MISSION WAS CARRYING 1 EARTH OBSERVATION SATELLITE, 14 PAYLOADS

PSLV mission fails again, second since May 2025

ANONNA DUTT & AMITABH SINHA
New Delhi, January 12

THE INDIAN SPACE Research Organisation (ISRO) suffered a major setback on Monday, with its PSLV-C62 mission, the first of the year, failing to reach its intended orbit because of problems in the rocket.

The PSLV-C62 rocket was carrying EOS-N1, an earth observation satellite, and 14 other payloads, including seven from Brazil and Nepal. All the payloads were lost.

"The PSLV-C62 mission encountered an anomaly during the end of PS3 (third stage) of the vehicle. A detailed analysis has been initiated," Isro said in a post on X. The space agency did not provide more details.

This was the second successive failure for a PSLV rocket, raising questions over the reliability of ISRO's most successful launch vehicle. Its last flight in May 2025, which was carrying another earth observation satellite, EOS-09, had also met a similar fate. In fact, in both these missions, the problem arose in the third stage of the flight, when the rocket was attempting to get into an orbit around the Earth.

The reason for Monday's failure was not immediately known. But the previous failure, in PSLV-C61 in May last year, was attributed to an unexpected drop in pressure in the combustion chamber of the third-stage engine.

PSLV is ISRO's mainstay rocket, having powered 65 of the 105 launches that India's space agency has carried out till date. Only four of these, including the first one way back in 1993, have failed. But two successive failures within a span of six months does blemish an otherwise fine record. It could be embarrassing for ISRO if the reasons for Monday's failure turned out to be similar to what happened with the previous mission.

It is the PSLV that is used for most of Isro's commercial launches, which bring in a lot of revenue as well as credibility. Five of the payloads on Monday's mission were from Brazil, while one was from Nepal, the result of an India-Nepal collaboration. Another payload was from the UK. Isro has launched more than 430 satellites from 34 countries until now, and is seen as one of the most cost-effective and reliable agencies for commercial launches. This is why Monday's failure is a cause of major concern for Isro.

It was nine minutes after the lift-off on Monday, after the successful completion of the first two stages, that the rocket began to deviate from its intended trajectory. The rocket had completed its vertical ascent and was beginning to get into an orbit around the Earth, a phase in which a big acceleration in velocity is expected.

The previous failure was attributed to an unexpected drop in pressure in combustion chamber of engine observed in the flight path. We are analysing the data and we shall come back at the earliest," ISRO chairman V Narayanan said.

It is the second time in a row that ISRO has had a bad start to a year. Last year's first launch, involving the navigation satellite NVS-02, had also run into trouble. At that time the problem was not with the rocket. The GSLV-F15 rocket had completed its job and placed the satellite in the geosynchronous transfer orbit. But the satellite's own thrusters developed a problem after that because of which it could not be placed in the designated orbital slot. Isro carried out only five launches last year, including the hugely important and keenly awaited NISAR mission.

Mercury nears freezing point in Haryana, Rajasthan

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, January 12

AS FOG FLOATED across cityscapes and open grounds in northern states, the winter weighed much heavier, pushing mercury down to near-freezing temperatures in many areas which experienced the coldest night of the season.

Haryana's Gurugram and Punjab's Bathinda recorded a low of 0.6 degrees Celsius, while Fatehpur in Rajasthan's Sikar district crossed the freezing point threshold to reach minus 0.4 degrees, the local meteorological departments said on Monday.

Near sub-zero temperatures were reported from the NCR region, including in Faridabad and Rewari, leading to ground frost. A layer of ice covered the windshields of some vehicles parked outside homes in Gurugram and turned dry grass brittle. According to official records, Gurugram recorded a low of 0 degrees Celsius on January 11, 1971. However, it cannot be said if Sunday night's temperature is an all-time low for the city, as data for every year is not available.

Golden Globes: One Battle After Another, Hamnet win big

One Battle After Another, a politically charged black comedy loosely based on the 1990 novel Vineland and Hamnet, a story about William Shakespeare's grief over the death of his son, claimed top prizes at the Golden Globes. While One Battle was named best movie musical or comedy, one of its four Globe honours, Hamnet earned the best movie drama prize.

Inequality top concern for youth: Survey

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, January 12

GROWING INEQUALITY between the rich and poor is the top-most economic concern for the youth across the world, while a large number of them want to run for political office rather than just critique, a new survey showed on Monday.

The World Economic Forum's Youth Pulse 2026: Insights from the Next Generation

'Cyberfraud big worry for CEOs'

CYBER-ENABLED FRAUD has overtaken ransomware as the top-most concern for CEOs globally while a vast majority of them expect AI to be the biggest force shaping cybersecurity this year, a new study by the World Economic Forum showed on Monday. PTI ation for a Slowing World 2026 report sought to know how the next generation is interpreting, and responding to, rapid economic, political, technological and environmental change. The survey, drawing insights from nearly 4,600 young people aged 18-30 in 144 countries and territories, found that 48.2% identify 'growing inequality between the rich and poor' as the top economic trend shaping the future. Yet in regions such as Sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia, entrepreneurship emerged as the most powerful economic force — reflecting growing confidence in innovation and self-determination as key drivers of opportunity.
