Atmastco Limited Announces Start of Trial production in its wholly owned subsidiary Company namely Atmastco Defence Private Limited in its new factory building located at Bhilai

Bhilai, October 03, 2025, Atmastco Limited (INE05DH01017), through its wholly owned subsidiary Atmastco Defence Systems Private Limited, proudly announces the commencement of trial manufacturing and production at its advanced defence equipment facility located in Bhilai, Chhattisgarh.

The newly built state-of-the-art factory, having upto 4 Acre land built up, spans over 17,100 sq. ft., is dedicated to the production of military-grade protective equipment, including ballistic helmets, bulletproof jackets, tactical vests, full body protection systems, and specialized protective gear for the armed forces, paramilitary, and law enforcement agencies.

The trial production phase will validate the technology, precision, and efficiency of the 11 installed machineries before moving to full-scale production for customer orders. This crucial step ensures that all products meet the highest standards of quality, safety, and reliability.

With this development, Atmastco strengthens its position as one of the select few companies licensed by the Government of India to manufacture protective defence equipment. The facility is also designed to cater to export opportunities for friendly nations, in line with India's growing role as a global defence manufacturing hub.

About Atmastco Limited

Incorporated in 1988, Atmastco Limited has built a strong presence in India's industrial engineering sector through its three core verticals: Industrial Engineering & Trading, Structural Steel Fabrication, and EPC/Turnkey Projects. With two advanced facilities in Bhilai, a manufacturing capacity of 49,500 MT per annum, and a skilled workforce of over 780 professionals, Atmastco has delivered projects to leading private and public sector companies including Vedanta HZL, Tata Steel, Adani, Jindal Stainless, NMDC, NTPC, L&T, JSW, and BHEL.

In 2019, the Company strategically diversified into defence manufacturing by setting up Atmastco Defence Systems Private Limited, securing critical DRDO licenses for bulletproof jackets and helmets. This move reinforces Atmastco's alignment with the Government of India's Atmanirbhar Bharat initiative.

Management Comment

Mr. Subramaniam Swaminathan Iyer, Managing Director of Atmastco Limited, said:
"The commencement of trial production at our defence facility marks a defining moment in Atmastco's journey. This milestone not only strengthens our contribution to India's defence self-reliance but also positions us for significant growth as India modernizes its armed forces. Our focus on advanced protective equipment, backed by strategic partnerships and DRDO-recognized technology, ensures that we are well-prepared to serve both domestic and global defence needs."
