creation.

Tax revenues are beating Budget estimates in a slowing economy, with more of the burden on individuals and households, and less on businesses. A large part of the tax buoyancy has to do with the low base created by the pandemic. Yet, tax must be pinching for large sections of taxpayers, amid stagnant income growth.

TAX MOP-UP

HIGH-FREQUENCY INDICATORS

A fall in capacity utilisation and new projects raises doubts about the sustainability of the new investment cycle.
