Headstrong Mahavir Singh Sindhav died after falling from the fourth floor

Ahmedabad
In Ahmedabad's posh Bopal area, notorious Mahavir Singh Sindhav, who was involved in drunken brawls with his neighbors, has died after falling from the fourth floor. Mahavir Singh, who was involved in robbery, extortion, suddenly came into the limelight by entering folk writer Devayat Khawad's diary with a fleet of 10 luxury cars and showering lakhs of rupees. Bopal police have now registered a case of accidental death and are conducting further investigation. He had fought with the residents of the flat in a drunken state last night. According to the details revealed in the police investigation, the deceased Mahavir Singh (native resident of Chokdi village, Ta. Chuda, Surendranagar) had recently come to live in the 'Akshar Luxury' flat in Bopal area. On Monday night, Mahavir Singh had created a huge commotion with the neighbors living in another block of the flat in a drunken state over something. The fight became so fierce that he started fighting with the residents. Fed up with his terror, the locals immediately called the police control room's emergency number 112 and informed the police. On hearing the arrival of the police, he ran away from the fourth floor and slipped. After getting information from the locals that the police had arrived, Mahavir Singh ran away to escape the fear of being caught. While trying to quickly escape from the gallery or terrace on the fourth floor, his foot suddenly slipped, due to which he was thrown straight into the air from the fourth floor and fell down. He died on the spot due to serious injuries to his head and body due to falling from a height. PI Sunil Chaudhary of Bopal Police Station said that Mahavir Singh died due to the fall himself, due to which a case of accidental death has been registered. The body has been sent to Sola Civil for post-mortem.

Blood in Urine Could Be an Early Warning Sign of Urologic Cancers

Surat, As men cross the age of 40, health concerns such as blood pressure, diabetes, cholesterol, and heart disease often become a priority. However, experts emphasize that cancers affecting the urinary system—including prostate, bladder, and kidney cancers—also require increased awareness, as their early warning signs are frequently overlooked or mistaken as a normal part of ageing. According to Dr. Hemant B. Tongaonkar, HOD & Principal Director, Urologic & Gynaecological Onco Surgery, Nanavati Max Super Speciality Hospital, Mumbai, one of the most significant warning signs that should never be ignored is the presence of blood in the urine. "Blood in the urine may appear only once, disappear on its own, or occur without any pain. However, even a single episode of red, brown, or tea-coloured urine warrants immediate medical evaluation. In men, visible blood in the urine is one of the strongest warning signs associated with bladder and kidney cancers," said Dr. Tongaonkar. He further highlighted that changes in urination patterns, especially when they are new or persistent, should also be taken seriously. Symptoms such as frequent urination, waking up multiple times at night to pass urine, a weak urinary stream, urgency, or difficulty initiating urination may often be linked to benign enlargement of the prostate, a condition that becomes increasingly common with age.
