'QCOs promote culture of quality in manufacturing'

Amiti Sen
New Delhi

Commerce and Industry Minister Piyush Goyal has strongly defended Quality Control Orders (QCOs) passed by the government in multiple sectors, such as toys and plywood, stating that the measures were being implemented to make superior-quality products available to consumers and promote a culture of quality in manufacturing.

The Minister's comments are important in the light of a recent report from a panel headed by NITI Aayog member Rajiv Gauba that recommended scrapping of some QCOs on the ground that these were hurting India's competitiveness and MSMEs as they led to higher input costs and compliance burden.

Speaking at the second edition of Udyog Samagam 2025 organised by the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) on Tuesday, Goyal highlighted the importance of QCOs in both improving the quality of items produced locally and stopping the imports of low-quality products.

"Citing the success of QCOs on toys and plywood, he noted that such measures have strengthened Indian industries while curbing sub-standard imports," per a statement issued by the government.

QCOs require specific products to meet the standards set by the Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) and bear the BIS Quality Mark. These orders aim to ensure product quality and safety, restrict the import of sub-standard goods, and boost the competitiveness of domestic manufacturing.

At present, there are approximately 188 QCOs in place, which cover over 773 products in various sectors such as machinery, furniture, footwear, steel, hinges, petrochemical products and engineering goods.

NITI Aayog has, however, been pushing for rationalising the restrictions, extending exemptions for essential raw materials and simplifying compliance requirements.

QUALITY STANDARDS
"The implementation of QCO requires manufacturers to obtain a BIS hallmark and license for input items. While this strengthens product quality standards, it risks disproportionately impacting smaller units, which may be unable to source components only from approved suppliers," the Niti Aayog's 'Trade Watch' report for Q4 of FY25 shared last month observed.

To avoid closures and support industry continuity, the QCO should be implemented in phases with simpler compliance needs and wider acceptance of accredited testing reports. "Exemptions should apply to inputs used in mass market footwear, such as canvas shoes and rubber slippers," it said.

Govt to relax quality control order norms for MSMEs

Amiti Sen
New Delhi

The government is set to relax certain rules related to Quality Control Orders (QCOs) that could ease the burden of compliance, especially for the MSME sector, sources said.

These include increasing the investment and turnover limits for defining MSMEs under the QCO regime to bring them in line with the recent changes in overall MSME limits announced by the Centre. Also, import consignments that are stuck due to non-adherence to quality guidelines are likely to be released where the bills of lading were issued before the QCOs in the particular sectors got implemented, a source tracking the matter told businessline.

"At present, enterprises with a turnover of up to ₹2 crore and investments up to ₹25 lakh are allowed flexibilities designed for MSMEs for QCO implementation. The limits are set to be increased to turnover up to ₹5 crore and investments up to ₹2 lakh. This is in line with the change in overall definition for MSMEs following the announcement in the Union Budget," the source said.

This means that many more units can now benefit from flexibilities such as longer implementation timelines, exemption from setting up own testing infrastructure and financial incentives such as lower fees that are offered for various items.

BIS CERTIFICATION
QCOs are implemented by BIS through grant of licence and/ or certificate of conformity. With the notification of QCO, manufacture, storage and sale of non-BIS certified products is prohibited.

There are approximately 188 QCOs in place, which cover over 773 products in sectors such as toys, plywood, machinery, furniture, footwear, steel, hinges, petrochemical products and engineering goods.
