* Sharp increase in YoY Adjusted Revenue growth mainly due to shift to 1P model in quick commerce from Q1FY26 onwards, where Revenue now also includes the full monetary value of goods sold (and not just the marketplace commission).

 Like-for-like ("LFL") consolidated Adjusted Revenue is calculated as consolidated Adjusted Revenue (-) Revenue from Hyperpure's non-restaurant business (-) cost of goods sold in case of own inventory sales in quick commerce.

Notes:

- 1) NOV (B2C business) is defined as the combined net order value (NOV) of consumer facing businesses i.e. food delivery, quick commerce and going-out. NOV (B2C business) excludes the NOV of Bistro business which is part of the 'Others' segment.
- 2) Adjusted Revenue defined as consolidated revenue from operations as per financials (+) actual customer delivery charges paid in the food delivery business (net of any discounts, including free delivery discounts on Zomato Gold program)(+) platform fee and other charges paid on food delivery Orders that are not already included in revenue from operations.
- 3) Adjusted EBITDA = EBITDA (+) share-based payment expense (-) rental paid for the period pertaining to 'Ind AS 116 leases'.

Letter from the Founder

In 2008, I was collecting restaurant menus on a motorbike in Delhi, scanning them, and uploading them to a website. I wasn't building a business. I was merely solving a problem I knew others had, in the spirit of service. I never intended it to become a business. Zomato, the company, was started two years later in 2010, when I started getting advertiser interest on the website which used to get a little over 5,000 visitors a day. Over the years, one thing led to another.

Last year (FY26), 109 million Indians completed transactions worth over $10 billion through Blinkit, District, and Zomato. The company I accidentally started now touches how India eats, shops, and goes out. But it took us 18 years to get to $10 billion (per year).

How we got here matters more than the number - because it tells you where this is going.

The cost of finding a large business

Zomato started as a restaurant listing website. We spent nine years iterating: reviews, discovery, table reservations, international expansion. We didn't even start delivering food until 2017. The business that processes billions today didn't exist for the first nine years.

Grofers started in 2014 as a delivery logistics company. It went through multiple pivots and iterations before becoming Blinkit in 2021, the quick commerce model that now defines a category, globally.

District looks recent, but its roots go back to 2011, when we did our first ticketing for New Year's Eve events.

The pattern is the same every time. You start with a core insight, pull ten threads around it, and if you're disciplined and lucky, one of them becomes a large business. The other nine aren't failures. They're the cost of finding the one that works.

This means the financial outcomes are naturally backloaded. You spend years building track before the first train runs. Our first annual $10 billion in NOV took 18 years. This doubling to $20 billion annual NOV will take less than two years from here.

Similarly, it took 16 years to reach Adjusted EBITDA profitability in FY24. From there, we expect to reach $1 billion of Adjusted EBITDA, hopefully by FY29. The acceleration is real because the foundation is already laid. The systems, the supply chains, the customer trust, the operational muscle. All of it compounds.

Our moat is physical

Every order on Zomato is a real-world coordination problem. A meal has to be prepared by a restaurant we don't control, picked up within minutes by a delivery partner navigating traffic we can't predict, and delivered while the food is still hot. Get any one of those wrong and the experience breaks.

Blinkit takes this complexity several notches up. We run our own supply chain. 17 million square feet of warehousing and dark store space. Procuring, storing, and managing inventory across thousands of stores, then delivering in minutes. The margin for error is measured in seconds and centimetres of shelf space.

District operates in a world where tens of thousands of people converge on a single venue for a few hours, and the experience depends on everything from sound engineering and crowd flow to parking, security, and weather.

But here's the thing about the physical world: it doesn't always cooperate. Weather shuts down roads. Demand spikes without warning. Restaurants run out of ingredients mid-rush. Delivery partners get stuck.

And if that complexity weren't enough, we build in India. Our systems interact with the real India - cities where addresses are approximate, road infrastructure is always catching up, supply chains that still run largely on cash and handshake relationships, a workforce that is largely informal, and a merchant ecosystem that is fragmented in ways that would be unrecognizable to most global tech companies. This isn't a complaint - it's a description of our moat. Because anyone who figures out how to build reliably in this environment has built something very hard to replicate.

Over the last two decades, that's what we've done. We've built systems that don't just work in ideal conditions but hold up under real-world stress. As a result of this reliability, our platforms have become a part of daily life for over 100 million customers in the country. This trust extends across the ecosystem. Today, our platforms support livelihoods for over 1 million delivery partners, 400k+ restaurants, 100k+ supply chain workers, and thousands of brands. As our scale grows, so does the economic value and impact that we create for our partners.

AI is our friend, not a threat

Some people wonder whether AI chat interfaces will become the new front door for commerce, shifting demand away from apps like ours.

We've seen such a story play out before. Google spent over a decade trying to pull transactional behaviour into its own platform. Google Flights. Google Hotels. Google Shopping. Restaurant ordering built into Google Maps. They had the largest demand surface on earth, billions of searches a day, and the strongest distribution advantage in the history of the world. And yet Booking.com is still here. Expedia is still here. Amazon is still here. The vertical apps that consumers had built habits around didn't get displaced.

The reason is simple. General-purpose interfaces are good for general-purpose queries. They are poor interfaces for complex, high-frequency, habitual transactions. Ordering food involves browsing menus, comparing restaurants, ratings and delivery times, substituting items and tracking orders in real time.

And more fundamentally, consumer behaviour is the hardest thing in the world to change. People who order dinner on Zomato four times a week, or groceries on Blinkit every other day, are not going to reroute those habits through a chat window. The people who are excited about experimenting with ordering food through AI assistants are a real but early segment, and currently, nowhere close to disrupting our business.

Brand associations are even harder to change than habits. When someone is hungry, they think Zomato. When they need groceries within minutes, they think Blinkit. When they want to go out, they think District. This is by design. It is why we run separate apps, and focus on creating super brands, rather than a single super app. Each brand owns a specific trigger in the customer's mind. That mental real estate, built over years of consistent delivery on a specific promise, is not something that gets dislodged easily.

Also, most of our business happens in the offline realm. AI will not replace the need to move food through traffic. It will not stock shelves in a dark store. It will not manage crowd flow at a 50,000-person event. It will not build cold chain infrastructure or negotiate with suppliers in tier 2 cities. The physical world doesn't get disrupted by language models.

Nevertheless, if something similar didn't work in the past, it doesn't mean it won't work in the future. Agentic commerce is similar to, and also different from, Google's attempt at owning transactions. At this point, we believe there is nothing to panic about. But we will keep our eyes open, without an iota of complacency or wishful thinking, and edit the contours of our business where needed to make it even more defensible in the long term.

Now, what AI actually does for us.

We are one of the largest deployers of AI in India. Demand prediction, route optimisation, supply-chain management, customer experience, fraud detection, catalogue quality, and partner support already use AI across our platforms. These systems are trained on billions of real interactions, where the cost of getting something wrong – a late delivery, a wrong order, a failed refund, an unavailable item, is immediate and measurable.

But the more important question is not how AI helps us reduce cost. That is useful, but not enough. The sharper question we ask ourselves is: how does AI expand the market?

In our businesses, markets expand when more people can participate – more customers, more delivery partners, more restaurants, more sellers, more brands, and more local businesses. AI reduces the friction required for each of them to participate.

For customers, conversational interfaces let customers express intent in full sentences rather than two-word search queries, which is a far richer signal to convert against. It lowers the friction caused by static search and filters into intent-led discovery, especially for older users, non-native language speakers, first-time online buyers, and tier 2 and 3 city consumers who may struggle with app flows. Zomato's Healthy Mode and Natural Language Search (NLS) are early examples of this. They could not have been built without AI.

For delivery partners, AI will make onboarding, training, and day-to-day guidance conversational and personalised thereby expanding the earning opportunity to people who may otherwise struggle with app flows, language, documentation, or lack of confidence.

For restaurant partners and sellers, AI will make high-quality business guidance available from day one – the kind of growth-guidance that historically our teams could provide to a limited set of partners.

AI lets us serve people and businesses that were previously too hard, too small, too fragmented, or too operationally expensive to serve well. Operational efficiency will follow, but it is not the ambition. Our moat remains the physical world. AI makes that moat wider by allowing more of India to participate in it.

What Eternal means

It was humbling for me to name this company Eternal, because it is a name you have to earn every single day. Eternal is a commitment to building something that deserves to last. An institution where culture outlasts strategy, where systems outlast individuals, where the work of one generation creates the foundation for the next.

Companies face multiple cycles of disruption in their lifetime. We have faced several over the last 18 years. But it is our ability to pivot, to disrupt ourselves, sometimes to cannibalise ourselves, with the intention to survive, that makes us come out at the other end as ongoing contenders.

Through all such cycles, we just need to stay focused on two things: survival, and making sure the span of our impact increases. If we do that, we will outlast all the noise, all the incoming challenges, and come out as the company that focused on the real signal all along: where are our customers going.

Most of our early competitors didn't make it. We stayed. Not because we were smarter, but because we kept going. In India, where everything takes longer than you expect, the ability to remain in the game, financially, emotionally, institutionally, is the single biggest competitive advantage. Resilience sounds like a virtue in retrospect. In the moment, it often just feels like stubbornness.

In 2008, I collected menus on a motorbike because I thought it would be useful to someone. That same instinct still drives everything we build. The scale has changed, and what's at stake has changed. But the spirit hasn't.

Deepinder

In the letter below, we address the key questions that we think investors might have. Please refer to Annexure A for the key financial and operating metrics data.

Q1. How was the business performance in Q4FY26?

Akshant: Key takeaways from Q4FY26 business performance are as follows -

Food delivery (Zomato) NOV growth at 18.8% YoY (-0.9% QoQ) continues to improve for the third quarter in a row, inching closer to our long-term expectation of 20%+ YoY. GOV growth was at 22.5% YoY. On the margin front, Adjusted EBITDA margin (as a % of NOV) improved to 5.5% this quarter with the business delivering an absolute Adjusted EBITDA of INR 532 crore, a YoY growth of 24%.

Quick commerce (Blinkit) NOV growth remains strong at 95.4% YoY (8.2% QoQ). 216 net new stores were added in the quarter taking the total store count to 2,243 stores as at the end of the quarter. Adjusted EBITDA improved to INR 37 crore (0.3% of NOV) vis-à-vis INR 4 crore in the previous quarter.

Going-out (District) NOV growth accelerated to 46.5% YoY (5.8% QoQ) while Adjusted EBITDA losses reduced to INR 81 crore vs INR 121 crore loss in Q3FY26. As a result, Adjusted EBITDA margin (as a % of NOV) improved to -3.0% from -4.7% in Q3FY26.

Hyperpure's restaurant supply Revenue growth improves to 37% YoY vs 33% in the previous quarter, with overall Adjusted EBITDA margin improving to 0.5% resulting in absolute Adjusted EBITDA profit of INR 5 crore (as compared to INR 1 crore in the previous quarter).

At a consolidated level, Adjusted Revenue grew 186% YoY (6% QoQ) to INR 17,680 crore, though like-for-like growth was 64% YoY (the difference reflects the accounting shift to inventory ownership in quick commerce, where revenue now includes the full value of goods sold rather than just marketplace commission).

Consolidated Adjusted EBITDA increased 160% YoY to INR 429 crore while increasing 18% QoQ (vs INR 364 crore in Q3FY26). B2C NOV grew 54% YoY (4% QoQ) to INR 26,880 crore.

QUICK COMMERCE

Q2. Blinkit's NOV growth, while still high, looks like it is decelerating. In your view, is QC TAM approaching saturation levels?

Albinder: Between FY23 and FY26, Blinkit's NOV grew at 104% CAGR. Growth rates are now naturally moderating off a much larger base. Over the next three years, NOV growth CAGR should easily be north of 60%. That translates to the business growing to >4x its current scale in three years.

Quick commerce today is still concentrated in the top 15-20 cities and in a relatively narrow set of categories. The headroom for growth on geography, assortment, and frequency is substantial.

Quick commerce NOV

INR crore

Q3. What are the building blocks of 60%+ NOV CAGR from here?

Albinder: Three things - assortment expansion, geographic coverage, and demand densification while improving the quality and reliability of our service. In the top eight cities, the primary growth lever is assortment (more SKUs require more stores, even in areas we already serve). In the cities beyond the top eight, it's all three working simultaneously - geographic rollout, assortment build-out, and the demand flywheel we've already seen play out in Delhi NCR.

1. Assortment expansion - In Delhi NCR, we now offer close to 80k SKUs, versus about 50k+ in the next seven cities and 20k beyond the top eight. Even within Delhi NCR, this depth is limited to select neighbourhoods. Broader selection consistently drives higher retention, wallet share, and NAOV - we see this clearly in the data. The headroom to expand both breadth and depth across all cities is significant. In the top eight cities specifically, we expect this to be a primary driver of store additions going forward.
2. Geographic expansion - Our top eight cities are approaching coverage maturity, with 80-90% of pin codes already serviceable. Incremental geographic growth comes from cities beyond the top eight, where average pin code coverage is lower than 30%. Early experience in these markets has been encouraging - store ramp-up is faster and profitability is comparable to mature markets despite lower NAOVs, driven by lower real estate and operating costs.
3. Demand density - Delhi NCR has roughly 2x the store density of the next seven cities and 8x the density beyond the next seven, on a stores-per-serviceable-pin-code basis. That density followed strong customer adoption. As other cities mature along the same curve, they'll support significantly more stores per neighbourhood - improving delivery speed and assortment availability, which in turn drives further adoption. The flywheel is proven in Delhi NCR. Early signs in our next set of cities suggest it's already beginning.

The net effect across all three vectors is growth in both transacting customers and spend per customer, leading to growth in stores per city with the cities beyond the top eight contributing disproportionately to this growth.

Q4. Won't high competition negatively impact the growth assumptions going forward?

Albinder: High competition can have adverse impact in certain periods of time, like the one we are going through now, where aggressive discounting is leading to poor-quality growth centred around select low-margin SKUs. But more broadly and longer term, good competition will aid our growth as well as the growth of the market over the next few years. That is because when multiple players simultaneously invest in infrastructure, acquire customers, and build awareness for the category, the overall market expands faster than any single player could achieve alone. We have seen this play out even over the last three years.

In a mature, saturated market, competition is zero-sum. But quick commerce is a nascent category that is still being created, and has a long way to go before it becomes a zero sum game.

Q5. On a QoQ basis, the NOV growth was just 8% in Q4FY26. Based on what you have said above, should we expect a bounceback in the next quarter?

Akshant: Yes, we expect Q1FY27 to be meaningfully stronger on a QoQ basis.

Q4 is seasonally the weakest quarter for quick commerce, and this year was no exception. Two structural factors compress QoQ growth in Q4 every year - fewer days in the quarter versus Q3, and a lower share of long-tail categories coming off the festive period, which pulls down NAOV. Neither reflects any change in underlying demand trends. The demand signals we're seeing in April indicate that the recovery this quarter will be strong.

Q6. What does the path and timeline for your steady state Adjusted EBITDA margin guidance for Blinkit of 5-6% look like? How are you thinking about balancing growth and profitability?

Albinder: As we noted last quarter, some of our larger, more mature cities - including Delhi NCR - are already approaching the 5-6% steady-state Adjusted EBITDA margin. The underlying economics are solid, and what's encouraging is that these markets have remained resilient even during elevated competition - throughput per store continues to improve, customer retention remains strong, and wallet share keeps expanding. These are not temporary profits. They are structurally sound and durable.

Adjusted EBITDA margin % of NOV

At an aggregate level, the profitability has improved year-on-year consistently (see chart) and we expect that trend to continue. We are more confident of getting to our guidance of 5-6% margins today than ever before - the only variable is the speed at which we get there. The path of margin expansion may not be linear though, given the multiple moving parts, but we are confident we will get there soon.

Akshant: Our focus is squarely on solving for durable growth. Profitability is an outcome of executing our growth plan well, not an independent goal that we're optimising for.

FOOD DELIVERY & GOING-OUT

Q7. Food delivery NOV growth seems to be accelerating consistently over the last three quarters. Are there any structural reasons that are driving this growth?

Deepinder: Yes, growth has been accelerating over the last three quarters after bottoming out in Q1FY26. And we believe the improvement is structural, driven primarily by deliberate interventions to expand the addressable market into more price-sensitive segments.

From Q2FY26, we lowered the minimum order value for free delivery to INR 99 from INR 199 for Gold members, stepped up targeted activation for budget-conscious customers, and curated assortment specifically for this segment - meals under INR 250, for example. The results have been encouraging - order volume growth is being driven by MTC growth, both from new-to-platform customers and higher frequency among existing budget-conscious customers.

A declining NAOV is a natural and intended consequence of this strategy. If we can make restaurant food affordable for a much larger base of Indians, the addressable market expands significantly. What matters is whether the economics hold as NAOV comes down - and they do. Revenue per order continues to improve and operating cost efficiencies have kept pace, which is why margins have remained stable even as the order mix has shifted towards lower-value orders. Ultimately, we are optimizing for absolute Adjusted EBITDA (and not %), and the current tactics are working well to drive that.

Two additional tailwinds give us confidence that the improvement in growth is structural and not transient. App opens have been trending higher over the last few quarters, signalling improving demand independent of our interventions. And while quick commerce did impact food delivery growth when it first scaled, that effect has now plateaued - food delivery frequency has been stable for several quarters, suggesting the two categories have largely settled into distinct use cases.

We expect growth to continue trending toward our long-term expectation of 20%+ YoY NOV growth, with margins remaining in the 5-6% range.

Q8. Do you expect the recent LPG shortage in India to impact the growth/profitability outcomes in the current quarter (Q1FY27)?

Deepinder: No meaningful impact yet. When localised supply disruptions happen - whether from LPG shortages, weather, or anything else - we typically see demand redistribute across the platform rather than it going away. The breadth of restaurant selection across cuisines, price points, and geographies means customers have alternatives within the app. Some restaurants in affected pockets did see temporary disruption, but platform-level throughput wasn't impacted.

Q9. NOV growth in District rebounded strongly to 47% YoY as compared to 20% YoY in the previous quarter. What drove this acceleration?

Akshant: Going-out NOV grew 42% YoY for the full year FY26, and we'd encourage looking at the annual number rather than individual quarters. This is an inherently lumpy business - Q3 is events-heavy, Q1 is IPL-heavy, and the movies NOV depends entirely on the release calendar. Quarter-to-quarter swings will be large and are not indicative of underlying momentum. The annual growth rate is a more robust signal.

FY26 is also a meaningful baseline year for us. This is the first full year with the District app in its current form - a unified going-out platform where today a customer can book a restaurant, buy movie tickets, buy concert tickets, find and reserve a playing arena, or discover local retail stores. No other platform in India brings together this breadth of going-out use cases in a single app - and the more use cases we add, the higher the engagement frequency and the stronger the retention. Each category reinforces the others.

We have previously guided toward $3 billion in NOV and $150 million in Adjusted EBITDA by FY30, implying approximately 30%+ YoY NOV growth from here. Despite significant INR depreciation (since the time we gave the guidance 😊), we remain confident in that trajectory.

EVERYTHING ELSE

Q10. Can you share an update on the cash balance as at the end of Q4FY26?

Akshant: Cash balance increased to INR 17,972 crore (vs INR 17,820 crore in Q3FY26). Two things to note -

1) NWC decreased QoQ mainly driven by settlements with sellers subsequent to transition to the 1P model in our quick commerce business.

2) The negative cash movement in 'Other items' was largely on account of the marked-to-market (MTM) movements in the value of debt securities held by us, where the uncertain macro environment led to lower bond prices. To be clear, these are not realized losses but are adjustments made to cash balance to reflect the lower current market value of the securities held. Since we are going to hold these bonds to maturity, this does not impact our treasury returns now or in the future.

Q11. Any ESG updates?

Deepinder: Yes, we have been making progress on multiple fronts.

Greening India - our agroforestry initiative, is now live across six states with over 3,000 farmer partners. Since launch, we have distributed approximately 1 million saplings, of which 600,000+ have already been planted across roughly 5,000 acres - at no cost to farmers. These plantations have the potential to sequester ~600,000 tonnes of CO₂ from the atmosphere over the next 30 years. We are scaling rapidly and are targeting distribution of 2.5 million additional saplings to be planted across 10,000 acres of land in FY27.

EVs & Plastic waste - EV adoption among our delivery partners has crossed a meaningful threshold. Active EV-based delivery partners doubled from 52,000 in March 2025 to over 100,000 in March 2026. In a city like Delhi NCR, close to 25% of our monthly active delivery partners now make deliveries on electric vehicles. Alongside this, we continued to focus on our 100% plastic neutral deliveries initiative, voluntarily recycling 15,000 MT of plastic waste in FY26 and crossing a cumulative total of 60,000+ MT recycled since the programme's inception.

Delivery partner welfare - one of our key initiatives this year has been to help delivery partners unlock government entitlements they are legally eligible for but often unable to access without support. Through offline enrolment camps, partners are screened across central and state government schemes and enrolled based on eligibility. To date, this has unlocked approximately INR 200 crore in benefits for our partners. We are now extending this programme to warehouse workers, with a target of covering 1 lakh gig and contract workers in FY27.

Feeding India - we continue to build on the work we are doing to reduce the burden of malnutrition in India. Through Feeding India, 1.4 lakh+ children now receive nourishing meals daily across 2,300+ centres in 150+ cities. In FY26, we deepened this work by revamping approximately 400 Anganwadis across Varanasi, Nandurbar, and Gurugram into dedicated meal centres, and by deploying facial recognition technology across a significant part of our centre network to track meal distribution digitally - ensuring both accountability and scale without adding administrative burden.

Use of non-GAAP financial measures

To supplement our financial information presented in accordance with IND AS, we consider certain financial measures that are not prepared in accordance with IND AS, including Adjusted Revenue and Adjusted EBITDA. We use these financial measures in conjunction with IND AS measures as part of our overall assessment of our performance to evaluate the effectiveness of our business strategies and to communicate with our board of directors concerning our business and financial performance. We believe these non-GAAP financial measures provide useful information to investors about our business and financial performance, enhance their overall understanding of our past performance and future prospects, and allow for greater transparency with respect to metrics used by our management in their financial and operational decision making. We are presenting these non-GAAP financial measures to assist our investors and because we believe that these non-GAAP financial measures provide an additional tool for investors to use in comparing results of operations of our business over multiple periods. Information given also includes information related to material subsidiaries.

Non-GAAP measures used by us are defined below:

- Adjusted Revenue = Consolidated revenue from operations as per financials (+) actual customer delivery charges in the food delivery business (net of any discounts, including free delivery discounts on account of Zomato Gold program) (+) platform fee and other charges paid on food delivery Orders that are not already included in reported revenue from operations
- Adjusted EBITDA = Consolidated EBITDA (+) share-based payment expense (-) rental paid for the period pertaining to 'Ind AS 116 leases'
- EBITDA = Profit/loss as per financials excluding (i) tax expense (ii) other income (iii) depreciation and amortization expense (iv) finance cost and (v) exceptional items

These metrics have certain limitations and hence should be considered in addition to, not as substitutes for, or in isolation from, measures prepared in accordance with IND AS.

TO THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF ETERNAL LIMITED (FORMALLY KNOWN AS ZOMATO LIMITED)

Opinion and Conclusion

We have (a) audited the Consolidated Financial Results for the year ended March 31, 2026 and (b) reviewed the Consolidated Financial Results for the quarter ended March 31, 2026 (refer 'Other Matters' section below), which were subject to limited review by us, both included in the accompanying "Statement of Consolidated Financial Results for the Quarter and Year Ended March 31, 2026 of Eternal Limited (the "Parent", its subsidiaries and its trust (the Parent, its subsidiaries and its trust together referred to as the "Group"), (the "Statement"), being submitted by the Parent pursuant to the requirements of (Regulation 33) of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015, as amended (the "LODR Regulations").

(b) Conclusion on Unaudited Consolidated Financial Results for the quarter ended March 31, 2026

With respect to the Consolidated Financial Results for the quarter ended March 31, 2026, based on our review conducted and procedures performed as stated in paragraph (b) of Auditor's Responsibilities section below and based on the consideration of the review reports of the other auditors referred to in Other Matters section below, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that the Consolidated Financial Results for the quarter ended March 31, 2026, prepared in accordance with the recognition and measurement principles laid down in the Indian Accounting Standards and other accounting principles generally accepted in India, has not disclosed the information required to be disclosed in terms of Regulation 33 of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015, as amended, including the manner in which it is to be disclosed, or that it contains any material misstatement.

Basis for Opinion on the Audited Consolidated Financial Results for the year ended March 31, 2026

We conducted our audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing ("SA"s) specified under Section 143(10) of the Companies Act, 2013 (the "Act"). Our responsibilities under those Standards are further described in paragraph (a) of Auditor's Responsibilities section below. We are independent of the Group in accordance with the Code of Ethics issued by the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (the "ICAI") together with the ethical requirements that are relevant to our audit of the Consolidated Financial Results for the year ended March 31, 2026 under the provisions of the Act and the Rules thereunder, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements and the ICAI's Code of Ethics. We believe that the audit evidence obtained by us and the audit evidence obtained by the other auditors in terms of their reports referred to in Other Matters section below, is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

The Company, supported by the external expert's advice, is of the view that, it has a strong case on merits. Given the uncertainty involved, the ultimate outcome will be ascertained on the disposal of the above matter.

Our opinion and conclusion is not modified in respect of this matter.

Management's and Board of Directors' Responsibilities for the Statement

This Statement, which includes the Consolidated Financial Results is the responsibility of the Parent Board of Directors and has been approved by them for the issuance. The Consolidated Financial Results for the year ended March 31, 2026, has been compiled from the related audited consolidated financial statements. This responsibility includes the preparation and presentation of the Consolidated Financial Results for the quarter and year ended March 31, 2026 that give a true and fair view of the consolidated net profit and consolidated other comprehensive loss and other financial information of the Group in accordance with the recognition and measurement principles laid down in the Indian Accounting Standards, prescribed under Section 133 of the Act, read with relevant rules issued thereunder and other accounting principles generally accepted in India and in compliance with (Regulation 33) of the LODR Regulations.

The respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group are responsible for maintenance of adequate accounting records in accordance with the provisions of the Act for safeguarding the assets of the Group and for preventing and detecting frauds and other irregularities; selection and application of appropriate accounting policies; making judgments and estimates that are reasonable and prudent; and the design, implementation and maintenance of adequate internal financial controls, that were operating effectively for ensuring the accuracy and completeness of the accounting records, relevant to the preparation and presentation of the respective financial results that give a true and fair view and are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, which have been used for the purpose of preparation of this Consolidated Financial Results by the Directors of the Parent, as aforesaid.

In preparing the Consolidated Financial Results, the respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group are responsible for assessing the ability of the respective entities to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless the respective Board of Directors either intends to liquidate their respective entities or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

The respective Board of Directors of the companies included in the Group are responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process of the Group.

Auditor's Responsibilities

(a) Audit of the Consolidated Financial Results for the year ended March 31, 2026

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Consolidated Financial Results for the year ended March 31, 2026 as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of this Consolidated Financial Results.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the Annual Consolidated Financial Results, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of such controls.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by the Board of Directors.
- Evaluate the appropriateness and reasonableness of disclosures made by the Board of Directors in terms of the requirements specified under (Regulation 33) of the LODR Regulations.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the Board of Directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the ability of the Group to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the Consolidated Financial Results or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the Annual Consolidated Financial Results, including the disclosures, and whether the Annual Consolidated Financial Results represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Perform procedures in accordance with the circular issued by the SEBI under Regulation 33(8) of the LODR Regulations to the extent applicable.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the Annual Standalone Financial Results of the entities within the Group to express an opinion on the Annual Consolidated Financial Results. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit of financial information of such entities included in the Annual Consolidated Financial Results of which we are the independent auditors. For the other entities included in the Annual Consolidated Financial Results, which have been audited by the other auditors, such other auditors remain responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audits carried out by them. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatements in the Annual Consolidated Financial Results that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the Annual Consolidated Financial Results may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work; and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the Annual Consolidated Financial Results.

We communicate with those charged with governance of the Parent and such other entities included in the Consolidated Financial Results of which we are the independent auditors regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

(b) Review of the Consolidated Financial Results for the quarter ended March 31, 2026

We conducted our review of the Consolidated Financial Results for the quarter ended March 31, 2026 in accordance with the Standard on Review Engagements (SRE) 2410 'Review of Interim Financial Information Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity', issued by the ICAI. A review of interim financial information consists of making inquiries, primarily of the Company's personnel responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with SAs specified under section 143(10) of the Act and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

The Statement includes the results of the entities as listed under paragraph (a)(i) of Opinion and Conclusion section above.

We also performed procedures in accordance with the circular issued by the SEBI under Regulation 33(8) of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015, as amended, to the extent applicable.

In our opinion and according to the information and explanations given to us by the Board of Directors, these quarterly financial information are not material to the Group.

Our report on the Statement is not modified in respect of the above matters with respect to our reliance on the work done and the reports of the other auditors and the financial information certified by the management

The Board of Directors is also responsible for overseeing the financial reporting process of the Company.

Auditor's Responsibilities

(a) Audit of the Standalone Financial Results for the year ended March 31, 2026

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the Standalone Financial Results for the year ended March 31, 2026 as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditor's report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with SAs will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of this Standalone Financial Results.

As part of an audit in accordance with SAs, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

- Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the Annual Standalone Financial Results, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by the Board of Directors.
- Evaluate the appropriateness and reasonableness of disclosures made by the Board of Directors in terms of the requirements specified under (Regulation 33) of the LODR Regulations.
- Conclude on the appropriateness of the Board of Directors' use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the ability of the Company to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditor's report to the related disclosures in the Statement or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditor's report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the Annual Standalone Financial Results, including the disclosures, and whether the Annual Standalone Financial Results represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- Perform procedures in accordance with the circular issued by the SEBI under Regulation 33(8) of the LODR Regulations to the extent applicable.
- Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the Annual Standalone Financial Results of the Company to express an opinion on the Annual Standalone Financial Results. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit of financial information of such entities or business activities included in the Annual Standalone Financial Results of which we are the independent auditors. For the trust included in the Annual Standalone Financial Results, which have been audited by the other auditor, such other auditor remain responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audits carried out by them. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

Materiality is the magnitude of misstatements in the Annual Standalone Financial Results that, individually or in aggregate, makes it probable that the economic decisions of a reasonably knowledgeable user of the Annual Standalone Financial Results may be influenced. We consider quantitative materiality and qualitative factors in (i) planning the scope of our audit work and in evaluating the results of our work; and (ii) to evaluate the effect of any identified misstatements in the Annual Standalone Financial Results.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

(b) Review of the Standalone Financial Results for the quarter ended March 31, 2026

We conducted our review of the Standalone Financial Results for the quarter ended March 31, 2026 in accordance with the Standard on Review Engagements ("SRE") 2410 'Review of Interim Financial Information Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity', issued by the ICAI. A review of interim financial information consists of making inquiries, primarily of the Company's personnel responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with SAs specified under section 143(10) of the Act and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

We also performed procedures in accordance with the circular issued by the SEBI under Regulation 33(8) of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015, as amended, to the extent applicable.
