TCS Recognized for Distinction in Assurance and Software Test Automation at Fifth Annual ATI Automation Honors

TCS Assurance Services Honored for Excellence in Framework Design and Implementation

New York / Mumbai, March 5, 2014: Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) (BSE: 532540, NSE: TCS), a leading IT services, consulting, and business solutions organization, announced today that it has been honored for 'Excellence in Framework Design and Implementation' at the Fifth Annual Automated Testing Institute (ATI) Automation Honors.

The ATI Automation Honors celebrate achievement in the discipline of software test automation. With categories ranging from corporate through practitioner levels, the ATI Awards highlight the best in tools, print and online resources, and in practitioner achievement. TCS' ecommerce reusable framework for testing provides complete and comprehensive automation capabilities, created on industry standard tools that enable business level abstraction, repeatability, seamless and modular re-usability and the easy adoption of automation. TCS' recognition was determined by a selection committee composed of industry practitioners with years of experience in the establishment and implementation of test automation frameworks and tools. This year's ATI Automation Honors award ceremony was held at the Crowne Plaza hotel in Arlington, Virginia at the TestKIT Conference.

"We are honored to receive this special ATI Award for 'Excellence in Framework Design and Implementation," said TCS' Siva Ganesan, Global Head, Assurance Services. "This award serves not only as an independent validation of the value that we consistently deliver to our customers, but also as recognition of our leadership and years of expertise in the test automation space. We will continue to emphasize next-gen and industrialization of test automation offerings to assure customer businesses."

"We would like to offer our congratulations to TCS on receiving the 'Excellence in Framework Design and Implementation' honor at this year's ATI Automation Honors awards," Dion Johnson, Advisor, Automated Testing Institute (ATI). "This framework's producers have truly displayed an understanding of the importance test automation holds in the development and implementation of quality software. I look forward to seeing how the framework further develops and expands in the future."

TCS Assurance Services works shoulder-to-shoulder with organizations across the globe to meet their testing requirements. By leveraging frameworks, tools and methodologies, TCS enables enterprises to reduce time and efforts in testing, making entire software development lifecycles more efficient.
