FIRMS INCREASINGLY SEEK AI-SKILLED FRESHERS

AI, Gulf tensions cast shadow over law school placements

JYOTSNA BHATNAGAR
Ahmedabad, July 13

WITH DAY ZERO 2027 for India's top law schools just weeks away, campuses are bracing for one of the most uncertain placement seasons in recent years. Rapid AI adoption and geopolitical tensions in the Gulf are prompting law firms to rethink hiring, even as students complain of having opportunities and opaque recruitment processes.

Industry insiders say the associate zero (A0) base—the entry-level rung at law firms—has shrunk as AI increasingly handles routine legal work, while firms also seek to recover the costs of deploying these technologies.

Rohit Jain, managing partner at Singhania & Co, says placements may face “a selective squeeze, not a collapse”. While the Gulf conflict could hurt employer confidence through higher oil prices, inflation and currency volatility, he adds that “companies implementing AI will increasingly seek AI-skilled fresher.”

Aashna Jain, career strategist and founder of RiGraph, says AI is only one part of the story. “Law firms are generating strong revenues but hiring remains muted. After the post-Covid hiring spree of 2022, firms are still correcting. They are also reluctant to overstaff at the junior level when AI can perform much of the routine work, and are less willing to invest in training fresh graduates,” she says.

Students say the recruitment process itself has become far less predictable. Earlier, pre-placement offers (PPOs) and Day Zero hiring across the top National Law

REVAMPED HIRING

■ Entry-level rung at law firms has shrunk as AI increasingly handles routine legal work, say industry insiders

■ Firms also seek to recover costs of deploying technologies

■ Firms are reluctant to overstaff at junior level when AI can perform much of the routine work, says a strategist

■ Startups, GCs continue to hire younger lawyers who are technologically adept

Universities (NLUs) followed a relatively transparent schedule. This year, firms are approaching campuses individually and at different times, often insisting that students keep the process confidential.

“Firms are reaching out at different times, creating chaos on hiring numbers through either PPOs or Day Zero. The students also allege that some firms are renegeing on commitments.”

“I’ve seen firms withdraw offers citing restructuring, delay recruitment for 3-6 months, or alter assessment interviews without meaningful discussions. Students lose out on other opportunities in the process,” the student says.

Aashna Jain says such complaints have become common. “I’ve received numerous distress calls from students whose PPOs have been withdrawn. Many firms are unusually eager about hiring plans. One reputed law firm even instructed students not to disclose its recruitment drive to other campuses.”

The developments have drawn comparisons with engineering placements. Following large-scale job losses among IIT graduates, the All India Placement Committee recently introduced norms requiring recruiters to honour offers or compensate candidates with three months’ salary, failing which they face a placement ban. “It is time the NLUs considered a similar framework,” the student says.

Recruiters, however, argue that AI has changed the nature of hiring more than its overall volume. While legal hiring has not fallen dramatically, firms increasingly expect candidates to be comfortable with AI-enabled workflows and legal technology platforms. Beyond legal knowledge, graduates are now expected to understand which AI tools are relevant to their practice area and how to use them effectively.

Multinational corporations have become more cautious about entry-level hiring while continuing to recruit at the mid and senior levels. Startups and global capability centres (GCCs), meanwhile, continue to hire younger lawyers who are technologically adept and able to shoulder wider responsibilities.

Interview conversations now routinely include questions on legal technology and AI.

THE FINAL FOUR

A RECORD 48 NATIONS were involved over a month-long gruelling battle across 16 venues as the FIFA World Cup 2026 has reached its climax—four best teams fighting it out for the ultimate glory. For the first time, FIFA’s top four ranked nations will be playing the semi-finals.

France (1) play Spain (3) in Texas, while defending champions Argentina (2) faces England (4) in Atlanta. Ankit Pattnaik tracks the journey of the former champions.

SANDIP G
New York, July 13

BEHIND FRANCE’S RELENTLESS attack is a 24-year-old conductor with dreadlocks and instincts that seem borrowed from another era. Behind Spain’s impenetrable defence is a 19-year-old whose composure belongs to a man twice his age.

The France versus Spain semifinal in Dallas is many things at once: a tactical chess match, a collision of European giants, a game that deserved to be a final. Above all, it is a window into football’s future.

Some of these players are already superstars. Kylian Mbappe is only 26, arguably not yet at his peak. But it is names beyond Mbappe that hum with possibility, players who could fill the void space Messi and Ronaldo, Modric and De Bruyne, will eventually leave behind.

Michael Olise is the fulcrum of France’s machine. Before this World Cup, he was known chiefly

FRANCE

Les Bleus led by Kylian Mbappe and ably supported by Ousmane Dembélé, Michael Olise and Randal Kolo Muani the most potent attack on the field

Played	Won	Goals scored	Goals conceded
6	6	16	2

SPAIN

Despite Lamine Yamal’s poor show, the La Roja have conceded just 1 goal. Oyarzabal & Merino have replicated the likes of Iniesta & Xavi

Played	Won	Draw	Goals scored	Goals conceded
6	5	1	11	1

HEAD-TO-HEAD

The Zinedine Zidane led France won 3-1 in the only match-up in World Cup history between the European giants

Kylian Mbappe and teammates have been clinical throughout the FIFA World Cup for France. Meanwhile, Spain, with a strong defence has just conceded a solitary goal so far on the ball than physics should allow. He uses that time to bend games to his will.

The players around Olise only deepen the France’s rivals.

Desire Doucoure, Olise’s left, has explosive pace, immaculate control and the kind of ferocity that leaves managers

ARGENTINA

With a mission to defeat ‘winner’s curse’, the Albiceleste led by Lionel Messi, have remained unbeaten so far amid on-field controversies and alleged VAR interruptions

Played	Won	Goals scored	Goals conceded
6	6	17	6

ENGLAND

The Three Lions led by Harry Kane are destined to rewrite history, six decades since their ultimate glory that came under Bobby Moore

Played	Won	Draw	Goals scored	Goals conceded
6	5	1	13	6

England lead 3-2 against Argentina in WCW with the most famous fixtures being the 1966 QF and Diego Maradona’s “Hand of God” in the 1986 QF

On the flanks, Nico Williams and Alex Baena, both 24, provide different but complementary threats. Williams, still working his way back from injury and limited to cameos, can be as devastating as Yamal on his day. Baena is less flashy but craftier, with a hammer for a right foot that opponents underestimate at their cost.

If Yamal is Spain’s figure-head, then Pedri and Pau Cubarsi are the nucleus. Pedri, 23, is the metronome. Even in the tightest spaces he finds passing lanes, rarely loses the ball, and has the rare gift of making time seem to expand around him. Xavi, who coached him at Barcelona, once said: “Pedri has no ceiling. His footballist’s instinct is improvised art, a throwback to Spain’s tiki-taka peak. So deep is the Spanish midfield that 21-year-old Cavi, world-class in his own right, has barely featured.

Dallas cannot come soon enough.

'Lethargic attitude': HC slams govt over Forest Rights Act delay

The Forest Rights Act was introduced in 2006.

Omkar Gokhale
Mumbai, July 13

THE BOMBAY High Court last week pulled up the Maharashtra government for failing to effectively implement the Scheduled Tribes and Other Traditional Forest Dwellers (Recognition of Forest Rights) Act, 2006, nearly two decades after it was enacted, calling for a delay a result of "sheer callousness" and a "lethargic attitude".

The Forest Rights Act, introduced in 2006, recognises individual Forest Rights (IFR) for farming and habitation, and Community Forest Resource (CFR) rights to sustainably manage and use forest resources.

A bench of Justices Ajeet S Gadgil and Kamal R Khata, while hearing a petition filed by NGO Vanashakti, directed the Maharashtra government to explain why key provisions of the law remain unimplemented and place on record a timeline for enforcing them.

The bench noted that the Act has not been properly implemented in the State of Maharashtra, "the court observed, while criticising the government for offering "various excuses" instead of complying with its mandatory provisions. The high court also noted that the petition has been pending since 2014 and that even after more than 12 years, the state had failed to provide any convincing explanation for the delay. "It is pertinent to note here that the present petition was filed on April 7, 2014, and for over 12 years, except for giving numerous excuses, no cogent and sufficient reasons have been given for not implementing the mandatory provisions of the said Act," the bench observed.

Appearing for the state government, its counsel submitted that the rights of tribals were still being ascertained and decided. The high court rejected the explanation. "We are unable to accept such a submission, for the plain and simple reason that it certainly does not take more than a decade to decide such rights. It is sheer callousness and a lethargic attitude on the part of the concerned authorities. Such conduct is unacceptable."

3 states help reunite missing woman with family after over 2 yrs

Express News Service
Mumbai, July 13

A 42-YEAR-OLD woman, who went missing nearly two-and-a-half years ago and later presumed dead, was reunited with her family on July 12, at the Regional Mental Hospital (RMH), Nagpur, ending months-long efforts by the hospital staff, Nagpur district police and a non-government organisation to identify and trace her family despite the language barriers. The search for the woman's family was spread across three states — Maharashtra, Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu. Lakshmi (name changed) was admitted to the Regional Mental Hospital, Nagpur, on March 11, 2024, after being rescued by Bhadravati police station. Chandrapur. Then began the painstaking task to identify her and search for her family. The biggest obstacle was her language. "Since the patient spoke only Tamil, it was extremely difficult to understand the information she provided," officials said. It was when the officials took assistance from junior doctor

CENTRE'S PERFORMANCE GRADING INDEX FOR DISTRICTS

Kolhapur tops in performance of schools, urban centre trail

Mumbai suburban at second-last spot

Pallavi Smart
Mumbai, July 13

KOLHAPUR HAS emerged as the best district in Maharashtra in the Centre's assessment of performance of the school education system at the district level.

However, districts such as Mumbai and Pune, despite having access to better infrastructure and educational resources, trails behind in the Centre's latest Performance Grading Index for Districts (PGI-D).

More concerning is the position of Mumbai suburban district which ranks as the state's second-lowest performing district, highlighting that urbanisation alone does not guarantee better educational outcomes.

Experts pointed that Mumbai suburban's ranking should be viewed as a wake-up call, rather than merely a ranking. According to the PGI-D 2025-26 report, Kolhapur secured an overall score of 461/600, placing it at the top among Maharashtra's total 36 districts. It is followed by Satara which falls under the same category-Uttam 2 - of districts with its overall score 432/600. This category features districts having scored between 71 per cent and 80 per cent of the maximum possible score. Nearly 14 districts including Pune, Ratnagiri, Nashik, Solapur, etc under the Uttam 3 category, which recognises districts having scored between 61 per cent and 70 per cent. Whereas remaining districts fall under the Prachista 1 category, indicating that their score is less than 60 per cent and require greater interventions to improve the quality of education.

Education experts attribute Kolhapur's performance to targeted efforts made in the past two years. Starting from creating awareness about PGI-D among teachers to training them for effective teaching learning process along with introducing various motivation measures for teachers as well as students to do well in various assessments.

Education Officer (EO) at the Kolhapur Zilla Parishad (ZP), Meena Sherkar said, "The PGI-D sources data from various different evaluation scales such as National Assessment Survey (NAS) which can consider any random classes per evaluation; UDISE report which include all factual details regarding schools, and the Annual Survey of Educational Assessment Test (ASAT) among others. This required us to have an all-inclusive approach to improve learning outcomes of students, which is the most valued component for the PGI-D scoring."

Sherkar shared that the district administration performed a gap analysis of infrastructural shortcomings and studied issues in achieving good learning outcomes of children. "Accordingly, continuous assessment plans were introduced for all classes and teachers were trained on how to improve learning outcomes of students."

The report has highlighted poor performance by urban centres, especially the Mumbai Suburban district. Its overall score is 315/600. In the category of learning outcome, Mumbai suburban has scored merely 105/290, which is far behind Kolhapur's score of 222/290.

Madhav Suryawanshi, a teacher from Mumbai said, "But no such efforts are taken by the administration in Mumbai. And if at all isolated efforts are taken anywhere, there is no consistency, leading to gaps," he said.

Fadnavis completes 6 years, 237 days as CM, overtakes Sharad Pawar

Express News Service
Mumbai, July 13

DEVENDRA FADNAVIS has completed six years and 237 days as the Chief Minister of Maharashtra surpassing NCP(SP) president Sharad Pawar, who held the post for six years and 221 days over four terms. However, Pawar did not get to complete five years in any of these four terms.

With this, Fadnavis has become the third longest-serving chief minister of Maharashtra. Former chief minister Vasantrao Naik holds the record as Maharashtra's longest-serving chief minister with 11 years and 78 days in office, followed by Vilasrao Deshmukh with seven years and 129 days.

Fadnavis, who first took charge as Chief Minister in 2014 completed a five-year term in 2019. But his second term post 2019 Assembly elections ended abruptly within five days after then deputy chief minister of undivided NCP Atal Pawar withdrew support. However, Fadnavis took charge of the Maharashtra government on December 5, 2024.

Except for Naik and Fadnavis, none of the chief ministers in Maharashtra across parties have completed their five-year tenure in one term. Of the total 20 chief ministers since the creation of Maharashtra on May 1, 1966, Congress takes the lead with 15. The undivided Shiv Sena had three - Manohar Joshi (8 years 324 days), Narayan Rane (259 days), Uddhav Thackeray (2 years 214 days).

After the split in Bal Thackeray's party into two factions Shiv Sena and Shiv Sena (UBT), Eknath Shinde made it to top slot from 2022 to 2024 (2 years and 158 days). The lone BJP CM is Fadnavis.

Congratulating Fadnavis, senior BJP minister Chandrashekhar Bawankule said, "Fadnavis will go a long way to break many more records ahead. This is just the beginning. I clearly foresee Fadnavis will continue in Maharashtra as CM till 2034."

Deputy Chief Minister Sunetra Pawar meets the Warkaris injured in the accident at the hospital in Jejuri. EXPRESS

3 women Warkaris run over by truck following Palkhi

Express News Service
Pune, July 13

THREE WOMEN pilgrims participating in the Ashadhi Wari were killed and four others were critically injured after a truck accompanying the Palkhi procession ran over a group of Warkaris on the Saswad-Jejuri Road in Pune district on Monday morning.

The Pune Rural police said the accident took place around 8.30 am, about 500 metres ahead of the Belsart plaza towards Jejuri in Purandar taluka. The accident occurred around 12 kilometers ahead of the Palkhi procession, which was at Borawake Mala when the incident took place. Following the accident, Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis has announced financial assistance of Rs five lakh for the families of the deceased.

According to police, the truck belonged to the Dindi (a group of Warkaris travelling together) of Ranganath Maharaj Pokharbisakar from Loha in Nanded district and was one of the vehicles accompanying the Palkhi. It was travelling towards Jejuri when it struck seven women Warkaris from a Dindi of Kasbe Digran area of Sangli district.

The injured women have been shifted to a hospital in Jejuri for treatment. Preliminary inquiry indicates that the 70-year-old driver was unwell and had taken medication for fever and a cold. While attempting to overtake another vehicle, he suddenly swerved the truck to the left, causing it to hit the women pilgrims, a Pune Rural police officer said.

The deceased were identified as Nanda Pawar (60) of Jalgaon in Miraj taluka, Madhav Rajaram Salgar (55) of Jalgaon in Miraj taluka and Rajshri Shankar Roshale (55) of Kasbe Digran in Miraj taluka, all in Sangli district. The four injured women were admitted to a private hospital in Jejuri.

Ahead of Uddhav visit, Nagpur temple trust says no politics inside shrine

Ankita Deskar
Nagpur, July 13

AHEAD OF Shiv Sena (UBT) chief Uddhav Thackeray's proposed Ram Raksha Andolan in Nagpur on 18 July, the trust managing the historic Ram Mandir in the Ram Nagar area of Nagpur has made it clear that while devotees are free to recite the Ram Raksha Stotra, no political programme, sloganising or agitation will be allowed inside the temple premises.

Thackeray is expected to bring his Ram Raksha Andolan to Nagpur, where the headquarters of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) is located, as part of his statewide campaign over the alleged embezzlement of donations collected for the Ram Temple in Ayodhya.

Speaking to The Indian Express, temple committee president Davi Waghmare said, "I made it clear that this should not become a political battleground. If they hold a programme, it must be purely religious. There should be no sloganising or political speeches."
