Q-comm fee cuts fail to arrest slide in app downloads

ANEESS HUSSAIN
Bengaluru, December 10

AGGRESSIVE FEE WAIVERS in quick commerce announced in early November have failed to arrest the slide in new app downloads, with Zepto taking the sharpest hit despite offering the most generous incentives, according to the latest data from app intelligence platform Sensor Tower.

Zepto, which was the first to eliminate all handling, surge, rain, and convenience fees for orders above ₹99 in early November, saw its new app downloads plunge 44% month-on-month. Downloads dropped from 3.62 million in October to just 2.01 million in November—its weakest monthly performance in the ten-month period from February to November, according to Sensor Tower.

While a decline in downloads was expected across the sector as the market cooled following the Diwali festive surge in October, Zepto's drop was disproportionately steep compared to its peers.

Eternal-owned Blinkit, which has maintained its ₹4 handling fee and opted against any fee waivers, recorded a far milder 18.5% month-on-month decline (from 8.89 million to 7.24 million). Zomato's main app corrected by 26%, while Swiggy's Instamart app dropped by 13.5%. The disparity suggests that Zepto's aggressive pricing strategy did little to shield it from the post-festive slump.

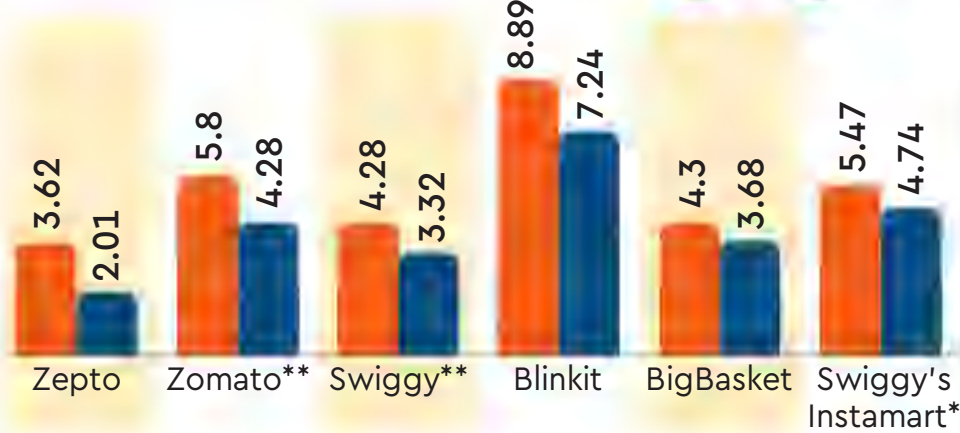

Cumulative data from February to November highlights a consolidating hierarchy in the segment. Blinkit remains the undisputed leader with 76.01 million new downloads—58% higher than the second-placed standalone Instamart app (48.18 million). Zomato's main app followed closely with 46.04 million downloads, narrowly ahead of BigBasket's 45.08 million. Zepto, despite topping February with 7.70 million downloads that month, ended the period in fifth place with 43.13 million cumulative downloads, underscoring the sharpness of its decline. Swiggy's main app ranked last with just 36 million cumulative downloads.

The outperformance of Swiggy's standalone Instamart app (48.18 million) relative to the main Swiggy app (36 million), which offers both food and grocery delivery, suggests consumers increasingly prefer dedicated quick commerce apps over bundled experiences.

These findings raise questions about the effectiveness of aggressive cash-burning tactics in India's increasingly saturated quick commerce landscape. The implications are especially significant for Zepto as it prepares for a potential public listing, having recently converted into a public limited company. Analysts viewed Zepto's fee waivers as an attempt to accelerate market share expansion ahead of its IPO.

However, industry observers note that while app downloads are a crucial top-of-funnel metric, they do not reflect retention rates or average order values.

US court reverses $1-bn order against Byju Raveendran

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, December 10

A US BANKRUPTCY court has reversed a $1 billion damages ruling against Byju Raveendran, according to a statement from the founders of Think and Learn—the parent firm of edtech platform Byju's.

The Delaware Court had, in a default ruling last month, ordered Raveendran to pay more than $1 billion, saying the former corporate star who set up the eponymous Indian edtech and tutoring company, had refused to cooperate with legal efforts to locate almost half the proceeds from a $1.2 billion US term loan made in 2021.

He, however, contested the grounds, saying the court did not give him the 30 days he had sought to arrange for a US attorney to argue his case. He vowed to appeal against the order.

"The Delaware Court has reversed the $1 billion judgement against Byju Raveendran, in view of fresh submissions made by Byju Raveendran through a motion to correct the judgment of 20 November 2025. The court agreed that damages had not been determined and ordered a new phase to commence in early January 2026 to determine any damages related to claims against Byju Raveendran," the statement said.

The court in the December 8 order said it will "amend its default judgment opinion to remove those sections assessing damages against Byju Raveendran." It directed parties to provide their respective positions on the issue on January 7.

"An appropriate judgment order will be entered by the court following the completion of briefing on damages," it said.

Trai proposes microwave backhaul spectrum overhaul

THE TELECOM REGULATORY Authority of India (Trai) on Wednesday has proposed to simplify the allocation and pricing of microwave backhaul spectrum across traditional and high-capacity bands.

The regulator has suggested that microwave spectrum in the 6 GHz (lower), 7 GHz, 13 GHz, 15 GHz, 18 GHz, 21 GHz, E-band and V-band be assigned administratively, as mandated by the Telecommunications Act, 2023, rather than through auctions. Backhaul spectrum is the band-wide connecting mobile tower ers to telecom cores which helps in handling surging data traffic.

Under the proposal, for mobile operators, the current fee structure, where the first microwave carrier alone attracts a 0.15% levy on adjusted gross revenue (AGR) and subsequent carriers cost more would be replaced with a flat charge of 0.1% of AGR per carrier. Charges for point-to-point microwave links, used by enterprises and captive networks, are also set for cuts. Proposed annual rates will fall from ₹7.2 lakh to ₹75,000 per carrier in the 6 GHz and 7

GHz bands and from ₹3.6 lakh to ₹25,000 in the 13, 15, 18 and 21 GHz range. E-band point-to-point links would be priced at ₹25,000 per carrier per year, while V-band links would cost ₹2,500, as per the proposal.

Pilot to curb spam calls, SMS launched

The Trai has launched a pilot where customers will receive an SMS to modify or revoke consent for promotional communications under the Digital Consent Acquisition (DCA) process.
