COMPANY PLANS TO BECOME WORLD'S FASTEST-GROWING SUV BRAND

Mahindra targets nearly 3x rise in auto revenue in 5 yrs

VIVEAT SUSAN PINTO
Mumbai, November 20

THE MAHINDRA GROUP on Thursday outlined an ambitious road map for its automotive business, targeting a nearly threefold growth in revenue by FY30. It also aims to become the world's fastest-growing SUV brand, supported by upcoming launches and a broader portfolio expansion.

At the company's Investor Day, 12 group CEOs laid out their strategic plans, but the automotive business stole the spotlight with a revenue guidance of ₹2.27 lakh crore by FY30, a nearly threefold increase from ₹90,825 crore in FY25. Mahindra's FY20 auto revenue stood at ₹28,408.63 crore, implying an eightfold growth in revenue by FY30 at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 23% over 10 years.

Compared with FY25, Mahindra's auto revenue will grow at a CAGR of 20% over five years, experts said, driven by a global-ready architecture, higher capacity utilisation and export-driven scale.

Market share gains are also expected to support Mahindra's momentum into the future. In the light commercial vehicle segment below 3.5

tonne, for instance, Mahindra expects its market share to rise from 51.7% in FY25 to 54.1% in FY26. In sports utility vehicles (SUVs), the company is eyeing an increase from 22.7% in FY25 to 26.4% in FY26.

Mahindra also said that its next wave of products will be built on two global platforms. This includes the NU_IQ for future internal combustion engine (ICE) SUVs and INGLO for electric vehicles (EVs). Mahindra plans to launch a suite of "world-beating" SUVs from 2027, including next-generation monocoque models, 4G adventure-ready variants and a new Global Pik Up designed for both right-hand-drive and left-hand-drive markets.

A significant pillar of the revenue strategy is predicated on international expansion. Mahindra has confirmed readiness to go global, targeting right-hand-drive markets in the UK, Australia, New

The automaker also said it aims to electrify India's last-mile mobility with a million EVs on road by 2031. The group plans to expand its electric commercial vehicle exports to over 10 markets globally, it said.

On the farm equipment business, the group revised its tractor sales outlook for FY25-30. The CAGR forecast has been increased from 7% to 9%, supported by the group's push to "democratise technology" and enhance the livelihoods of farmers globally.

For Tech Mahindra, the turnaround is expected to be completed by FY27 and the long-term aspiration is to drive profitable and sustainable growth higher than peer averages, it said.

Mahindra & Mahindra Financial Services, meanwhile, is positioning itself as one of the most trusted financial services providers for rural India. The company is targeting fivefold growth in assets under management by FY30, driven by expansion in under-penetrated Bharat markets and a deeper integration of digital lending tools.

US chip firm plans India hiring spree, R&D push

SAI ISHWARBHARATH B
Bengaluru, November 20

US CHIPMAKER MARVELL Technology plans to boost hiring and research spending in India to tap surging global demand for AI infrastructure, its India head told Reuters.

The company aims to grow its 1,700-strong workforce in India by 15% annually over the next three years, Navin Bishnoi said in an interview on Wednesday, but refrained from giving details of the expanded research and development budget.

Bengaluru serves as Marvell's India headquarters, while its Hyderabad centre focuses on security solutions for data centres. It has a team specialising in embedded development for networking and storage in Pune.

India contributes a small portion of Marvell's revenue, but Bishnoi expects that to grow as local data centre capacity expands and data protection laws tighten.

"India is now probably the third largest in data centre footprint," Bishnoi said, adding that Marvell is in talks with hyperscalers, or large-scale cloud services providers, and local companies to expand its client base. —REUTERS

● SANJEEV KUMAR BIJLI, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, PVR INOX

'Cinema-going is not at all obsolete'

Multiplex chain PVR INOX is reimagining cinemas as social spaces, blending movies, design and lifestyle into one curated experience. Its latest, a six-screen luxury multiplex in Pitampura in Delhi, offers a nail bar, gaming arena, lounge, per-fumery corner and cafe.

Sanjeev Kumar Bijli, executive director, PVR INOX, talks to Sugandha Mukherjee about the premiumisation push, surge in re-releases, expansion, ticket pricing, and what to look forward to in 2026. Excerpts:

but the remaining 10-20% is where we innovate and experiment. Over the last year, we've been reimagining our cinema spaces as hangout zones for youngsters. We have AI games, pool tables, salons, a nail bar, special beverage counters, and we'll keep doing that.

How has 2025 been, and how do you see business in 2026?
This year's hits included Chhava (₹600 crore), Saiyyara (₹500 crore), and War 2 in August, which underperformed but still did ₹250 crore. We had sleeper hits like Bhool Chukh Maafat ₹60-65 crore. We are also not dependent on one language. Kantara did ₹500 crore. The Conjuring did ₹100 crore. Jurassic Park, Mission Impossible, Superman, all did ₹50-100 crore. FI, based on a niche sport, did ₹100 crore. We are very

WE'RE COMPETING NOT WITH OTT, BUT WITH PEOPLE'S TIME. EVERY LEISURE ACTIVITY COMPETES WITH TIME TODAY

Given how cinema-going is now largely for an experience rather than an imperative, thanks to OTT, is your thrust more on differentiated offerings like Cinemagic or are you equally focused on mass-market formats?

Both, because India is such a large and disparate market. When we plan a cinema, we keep the location and demographics in mind. We have differentiated products for metros, small towns, state capitals, and even within cities. So it's never one-size-fits-all. Even though OTT is prevalent, cinema-going is not at all obsolete. We had 130 million people last year in our halls, and that was a suboptimal, muted year. The national average is still 3-4 cinema visits a year. The perception differs from reality. We are competing not with OTT, but with people's time. Every leisure activity competes with time today.

In Bengaluru, you have a full dining space, and in Delhi there are nail salons. What more can we expect?

The primary focus is always the cinema offering, comfortable seating, sound and projection, 4K, laser projectors. Even screens are evolving from digital to LEDs. Beyond that come the frills. Innovation is exciting. Some things work, some don't. The core takes up 70-80% of our space and time, excited for 2026, anticipating Sanjay Leela Bhansali's Love and War, mega-budget Ramayan (₹1,000 crore) for Diwali, Alpha from the Spy Universe, Lahore, Toxic and a strong regional and international slate.

Sports screenings are becoming an alternative revenue source. What other avenues are you exploring?
We've experimented a lot with sports like cricket, Wimbledon and football. We screened Taylor Swift's Eras Tour, K-pop concerts. We also have an alternative programming cell focused on content beyond movies.

Re-releases have surged. How many re-released titles did PVR showcase in 2025? What incremental revenue or occupancy lift have you seen?
We have had 101 re-releases between April and October. Re-releases contribute 1-2% of revenues, a small number but one that's growing. Some films surprise us, like Rockstar, Yeh Jawaani Hai Deewani, Laila Majnu, all did around ₹10 crore. It's now a permanent alternative programming category.

How many screens are you looking to add next year? Any more consolidation or takeovers after INOX?
We aim to open 100 screens by the end of the financial year. We have opened about 60 already. Another 40 are expected in a mix of all kinds of markets. We are expanding in tier-II and III cities. As for more takeovers, there are no such plans as of now.

Pricing has been a major issue for cinemas. Is there an internal debate on making pricing more affordable?

We don't have blinkers on and are very aware of customer feedback. We have dynamic pricing as well as several offers. Our average ticket price is ₹260 nationwide. But input costs on wages, realty, utilities, tech are rising. So, we must balance affordability with sustainability while offering the best ambience, service and product.

5G subscriptions may cross 1-bn mark by 2031

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, November 20

INDIA IS EXPECTED to have over 1 billion 5G subscriptions by the end of 2031, the Ericsson Mobility Report released on Thursday said, underscoring the steady uptake of the service in a nation that accounts for the highest mobile data traffic per smartphone.

The mobile data traffic per active smartphone in India is expected to climb to 65 GB per month by 2031, against 36 GB per month now—the highest in the world.

The report noted that 5G adoption in India is growing rapidly, with subscriptions reaching 394 million at the end of 2025, accounting for 32 per cent of total mobile subscriptions. It projects global 5G subscriptions at 6.4 billion by the end of 2031, accounting for two-thirds of all mobile subscriptions.

"The mobile data traffic per active smartphone in India stands at 36 GB per month, the highest in the world and is expected to grow to 65 GB per month by 2031," Nitin Bansal, MD of Ericsson India, said.

5G already serves as the critical infrastructure for driving digitalisation in the country, he added.

The availability of affordable 5G FWA customer premises equipment (CPE) and high data consumption by FWA users are fuelling data traffic growth in India.

Fixed Wireless Access (FWA) is a wireless connection that provides broadband access to a specific location, like a home or enterprise premises.

According to the report, as an ongoing major 5G use case, enhanced mobile broadband is forecast to top 6.4 billion 5G subscriptions globally by the end of 2031, comprising about two-thirds of all mobile subscriptions at the time.

Some 4.1 billion of these subscriptions—about 65%—are forecast to be 5G standalone, that is, a network that uses a dedicated 5G core, allowing it to operate independently from existing 4G infrastructure.

Overall, the mobile network data traffic grew 20% between the third quarter of 2024 and the corresponding period in 2025—a slightly larger than expected increase, driven by mainland China and India, according to the report.

Zomato may soon share user data with eateries

ZOMATO IS IN early stages of launching a feature whereby customers' phone numbers will be shared with its restaurant partners after obtaining their consent, CEO Aditya Mangla said on Thursday, a move which responds to the restaurant industry's long standing demand.

In a post on LinkedIn, he shared that under the new feature being rolled out, a pop up will appear after customers place orders via the app, asking them to choose if they wish to share their phone number with the restaurants they order from, to receive offers directly from them. It specifies that once shared, this information cannot be withdrawn and by consenting, the customer agrees to the T&C and Privacy Policy.

"We at Zomato are in the early stages of launching a feature on the app which gives customers the option to opt-in to receive marketing and promotional updates directly from restaurants. If and when consent is provided - only phone number will be shared with the restaurant. No other information will be shared," Mangla said.

Swiggy too, is in discussions with the National Restaurant Association of India (NRAI) regarding the sharing of customer data, people in the know said. —PTI
