MOVE AFTER BAN ON REAL MONEY GAMES

Mobile Premier League to fire 60% of local staff

ADITYA KALRA
New Delhi, August 31

ONLINE GAMING APP Mobile Premier League (MPL) will sack about 60% of its local workforce as part of a major downsizing after the government banned paid games, said a company source.

The Union government this month banned online paid games, citing financial and addiction risks especially among youth, leading to a shutdown of many gaming apps offering paid fantasy cricket, rummy and poker games.

The law shocked an industry that was set to be worth $3.6 billion by 2029. The industry says the games rely on skill and therefore are not gambling, which was already highly restricted in India.

As MPL focuses on free-to-play games and bolsters its business in the US market, the company source said on Sunday it would let go of roughly 300 of its 500 India staff in divisions like marketing, finance, operations, engineering and legal.

In an internal staff email sent on Sunday that was seen by Reuters, MPL CEO Sai Srinivas wrote "with a heavy heart we have decided that we will be downsizing our India Team significantly". He did not specify the number of job cuts in the email.

"We are committed to providing those impacted with every possible support during this transition period... India accounted for 50% of M-League's revenues and this change would mean that we would no longer be making any revenue from India in the near future," he added. MPL declined to comment to queries.

Backed by Peak XV Partners, formerly known as Sequoia Capital India, MPL was valued at $2.3 billion in 2021, Pitchbook data shows. It also has free-to-play offerings in Europe and paid games in US and Brazil.

The company source said that MPL's India revenue last year was roughly $100 million. MPL's rival, Dream11, valued at $8 billion, has also discontinued its fantasy cricket offering.

In a first, A23 challenged the government's ban last week, but MPL and Dream11 have decided not to pursue legal challenges.

Jackpot awaits Jio marquee investors

ALONGSIDE THESE TECH majors, US PE firm KKR invested ₹11,367 crore for a 2.32% stake, while Saudi Arabia's Public Investment Fund (PIF) injected ₹11,367 crore for 2.32%.

The rapid succession of deals triggered a re-rating of JPL's enterprise value. When Meta came on board in April 2020, Jio Platforms was valued at ₹4.62 lakh crore. Within a month, as subsequent investors came in at a higher price point, the valuation surged to ₹5.16 lakh crore—an appreciation of more than 10% in record time.

The fundraising spree, which saw participation from 13 global investors, not only strengthened RIL's balance sheet but also positioned JPL as a rare Indian digital platform with global backers.

Experts estimate that this would translate into an IPO size of ₹50,000-60,000 crore under the current guidelines of minimum 5% dilution. However, the Securities and Exchange Board of India has recently proposed that companies with post-issue market capitalisation can opt for lower dilution of 2.5% or 2.75%. This would mean that Jio will have the option to launch an IPO of ₹25,000-30,000 crore.

Ahead of the listing, the market is also anticipating another round of tariff hikes. Analysts expect Jio to raise tariffs in November-December 2025. The move is seen as essential to boosting average revenue per user (ARPU) and improving return on capital employed.

"We believe this increases the possibility of a ~15% tariff hike in the telecom business by Nov-Dec '25, which is likely to be positive for RIL and Bharti, though it'll be subject to potential valuation for Jio IPO," analysts from JM Financial noted.

Airtel management including vice-chairman and MD Gopal Vittal, and CEO designate Shashwat Sharma at the recently held Singtel investor day meet said ARPU growth will come from the natural cycle of upgrade, BofA analysts said. On 5G, the executives said monetisation will pick up when the unlimited 5G plans are removed.

Analysts pointed out that for an industry-wide tariff intervention, it is imperative that the subscriber market share leader initiates the exercise, so others can follow suit.

Airtel maintains that if the industry structure improves then it's a great scenario for everyone, though it will require a few more rounds of tariff hikes. Jio's path to IPO signals the possibility of one such round, allowing Airtel to inch closer to its target ARPU of ₹300 per month.

For Vodafone Idea, another round of tariff hikes will mean better chances of improving its liquidity. The telco is grappling with cash flow woes and a lack of visibility on a fundraise to invest in network expansion capex.

Centre initiates audit of free ration plan

THE OPEN-ENDED nature of NFSA — Prime Minister Narendra Modi in 2023 extended PMKAY by five years — is seen as a major fiscal burden by analysts. When NFSA was enacted by the UPA-II government at the end of its tenure in 2013, it was stated that "issue prices" to beneficiaries would be revised in line with economic cost, which includes MSP procurement, storage, transportation and distribution expenses. Since this revision never happened, the gap between economic cost and issue prices has widened, and subsidy amounts have surged.

"As these beneficiary lists were prepared by states a decade back, there is a need to reverify the eligibility of people who are covered under the PMKAY and include new beneficiaries," an official said. He, however, ruled out any sudden or sharp reduction in coverage under the free ration scheme.

Earlier, the Department of Food and Public Distribution had undertaken a "comprehensive exercise" to strengthen the rightful targeting by matching the ration card management system (RCMS) database with those of the CBDT, CBIC, corporate affairs, road transport and highways ministries, and PM-Kisan Samman Nidhi.

Sources said 10% of the existing 800 million beneficiaries under PMKAY, after inter-ministerial data convergence, were found to appear in one or more databases and may not qualify as per eligibility norms prescribed by respective states.

Several states, including Rajasthan, Odisha and MP, have initiated steps to weed out "ineligible" ration cards.

An official said in some cases single-member households under the poorest-of-the-poor category — Antyodaya Anna Yojana (AAY) — receive 35 kg of grain monthly, even though several such households are headed by a single member below the age of 18. Many beneficiaries receiving free foodgrains were taxpayers, car owners and company directors, while between 6-10 million did not lift their share of grains for several months under PMKAY.

NFSA mandates coverage of 75% of the rural and 50% of the urban population. This includes about 20 million AAY households who get 35 kg of foodgrains per family per month, while members of priority households are entitled to 5 kg of rice or wheat each per month.

Sources said e-KYC of 83% of over 809 million registered NFSA beneficiaries have been completed using Aadhaar authentication. The food ministry has completed Aadhaar seeding of 204 million household ration cards.

Currently, 56-58 million tonnes of foodgrains are distributed annually under the free ration scheme, and the government has budgeted ₹2.03 lakh crore as food subsidy for FY26.

In a communication to state chief secretaries last month, Sanjeev Chopra, secretary, Department of Food and Public Distribution, urged states to undertake field verification of ration cards and identify ineligible beneficiaries under PMKAY so that free foodgrain is directed towards eligible households.

"Cleansing the database of ineligible beneficiaries will enable any left-out deserving individuals and families to be included in the system, thus reinforcing the equity and integrity of the public distribution system," Chopra stated.

Under the NFSA, 2013, states are responsible for identifying eligible households, issuing ration cards and distributing free foodgrains through 0.5 million fair price shops.

Recently, Punjab chief minister Bhagwant Mann accused the Centre of "hatching a conspiracy" to stop free ration to 5.5 million people in the state.

However, food minister Prahlad Joshi said the mandatory e-KYC of beneficiaries was directed by the Supreme Court. "Punjab has 1.41 crore beneficiaries under NFSA 2013, and as per the Act, it is the responsibility of the state government to identify eligible beneficiaries based on their own exclusion and inclusion criteria. The Centre has no role in it."

"This is a bold move in the right direction. Charging some price to others can save at least ₹1 lakh crore. This can be spent on agri-R&D, irrigation, making agri-value chains more efficient, and focusing on nutri-crops. Reforms of food and fertiliser subsidies can be the biggest in agri-food space," Ashok Gulati, agricultural economist, said.

We are partners, not rivals, say Modi, Xi

THIS IS AN important assessment of the current situation, where 50,000 to 60,000 troops are still deployed along the LAC. "We are committed to advancing our relations based on mutual trust, respect, and sensitivity," Modi said.

In a statement, the Chinese foreign ministry quoted Xi as saying that "being good-neighbourly friends and partners for mutual success, and achieving a 'Dancing of the Dragon and the Elephant' should be the right choice for both China and India". According to the statement, Xi also said "last year's successful meeting in Kazan marked the restart of China-India relations, with exchanges and cooperation between the two countries making continuous progress".

"Our Special Representatives have also reached an agreement on border management," Modi said, referring to the two meetings between NSA Ajit Doval and Chinese foreign minister and politburo member Wang Yi in December last year and August this year. Underlining the steps taken towards stabilisation of ties, he said: "The Kailash Mansarovar Yatra has resumed. Direct flights are also being resumed between the two countries." This is the first time that the PM has announced the resumption of direct flights.

Modi was accompanied by Doval and foreign secretary Vikram Misri; external affairs minister S Jaishankar was not present as he had some "personal issues," sources said. Xi was accompanied by Wang Yi.

The two leaders also met later in the evening at the banquet hosted by Xi for the SCO leaders.

...AI under digital competition law

"THE GOVERNMENT IS free to stimulate AI-specific obligations under DCB. In the current construct of the draft DCB, the obligations are outlined but the government can pick and choose core digital services," a senior official told FE.

Ex-ante regulations require businesses to follow specific obligations and guidelines to ensure fair competition, whereas most competition regulations are ex-post in nature.

Last year, the CCI engaged the Management Development Institute Society (MDIS) to examine AI's impact on markets and its implications for competition. In June, MDIS presented its interim report to CCI. Based on feedback from that presentation, the final report is expected by September 30.

Experts say AI is an evolving technology prone to algorithmic collusion, data monopolisation, and other anti-competitive practices. Globally, major economies are still exploring ways to control anti-competitive conduct in the AI space.

For instance, the European Union has stated that even though AI is not listed as a core platform service under its Digital Markets Act, the law can still regulate it. Additionally, the EU's AI Act, which came into force last year, can indirectly extend the powers of national competition authorities to enforce EU competition law. Regulators in the US, EU, and UK have noted that Big Tech may exercise control over AI, as only these firms have the large-scale computing systems necessary for AI to thrive.

The US Federal Trade Commission (FTC), Department of Justice (DOJ), European Commission, and UK Competition and Markets Authority (CMA) last year issued a joint statement resolving to protect competition across the AI ecosystem. They highlighted concerns over AI-related competition risks while outlining principles to foster innovation.

According to the statement, specialised companies controlling key inputs may exploit bottlenecks, giving them major influence over AI tool development, potentially stifling innovation and undermining competition. Key inputs include data at scale, specialised chips, computing power, and technical expertise. The regulators warned that incumbent platforms may already hold significant market power across multiple AI markets and could seek to entrench it.

Arun Khatri, managing partner at K&R Legal, said ex-ante regulations are crucial given the market's rapid evolution. ChatGPT, for example, became a dominant force in just two months, whereas other networking sites or search engines took longer to establish themselves. "The domination and monopoly in the AI industry is likely to grow further in the future, which is why a proactive approach is required. Due to the concentrated market power in specific layers, dominant tech firms may use their financial resources, extensive data pools, and technical know-how to sustain competitive advantages despite the diversity of players."

The government is planning a market study on the draft DCB for a possible revamp after it faced criticism during inter-ministerial consultations and industry feedback. Many experts described the current draft as vague, subjective, and overly broad.

Officials noted that one concern was the Bill's reliance on turnover thresholds to classify systematically significant digital enterprises, rather than focusing solely on market power.

Analysts said high turnover does not necessarily reflect dominance. For example, Apple's strong revenues in India are largely due to the high average selling price of its products, yet it commands only around 6% of the smartphone market.

3 THE CITY

Mumbai gets 1,184 mm rain in wettest August since 2020

NAYONIKA BOSE
MUMBAI, AUGUST 31

SPURRED BY torrential showers that lashed the region between August 16 and 19, Mumbai received 1,184 mm of rainfall this month, making it the city's wettest month in the past five years. The rainfall is just 70 mm short of breaking a 67-year-old record. The city witnessed its wettest August in 1958, with 1,254 mm of rainfall.

Typically, Mumbai receives an average of 566 mm rain in the suburbs in August, while 482 mm is logged in the island city division. However, this August, rainfall has surpassed the typical monthly average by a significant margin of nearly 109 per cent. Data from the India Meteorological Department (IMD) shows that between August 1 and 31, the city's Santacruz weather station recorded the highest August rainfall since 2020, when Mumbai received 1,240 mm of rainfall.

Of the 1,184 mm of rain received this month, over 800 mm was recorded within five days, between August 16 and August 19. Starting at midnight, over 245 mm was recorded till August 16 morning, followed by 85 mm between August 16 and August 17, then 99 mm on August 18, followed by 238 mm on August 19, and 223 mm till August 20 morning.

Even as the suburban station experienced a historic wet spell during the month, records from the IMD show that Colaba station in South Mumbai received relatively less rain at 686 mm, recording a marginal deficit of 99 mm from the seasonal average.

Overall, until now, the Santacruz observatory received 2,494 mm of rain since June, while Colaba station clocked in 1,659 mm so far. With the city failing to meet its monthly average quota for June and July, it was largely due to the wet spell between August 16 and 19 that the city surpassed its seasonal average rainfall of 2,319 mm of rainfall.

Meanwhile, amid heavy spells, the total stock in the seven lakes catering to Mumbai's potable water demands touched 13.93 lakh million litres, which accounts for 96.27 per cent of the dams' total capacity. Mumbai is set to experience another rainy week ahead with the IMD sounding yellow alerts for the region, starting September 3.

Over 4,200 Ganapati idols immersed on fifth day

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
MUMBAI, AUGUST 31

OVER 4,260 Ganapati idols were immersed across Mumbai until Sunday evening as the fifth day of Ganesh Visarjan unfolded in the city. This came after over 60,177 Ganesh idols were immersed across the city's artificial and natural lakes earlier during the Visarjan festivities on Thursday.

The data furnished by the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) shows that until 6 pm on Sunday evening, over 4,260 idols, including 4,196 Ganesh idols, were immersed across Mumbai.

Besides this, 52 Sarvajanic and 12 Hartalika idols were immersed until Sunday evening. Officials said that no untoward incidents were reported during the events.

Earlier, 60,177 idols were immersed in artificial tanks installed across the city on Thursday of which 30,494 were eco-friendly while 29,683 were Plaster of Paris (POP) idols.

This year, in a bid to protect aquatic life in natural water bodies, the BMC has installed over 288 artificial ponds across Mumbai, marking a jump from the previous year when over 204 artificial ponds were installed.

Created using inflatable tubes, artificial ponds are makeshift tanks filled with water, with the deposits from the idols extracted from the tanks and recycled.

Court judgment that finally cleared his name.

In the 2006 Mumbai train blast case, 12 people were convicted in 2015 by a special MCOCA (Maharashtra Control of Organised Crime Act) court, with five, including Ansari, being given death sentences. On July 21, 2025, the Bombay High Court overturned all convictions and acquitted all 12, citing unreliable evidence, questionable witness identification, and flawed confessions. Ansari had passed away in prison while the high court hearing was on.

Ansari, a daily-wage worker from Madhubani, Bihar, was arrested in 2006. He ran a small chicken shop and sold vegetables to support his wife and five children. He spent 16 years in jail. In 2021, during the COVID-19 pandemic, he died in Nagpur Central Jail.

His younger brother, Jamal Ahmed, who came from Delhi for the ceremony, stood by his grave with tears in his eyes. He was joined by Dr Abdul Wahid Shaikh, a co-accused who was the only accused to have been acquitted by the special MCOCA court a decade ago.

"The court has cleared his name, but what about the 16 years he lost? His children grew up without him, and his wife lived under a cloud of shame," Shaikh said.

Mobile phone thief arrested, 90 stolen devices recovered

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
MUMBAI, AUGUST 31

THE OSHIWARA police has arrested a 25-year-old man and recovered 90 allegedly stolen mobile phones from his possession. The accused, identified as Akshay Raju Duglaj, reportedly admitted to stealing the devices over the past few months from areas between Andheri and Goregaon.

"All the mobile phones were stolen in the past few months between Andheri and Goregaon and were kept in a plastic bag in a room in Goregaon area. The accused was looking for buyers," said a police officer.

According to police, the case began after Rahul Mishra, 34, a hotel manager in the Oshiwara area, reported the theft of his mobile phone worth Rs 50,000 from his hotel premises on August 28. Mishra lodged a formal complaint at the Oshiwara police station on Friday.

Sub-Inspector Deepak Thorat and his team traced the accused using technical evidence. During the search operation, Mishra's stolen phone was recovered from Duglaj's possession.

Duglaj, a resident of Anand Nagar in Jogeshwari, was further found to be in possession of six additional mobile phones at his residence. During interrogation, he confessed to stealing 83 more phones from various homes in the Anand Nagar area in Goregaon (West), Andheri (West), and Bangur Nagar.

"He kept all 83 mobile phones in a plastic bag and hid near a drainage in the area," said Senior Inspector Sanjay Chavan of the Oshiwara police station.

The accused has been arrested and is being further interrogated to determine if he had any accomplices. "We have been trying to find out the owners of the phone through IMEI numbers of the phones and once they are identified, the phone will be given to them after a legal process," added Chavan.
