CBI takes over probe in murder of Suvendu's aide, files FIR

PTI NEWDELHI

The CBI has registered an FIR in the alleged murder of West Bengal Chief Minister Suvendu Adhikari's aide Chandranath Rath, taking over the investigation from the state police, officials said. The CBI action came following a request from the state government, they said. The agency has formed a seven-member special investigation team under a DIG of Special Crime from Delhi, comprising some of the best investigators drawn from various units of the agency, officials said. The team will report to the Joint Director, Kolkata. The officers of the Kolkata zone of the CBI will also join the team for investigation, they said.

According to the officials, the CBI team has already reached the crime scene and started the investigation. According to the procedure, the CBI re-registers the state police FIR as its own case, which becomes the starting point for the probe. The investigation is conducted independently, and the outcome may or may not support the allegations. The CBI then files a final report before a competent court, which can be a charge sheet or a closure depending on the findings of the agency. The West Bengal Police on Monday arrested three people from Uttar Pradesh and Bihar in connection with the Rath's killing, pursuing leads from a UPI transaction made at a toll plaza by one of the suspects. The three accused were detained on Sunday and arrested the next morning by the Special Investigation Team (SIT) constituted to probe the murder. Based on technical surveillance, digital tracking and other means, members of the SIT were sent to Uttar Pradesh and Bihar. During the probe, it emerged that a car, suspected to have carried the car, possession of illegal arms, criminal conspiracy and suspicion of a murder, an officer said, adding that one of the occupants allegedly paid the toll through a UPI transaction. The three were charged with murder, possession of illegal
