The section is a general summary of the terms of the Issue, certain disclosures included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus and is neither exhaustive, nor purports to contain a summary of all the disclosures in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, or all details relevant to prospective investors. This summary should be read in conjunction with, and is qualified in its entirety by, the more detailed information appearing elsewhere in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, including the section titled “Risk Factors”, “The Issue”, “Capital Structure”, “Objects of the Issue”, “Industry Overview”, “Our Business”, “Restated Financial Statements”, “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments”, “Our Promoter and Promoter Group”, “Issue Structure” and “Description of Equity Shares and Terms of the Articles of Association” on pages 109, 133, 168, 235, 287, 222, 324, and 365, respectively.

A. OVERVIEW OF THE BUSINESS

We are primarily engaged in business of manufacturing and supplying of Aluminium Ingots, Aluminium Alloy Ingots, Aluminium De-oxidizers which include products like Notch bars; cubes & shots. Our production processes are predominantly centered around recycling aluminium scrap, emphasizing sustainability and resource efficiency. In the recycling process, we segregate and recover non-ferrous metals like copper and magnesium found within aluminium scrap. Recovered metals are segregated at source for effective utilization. Substantial portion of the recovered aluminum is directed towards in-house processing, while a smaller portion is directly traded. Copper and magnesium, recovered as by-products along with certain portion of aluminum, are entirely disposed of through trading channels without undergoing any further beneficiation or fabrication.

Our Aluminum De-oxidizers are widely used in the steel industry as effective agents during steel melting, brass melting, and shot blasting operations. The Aluminium Alloys we manufacture are primarily used in the automotive sector due to their desirable properties, including stiffness, corrosion resistance, and high-temperature durability.

For more details, please refer chapter titled “Business Overview” beginning on the Page No. 168.

B. OVERVIEW OF THE INDUSTRY

The global non-ferrous metal industry is a critical enabler of industrial manufacturing and infrastructure, covering aluminium, copper, zinc, nickel, lead, and specialty alloys. These metals, valued for properties such as light weight, corrosion resistance, and conductivity, are used across construction, automotive, aerospace, renewable energy, electronics, and packaging. Unlike ferrous metals, non-ferrous metals can be recycled indefinitely without losing their essential properties, making recycling a core part of the industry. The recycling of non-ferrous scrap involves processes such as collection, segregation, melting, refining, and casting, through which high-quality secondary metals are reintroduced into the production cycle. This integrated structure of primary production from ores and secondary production through recycling ensures both the availability of essential raw materials and the efficient use of resources. The industry thus functions as a vital link in the global industrial value chain, supplying versatile materials while maintaining resource continuity through recycling.

The industry spans both primary production from virgin ores and secondary production through recycling, with the latter gaining prominence due to its lower energy intensity and sustainability benefits. For instance, recycled aluminium consumes ~95% less energy compared to primary production, while copper recycling saves ~85%, making recycling a key lever in achieving global decarbonization goals.

For more details, please refer chapter titled “Industry Overview” beginning on the Page No. 133.

SECTION III: RISK FACTORS

An investment in our Equity Shares involves a high degree of financial risk. Prospective investors should carefully consider all the information in the Draft Red Herring Prospectus, particularly the “Financial Information of the Company” and the related notes, “Business Overview” and “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” on page 235, 168 and 274 respectively and the risks and uncertainties described below, before making a decision to invest in our Equity Shares.

The risk factors set forth below are not exhaustive and do not purport to be complete or comprehensive in terms of all the risk factors that may arise in connection with our business or any decision to purchase, own or dispose of the Equity Shares. This section addresses general risks associated with the industry in which we operate and specific risks associated with our Company. Any of the following risks, individually or together, could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations or prospects, which could result in a decline in the value of our Equity Shares and the loss of all or part of your investment in our Equity Shares. While we have described the risks and uncertainties that our management believes are material, these risks and uncertainties may not be the only risks and uncertainties we face. Additional risks and uncertainties, including those we currently are not aware of or deem immaterial, may also have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.

This Draft Red Herring Prospectus contains forward-looking statements that involve risks and uncertainties. Our actual results could differ materially from those anticipated in these forward-looking statements as a result of certain factors, including the considerations described below and elsewhere in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus. The financial and other related implications of risks concerned, wherever quantifiable, have been disclosed in the risk factors below. However, there are risk factors the potential effects of which are not quantifiable and therefore no quantification has been provided with respect to such risk factors. In making an investment decision, prospective investors must rely on their own examination of our Company and the terms of the Issue, including the merits and the risks involved. You should not invest in this Issue unless you are prepared to accept the risk of losing all or part of your investment, and you should consult your tax, financial and legal advisors about the particular consequences to you of an investment in our Equity Shares.

Materiality

The Risk factors have been determined on the basis of their materiality. The following factors have been considered for determining the materiality.

- 1. Some events may have material impact quantitatively;*
- 2. Some events may not be material individually but may be found material collectively.*
- 3. Some events may have material impact qualitatively instead of quantitatively.*
- 4. Some events may not be material at present but may be having material impact in future.*

Note:

The risk factors as envisaged by the management along with the proposals to address the risk if any. Unless specified or quantified in the relevant risk factors below, we are not in a position to quantify the financial implication of any of the risks described in this section.

In this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, any discrepancies in any table between total and the sums of the amount listed are due to rounding off. Any percentage amounts, as set forth in “Risk Factors” beginning on page 33 and “Management Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” beginning on page 274 unless otherwise indicated, has been calculated on the basis of the amount disclosed in the “Restated Financial Statements”.

INTERNAL RISK FACTORS

- 1. A significant portion of our revenue comes from key customers, and losing one or more of them, experiencing a decline in their financial health or business outlook, or facing a reduction in their demand for our products could negatively impact our business, operating results, financial condition, and cash flows.*

We rely on a limited number of high-volume customers for a significant portion of our revenues, with our top ten customers contributing 81.84%, 75.64% and 62.78% of our total sales for the financial years ended March 31, 2025, 2024, and 2023, respectively. This dependence on a few key customers exposes us to several risks, including the potential reduction, delay, or cancellation of orders, as well as challenges in negotiating favourable terms. Any loss of these customers, or a failure to renew orders on similar terms, could materially affect our business, financial condition, cash flows, and future prospects. The detail of customers concentration risk is given below:

Particulars	Revenue from Top Customer(s) as a percentage (%) of Revenue from Operations
	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
From Top 1 Customer	33.81	21.97	15.48
From Top 3 Customer	64.13	52.13	31.94
From Top 5 Customers	70.77	60.58	43.70
From Top 10 Customers	81.84	75.64	62.78

There is no assurance that these key customers will continue placing orders at similar levels in the future, especially if they face operational issues. Though we are constantly adding new customers as part of our normal business operations, we cannot guarantee the maintenance of long-term relationships or the ability to replace lost business in a timely manner. Our reliance on a concentrated customer base could limit our bargaining power, potentially affecting profit margins and financial performance.

Any decline in our quality standards, growing competition and any change in the demand for our services by these customers may adversely affect our ability to retain them. We cannot assure that we shall generate the same quantum of business, or any business at all, from these customers, and any loss of business from one or more of them may adversely affect our revenues and profitability.

If any of our customers face financial difficulties or change their supply chain strategies, their demand for our products may decline. Additionally, if they choose to source from competitors or reduce their outsourcing needs, it could significantly reduce our revenues. The absence of long-term agreements with these customers heightens the risk, as maintaining strong relationships is critical to our success. If we fail to retain these customers or maintain the current volume of business, it may have a detrimental impact on our results of operations, financial condition, and cash flows.

2. Our Company is dependent on few suppliers for purchase of raw materials. Loss of any of these large suppliers may affect our business operations adversely.

We rely on a limited number of suppliers for sourcing a significant portion of the raw materials required for our operations. These arrangements are generally based on purchase orders and are not governed by long-term supply contracts. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that such suppliers will continue to supply raw materials to us on commercially acceptable terms, or at all, in the future.

For the Fiscals 2025, 2024, and 2023, our purchases from the top ten suppliers amounted to ₹7,238.46 lakhs, ₹6,430.37 lakhs, and ₹6,815.64 lakhs, respectively, representing 52.86%, 53.80%, and 60.36% of our total raw material purchases in respective years. A significant portion of our raw material requirements is sourced domestically. During the same periods, purchases from the State of Gujarat constituted 22.96%, 14.54%, and 15.25% of our total raw material procurement. Our imported raw material purchases accounted for 82.59%, 84.07%, and 70.79% of total raw material purchases for Fiscals 2025, 2024, and 2023, respectively. Overall, our raw material procurement has been more weighted towards imported sources.

This dependence on a limited number of key suppliers exposes us to several risks, including potential disruptions in supply, variability in pricing, and inconsistency in the quality of raw materials. Any adverse developments affecting our major suppliers such as financial distress, operational challenges, regulatory issues, or changes in their business focus could result in a disruption of supply, delay in procurement, or increase in costs, thereby impacting our production schedules and operating margins. The detail of suppliers concentration risk is given below:

(₹ in Lacs)

Particulars	Purchases from Top Supplier(s) as a percentage (%) of Total Purchases
	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
From Top 1 Supplier	10.58	11.71	21.57
From Top 3 Supplier	24.19	26.64	36.30
From Top 5 Suppliers	35.68	36.32	45.66
From Top 10 Suppliers	52.86	53.80	60.36

While we continuously seek to diversify our supplier base and explore opportunities for better quality and pricing, there is no certainty that we will be able to find alternative suppliers that match the volume, quality, or terms provided by our current partners. Furthermore, there is no guarantee that our relationships with these suppliers will continue under favourable terms or remain secure over the long term. Any breakdown in these relationships could force us to incur additional costs and delays in identifying new suppliers.

In the event of disruptions in our supply chain, our production capacity could be constrained, leading to delays in fulfilling customer orders, reduced product availability, and a potential loss of business. Additionally, we may have to deal with increased operational costs due to rising procurement expenses or the need to source from new or untested suppliers.

These dependencies pose an inherent risk to our operations. Our inability to secure consistent supplies in the future may materially affect our ability to operate efficiently, negatively impacting our financial performance, customer satisfaction, and overall business stability.

3. Increases in the prices of raw materials or volatility in the supply and pricing of our raw materials, restrictions on import of raw materials or failure by suppliers to meet their obligations for our operations could adversely affect our business and results of operations.

Our manufacturing operations depend heavily on the availability and cost of aluminum scrap, which is the principal raw material used in our production process. The cost of raw materials (including changes in inventories) accounted for 90.87%, 93.76%, and 92.52% of our total revenue from operations for the financial years ended March 31, 2025, 2024, and 2023, respectively. This demonstrates our significant dependence on aluminum scrap and related inputs.

We do not have any long-term supply agreements with our raw material suppliers and procure aluminum scrap mainly through spot purchases and short-term purchase orders from various domestic and international suppliers. As a result, our procurement process is exposed to risks such as:

1. Fluctuations in global and domestic demand and supply of aluminum;
2. Price volatility arising from commodity market movements;
3. Import restrictions, tariffs, or trade policy changes;
4. Transportation, logistics, or labor disruptions;
5. Currency exchange rate fluctuations; and
6. Competition for the same raw materials from other manufacturers.

Any adverse movement in these factors could increase our procurement costs and directly affect our margins. Since we operate in a highly price-sensitive market, we may not always be able to pass on cost increases to our customers without impacting demand.

Although we follow a price-locking mechanism—wherein the prevailing aluminum price is agreed upon before accepting customer orders, and factored into the sale price—such mechanisms only partially mitigate the impact of short-term fluctuations. In cases of sharp or prolonged price increases, our profitability could still be materially affected.

Further, because we lack long-term supplier contracts, we are vulnerable to risks of supply discontinuation, quality deviations, or delayed deliveries. If a supplier fails to meet its commitments, we may be forced to source raw materials from alternate suppliers at higher prices, which could disrupt our production schedules, delay customer deliveries, and negatively affect our revenue.

A portion of our aluminum scrap is also imported. Any change in government policies relating to imports, such as imposition of customs duties, anti-dumping measures, or non-tariff barriers, could increase costs or create supply constraints. Additionally, factors such as port congestion, global shipping delays, or currency depreciation could further impact our supply chain and cost structure.

Given these risks, any significant rise in raw material prices, shortage of supply, or delay in procurement could adversely impact our operating margins, profitability, and ability to meet customer demand, thereby having a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, and results of operations

4. There have been instances of delayed filings in the past with certain Regulatory Authorities. If the Regulatory Authorities impose any monetary penalties on us or take any punitive actions against our Company in relation to the same, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be adversely affected.

There have been instances of delayed filings in the past with certain regulatory authorities with respect to filings related to GST returns, PF, PT and ESIC payments. Our Company has deducted PF towards salary paid to our Promoter/Directors/KMPs in the past. As on the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, there have been no penalties levied on our Company for such delays / defaults. However, it cannot be assured that even in future no such delay will happen, or no such penalty will be levied. Therefore, if the regulatory authorities impose any monetary penalties on us or take certain punitive actions against our Company in relation to the same, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be adversely affected. We cannot assure you that such inaccuracies and delayed compliances will not happen in the future and that our Company will not be subject to any action by statutory or regulatory authorities, which may adversely affect our operating margins and consequentially, business, financial condition and results of operations.

Non-compliance with regulatory requirements can have significant financial and operational consequences for the Company. Failure to meet filing deadlines often results in financial penalties, late fees, and interest charges, increasing the Company's compliance costs and impacting cash flow. Additionally, regulatory authorities may scrutinize the Company's records, leading to audits, investigations, and possible legal proceedings, which further strain financial resources and management bandwidth. Moreover, rectifying past non-compliance requires additional administrative efforts, legal consultations, and resource allocations, adding to the overall compliance burden. Furthermore, reputational damage arising from non-compliance can erode stakeholder confidence, affecting relationships with customers, suppliers, and business partners.

*Our Company was required to obtain registration under the Employees' State Insurance Corporation Act, 1948 ("ESI Act"). However, in earlier periods, the Company had not obtained the requisite ESIC registration, even though it was applicable. The Company has since obtained registration under the ESI Act and commenced regular compliance, including timely deduction and deposit of contributions. As on the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, there have been no penalties or regulatory actions; however, past non-compliance may still expose the Company to retrospective liabilities or scrutiny from the authorities.

As confirmed by the certificate dated September 27, 2025, issued by Milind Nyati & Co. LLP, the Independent Chartered Accountant, there is no statutory amount pending for payment which became due and further no statutory return filing is pending which as on date.

The Company has cleared all pending filings and payments, and as of the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, no notices, demands, or penalties have been received from any government authority. The delay in paying Professional Tax happened mainly because the authorized person at the Gram Panchayat office was not available regularly, and collecting payment receipts required multiple visits. To avoid such delays in the future, the Company has created an internal compliance calendar and hired experienced staff to make sure all statutory filings and payments are done on time. The Company is fully committed to following all applicable laws and regulations sincerely and responsibly.

5. Non-compliance with the Employees' State Insurance Corporation ("ESIC") Regulations in the past may expose us to penalties or other regulatory actions.

Our Company was required to obtain registration under the Employees' State Insurance Corporation Act, 1948 ("ESI Act"), which mandates employers to provide certain health and social security benefits to eligible employees. However, in earlier periods, our Company had not obtained the necessary ESIC registration, even though such registration was applicable to us.

Subsequently, our Company has obtained registration under the ESI Act and has commenced compliance with all applicable provisions, including timely deduction and deposit of contributions. As on the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, there have been no penalties, demands, or regulatory actions initiated by the concerned authorities in relation to the earlier period of non-compliance.

However, we cannot assure you that the ESIC authorities will not, in the future, conduct inspections, initiate inquiries, or impose retrospective liabilities, such as contributions for prior periods, along with interest, penalties, and damages. If any such demand or penalty is levied, it could increase our expenses and have an adverse impact on our financial condition and profitability.

Any such proceedings or actions could also affect our goodwill and reputation with our employees, regulators, and other stakeholders. Additionally, if the authorities determine that our earlier non-compliance was willful or deliberate, the Company could be subject to additional punitive measures.

Although our Company is now in compliance with ESIC regulations, past instances of non-compliance may still expose us to the risk of regulatory scrutiny or retrospective claims, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and reputation.

6. A significant portion of our revenue is derived from a single metal segment, i.e., aluminium. Any adverse developments in demand, product relevance, quality standards, or technological substitution by other metals may materially affect our business, revenue from operations, and growth prospects.

Our Company derives a substantial majority of its revenue from the aluminium segment, primarily through the manufacturing and sale of aluminium alloys and ingots. For the financial years ended March 31, 2025, 2024, and 2023, revenue from aluminium-based products accounted for approximately 96.56%, 86.40%, and 82.65% of our total revenue from operations, respectively. Given this significant concentration, any adverse developments affecting the aluminium industry or demand for aluminium-based products could materially impact our financial performance and business continuity.

Our dependence on aluminium as the principal input makes us particularly vulnerable to macroeconomic trends, customer preferences, and sector-specific shifts across industries such as automotive, electronics, lighting, and die-casting, which form the core end-user base for our products. Any decline in demand in these industries, or changes in their product design strategies that reduce reliance on aluminium, could directly affect the demand for our offerings.

Additionally, the aluminium industry is subject to evolving environmental and regulatory frameworks, both domestically and internationally. Stricter regulations relating to emissions, energy usage, and recycling may alter the cost structures or demand patterns for aluminium. A move by key customers toward alternative materials that are perceived as more sustainable or offer better mechanical or thermal properties—such as magnesium, zinc-based alloys, carbon composites, or hybrid materials—could further dilute demand for aluminium products.

Technological disruption is another key risk factor. If we are unable to upgrade our manufacturing processes, improve the metallurgical composition of our products, or adapt our offerings to meet emerging industry standards and specifications, we may lose our competitive edge. Moreover, if we fail to maintain the desired quality benchmarks—such as tensile strength, surface finish, machinability, or corrosion resistance—our customers may shift to other suppliers or materials, resulting in reputational and commercial losses.

The absence of a diversified product portfolio heightens this risk. A limited presence in other non-aluminium metal segments or value-added applications may constrain our ability to cushion the financial impact of downturns specific to aluminium. Furthermore, the price of aluminium is subject to global commodity cycles and is influenced by demand-supply imbalances, energy costs, import-export tariffs, and currency exchange fluctuations, all of which can add volatility to our revenue and margins.

In the event of a sustained decline in aluminium consumption or competitiveness, we may face:

1. Reduced sales volumes and declining capacity utilisation;
2. Pressure to lower prices to remain competitive;
3. Increased inventory holding costs due to slower off-take;
4. Write-downs or obsolescence of certain product lines; and
5. Challenges in maintaining profitability and funding future growth initiatives.

Although we seek to maintain high quality standards and remain responsive to customer needs, there can be no assurance that we will be able to mitigate these risks in a timely or cost-effective manner. As such, our over-reliance on a single metal segment may materially and adversely affect our business operations, financial condition, results of operations, and growth direction.

7. Our Company had negative operating cash flow in recent fiscals, details of which are given below. Sustained negative cash flow could adversely impact our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our Company has reported certain negative cash flows in previous years as per the Restated Financial Information, as stated below:

(₹ in lakhs)

Particulars	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
Net cash generated from/(used in) Operating activities	(1,087.01)	(73.48)	(82.57)
Net cash generated from/(used in) Investing activities	(288.18)	(38.81)	(96.98)
Net cash generated from/(used in) Financing activities	1,376.54	87.01	179.38

Note: Figures in brackets are negative in above table

There can be no assurance that our net operating cash flows shall be positive in the future. Any negative cash flows in the future over extended periods, or significant negative cash flows in the short term, could materially impact our ability to operate our business and implement our growth plans. As a result, our cash flows, business, future financial performance and results of operations could be materially and adversely affected.

Cash flow of a company is a key indicator to show the extent of cash generated from operations to meet capital expenditure, pay dividends, repay loans and make new investments without raising finance from external resources. Since our Company is in a growth phase, our working capital requirement has increased in tandem and this has resulted in negative cashflow from operations in the Financial Years ended March 31, 2025, 2024 and 2023. We may continue to have negative operating cashflows in the future. If our Company is not able to generate sufficient operating cash flows, it may adversely affect our business and financial operations. For further details, see “Restated Financial Statements” beginning on page 235.

8. Our High Debt-Equity Ratio and Dependence on Working Capital Financing May Adversely Impact Our Financial Flexibility and Growth.

As of March 31, 2025, our Company had a debt-equity ratio of 4.57, showing a high dependence on borrowed funds. We also have working capital loans of around ₹2,846.64 lakhs, which are used to run our daily business operations such as buying raw materials, paying suppliers, and managing production.

Because we rely heavily on debt, we must regularly repay loans and pay interest. If our profits fall, payments from customers get delayed, or borrowing costs go up, it could become difficult for us to meet these obligations. This could also reduce our ability to borrow more money in the future or affect our relationship with banks.

We are currently planning to expand our operations by upgrading our existing facilities and setting up a new Aluminium Wire Rod Manufacturing Unit. Some of the funds from our Initial Public Offering (IPO) will be used for this expansion. However, until the IPO funds are fully available, we will continue to depend on existing loans and internal funds. Any delay in the project or cost overruns could increase financial pressure.

Since a large part of our cash flow goes toward loan repayments and interest, we have limited flexibility to invest in new growth opportunities. If we are unable to manage our working capital efficiently or get additional loans at reasonable terms, it could affect our ability to operate smoothly and grow.

Also, if interest rates rise, or banks tighten their lending policies, our costs may go up, which can reduce our profits. If our business growth slows down due to internal or market factors, our ability to repay debt may be affected. All these factors together could have a negative impact on our financial health, operations, and future growth.

9. Our Company, directors, promoters, key managerial personnel, senior management, group companies are party to certain legal proceedings. Any adverse decision in such proceedings may have an adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

Our Company, Promoter, Director, Key Managerial Personnel, Senior Management, Group Companies are party to certain legal proceedings. These legal proceedings are pending at different levels of adjudication before various courts and forums. 10. Ours is a high volume-low margin business. Any disruption in our turnover or failure to regularly grow the same may have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations and financial condition.

We are engaged in the manufacturing and supply of Aluminium Ingots, Aluminium Alloy Ingots, and Aluminium De-oxidizers, including notch bars, cubes, and shots, which are typically sold in bulk to industrial customers in price-sensitive sectors such as steel, auto components, and die-casting. Due to the commoditized nature of these products and the competitive landscape of the aluminium industry, our ability to command high margins is limited. Consequently, our business model is heavily dependent on sustaining and growing our turnover volumes, optimizing plant utilization, and maintaining cost efficiencies to ensure overall profitability.

Our operations are driven by high transaction volumes and are exposed to thin EBITDA and PAT margins. For the financial years ended March 31, 2025, 2024, and 2023, our revenue from operations stood at ₹15,070.44 lakhs, ₹12,782.29 lakhs, and ₹12,210.61 lakhs, respectively. Our EBITDA margins during these periods were 4.00%, 2.59%, and 0.32%, while our PAT margins were 1.96%, 0.78%, and 0.01%, respectively. These figures highlight the sensitivity of our financial performance to fluctuations in revenue and production volumes.

Any disruption in our ability to generate consistent or growing turnover whether due to weakening demand in end-use sectors, customer attrition, supply chain constraints, raw material price volatility (especially aluminium scrap), operational inefficiencies, or unplanned plant shutdowns could lead to a disproportionate impact on our earnings. Given the high fixed-cost base of our operations, even moderate declines in volume may not correspondingly reduce costs, leading to further margin pressure.

Our ability to pass on increases in raw material, energy, freight, and labour costs to customers is constrained by competitive pricing pressures, further impacting our profitability. In addition, our product portfolio is concentrated in aluminium and its alloys, with limited diversification into other metals or high-margin value-added offerings, thereby increasing our exposure to market risks specific to aluminium.

Our operational performance is also sensitive to the effective execution of key business processes, including procurement of raw materials, inventory management, cost control, and timely fulfillment of customer orders. If we are unable to manage these processes efficiently or respond adequately to market changes, we may face challenges in meeting our financial obligations, managing working capital, and funding future growth or product development.

Any sustained downturn in our sales volumes, failure to grow in line with industry trends, or inability to adapt to market conditions could materially and adversely affect our revenue from operations, profitability, and long-term financial stability.

(₹ in lakhs)

Particulars	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
Revenue from Operations	15,070.44	12,782.29	12,210.61
PBT	398.66	138.54	9.50
PAT	298.22	100.97	0.76

11. Reliance on third-party transportation providers for procurement of raw materials and the potential impact of transportation disruption.

Our Company relies heavily on third-party transportation providers to procure raw materials, i.e., aluminium scrap, which is essential for our manufacturing processes. These third-party logistics providers are responsible for ensuring the timely and efficient delivery of raw materials from suppliers located both domestically and internationally. Any failure, delay, or disruption in the transportation services provided by these third parties could have a significant negative impact on our operations.

The risks associated with our reliance on third-party transportation providers include:- Disruptions due to External Factors, Logistical Challenges, Price Volatility and Rising Costs, Service Quality and Reliability Issues and Limited Control Over Third-Party Providers.

Any disruptions in the supply chain due to transportation failures or delays could lead to raw material shortages, delayed production, higher costs, and ultimately, loss of sales and customer trust. These risks can adversely affect our financial condition, results of operations, and growth prospects.

12. Our past performance may not be indicative of our future growth. An inability to effectively manage our growth and expansion may have a material adverse effect on our business prospects and future financial performance.

We have experienced growth over the past three Financial Years. Our revenue from operations has grown at a CAGR of 7.27 % from ₹ 12,210.61 Lakhs in Financial Year 2023 to ₹ 12,782.29 Lakhs in Financial Year 2024 and in Financial Year 2025 to ₹ 15,070.44 Lakhs. The table below sets forth provides the details of our revenue from operations for the years ended March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024, and March 31, 2023:

(₹ in lakhs)

Particulars	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
Revenue from Operations	15 ,070.44	12 ,782.29	12 ,210.61

For information relating to our capacity utilization of our manufacturing units, see “Business Overview – Capacity and Capacity Utilization” beginning on page 182.

Sustaining our growth will require investments including in assets and will also put pressure on our ability to effectively manage and control historical and emerging risks. There can be no assurance that our growth strategy will be successful or that we will be able to continue to maintain and expand our production levels at the same rate. Any expansion in the size of our business and the scope and complexity of our operations could strain our internal control framework and processes, which may result in delays, increased costs and lower quality products. We may be unable to effectively manage this growth or achieve the desired profitability in the expected timeframe or at all.

13. Few of our Promoter/Directors have provided personal guarantees for loan facilities obtained by our Company, and any failure or default by our Company to repay such loans in accordance with the terms and conditions of the financing documents could trigger repayment obligations on them, which may impact their ability to effectively service their obligations as our Promoters/Directors and thereby, impact our business and operations.

According to the terms and conditions of Bank sanction letter, our Promoters/Directors have provided personal guarantees to our Company to secure our existing borrowings and may post listing continue to provide such guarantees and other security. In case of a default under our loan agreements, any of the guarantees provided by our Promoter and Director may be invoked, which could negatively impact the reputation of our Company. We may face certain impediments in taking decisions in relation to our Company, which in turn would result in a material adverse effect on our financial condition, business, results of operations and prospects and would negatively impact our reputation.

Furthermore, in the event that our Promoters and Directors withdraw or terminate their guarantees, our lenders for such facilities may ask for alternate guarantees, repayment of amounts outstanding under such facilities, or even terminate such facilities. In addition, our Promoter and Directors may be required to liquidate his shareholding in our Company to settle the claims of the lenders, thereby diluting his shareholding in our Company. We may also not be successful in procuring alternate guarantees satisfactory to the lenders, as a result may need to repay outstanding amounts under such facilities or seek additional sources of capital, which could affect our financial condition and cash flows. For further details regarding loans availed by our Company, please refer “Financial Indebtedness” on page 271.

14. In the past, there have been discrepancies in filings with the Registrar of Companies (RoC) and other non-compliances under the Companies Act, which may result in penalties.

As per the records of the Company and the secretarial due diligence report provided by the independent practicing company secretary dated September 20, 2025, there have been certain discrepancies and non-compliances in filings made with the Registrar of Companies (“RoC”) under the Companies Act. While corrective measures, such as filing of forms, payment of additional fees have been undertaken, these matters may result in penalties or other actions by the regulatory authorities. The details of the major discrepancies are as follows:

While no legal proceedings or regulatory action has been initiated against our Company in relation to such non-compliances or instances or delays in filing statutory forms with the Registrar of Companies as of the date of this Draft Red Hearing Prospectus, we cannot assure you that such legal proceedings or regulatory actions will not be initiated against our Company in future and we cannot assure that we will not be subject to penalties imposed by concerned regulatory authorities in this respect. Therefore, if the authorities impose monetary penalties on our Company or against any of the Directors of our Company or take certain punitive actions against our Company or Directors of our Company in relation to the same, our business, financial condition and results of operations could be adversely affected.

15. We are dependent on our manufacturing unit and any disruption, slowdown or shutdown of our manufacturing units may restrict our operations and adversely affect our business and financial condition.

Our manufacturing activities are currently concentrated at a single facility located in Dehgam, Gujarat, where we produce our key aluminium-based product range, including Aluminium Ingots, Aluminium Alloy Ingots, and Aluminium De-oxidizers (such as notch bars, cubes, and shots). As a result, our business is significantly reliant on the uninterrupted functioning of this unit.

Our manufacturing operations are exposed to a number of operating risks, including mechanical breakdown or malfunction of critical plant and machinery, power outages, water shortages, or fuel supply disruptions, fire, industrial accidents, or material handling incidents, labour unrest, workforce shortages, or health and safety hazards, floods, earthquakes, or other natural calamities, statutory inspections, regulatory audits, or environmental compliance requirements and planned shutdowns for maintenance, equipment upgrades, or capacity expansion.

For the financial years ended March 31, 2025, 2024, and 2023, our manufacturing facility operated at a capacity utilization of approximately 65.93%, 57.63%, and 61.70%, respectively. Our gross block and net block of plant and machinery as of March 31, 2025 stood at ₹283.33 lakhs and ₹145.46 lakhs, respectively, underscoring our capital investment in this facility. For further details refer to “Business Overview” and “Financial Information” on pages 168 and 235.

While we undertake regular preventive maintenance and adhere to safety protocols, we cannot assure that disruptions will not occur in the future. Any significant breakdown or prolonged shutdown may result in operational delays, missed delivery timelines, or under-fulfillment of customer orders. This could lead to reputational damage, financial penalties, or even cancellation of long-term customer relationships.

In case of equipment failure, our operations may need to be suspended until repairs are completed or replacements are procured. Certain machinery or parts used in our operations are specialized and may have long lead times or high replacement costs, which could increase our capital expenditure unexpectedly. Moreover, obsolescence, destruction, or theft of such machinery may result in significant business downtime and may not be fully covered under the insurance policies availed by our Company. For further details refer to chapter “Our Business - Insurance” on page 184.

Our inability to promptly repair, replace, or upgrade our plant and machinery, or to resume operations within an acceptable timeframe, may result in prolonged production disruptions. This, in turn, may lead to reduced capacity utilization, increased per-unit costs, lower revenue, and adverse impact on our profitability, liquidity, and overall financial condition.

16. Failure to comply with environmental laws and regulations by us could lead to unforeseen environmental litigation which could impact on our business and our future net earnings.

Any non-compliance with environmental laws and regulations could expose our Company to significant risks, including unforeseen environmental litigation. Environmental regulations are stringent and are continually evolving, often becoming more rigorous over time. These laws govern various aspects of our operations, including waste disposal, emissions control, resource usage, and overall environmental impact.

Failure to adhere to any applicable regulations could result in severe consequences, such as fines, penalties, or even operational shutdowns mandated by regulatory authorities. In addition to these financial liabilities, we could face legal actions from government bodies, non-governmental organizations, or affected communities, leading to costly and prolonged litigation. The impact of such litigations could extend beyond immediate financial costs. It could harm our Company's reputation, erode customer trust, and negatively affect our relationships with stakeholders, including investors, suppliers, and customers. The adverse publicity resulting from environmental violations could damage our brand image, making it difficult to secure new business opportunities or retain existing clients.

However, as of date, the Company has not faced any instances of regulatory non-compliance that have resulted in operational disruptions or financial penalties. Maintaining strict adherence to all applicable regulations remains a priority to safeguard business continuity, financial stability, and long-term growth for us.

Moreover, the financial burden of environmental litigations could strain our resources, affecting our ability to invest in growth initiatives, innovation, or other critical areas of our business. This, in turn, could hinder our competitive position in the market and impact our future net earnings. Hence, any non-compliance with environmental laws poses a substantial risk to our business, with the potential to cause financial, legal, and reputational damage that could have long-lasting effects on our operations and financial health.

17. Our business is working capital intensive, and any failure to effectively manage our inventories and trade receivables may adversely affect our cash flows, profitability and overall financial condition.

Our operations are inherently working capital intensive, primarily due to the nature of our manufacturing activities which require maintaining substantial levels of inventories and extending credit to customers in the ordinary course of business. A significant portion of our current assets is comprised of inventories and trade receivables.

Summary of our working capital position during the period indicated is given below:

As confirmed by the certificate dated September 27, 2025, issued by Milind Nyati & Co. LLP, the Independent Chartered Accountant,

Our working capital requirements may increase if the payment terms in purchase orders received include reduced payments or longer payment schedules, or if there is delayed realization from our customers. These factors may result in an increase in the amount of our receivables. Continued increase in our working capital requirements may have a material adverse effect on our financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. Our inability to maintain sufficient cash flows, realize existing inventories & trade receivables, maintain credit facility and other sources of fund, in a timely manner, or at all, to meet the increasing requirement of working capital may have significant adverse effect on our financial condition and result of our operations. For further details, please refer to the chapter titled “Objects of the Issue – Funding the working capital requirements of the Company” beginning on page 117.

Any adverse movement in our inventory turnover or receivables cycle may restrict our ability to finance day-to-day operations, procure raw materials in a timely manner, or meet other financial obligations. Furthermore, any increase in our working capital borrowings to bridge such gaps could lead to a higher finance cost burden, impacting overall profitability.

- 18. Our management will have broad discretion in how we apply the Net Proceeds, including interim use of the Net Proceeds, and there is no assurance that the objects of the Issue will be achieved within the time frame expected or at all, or that the deployment of the Net Proceeds in the manner intended by us will result in any increase in the value of your investment.

We intend to use Net Proceeds from the Issue towards (a) Enhancement of Existing Facilities through Modern Machinery and Addition of an Aluminium Wire ROD Manufacturing Unit.(b) Funding the working capital requirements of our Company (c) General corporate purposes. For details of the objects of the Issue, see “Objects of the Issue” on page 109. Our management will have broad discretion to use the Net Proceeds, and investors will be relying on the judgment of our management regarding the application of the Net Proceeds. Our Company may have to revise its management estimates from time to time on account of various factors beyond its control, such as market conditions, competitive environment, costs of commodities and interest or exchange rate fluctuations and consequently its requirements may change. Additionally, various risks and uncertainties, including those set forth in this section may limit or delay our efforts to use the Net Proceeds to achieve profitable growth in its business.

- 19. Our Company operates under certain statutory and regulatory approvals for the operations. Failure to obtain or maintain licenses, registrations, permits and approvals may affect our business and results of operations.

Our business operations are subject to various statutory/regulatory approvals and we are required to obtain and maintain necessary statutory/regulatory permits for operating our business. For further information on approvals relating to our business and operations, please see “Government and Other Statutory Approvals” on page 295.

These permits, licenses and approvals may also be tied to numerous conditions, some of which may be onerous to us and require additional costs. We cannot assure that we will be able to comply with the regulatory requirements as per applicable regulations, which may lead to disruption of relevant permits, licenses, registrations and approvals. Our Company will be required to obtain necessary approvals for the objects to the Issue upon receipt of Issue proceedings and there can be delay or non-receipt of necessary approvals due to the same there can be deviation in achievement of objects to the Issue.

Certain of our material approvals, registrations, permits and licenses may expire in the ordinary course of business for which we may have either made or are in the process of making applications to obtain their renewal. Further, applications for approvals, licenses, registrations and permissions for operating our business need to be made within a certain timeframe and are often subject to the discretion of relevant authorities. If we are unable to make applications or renew or obtain necessary permits, licenses and approvals on acceptable terms, in a timely manner, at a reasonable cost, or at all or in the event we fail to comply with the terms and conditions therein, it could affect our financial condition and results of operations, including cancellation, revocation or suspension of relevant permits, licenses, registrations and approvals and the imposition of penalties by relevant authorities and it may adversely affect business operations of our Company.

20. Our contingent liabilities as stated in our Restated Financial Statements could affect our financial condition.

The following table sets forth our contingent liabilities for the financial year ended at March 31, 2025, March 31, 2024 and March 31, 2023 as per the Restated Financial Information:

(₹ in Lakh)
Particulars	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
Capital Commitments	40.00	-	-
Statutory dues	11.64	11.64	-
Total	51.64	11.64	-

We cannot assure you that these contingent liabilities will not become established as liabilities. In the event any of these contingent liabilities become established as liabilities, it may have an adverse effect on our financial condition and results of operations.

21. We are subject to strict quality standards and compliance requirements. Any failure to adhere to such standards may adversely impact our operations, reputation, and financial performance.

Our business operations are subject to stringent quality and compliance norms prescribed by industry standards and customer expectations, particularly given our presence in sectors such as automotive, steel, and electronics, which demand consistent product quality, traceability, and adherence to technical specifications.

To meet these requirements, we have implemented robust quality, environmental, and safety management systems and have obtained certifications under ISO 9001:2015 (Quality Management System), ISO 14001:2015 (Environmental Management System), and ISO 45001:2018 (Occupational Health and Safety Management System). Additionally, we hold a license under IS 617:1994 for aluminium and aluminium alloy ingots for remelting, which specifies chemical composition, physical properties, and sampling methods.

Compliance with these standards requires us to incur ongoing expenditure on quality assurance systems, employee training, laboratory infrastructure, testing protocols, documentation, audits, and certification renewals. Any failure to maintain or renew these certifications, or any deviation from the prescribed standards whether due to process lapses, equipment failure, human error, or supply chain inconsistencies may result in rejection of our products, cancellation of existing or prospective orders, or the imposition of penalties by regulatory authorities or customers.

Such events could have a material adverse effect on our reputation, business operations, cash flows, and financial condition. Moreover, any perceived failure in quality control may erode customer trust, restrict access to new markets, and hinder our ability to compete effectively.

22. Our manufacturing operations involve the handling of molten aluminium and high-temperature processes, which pose significant safety risks. Any accident or mishap at our facility could adversely impact our operations, reputation, and financial condition.

Our manufacturing activities, particularly the melting of aluminium and copper scrap in high-temperature furnaces, require employees to operate under potentially dangerous conditions. Despite our adherence to safety regulations and industry standards, including compliance with ISO 45001:2018 for occupational health and safety management, our operations remain exposed to several inherent risks, including:

1. Fires and explosions caused by the presence of molten metal and flammable substances;
2. Mechanical failures and operational malfunctions of furnaces and associated equipment;
3. Natural disasters or adverse weather conditions that may damage infrastructure or disrupt operations;
4. Accidental discharge or release of hazardous substances, gases, or chemicals; and

5. Other environmental and workplace hazards.

While we have implemented safety procedures, conduct raining programs, and maintain insurance coverage, these measures may not fully mitigate the risks of occupational accidents or equipment-related incidents. Any such event could lead to serious injury or loss of life, damage to our manufacturing infrastructure, environmental contamination, or regulatory sanctions. However, there have been no such occupational accidents, equipment-related incidents, or other material safety lapses have occurred at our facilities till date.

Such occurrences may result in the temporary or permanent suspension of our operations, loss of production time, cancellation of customer orders, and potential litigation. We may also be subject to civil or criminal liability or claims for compensation from affected individuals. The defence of such claims may be costly and time-consuming and could result in negative publicity or reputational harm.

A significant workplace accident, fire, or explosion at our facility could impair our ability to meet customer requirements and delivery schedules, leading to loss of business, increased costs, and potential loss of market share. Moreover, we may be required to undertake substantial capital expenditures for repairs or upgrades, which could adversely impact our cash flows, financial performance, and profitability.

23. We may not be sufficiently protected or insured for certain losses that we may incur or claims that we may face against us.

Our insurance may not be adequate to cover our claims or may not be available to the extent we expect. We maintain insurance coverage under various insurance policies including Industrial all risk insurance, Motor vehicle, Employee/workman compensation etc. Our insurance policies do not cover all risks and therefore may not protect us from liability for damages. These may lead to financial liability and other adverse consequences. We have not faced any material instances where insurance claims were made in the past. The following tables set forth details relating to insurance details:

(₹ In lakhs)

As of date, the Company has not faced any instances of losses where insurance was claimed. We cannot assure you that our insurance policies will be adequate to cover the losses that may be incurred as a result of litigation, operational interruptions or repair of damaged facilities. There is no claim pending with any Insurance Company till date. In addition, our insurance coverage expires from time to time. We apply for the renewal of our insurance coverage in the ordinary course of our business, but we cannot assure you that such renewals will be granted in a timely manner, at acceptable costs or at all. To the extent that we suffer loss or damage for which we have not obtained or maintained insurance, or which is not covered by insurance, which exceeds our insurance coverage or where our insurance claims are rejected, the loss would have to be borne by us. If we suffer a large uninsured loss or if any insured loss suffered by us significantly exceeds our insurance coverage, our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations may be adversely affected. For further details of our Insurance Policies, please refer section titled “Business Overview” beginning on page 168.

24. Under-utilization of our manufacturing capacities and an inability to effectively utilize our existing manufacturing capacities could have an adverse effect on our business, future prospects and future financial performance.

Our manufacturing capacity utilization is dependent on our ability to ensure continuous and efficient operations at our manufacturing facility and is influenced by a range of internal and external factors, including but not limited to, availability of raw materials, labour supply, efficient plant maintenance, power availability, customer demand, seasonal fluctuations, procurement practices of customers, and prevailing market and industry conditions. For the Financial years 2025, 2024 and 2023, our overall capacity utilization is detailed below:

Based on the Installed Capacity working and production details provided by the Company, I hereby Certify the Installed Capacity and Utilization is as under :-

Furnace	Nos	Capacity per Heat	Heat Per Day	Production Per Day
PIT Furnace	8 Nos	250 Kgs	8 Times	16,000 Kgs
PIT Furnace	1 Nos	500 Kgs	8 Times	4,000 Kgs

Yearly Production in MT (Yearly)				6,000 MT

(The Working days are on assumption that 25 Avg Working Days in a Month)

(*Since the Company manufactures finished goods by melting Alloy Scrap, the Furnace act as a bottleneck for the production process of Aluminium Alloy, Aluminium Ingot and Aluminium De-Oxidized Alloys, the installed capacity of the furnace is considered as the production capacity of the Company.)

* Notch Bars, Cubes and Shots, and aluminium Ingots

As certified by B.P. Oza, Independent Chartered Engineer, by way of their certificate dated September 21, 2025

Any disruption in operations whether due to unavailability or increased cost of key raw materials (such as aluminium scrap and alloying elements), equipment breakdowns, workforce shortages, regulatory actions, or unforeseen events may impact our production volumes and result in suboptimal utilization of our installed capacities. Additionally, if the demand for our products does not grow in line with our production capabilities, or if we are unable to convert installed capacity into actual production due to operational inefficiencies, our revenues and profitability may be adversely affected.

If we are unable to achieve optimal capacity utilization at our current manufacturing facility, it may lead to operational inefficiencies, which could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and future prospects. Prolonged periods of under-utilization or significant short-term underperformance of our manufacturing capabilities may negatively impact our growth trajectory and financial performance.

25. We may face potential conflicts of interest due to the presence of our Group Companies operating in a similar line of business.

Our Group Companies, Parmeshwar Metal Limited, Fortune Metal Private Limited and Yogeshwar Metal Private Limited are engaged in the business segment which is closely aligned with our operations in aluminium ingots, alloys, and de-oxidizers. As a result, there exists an inherent overlap in the nature of business activities, which may lead to potential competition within the Group.

Accordingly, we may be required to compete with our Group Company for business opportunities, which could adversely impact our revenues, profitability, and overall financial condition. Further, our Promoters have a common interest in both our Company and Group Companies, and while they are expected to act in our best interests, we cannot assure that decisions will always be made in our favour.

Such circumstances could give rise to conflicts of interest in the allocation of business opportunities, resources, or strategic focus between the two entities. Although we intend to adopt and implement necessary procedures and corporate governance practices, as permitted under applicable laws and regulatory guidelines, to address such situations as they arise, there can be no assurance that such measures will be sufficient.

Any present or future conflict of interest, if not appropriately managed, may have a material adverse effect on our reputation, business operations, financial condition, and results of operations.

For further details, see “Our Group Companies” on page 228 and “Note 31 - Related Party Transactions” under the chapter “Financial Information” on page 262.

26. Our Company has availed unsecured loans which are repayable on demand. Any demand from lender(s) for repayment of such unsecured loans, may adversely affect our cash flows.

As on March 31, 2025 our Company has unsecured loans amounting to ₹ 917.40 lakhs from related parties & others that are repayable on demand to them. Such loans are not repayable in accordance with any agreed repayment schedule and may be recalled by the relevant lenders at any time. Any such unexpected demand or accelerated repayment may have a material adverse effect on the business, cash flows and financial condition. For further details of unsecured loans of our Company, please refer “Note 31 - Related Party Transactions” under the chapter “Financial Information” on page 262.

27. We have taken loans and any inability to comply with repayment and other covenants can adversely affect our business, reputation and financial condition.

We have entered into financing arrangements with our lenders for short-term and long-term facilities for purposes including funding our working capital requirements and purchasing capital goods. As of March 31, 2025, our total outstanding borrowings from bank and financial institutions amounted to ₹ 3,178.70 lakhs. Our ability to pay interest and repay the principal for our loans is dependent upon our ability to generate sufficient cash flows to service such debt. Failure to meet conditions related to the loan could have significant consequences on our business and operations. Further, these loans creates a sense of financial burden on the working of the business, financial health and future borrowing capacity of the company.

Additionally, under our loan agreements, we are required to comply with certain covenants, if there is a default under such loan agreements, our company may be required to prepay the amount due or may be penalized by the lenders. In case of any default under the loan agreements the lenders may refuse to renew the financial arrangements, which may require us to find alternate source of funds which may not be available or if available may be on strict terms, which may have an adverse effect on our business operations and financial conditions.

28. We do not have long-term agreements/contract with our customers. If a significant number of our customers choose not to place long-term purchase orders with our Company or may choose to terminate our contracts if market price drops drastically, our business, financial condition and results of operations may be adversely affected.

Our business faces a significant risk due to the absence of long-term agreements with our customers. Unlike contracts that guarantee a sustained business relationship over an extended period, our current arrangements with customers are generally short-term or locked in certain quantity. Our relationship with customers is on a non-exclusive basis and accordingly, our customers may choose to cease sourcing our products and choose to source alternative options over & above order quantity / contract.

We rely heavily on purchase orders to manage the volume and terms of our product sales. These orders are essential for coordinating our production, inventory, and delivery schedules by specifying critical details such as product quantity, pricing, and delivery timelines. However, these orders can be subject to changes or cancellations, a situation often exacerbated during periods of abnormal market volatility or temporary suspension of production at buyer's plant. In such cases, customers may "short close" their orders, meaning they might reduce or cancel their purchase commitments abruptly due to price fluctuations or other market factors or non-requirement. This can disrupt our production plans and create mismatches in inventory, leading to inefficiencies, increased storage costs, and potential financial losses from surplus or unsold goods. Therefore, while purchase orders are vital for our operations, their inherent variability and the risk of short closures introduce significant challenges that can impact our production efficiency, inventory management, and overall financial stability.

Firstly, amendments or cancellations of purchase orders can lead to substantial disruptions in our production schedules. When customers alter or cancel their orders, it can create difficulties in adjusting our manufacturing processes to align with the new requirements. This misalignment can result in inefficiencies, production delays, and a potential decrease in overall productivity.

Moreover, fluctuations in order volumes can create imbalances between our inventory of raw materials and finished products. If anticipated orders are delayed or do not materialize, we might find ourselves with excess raw materials or surplus finished goods. This imbalance can lead to increased costs associated with inventory management, including storage and potential markdowns to clear out surplus products. Such costs can erode our operating margins and adversely affect our financial performance.

Additionally, the challenge of managing excess inventory carries the risk of obsolescence. If we are unable to find customers for surplus products, these goods may become outdated or obsolete over time. This could necessitate writing off inventory, resulting in financial losses that impact our business, financial condition, and results of operations. Excessive inventory may also strain our cash flow, further affecting our liquidity and overall financial stability.

The reliance on purchase orders introduces various risks related to production scheduling, inventory management, and financial performance. Changes in order volumes can lead to increased operational costs, reduced profitability, and potential losses from obsolete inventory. Effective inventory management, strong customer relationships, and flexible production strategies are essential to mitigating these risks and maintaining financial stability.

29. Our inability to accurately forecast demand for our products and manage our inventory may have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

The results of operations of our business are dependent on our ability to effectively manage our inventory and stocks. To effectively manage our inventory, we must be able to accurately estimate customer demand and supply requirements and trade inventory accordingly. If our management has misjudged expected customer demand it could adversely impact the results by causing either a shortage of products or an accumulation of excess inventory. Further, if we fail to sell the inventory, we may be required to dispose of our inventory or pay our suppliers without new purchases, or create additional vendor financing, which could have an adverse impact on our income and cash flows. We estimate our sales based on the forecast, demand and requirements and also on the customer specifications. Natural disasters such as earthquakes, extreme climatic or weather conditions such as floods or droughts may adversely impact the supply of our products and local transportation. Should our supply of our products be disrupted, we may not be able to procure an alternate source of supply in time to meet the demands of our customers. Such disruption to supply would materially and adversely affect our business, profitability and reputation.

The following table sets forth details on our raw material inventory levels, as per our Restated Financial Information, as of and for the years indicated:

Particulars	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
Raw Material (₹ in Lakhs)	2,041.25	1,364.95	919.01
Raw Material Inventory holding days	29	40	52

The following table sets forth details on our Finished Goods inventory levels, as per our Restated Financial Information, as of and for the years indicated:

Particulars	March 31, 2025	March 31, 2024	March 31, 2023
Finished Goods (₹ in Lakhs)	101.92	153.69	139.00
Finished Goods Inventory holding days	5	5	3

In the past we have not experienced any instances of disruptions to the delivery of product to our customer occurred for reasons such as poor handling, transportation bottlenecks which could have led to delayed or lost deliveries or damaged products and disrupt supply of these products, but there is not guarantee that these instances will not happen in future to improve our line capability, we try to stock our inventory. An optimal level of inventory is important to our business as it allows us to respond to customer demand effectively. If we overstock inventory, our capital requirements will increase and we will incur additional financing costs.

If we under-stock inventory, our ability to meet customer demand and our operating results may be adversely affected. Any mismatch between our planning and actual consumer consumption could lead to potential excess inventory or out-of-stock situations, either of which could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operation.

30. Our business operations may be materially & adversely affected by strikes, work stoppages or increased wage demands by our employees or those of our suppliers.

Although we have not experienced any major disruptions to our business operations due to disputes or other problem with our work force in the past, there can be no assurance that we will not experience such disruptions in the future. Such disruptions may adversely affect our business and results of operations and may also divert the management's attention and result in increased costs. India has stringent labour legislation that protects the interests of workers, including legislation that sets forth detailed procedures for the establishment of unions, dispute resolution and employee removal and legislation that imposes certain financial obligations on employers upon retrenchment.

Although our employees are not currently unionized, there can be no assurance that they will not unionize in the future. If our employees unionize, it may become difficult for us to maintain flexible labour policies, and we may face the threat of labour unrest, work stoppages and diversion of our management's attention due to union intervention, which may have a material adverse impact on our business, results of operations and financial condition. We are also subject to laws and regulations governing relationships with employees, in such areas as minimum wage and maximum working hours, overtime, working conditions, hiring and terminating of employees and work permits. Shortage of skilled personnel or work stoppages caused by disagreements with employees which could have an adverse effect on our business and results of operations.

31. The Company have significant power and fuel requirements and any disruption to power or fuel sources could increase production costs and adversely affect business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

Our manufacturing operations are energy-intensive and rely heavily on a consistent and cost-effective supply of power and fuel. We procure electricity from Uttar Gujarat Vij Company Limited. While the supplier generally provides prior intimation in case of scheduled maintenance or shutdowns, enabling us to plan accordingly, we remain exposed to the risk of unexpected or extended power outages, which may impact our production activities.

We operate Coal/Bio-fuel billet furnaces, which enable us to continue certain operations even during power supply interruptions. However, in the event of prolonged or severe power disruptions, our overall manufacturing processes may be adversely affected, resulting in production delays, increased maintenance, reduced output, and potential backlog in fulfilling customer orders.

In addition, volatility in fuel and electricity prices can lead to higher production costs. Such cost escalations may not always be immediately passed on to customers, thereby exerting pressure on our margins. Furthermore, any regulatory changes, supply constraints, or geopolitical events impacting the supply or cost of power and fuel may intensify these risks.

As we expand our operations and enhance our production capacity, our power and fuel requirements are expected to increase. Ensuring uninterrupted energy availability at competitive prices will be critical to maintaining cost efficiency, meeting customer expectations, and sustaining our growth plans. Any failure to secure a stable and affordable energy supply may adversely affect our business, financial condition, cash flows, and results of operations.

The Company are exposed to counterparty credit risk and any delay in receiving payments or non-receipt of payments may adversely impact business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

We are subject to counterparty credit risk and a significant delay in receiving large payments or non-receipt of large payments may adversely impact our results of operations. Our operations involve extending credit to our customers in respect of sale of our products and consequently, we face the risk of the uncertainty regarding the receipt of these outstanding amounts. Consequently, we face the risk of the uncertainty regarding the receipt of these outstanding amounts. There is no assurance that we will accurately assess the creditworthiness of our customers. Further, macroeconomic conditions which are beyond our control, such as a potential credit crisis in the global financial system, could also result in financial difficulties for our customers, including limited access to the credit markets, insolvency or bankruptcy. Such conditions could cause our customers to delay payment request modifications of their payment terms, or default on their payment obligations to us, all of which could increase our receivables. Timely collection of dues from customers also depends on our ability to complete our contractual commitments and subsequently bill for and collect from our clients. While we have not faced such incidents in the past, if we are unable to meet our contractual obligations, we may experience delays in the collection of, or be unable to collect, our customer balances, which could adversely affect our results of operations and cash flows.

32. Our manufacturing facilities is located in Gandhinagar, Gujarat which exposes operations to potential risks arising from local and regional factors such as adverse social and political events, weather conditions and natural disasters.

As of the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, our manufacturing facility is located in Gandhinagar, Gujarat. This concentration exposes us to local and regional risks, including economic conditions, weather-related disruptions, natural disasters, demographic shifts, and unforeseen socio-political events. Any significant disturbances such as social unrest, political instability, policy changes by the state or central government, or increased competition in the region could adversely impact our business operations, financial condition, and cash flows.

Our manufacturing operations require a significant workforce and are dependent on government policies, including those related to taxation, duties etc. Although we have not experienced any major disruptions in past, any unfavorable policy changes in Gujarat could materially impact our business and financial stability. Additionally, disruptions in raw material procurement or supply chain constraints due to local economic conditions or regulatory changes may affect our ability to meet delivery commitments, harming our reputation in the industry.

Gujarat has historically experienced natural disasters, including the devastating earthquake of 2001, which resulted in significant infrastructure damage and economic setbacks across the state. While we have not faced operational disturbances due to such events in recent years, any future seismic activity or other natural calamities such as floods or cyclones which could severely impact our facility, disrupt production schedules, and increase costs related to repairs, insurance, and supply chain adjustments. Given that we do not have an alternate manufacturing facility, prolonged downtime could lead to financial losses and an inability to fulfill customer orders.

Furthermore, Gujarat has witnessed periods of social and civil unrest in the past. While such tensions have not affected our operations in recent fiscal years, the recurrence of such incidents or an escalation in intensity could lead to regional instability, disrupting supply chains, workforce availability, and overall business continuity.

33. Fraud, theft, employee negligence or similar incidents may adversely affect results of operations and cash flows.

We may be subject to instances of fraud, misappropriation, unauthorised acts and misconduct by our representatives and employees which may go unnoticed for certain periods of time before corrective action is taken. Fraudulent and unauthorised conduct by our employees could also bind us to transactions that exceed the scope of authorisation and present significant risks to us. As a result, we may be subject to regulatory sanctions, brand and reputational damage or financial harm.

It is not always possible to deter fraud or misconduct by employees and the precautions we take and the systems we have put in place to prevent and deter such activities may not be effective in all cases. Further, we employ third parties for certain operations and accordingly, we are exposed to the risk of theft and embezzlement. Although company has efficient security staff to control such situations.

In addition, we may be subject to regulatory or other proceedings in connection with such acts by our employees, which could adversely affect our goodwill. While there has been no instance of fraud, theft or employee negligence which we have experienced in the last three Fiscals which had an adverse effect on our business operations, we cannot assure you that we will not experience any fraud, theft, employee negligence or similar incidents in the future, which could adversely affect our reputation and results of operations.

34. Technology failures could disrupt operations and adversely affect business operations and financial performance.

Technology is a critical factor to our ability to manage our manufacturing process, inventory management, financial management, data handling and supply chain management, to maximize efficiencies and optimize costs. Our technology systems enable us to coordinate our operations, from automated manufacturing to logistics and transport, invoicing, customer relationship management and decision support. While there has been no instance in past, where we experienced technology failure and the same had an adverse impact on the business operations of the Company, but there is no assurance that such instance will not arise in the future.

If we do not allocate and effectively manage the resources necessary to implement and sustain the proper technology related infrastructure, we could be subject to transaction errors and processing inefficiencies. Challenges relating to the revamping or implementation of new technology or update the existing technology, we can be exposed to certain errors, inefficiencies, disruptions and, in some instances, loss of consumers. Our technology systems may also be vulnerable to a variety of interruptions due to events beyond our control, including, but not limited to, natural disasters, terrorist attacks, telecommunications failures, computer viruses, hackers and other security issues. Although we have security initiatives and disaster recovery plans in place to mitigate its risk to these vulnerabilities, such measures may not have been effectively implemented or may not be adequate to ensure that its operations are not disrupted.

35. Any significant delay in receiving plant, equipment and machinery purchased could impact business, operations, cash flows and financial conditions.

Procuring the equipment and machinery involves a complex process, which may be susceptible to various disruptions such as delays in transportation or delay in supply from supplier. Any disruption in the process could lead to significant delays in receiving the plant, equipment and machinery and could affect our production timelines and impact our ability to meet customer demands, which in turn impact our business, operations, cash flows and financial conditions. Such uncertainties pose a risk to our business and operations, as we may not have alternative sources for the plant, machinery and equipment we need. While there has not been any instance in past where we experienced a delay in receiving equipment, plant and machinery, there is no assurance that such an instance will not arise in the future.

36. Promoters and Directors hold Equity Shares in Company and are therefore interested in Company's performance in addition to their remuneration and reimbursement of expenses.

Our Promoters and Directors may be deemed to be interested in our Company, in addition to the regular remuneration or benefits, reimbursements of expenses, Equity Shares held by them or their relatives, their dividend or bonus entitlement, benefits arising from their directorship in our Company. Our Promoters and Directors may also be interested to the extent of any transaction entered into by our Company with any other company or firm in which they are directors or partners.

There can be no assurance that our Promoters and Directors will exercise their rights as shareholders to the benefit and best interest of our Company. Our Promoters and members of our Promoter Group will continue to exercise significant control over our Company, including being able to control the composition of our Board of Directors and determine decisions requiring simple or special majority voting of shareholders, and our other shareholders may be unable to affect the outcome of such voting. Our Directors may take or block actions with respect to our business, which may conflict with the best interests of our Company or that of minority shareholders.

37. Ability to access capital at attractive costs depends on credit ratings. Non-availability of credit ratings or a poor rating may restrict access to capital and thereby adversely affect business, financial conditions, cash flows and results of operations.

The cost and availability of capital depends on our credit ratings. Credit ratings reflect the opinion of the rating agency on our management, track record, diversified clientele, increase in scale and operations and margins, medium term revenue visibility and operating cycle. While we have not obtained credit rating in the last three Fiscals, any downgrade in our future credit ratings or our inability to obtain such credit rating in a timely manner in future or any non-availability of credit ratings, or poor ratings, could increase borrowing costs, will give the right to our lenders to review the facilities availed by us under our financing arrangements and adversely affect our access to capital and debt markets, which could in turn adversely affect our interest margins, our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

38. Our Promoters, Directors including Independent Directors, does not have any prior experience of directorship in the listed company.

Our Board comprises of five Directors which includes one Managing Director, one Whole-Time Director, one non-executive Director and two Independent Directors. We are not a publicly listed company and have not historically been subject to increased scrutiny by shareholders, regulators and the public at large that is associated with being a listed company. Our Board of Directors does not have any prior experience of being a Director in any other listed company in India. While our Board members are qualified and have relevant experience in their respective field, not having any prior experience as being a director in any other listed company in India may present some potential challenges to our Company in effectively meeting with good corporate governance norms and practices. Additionally, having lack of such experience amongst the Board of Directors may impact our Company's credibility and reputation among the investors and other stakeholders. For further details, please see chapter titled “Our Management” on page no. 206.

39. The Company may not be able to identify or effectively respond to evolving preferences, expectations or trends in a timely manner and a failure to derive the desired benefits from product development efforts may impact competitiveness and profitability.

The aluminum industry is highly influenced by market demand, technological advancements, and evolving consumer preferences. Companies must adapt swiftly to these changes to remain competitive and profitable. Failure to do so can result in reduced market share, declining revenues, and diminished industry relevance.

One key risk is substitution due to rising aluminum prices. Factors such as raw material costs, energy prices, and global supply-demand imbalances can increase aluminum prices, prompting industries to seek cheaper alternatives like steel, composites, plastics, or copper. This shift could reduce aluminum demand, impacting sales and profitability.

Additionally, changing consumer preferences for sustainability present challenges. The demand for low-carbon aluminum and recyclable materials is increasing. Companies that fail to adopt sustainable practices risk losing market share to competitors offering more eco-friendly and energy-efficient products.

Delayed product development and lack of innovation also pose risks. Investing in research and development (R&D) is essential to improve product quality and maintain a competitive edge. Failure to innovate or launch new products on time can weaken a company's market position.

Moreover, regulatory and policy changes are reshaping the industry. Stricter environmental laws, carbon emission limits, and recycling mandates can increase operational costs and impact production. Non-compliance may lead to penalties, restricted market access, and reputational damage.

The success of our business depends on our ability to anticipate and respond to evolving consumer trends and preferences. We must continuously innovate and develop new products to meet market demands. However, there is no assurance that our efforts will be successful, timely, or cost-effective. Even if new products are developed, they may not achieve expected sales or market acceptance, affecting growth and profitability.

As we expand our product range and geographic presence, maintaining quality and consistency will become increasingly challenging. Failure to align with consumer expectations or any lapse in quality could harm our brand reputation, customer relationships, and business growth.

To stay competitive, we must continually invest in technology, enhance our product offerings, and monitor market trends. Unexpected shifts in demand or regulatory changes could impact liquidity and financial stability. Adapting swiftly to these changes is crucial for long-term success.

40. Safety protocols and programs are developed, implemented and improved. A significant disruption at our manufacturing facilities may adversely affect production schedules, costs, sales and ability to meet customer demand.

Our business involves complex manufacturing processes that inherently pose risks to employees, equipment, and operations. Despite implementing stringent safety measures and maintaining what we believe to be adequate insurance coverage, the possibility of accidents at our manufacturing facilities cannot be entirely eliminated. Such incidents could lead to property or equipment damage, environmental hazards, production delays, or even temporary suspension of operations. Additionally, accidents may result in litigation, the outcome of which is uncertain and could involve significant legal costs. Any associated negative publicity may further impact our reputation, financial condition, and business prospects.

Production disruptions may also lead to increased costs, reduced sales, and the need for substantial capital expenditures to address damages or defend legal claims. In the event of severe incidents, we may be required to modify or enhance safety measures, which could further impact our profitability. There are no such accidents and events in past, but we cannot assure the same in future. Any prolonged operational downtime or regulatory penalties arising from such events could adversely affect our overall financial performance, growth prospects, and market position.

41. If the Company is unable to establish and maintain an effective system of internal controls and compliances business and reputation could be adversely affected.

Effective internal controls are necessary for us to prepare reliable financial reports and effectively prevent and detect any frauds or misuse of funds. Moreover, any internal controls that we may implement, or our level of compliance with such controls, may decline over time. There can be no assurance that additional deficiencies or lacks in our internal controls will not arise in the future, or that we will be able to implement and continue to maintain adequate measures to rectify or mitigate any such deficiencies or lacks in our internal controls. If internal control weaknesses are identified in a delayed manner, our actions may not be sufficient to correct such internal control weakness. Such instances may also adversely affect our reputation, thereby adversely impacting our business, results of operations and financial condition.

42. The Company may require additional equity or debt in the future in order to continue to grow business, which may not be available on favorable terms or at all.

The Company may require additional capital, either through equity or debt financing, to support its growth, expand operations, or meet working capital requirements. However, access to such funding may not always be available on favorable terms or at all. The ability to secure financing depends on various factors, including market conditions, interest rates, credit ratings, and investor confidence in the company's financial performance.

If the Company is unable to raise additional capital when needed, it may have to scale down expansion plans, delay new projects, or seek alternative financing options, which could come at a higher cost. Additionally, issuing new equity may dilute existing shareholders' ownership, while increased debt obligations could strain cash flows and financial stability. Any limitations in securing necessary funds could adversely impact our growth trajectory, operational efficiency, and overall financial health.

43. Any adverse change in regulations governing our products and the products of our customers, may adversely impact our business prospects and results of operations.

Regulatory requirements affecting our products, as well as those impacting our customers' products, are subject to change. Adverse alterations in regulations—such as new licensing requirements, updated technical standards, or more stringent specifications—can significantly impact our operations. We may be required to modify our manufacturing and distribution processes, target different markets, and invest in capital expenditures to comply with these new regulatory demands. As of date, the Company has not faced any instances of non-compliance due to change in regulations governing our products and affecting its ability to manufacture or market its products.

There is no guarantee that we will be able to meet all new regulatory requirements effectively. Non-compliance with updated statutes or regulations could lead to delays in obtaining approvals for the manufacture and marketing of new products, or it might necessitate the withdrawal of existing products from the market. Additionally, failure to adhere to the conditions attached to approvals, licenses, registrations, and permissions could result in regulatory bodies suspending, curtailing, or revoking our ability to market those products.

The inherent risk of inadvertently failing to meet regulatory requirements could lead to significant consequences, including forced shutdowns and sanctions imposed by regulatory authorities. It could also delay or prevent us from receiving necessary regulatory approvals for new products. Such outcomes could adversely affect our business operations, financial performance, and overall financial condition.

44. If we are unable to manage our growth or execute our strategies effectively, our business plan and expansion may not be successful, and our business and prospects may be adversely affected.

If we are unable to effectively manage our growth or execute our strategies, the implications for our business could be significant and detrimental. Successful growth management involves not only scaling operations but also ensuring that we maintain quality, efficiency, and customer satisfaction during this transition. If we rush into expansion without adequate planning and resources, we risk overextending ourselves, which can lead to operational inefficiencies and an inability to meet customer demands. This could result in longer lead times, increased costs, and ultimately, dissatisfied customers. Moreover, failing to execute our strategies effectively can undermine our ability to achieve our business objectives, whether that involves introducing new products, entering new markets, or optimizing our supply chain. Without a clear and actionable plan, our growth initiatives may lack direction, leading to wasted resources and missed opportunities.

The negative consequences of poor growth management and ineffective strategy execution can ripple through every aspect of our organization. Our brand reputation may suffer as we struggle to deliver on promises, and investor confidence could wane if our performance does not align with expectations. This decline in stakeholder trust can create challenges in securing financing for future projects or expansions, further hindering our ability to grow. Additionally, as we encounter these obstacles, our competition may seize the opportunity to capture our market share, leaving us at a disadvantage. In the fast-paced aluminium industry, where innovation and responsiveness are vital, our failure to adapt and execute can jeopardize our long-term viability. Therefore, it is essential that we invest in robust management practices, effective training programs, and continuous monitoring of our strategic initiatives to ensure that we navigate our growth trajectory successfully.

45. We operate in a highly competitive industry and our failure to compete effectively could have a negative impact on the success of our business and/or impact our margin.

Our ability to compete effectively is crucial for maintaining our market position, profitability, and overall success. If we fail to keep pace with competitors regarding pricing, product quality, or innovation, we risk losing valuable market share. Competitors who offer superior aluminium products, innovative designs, or better service can easily attract our customers, leading to decreased sales and revenue. Moreover, in a market characterized by intense competition, price wars often emerge as companies strive to capture market share. Engaging in aggressive pricing strategies without sufficient cost management can lead to significant pressure on our profit margins, risking unsustainable pricing practices that adversely affect our financial health.

The repercussions of ineffective competition extend beyond financial metrics; they can also tarnish our brand reputation and erode customer loyalty in the aluminium extrusion sector. If customers perceive our extruded aluminium products as inferior or not meeting their specific needs compared to those of our competitors, they are likely to switch to alternative offerings. This not only results in immediate revenue loss but can also have long-term consequences for our brand's image and customer retention rates. Continuous innovation is vital in this industry, as advancements in extrusion technology can significantly impact product performance. If we become complacent in developing new products or enhancing existing ones, we risk becoming irrelevant in the market. Competitors who invest in research and development may introduce superior aluminium profiles or customized solutions that overshadow our offerings, further threatening our market position.

Additionally, operational inefficiencies can compound these challenges. If we do not streamline our production processes, reduce costs, or enhance productivity, we may struggle to compete on both price and quality. This could lead to increased operational costs, longer lead times, and reduced competitiveness, making it difficult to maintain our market share in a rapidly evolving industry. Ultimately, the cumulative effect of ineffective competition can lead to declining revenues and diminished profitability. This constrains our ability to invest in growth initiatives, employee training, or new technologies, further exacerbating our competitive challenges.

46. We have in the past entered into related party transactions and may continue to do so in the future.

As of March 31, 2025, we have entered into several related party transactions with our Promoters and entities forming a part of our Promoter Group. In addition, we have in the past also entered into transactions with other related parties. We confirm that the transactions with Related Parties entered into by our Company in the preceding three years have been carried out at arm's length price and are in compliance with the Companies Act and other applicable laws. Further, we confirm that the transactions are not prejudicial to the interest of our Company. A summary of the related party transactions during the Financial Year 2025, 2024 and 2023 as per applicable Indian GAAP is derived from our Restated Financial Statements. For further details, see "Restated Financial Statements" beginning on page 235.

While we believe that all our related party transactions have been conducted on an arm's length basis, we cannot assure you that we may not have achieved more favourable terms had such transactions been entered into with unrelated parties. There can be no assurance that such transactions, individually or taken together, will not have an adverse effect on our business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition, including because of potential conflicts of interest or otherwise. In addition, our business and growth prospects may decline if we cannot benefit from our relationships with them in the future.

47. Promoter and the Promoter Group will jointly continue to retain majority shareholding in our Company after the Issue, which will allow them to determine the outcome of the matters requiring the approval of shareholders.

After completion of the Issue, our Promoter and Promoter Group will collectively own a majority of the Equity Shares of our Company. As a result, our Promoters together with the members of the Promoter Group will be able to exercise a significant degree of influence over us and will, and we cannot assure you that such actions will not have an adverse effect on our future financial performance or the price of our Equity Shares.

be able to control the outcome of any proposal that can be approved by a majority shareholder vote, including, the election of members to our Board, in accordance with the Companies Act and our AoA. Such a concentration of ownership may also have the effect of delaying, preventing or deterring a change in control of our Company.

In addition, our Promoter will continue to have the ability to cause us to take actions that are not in, or may conflict with, our interests or the interests of some or all of our creditors or minority shareholders.

48. Delays in Procurement, Installation, or Commissioning of Plant and Machinery May Adversely Impact Our Project Implementation Schedule, Cost Estimates, and Profitability

Our Company is in the process of implementing its proposed project as specified in the chapter titled "Objects of the Issue." The project involves the procurement and installation of new plant and machinery for the enhancement of existing facilities and the establishment of an Aluminium Wire Rod Manufacturing Unit.

As on the date of this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, our Company has placed orders for certain plant and machinery items using funds from the term loan sanctioned by banks, and advances have been paid to select suppliers. The remaining orders for machinery and related equipment are proposed to be placed using the balance amount from the term loan and part of the proceeds from the Issue.

While we have initiated the procurement process, there may still be potential delays in placing balance orders, delivery, installation, or commissioning of the plant and machinery. Such delays may arise from supplier capacity constraints, import or logistics issues, foreign exchange fluctuations, changes in government policies, or other unforeseen factors beyond our control. Any delay in completing these steps may extend our project implementation schedule, resulting in deferred revenue generation and reduced project returns.

Further, any increase in the cost of machinery or related components due to inflation, changes in tax or duty structures, variation in foreign currency exchange rates, or upward revisions by vendors could lead to cost overruns, which may impact our profitability.

The proposed deployment of Net Proceeds is based on management's internal estimates, current market conditions, and existing vendor quotations, and has been appraised by any bank or financial institution. Our fund requirements and the timeline for deployment may undergo change depending on factors such as market conditions, vendor availability, pricing, exchange rate movements, and project execution challenges. For further details, please refer to the chapter titled "Objects of the Issue" beginning on page 109.

Any delay in completing the procurement or installation process, or any variation in the utilization of funds, may result in an increase in project cost, delay in commencement of commercial operations, and adverse impact on our revenue, profitability, and cash flows.

49. Information relating to the installed capacity, actual production and capacity utilization of our assembling and manufacturing facilities included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus is based on various assumptions and estimates, and future production and capacity may vary.

Information relating to the installed capacity, actual production and capacity utilization of our assembling and manufacturing facilities included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus is based on various assumptions and estimates of our management, including expected operations, availability of raw materials, expected unit utilization levels, downtime resulting from scheduled maintenance activities, downtime resulting from change in stock keeping units for a particular product, unscheduled breakdowns, and expected operational efficiencies, that have been taken into account by an Independent Chartered Engineer B. P. Oza & Associates, in the calculation of the installed capacity, and actual production and capacity utilization of our assembling and manufacturing facilities including our historical installed capacity and estimated capacity utilization, see "Business Overview – Capacity and Capacity Utilization" on page 182. Actual and future manufacturing volumes and capacity utilization rates may differ significantly from the estimated production capacities of our manufacturing facilities. Undue reliance should therefore not be placed on the information relating to our installed capacities or historical capacity utilization of our manufacturing facilities included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

Further, there is no guarantee that our future production or capacity utilization levels will match or exceed our historical levels. Under-utilization of our manufacturing capacities over extended periods, or significant under-utilization in the short term could increase our cost of production and our operating costs and adversely impact our business, growth prospects and future financial performance. Our expected return on capital invested is subject to, among other factors, the ability to ensure satisfactory performance of personnel to further grow our business, our ability to absorb additional infrastructure costs and utilize the expanded capacities as anticipated. In case of oversupply in the industry or lack of demand, we may not be able to utilize our capacity efficiently.

50. Any variation in the utilization of Net Proceeds would be subject to certain compliance requirements, including prior shareholders' approval.

We propose to utilize the Net Proceeds as stated under "Objects of the Issue" beginning on page 109. However, our funding requirements and the deployment of Net Proceeds are based on management estimates and have not been independently appraised. As per section 27 of the Companies Act, the objects of utilization of the Net Proceeds from the fresh issue as disclosed in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus can only be varied after obtaining the shareholders' approval vide a special resolution. In the event, our Company wishes to vary the objects for which the net proceeds from the fresh issue are required to be varied, our Company may not be able to obtain the shareholders' approval in a timely manner, or at all. Any delay or inability in obtaining such shareholders' approval may adversely affect our business or operations. Therefore, we may not be able to undertake variation of Objects of the Issue to use any unutilized proceeds of the Issue, if any, even if such variation is in the interest of our Company. This may restrict our ability to respond to any change in our business or financial condition, and thus, adversely affect our business and results of operations. Further, our Promoter would be required to provide an exit opportunity to shareholders who do not agree with our proposal to change the objects of the Issue or vary the terms of such contracts, at a price and manner as prescribed by SEBI.

Additionally, the requirement on Promoter to provide an exit opportunity to such dissenting shareholders may deter our Promoter from agreeing to the variation of the proposed utilization of the Net Proceeds, even if such variation is in the interest of our Company. Further, we cannot assure you that the Promoter or the controlling shareholders of our Company will have adequate resources at their disposal at all times to enable them to provide an exit opportunity at the price prescribed by SEBI. In light of these factors, we may not be able to undertake variation of Objects of the Issue to use any unutilized proceeds of the Issue, if any, or vary the terms of any contract referred to in the Draft Red Herring Prospectus, even if such variation is in the interest of our Company. This may restrict our Company's ability to respond to any change in our business or financial condition by re-deploying the un-utilised portion of Net Proceeds, if any, or varying the terms of contract, which may adversely affect our business and results of operations.

51. We have not made any alternate arrangements in order to meet our capital requirements for the Objects of the Issue.

Additionally, we have not identified any alternate source of financing the 'Objects of the Issue'. Any shortfall in raising /meeting the same could adversely affect our growth plans, operations and financial performance. As on date, our Company has not made any alternate arrangements for meeting the capital requirements for the Objects of the Issue. We normally meet our capital requirements through our internal accruals. Any shortfall in the same and our inability to raise debt in future would result in us being unable to meet our capital requirements, which in turn will negatively affect our financial condition and results of operations. Further, we have not identified any alternate source of funding and hence any failure or delay on our part to raise money from this Issue or any shortfall in the Issue proceeds may delay the implementation schedule and could adversely affect our growth plans. For further details, please see "Objects of the Issue" beginning on page 109.

52. Our funding requirements and proposed deployment of the Net Proceeds from the Issue have not been appraised by a bank or a financial institution and are based on management estimates.

The funding requirements and the proposed deployment of the Net Proceeds, as detailed in the chapter titled "Objects of the Issue" beginning on page 109, have not been appraised by any bank, financial institution, or independent external agency. They are based on internal estimates of our management, current circumstances of our business, quotations received from vendors, and other internal parameters.

While these estimates have been made in good faith and are believed to be reasonable by our management, they may be subject to changes or cost escalations due to a variety of factors including changes in scope, prevailing market conditions, pricing fluctuations, availability of equipment, taxes and duties, or regulatory changes. Further, in the absence of any independent appraisal, there can be no assurance that the actual costs or schedule of implementation will not vary from the estimated amounts or timelines.

Any deviation in the estimated deployment or timing of use of the Net Proceeds may require us to revise our business plan or seek alternate sources of funding, which may not be available on commercially reasonable terms or at all, and may adversely affect our business, financial condition, cash flows, and results of operations.

53. Our success depends heavily upon our Promoters, Directors and Key Managerial Personnel for their continuing services, strategic guidance and financial support who are also the natural person in control of our Company.

Our success heavily depends upon the continued services of our Promoters and Key managerial personnel, the loss of any of our Promoter or Key Management Personnel, or failure to recruit suitable or comparable replacements, could have an adverse effect on us. The loss of service of the Promoters and other senior management could seriously impair the ability to continue to manage and expand the business efficiently. If we are unable to retain qualified employees at a reasonable cost, we may be unable to execute our growth strategy. For further details of our Directors and key managerial personnel, please refer to Chapter “Our Management” beginning on page 206.

- 54. Our logo registration status is currently under process. Failure to obtain the trademark registration could lead to difficulties in identification or mistaken association if the trademark is not officially registered under our name. This could potentially result in brand confusion, loss of market recognition, and legal challenges regarding the use of our logo.

The risk pertains to the current status of our trademark logo, which is under registration process. If we fail to secure the trademark registration, it poses several potential challenges and implications for our brand identity and legal standing. Firstly, without a registered trademark, we lack the legal protection and exclusive rights associated with owning the trademark. This means that other entities could potentially use a similar or identical logo, leading to brand confusion among consumers. Customers may struggle to distinguish our products or services from those of competitors, resulting in a loss of market share and revenue. Moreover, not having our trademark registered under our name opens the door to possible trademark infringement issues. If another entity registers a similar trademark before us, they could legally prevent us from using our own logo. This scenario not only undermines our brand recognition but also puts us at a disadvantage in the marketplace. Additionally, the absence of a registered trademark could hinder our ability to enforce our intellectual property rights. Without a legally recognized trademark, it becomes more challenging to take legal action against unauthorized use or infringement of our logo. This leaves us vulnerable to exploitation by third parties seeking to capitalize on our brand reputation without permission. Overall, the failure to obtain trademark registration poses significant risks to our brand identity, market positioning, and legal standing.

- 55. We are not able to guarantee the accuracy of third party information included in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus.

We have not independently verified data from industry publications contained herein and although we believe these sources to be reliable, we cannot assure that they are complete or reliable. Such data may also be produced on a different basis from comparable information compiled with regard to other countries. Therefore, discussions of matters relating to India and its economy are subject to the limitation that the statistical and other data upon which such discussions are based have not been verified by us and may be incomplete or unreliable.

- 56. The requirements of being a public listed company may strain our resources and impose additional requirements.

With the increased scrutiny of the affairs of a public listed company by shareholders, regulators and the public at large, we will incur significant legal, accounting, corporate governance and other expenses that we did not incur in the past. We will also be subject to the provisions of the listing agreements signed with the Stock Exchange. In order to meet our financial control and disclosure obligations, significant resources and management supervision will be required. As a result, management’s attention may be diverted from other business concerns, which could have an adverse effect on our business and operations. There can be no assurance that we will be able to satisfy our reporting obligations and/or readily determine and report any changes to our results of operations in a timely manner as other listed companies. In addition, we will need to increase the strength of our management team and hire additional legal and accounting staff with appropriate public company experience and accounting knowledge and we cannot assure that we will be able to do so in a timely manner. Failure of our Company to meet the listing requirements of stock exchange could lead to imposition of huge penalties, if any including suspension of trading, imposed by Stock Exchange.

- 57. Our ability to pay dividends in the future will depend upon our future earnings, financial condition, cash flows, working capital requirements, capital expenditure and restrictive covenants in our financing arrangements.

We may retain all our future earnings, if any, for use in the operations and expansion of our business. As a result, we may not declare dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future determination as to the declaration and payment of dividends will be at the discretion of our Board of Directors and will depend on factors that our Board of Directors deem relevant, including among others, our results of operations financial condition, cash requirements, business prospects and any other financing arrangements.

Additionally, we may not be permitted to declare any dividends under the loan financing arrangement that our Company may enter into future, if there is a default under such loan agreements or unless our Company has paid all the dues to the lender up to the date on which the dividend is declared or paid or has made satisfactory provisions thereof. Accordingly, realization of a gain on shareholders investments may largely depend upon the appreciation of the price of our Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that our Equity Shares will appreciate in value.

58. Any future issuance of Equity Shares may dilute your shareholdings, and sale of the Equity Shares by our major shareholders may adversely affect the trading price of our Equity Shares.

Our growth is dependent on having a strong balance sheet to support our activities. In addition to the internally generated cash flow, we may need other sources of financing to meet our capital needs which may include entering into new debt facilities with lending institutions or raising additional equity in the capital markets. We may need to raise additional capital from time to time, depending on business conditions. The factors that would require us to raise additional capital could be business growth beyond what the current balance sheet can sustain; additional capital requirements imposed due to changes in regulatory regime or significant depletion in our existing capital base due to unusual operating losses. Any fresh offer of shares or convertible securities would dilute existing holders, and such issuance may not be done at terms and conditions, which are favorable to the then existing shareholders of our Company. If our Company decides to raise additional funds through the incurrence of debt, our interest obligations will increase, and we may be subject to additional covenants, which could further limit our ability to access cash flows from our operations. Such financings could cause our debt-to-equity ratio to increase or require us to create charges or lines on our assets in favour of lenders. We cannot assure you that we will be able to secure adequate financing in the future on acceptable terms, in time, or at all. Our failure to obtain sufficient financing could result in the delay or abandonment of our expansion plans. Our business and future results of operations may be affected if we are unable to implement our expansion strategy.

Any issuance of Equity Shares by our Company may dilute the shareholding of investors in our Company; and hence affect the trading price of our Company's Equity Shares and its ability to raise capital through an issue of its securities. In addition, any perception by investors that such issuances or sales might occur could also affect the trading price of our Company's Equity Shares. Additionally, the disposal, pledge or encumbrance of Equity Shares by any of our Company's major shareholders, or the perception that such transactions may occur may affect the trading price of the Equity Shares. No assurance may be given that our Company will not issue Equity Shares or that such shareholders will not dispose of, pledge or encumber their Equity Shares in the future.

59. There is no monitoring agency appointed by Our Company to monitor the utilization of the Issue proceeds.

As per SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, 2018, as amended, appointment of monitoring agency is required only for Issue size above ₹ 5,000.00 Lakhs. Hence, we have not appointed any monitoring agency to monitor the utilization of Issue proceeds. However, the audit committee of our Board will monitor the utilization of Issue proceeds in terms of SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015. Further, our Company shall inform about material deviations in the utilization of Issue proceeds to the stock exchange and shall also simultaneously make the material deviations / adverse comments of the audit committee public.

60. We encounter competition from both domestic and international markets, and our inability to compete effectively could materially and adversely affect our business and results of operations.

In our line of business, competition is driven by several factors including pricing, customer relationships, product quality, customization, and innovation. We face significant pricing pressures from customers who aim to produce their products at competitive costs, as well as from competitors who may source raw materials at lower prices or offer more favorable pricing terms. We cannot guarantee that we will always be able to meet these pricing pressures, which could negatively impact our profitability. Additionally, some of our competitors possess greater financial resources, advanced research and technological capabilities, larger sales and marketing teams, and a more established market presence. These advantages may allow them to better identify and respond to market trends, innovate more rapidly, and offer competitive pricing due to economies of scale. Moreover, their ability to ensure consistent product quality and regulatory compliance could further challenge our position in the market. If we are unable to effectively compete with these companies, our business, financial condition, and results of operations could be adversely affected.

61. The investors may not be able to sell immediately on an Indian stock exchange any of the Equity Shares they acquire in the Issue, in case of delay in receipt of Listing and Trading approval.

We have applied to NSE to use its name as the Stock Exchange in this issue document for listing our shares on Emerge Platform of NSE in listing the Equity Shares on the NSE Emerge. Any delay in obtaining the approval would restrict your ability to dispose of your Equity Shares.

62. You may be subject to Indian taxes arising out of capital gains on sale of Equity Shares.

Under the current Indian Income Tax provisions, all transactions of purchase and sales of securities on Indian stock exchanges are subject to levy of securities transaction tax (STT) which will be collected by respective stock exchange on which the securities are transacted. Accordingly, the Indian Income Tax Act has special capital gains tax provisions for all transactions of purchase and sale of equity shares carried out on the Indian Stock Exchanges. Under the current Indian Income Tax provisions, unless specifically exempted, capital gains arising from the sale of equity shares in an Indian company are generally taxable in India.

63. Shareholder's ability to sell, or the price at which it can sell, Equity Shares at a particular point in time.

Once listed, we would be subject to circuit breakers imposed by Stock Exchange, which does not allow transactions beyond specified increases or decreases in the price of the Equity Shares. This circuit breaker operates independently of the index-based market-wide circuit breakers generally imposed by SEBI on Indian stock exchanges. The percentage limit on circuit breakers is set by the stock exchanges based on the historical volatility in the price and trading volume of the Equity Shares. This circuit breaker limits the upward and downward movements in the price of the Equity Shares. As a result of this circuit breaker, no assurance may be given regarding your ability to sell your Equity Shares or the price at which you may be able to sell your Equity Shares at any particular time.

64. After this Issue, the price of our Equity Shares may be volatile, or an active trading market for our Equity Shares may not be sustained.

Prior to this Issue, there has been no public market for our Equity Shares, and an active trading market may not develop or be sustained upon the completion of this Issue. The initial public offering price of the Equity Shares offered hereby was determined through our discussions with the BRLM and may not be indicative of the market price of the Equity Shares after this Issue. The market price of our Equity Shares after this Issue will be subject to significant fluctuations in response to, among other factors:

- variations in our operating results and the performance of our business;
- regulatory developments in our target markets affecting us, our customers, or our competitors;
- changes in financial estimates by securities research analysts;
- addition or loss of executive officers or key employees;
- loss of one or more significant customers;
- the performance of the Indian and global economy;
- significant developments in India's economic liberalization and deregulation policies, and the fiscal regime;
- volatility in the Indian and global securities markets;
- performance of our competitors and perception in the Indian market about investment in our industry; and
- adverse media reports, if any, on our Company, or the industry.

Many of these factors are beyond our control. There has been volatility in the Indian stock markets and our share price could fluctuate significantly as a result of such volatility in the future. There can be no assurance that an active trading market for our Equity Shares will develop or be sustained after this Issue, or that the price at which our Equity Shares are initially offered will correspond to the prices at which they will trade in the market subsequent to this Issue

65. We are subject to governmental regulation and we may incur material liabilities under, or costs in order to comply with, existing or future laws and regulation, and our failure to comply may result in enforcements, recalls, and other adverse actions.

Our business is required to comply with different regulations and laws, and till now we have complied with the same, but there is high probability of change in laws and regulations in the continuous evolving highly volatile industry of our,

and there are chances that in future due to unanticipated and unavoidable reasons we may not be able to comply with such rules and regulations and in that case it may result into authorities taking stringent actions against our business, which may lead to delays and laches in completion of our customer's orders, negatively affecting our finances, and may even lead to closure of our business for a short or long period of time.

We have to adhere with certain environment and other statutory requirements and in future at any point of time if due to change in any of the laws including the one's mentioned above, we are not able to comply with such future regulations, it may lead to litigation and which may incur us heavy costs and therefore will impact our financial condition. Apart from that there will be reputational damage of our business as well in such cases which is sometimes irreparable and may hamper our relations with our customers. We are dedicated towards being compliant with all the regulations and laws to avoid any kind of delays or operational and financial problems that may occur in future due to non-compliance with any existing or future laws or regulations.

66. Applicants to this Issue are not allowed to withdraw their Applications after the Issue Closing Date.

In terms of the SEBI (ICDR) Regulations, Applicants in this Issue are not allowed to withdraw their Applications after the Issue Closing Date. The Allotment in this Issue and the credit of such Equity Shares to the Applicant's demat account with its depository participant shall be completed within such period as prescribed under the applicable laws. There is no assurance, however, that material adverse changes in the international or national monetary, financial, political or economic conditions or other events in the nature of force majeure, material adverse changes in our business, results of operation or financial condition, or other events affecting the Applicant's decision to invest in the Equity Shares, would not arise between the Issue Closing Date and the date of Allotment in this Issue. Occurrence of any such events after the Issue Closing Date could also impact the market price of our Equity Shares. The Applicants shall not have the right to withdraw their applications in the event of any such occurrence. We cannot assure you that the market price of the Equity Shares will not decline below the Issue Price. To the extent the market price for the Equity Shares declines below the Issue Price after the Issue Closing Date, the shareholder will be required to purchase Equity Shares at a price that will be higher than the actual market price of the Equity Shares at that time. Should that occur, the shareholder will suffer an immediate unrealized loss as a result. We may complete the Allotment even if such events may limit the Applicants' ability to sell our Equity Shares after this Issue or cause the trading price of our Equity Shares to decline.

67. Foreign investors may be restricted in their ability to purchase or sell Equity Shares.

Under foreign exchange regulations currently in force in India, transfers of shares between non-residents and residents are freely permitted (subject to certain exceptions) if they comply with the pricing and reporting requirements specified by the RBI or in the alternate, the pricing is in compliance with the extant provisions of SEBI ICDR Regulations. If the transfer of shares is not in compliance with such pricing or reporting requirements and does not fall under any of the exceptions referred to above, then the prior approval of the RBI will be required. Additionally, shareholders who seek to convert Rupee proceeds from a sale of shares in India into foreign currency and repatriate that foreign currency from India will require a no objection or a tax clearance certificate from the income tax authority. We cannot assure that any required approval from the RBI or any other government agency can be obtained on any particular terms or at all.

68. Rights of shareholders under Indian law may be more limited than under the laws of other jurisdictions.

The Companies Act and its related regulations, the Articles of Association, and the Listing Agreements to be entered into with the Stock Exchange govern the corporate affairs of the Company. The Legal principles relating to these matters and the validity of corporate procedures, directors' fiduciary duties and liabilities, and shareholders' rights may differ from those that would apply to a company in another jurisdiction. Shareholders' rights under Indian law may not be as extensive as shareholders' rights under the laws of other countries or jurisdictions. Investors may have more difficulty in asserting their rights as a shareholder than as a shareholder of a corporation in another jurisdiction.

69. Our Equity Shares are quoted in Indian Rupees in India, and therefore investors may be subject to potential losses arising out of exchange rate risk on the Indian Rupee and risks associated with the conversion of Indian Rupee proceeds into foreign currency.

Investors are subject to currency fluctuation risk and convertibility risk since the Equity Shares are quoted in Indian Rupees on the Indian stock exchanges on which they are listed. Dividends on the Equity Shares will also be paid in Indian Rupees. The volatility of the Indian Rupee against the U.S. dollar and other currencies subjects investors who convert funds into Indian Rupees to purchase our Equity Shares to currency fluctuation risks.

External Risk Factors

70. The COVID-19 pandemic, or any future pandemic or widespread public health emergency, could materially and adversely impact our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations.

In late 2019, COVID-19 emerged and by March 11, 2020 was declared a global pandemic by The World Health Organization. Governments and municipalities around the world instituted measures in an effort to control the spread of COVID-19, including quarantines, shelter-in-place orders, school closings, travel restrictions, lock down of cities and closure of non-essential businesses. By the end of March, the macroeconomic impacts became significant, exhibited by, among other things, a rise in unemployment and market volatility. The outbreak of COVID-19 in many countries, including India, the United Kingdom and the United States, has significantly and adversely impacted economic activity and has contributed to significant volatility and negative pressure in financial markets, and it is possible that the outbreak of COVID-19 will cause a prolonged global economic crisis, recession or depression, despite monetary and fiscal interventions by governments and central banks globally. On March 24, 2020, the Government of India ordered a national lockdown in response to the spread of COVID-19. Although some governments are beginning to ease or lift these restrictions, the impacts from the severe disruptions caused by the effective shutdown of large segments of the global economy remain unknown and no prediction can be made of when any of the restrictions currently in place will be relaxed or expire, or whether or when further restrictions will be announced.

The outbreak, or threatened outbreak, of any severe communicable disease (particularly COVID-19) could materially adversely affect overall business sentiment and environment, particularly if such outbreak is inadequately controlled. The spread of any severe communicable disease may also adversely affect the operations of our clients and service providers, which could adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations. The outbreak of COVID-19 has resulted in authorities implementing several measures such as travel bans and restrictions, quarantines, shelter in place orders, and shutdowns. These measures have impacted and may further impact our workforce and operations, the operations of our clients, and those of our respective service providers. There is currently substantial medical uncertainty regarding COVID-19. A rapid increase in severe cases and deaths where measures taken by governments fail or are lifted prematurely, may cause significant economic disruption in India and in the rest of the world. The scope, duration and frequency of such measures and the adverse effects of COVID-19 remain uncertain and could be severe. If any of our employees were suspected of contracting COVID-19 or any other epidemic disease, this could require us to quarantine some or all of these employees or disinfect the facilities used for our operations. In addition, our revenue and profitability could be impacted to the extent that a natural disaster, health epidemic or other outbreak harms the Indian and global economy in general.

The outbreak has significantly increased economic uncertainty. It is likely that the current outbreak or continued spread of COVID-19 will cause an economic slowdown and it is possible that it could cause a global recession. The spread of COVID-19 has caused us to modify our business practices (including employee travel, employee work locations, and cancellation of physical participation in meetings, events and conferences), and we may take further actions as may be required by government authorities or that we determine are in the best interests of our employees, customers, partners, and suppliers. There is no certainty that such measures will be sufficient to mitigate the risks posed by the outbreak, and our ability to perform critical functions could be harmed. The extent to which the COVID-19 further impacts our results will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted, including new information which may emerge concerning the severity of the coronavirus and the actions taken globally to contain the coronavirus or treat its impact, among others. Existing insurance coverage may not provide protection for all costs that may arise from all such possible events. The degree to which COVID-19 impacts our results will depend on future developments, which are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted, including, but not limited to, the duration and spread of the outbreak, its severity, the actions taken to contain the outbreak or treat its impact, and how quickly and to what extent normal economic and operating conditions can resume. The above risks can threaten the safe operation of our facilities and cause disruption of operational activities, environmental harm, loss of life, injuries and impact the wellbeing of our people.

Further in case the lockdown is extended, it could result in muted economic growth or give rise to a recessionary economic scenario, in India and globally, which could adversely affect the business, prospects, results of operations and financial condition of our Company. The full extent to which the COVID-19 pandemic, or any future pandemic or widespread public health emergency impacts our business, operations and financial results will depend on numerous evolving factors that we may not be able to accurately predict, including: the scope, severity, and duration of the pandemic; actions taken by governments, business and individuals in response to the pandemic; the effect on customer demand for and ability to pay for our products; the impact on our capital expenditure; disruptions or restrictions on our employees' and suppliers' ability to work and travel; any extended period of remote work arrangements; and strain on our or our customers' business continuity plans, and resultant operational risk.

71. A slowdown in economic growth in India could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows.

We are dependent on domestic, regional and global economic and market conditions. Our performance, growth and market price of our Equity Shares are and will be dependent to a large extent on the health of the economy in which we operate. There have been periods of slowdown in the economic growth of India. Demand for our products may be adversely affected by an economic downturn in domestic, regional and global economies. Economic growth in the country in which we operate is affected by various factors including domestic consumption and savings, balance of trade movements, namely export demand and movements in key imports of materials, global economic uncertainty and liquidity crisis, volatility in exchange currency rates, and annual rainfall which affects agricultural production. Consequently, any future slowdown in the Indian economy could harm our business, results of operations, financial condition and cash flows. Also, a change in the government or a change in the economic and deregulation policies could adversely affect economic conditions prevalent in the areas in which we operate in general and our business in particular and high rates of inflation in India could increase our costs without proportionately increasing our revenues, and as such decrease our operating margin.

72. Our business may be adversely affected by protectionist trade measures, reciprocal tariffs, and shifts in global trade policies, particularly in the United States, which could impact our raw material procurement costs and export competitiveness.

We are exposed to changes in global trade policies, tariff regimes, and protectionist measures. The U.S. government has recently introduced reciprocal tariffs ranging from 10% to 50% on imports from trade partners, including India. These tariffs are levied at rates that are directly linked to the duties imposed by the trade partner on U.S. exports. Such reciprocal tariffs, combined with earlier-imposed duties, have created a higher cumulative duty burden on international trade flows. While it is unclear whether these tariffs are temporary negotiating tools or part of long-term industrial strategy, they introduce uncertainty in pricing, sourcing, and trade relationships.

If such tariffs remain in place or are increased further, our Company could face higher procurement costs for fibres sourced from the United States. This may adversely impact our input cost structure, profitability, and working capital requirements. Additionally, if our exports to the U.S. or U.S.-linked customers become less competitive due to higher tariffs, our sales volumes may be affected. These risks are beyond our control, as they depend on international trade policies, bilateral relations, and government negotiations.

While we take measures to diversify our supplier base and markets, there is no assurance that we will be able to fully mitigate the adverse effects of such reciprocal tariffs or other protectionist measures. Any sustained imposition of tariffs or adverse trade policies could materially affect our procurement costs, margins, and global competitiveness, and may adversely impact our business, results of operations, and financial condition.

73. Changing laws, rules and regulations and legal uncertainties, including adverse application of tax laws, may adversely affect our business and financial performance.

Our business and financial performance could be adversely affected by unfavorable changes in or interpretations of existing, or the promulgation of new laws, rules and regulations applicable to us and our business. Please refer to “Key Industry Regulations and Policies” on page 186 for details of the laws currently applicable to us.

There can be no assurance that the Government of India may not implement new regulations and policies which will require us to obtain approvals and licenses from the Government of India and other regulatory bodies or impose onerous requirements and conditions on our operations. Our Company will comply with relevant regulations as and when applicable. However, any such changes and the related uncertainties with respect to the applicability, interpretation and implementation of any amendment to, or change to governing laws, regulation or policy in the jurisdictions in which we operate may have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations. In addition, we may have to incur expenditures to comply with the requirements of any new regulations, which may also materially harm our results of operations. Any unfavourable changes to the laws and regulations applicable to us could also subject us to additional liabilities.

GST has been implemented with effect from July 1, 2017 and has replaced the indirect taxes on goods and services such as central excise duty, service tax, central sales tax, state VAT and surcharge being collected by the central and state governments. The GST has led to increase tax incidence and administrative compliance. Any future amendments may affect our overall tax efficiency, and may result in significant additional taxes becoming payable.

Further, the general anti avoidance rules (“GAAR”) provisions have been made effective from assessment year 2018-19 onwards, i.e.; financial Year 2017-18 onwards and the same may get triggered once transactions are undertaken to avoid tax. The consequences of the GAAR provisions being applied to an arrangement could result in denial of tax benefit amongst other consequences. In the absence of any precedents on the subject, the application of these provisions is uncertain.

The application of various Indian tax laws, rules and regulations to our business, currently or in the future, is subject to interpretation by the applicable taxation authorities. If such tax laws, rules and regulations are amended, new adverse laws, rules or regulations are adopted or current laws are interpreted adversely to our interests, the results could increase our tax payments (prospectively or retrospectively) and/or subject us to penalties. Further, changes in capital gains tax or tax on capital market transactions or sale of shares could affect investor returns. As a result, any such changes or interpretations could have an adverse effect on our business and financial performance.

74. Our growth and profitability depend on the level of consumer confidence and spending in India.

Our growth and profitability are significantly influenced by the level of consumer confidence and spending, in India. Consumer confidence directly affects purchasing behavior, and any downturn in economic conditions or reduced consumer spending can impact our sales and revenue.

The Indian market is pivotal to our business. Fluctuations in consumer confidence, driven by economic conditions, employment rates, or political factors, can affect discretionary spending on fashion and apparel. A decline in consumer confidence may lead to reduced spending on non-essential items, impacting on our sales volumes and profitability.

75. Inflation in India could have an adverse effect on our profitability and if significant, on our financial condition.

Inflation is typically impacted by factors such as governmental policies, regulations, commodity prices, liquidity and global economic environment. Any change in the government or a change in the economic and deregulation policies could adversely affect the inflation rates. Continued high rates of inflation may increase our costs such as salaries, travel costs and related allowances, which are typically linked to general price levels. There can be no assurance that we will be able to pass on any additional costs to our clients or that our revenue will increase proportionately corresponding to such inflation. Accordingly, high rates of inflation in India could have an adverse effect on our profitability and, if significant, on our financial condition.

76. Any downgrading of India's debt rating by an independent agency may harm our ability to raise financing.

Any adverse revisions to India's credit ratings for domestic and international debt by domestic or international rating agencies may adversely affect our ability to raise additional financing and the interest rates and other commercial terms at which such additional financing is available. This could have an adverse effect on our capital expenditure plans, business and financial performance and the price of our Equity Shares.

- 77. *We have not prepared, and currently do not intend to prepare, our financial statements in accordance with the International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRS”). Our transition to IFRS reporting could have a material adverse effect on our reported results of operations or financial condition.

Public companies in India, including us, may be required to prepare annual and interim financial statements under IFRS in accordance with the roadmap for convergence with IFRS announced by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, Government of India through a press note dated January 22, 2010 (the “IFRS Convergence Note”). The Ministry of Corporate Affairs by a press release dated February 25, 2011 has notified that 35 Indian Accounting Standards are to be converged with IFRS. The date of implementation of such converged Indian accounting standards has not yet been determined. Our financial condition, results of operations, cash flows or changes in shareholders’ equity may appear materially different under IFRS than under Indian GAAP or our adoption of converged Indian Accounting Standards may adversely affect our reported results of operations or financial condition. This may have a material adverse effect on the amount of income recognized during that period and in the corresponding (restated) period in the comparative Fiscal/period.

- 78. *Financial difficulty and other problems in certain long-term lending institutions and investment institutions in India could have a negative impact on our business.

We are exposed to the risks of the Indian financial system which may be affected by the financial difficulties faced by certain Indian financial institutions because the commercial soundness of many financial institutions may be closely related as a result of credit, trading, clearing or other relationships. This risk, which is referred to as “systemic risk,” may adversely affect financial intermediaries, such as clearing agencies, banks, securities firms and exchanges with whom we interact on a daily basis. Our transactions with these financial institutions expose us to credit risk in the event of default by the counter party, which can be exacerbated during periods of market illiquidity. As the Indian financial system operates within an emerging market, we face risks of a nature and extent not typically faced in more developed economies, including the risk of deposit runs notwithstanding the existence of a national deposit insurance scheme. The problems faced by individual Indian financial institutions and any instability in or difficulties faced by the Indian financial system generally could create adverse market perception about Indian financial institutions and banks. This in turn could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

- 79. *Foreign investors are subject to foreign investment restrictions under Indian law that limits our ability to attract foreign investors, which may adversely impact the market price of the Equity Shares.

Under the foreign exchange regulations currently in force in India, transfers of shares between non-residents and residents are freely permitted (subject to certain exceptions) if they comply with the pricing guidelines and reporting requirements specified by the RBI. If the transfer of shares, which are sought to be transferred, is not in compliance with such pricing guidelines or reporting requirements or fall under any of the exceptions referred to above, then the prior approval of the RBI will be required. Additionally, shareholders who seek to convert the Rupee proceeds from a sale of shares in India into foreign currency and repatriate that foreign currency from India will require a no objection/ tax clearance certificate from the income tax authority. There can be no assurance that any approval required from the RBI or any other government agency can be obtained on any particular terms or at all.

- 80. *Political instability or changes in the Government could adversely affect economic conditions in India generally and our business in particular.

Our business, and the market price and liquidity of our Equity Shares, may be affected by interest rates, changes in Government policy, taxation, social and civil unrest and other political, economic or other developments in or affecting India. Elimination or substantial change of policies or the introduction of policies that negatively affect the Company’s business could cause its results of operations to suffer. Any significant change in India’s economic policies could disrupt business and economic conditions in India generally and the Company’s business in particular.

- 81. *Terrorist attacks, civil unrests and other acts of violence or war involving India or other countries could adversely affect the financial markets, our business, financial condition and the price of our Equity Shares.

India has historically experienced episodes of terrorism, military conflict, and geopolitical tensions, particularly with neighbouring countries. Most recently, on April 22, 2025, a terrorist attack in Pahalgam, Jammu and Kashmir resulted in the death of 26 civilians. In response, India launched Operation Sindoor on May 7, 2025, targeting terrorist infrastructure in Pakistan, including the neutralization of drones across Gujarat and Rajasthan.

India's geopolitical environment remains sensitive. Tensions with Pakistan, particularly regarding border security and terrorism, continue to pose risks. For example, in February 2019, hostilities escalated following the Pulwama terrorist attack and subsequent military retaliation, including air strikes and the downing of fighter aircraft. Any similar future escalations—especially in regions linked to agricultural production or export logistics—could disrupt trade, destabilize currency, impair investor sentiment, and adversely affect economic activity.

Any major hostilities involving India or other acts of violence, including civil unrest or similar events that are beyond our control, could have a material adverse effect on India's economy and our business. Incidents such as the Mumbai terrorist attacks and other acts of violence may adversely affect the Indian stock markets where our Equity Shares will trade as well the global equity markets generally. Such acts could negatively impact business sentiment as well as trade between countries, which could adversely affect our Company's business and profitability. Additionally, such events could have a material adverse effect on the market for securities of Indian companies, including the Equity Shares.

While we maintain risk mitigation and continuity measures, we cannot assure that such incidents will not materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, or results of operations in the future.

82. Our business and results of operations could be adversely affected by disruptions in global economic and geo political conditions.

As substantially all of our operations are dependent on our customers who have their head offices or parent companies situated outside India, our financial performance and growth are necessarily dependent on economic conditions prevalent globally. The global economy may be materially and adversely affected by political instability or regional conflicts; a general rise in interest rates; inflation; exchange rate fluctuations; changes in tax, trade, and monetary policies; occurrence of natural or man-made disasters; downgrade in debt rating; and adverse economic conditions occurring elsewhere in the world, such as a slowdown in economic growth in China, the repercussions of the United Kingdom exit from the European Union and other matters. While the Indian economy has grown significantly in recent years, it has experienced economic slowdowns in the past due to global economic and geo political conditions. The Indian economy in particular could be adversely impacted by inflationary pressures, currency depreciation, the poor performance of its large agricultural and manufacturing sectors, trade deficits, recent initiatives by the Indian government and other factors. Unfavorable changes in the above factors or in other business and economic conditions affecting our customers could result in a corresponding decline in our business

83. Investors may be adversely affected due to retrospective tax law changes made by the GoI affecting us.

Certain recent changes to the Income Tax Act provide that income arising directly or indirectly through the sale of a capital asset of an offshore company, including shares, will be subject to tax in India, if such shares derive indirectly or directly their value substantially from assets located in India. The term "substantially" has not been defined under the Income Tax Act and therefore, the applicability and implications of these changes are largely unclear. Due to these recent changes, investors may be subject to Indian income taxes on the income arising directly or indirectly through the sale of the Equity Shares. In the past, there have been instances where changes in the Income Tax Act have been made retrospectively and to that extent, there cannot be an assurance that such retrospective changes will not happen again.

84. If certain labour laws become applicable to us, our profitability may be adversely affected.

India has stringent labour legislations that protect the interests of workers, including legislation that sets forth detailed procedures for dispute resolution and employee removal and legislation that imposes certain financial obligations on employers upon retrenchment. Any change or modification in the existing labour laws may affect our flexibility in formulating labour-related policies.

Our Company proposes to utilise the IPO proceeds for the enhancement of existing facilities through installation of modern machinery and the addition of an aluminium wire ROD manufacturing unit. This investment is designed to significantly expand our overall production capability. As certified by an B.P. OZA & Associates, independent chartered engineer through its report dated September 21, 2025 the total installed capacity is projected to increase to approximately 30,000 MT including our existing current capacity of 6,000 MT.

The enhanced capacity will be structured as follows:

- a) Aluminium Products – 15,000 MT : Our Aluminium product line is dedicated to manufacturing high-purity Aluminium and specialised de-oxidizers for a wide range of industries. It includes high-purity Aluminium ingots, with an approximate purity of 98% and a standard weight of 18–20 kilograms each; Aluminium alloy ingots, composed of aluminium, silicon, and copper, weighing about 5–7 kilograms per piece; notch bars, Aluminium-based de-oxidizers for steel and alloy processing, typically weighing 1–2 kilograms; cubes, compact Aluminium de-oxidizers ranging from 100 to 200 grams; and shots, granular Aluminium de-oxidizers sized between 5 and 20 millimetres, designed for precision dosing in controlled applications.
- b) Aluminium Wire Manufacturing – 15,000 MT : A dedicated Aluminium wire manufacturing unit will be established with an annual installed capacity of 15,000 metric tons. The facility will incorporate a carefully planned layout and a mix of automated and semi-automated equipment to optimize throughput and maintain consistent quality. Core processes will include continuous casting, rolling, and wire drawing, supported by advanced temperature-control and surface-treatment systems to ensure uniformity and strength across product grades. This unit will focus on producing a wide range of Aluminium wires—spanning electrical-grade conductors, automotive wiring, and specialized products for infrastructure projects—meeting both domestic and emerging market requirements. Its design emphasizes energy efficiency, operational safety, and scalability, allowing the Company to align production with customer demand while maintaining high environmental and quality standards.
- c) Continuation of Existing Production – 6,000 MT:- Alongside the new capacities, our current facility with an installed capacity of 6,000 MT per annum will continue to operate, ensuring uninterrupted production of existing Aluminium products and supporting our long-standing customer base.

The proposed Aluminium recycling and wire-manufacturing facilities will incorporate advanced equipment, combining automated and semi-automated systems. Key technologies will include high-efficiency shredding, state-of-the-art separation units, and automated melting, casting, and wire-drawing lines—designed to maximise recovery rates, maintain purity, and ensure consistent delivery of quality recycled aluminium at scale.

This strategic capital investment will significantly strengthen our competitiveness within Gujarat, enabling us to supply premium recycled aluminium products to industries such as packaging, automotive, construction, and consumer goods. While the initial focus will remain on meeting demand in Gujarat, the project has been designed with scalability in mind, allowing expansion into other Indian states as opportunities arise, supporting the rising demand for sustainable and eco-friendly materials.

*Project Report dated September 10, 2025, prepared by B.P. OZA & Associates, an Independent Chartered Engineer, in support of the proposed project implementation.

Proposed Production Capacity:

Presuming 300 operating days in a year, the installed production capacity of the unit is proposed to increase from the existing 6,000 MT per annum to 30,000 MT per annum through a two-phase expansion plan.

1. In the first phase of expansion, an additional 8,000 MT of capacity is assumed to become operational from January 2026, taking the effective installed capacity in FY 2025–26 to 14,000 MT by end of year.
2. In the second phase of expansion, a further 16,000 MT of capacity is proposed to become operational from July 2026, resulting in the full installed capacity of 30,000 MT per annum from FY 2026–27 onwards.

Accordingly, the capacity utilization and projected production volumes are as follows:

Sr. No.	Year of Operation	Current Capacity (MT)	Utilization of Capacity (%)	Current Production	Extended Capacity (MT)	Utilisation of Extended Capacity (%)	Projected Production (MT)^	Projected Total Production (MT)^
1	2025–26	6,000 ^s	70%	4,200	8,000	16.25*	1,300	5,500
2	2026–27	14,000	70%	9,800	16,000	65.00 [#]	7,800	17,600
3	2027–28	30,000	70%	21,000	-	-	-	21,000

^sOur proposed installed capacity included 6000 MT current

*Utilization capacity considers for 3 months from January 2026 to March 2026

[#] Utilization capacity considers for 9 months from July 2026 to March 2027

[^]Explanation of Working: The estimated production capacity of the Company has been worked out in phases, considering both the existing and proposed capacities, as well as the period of availability and the expected utilisation levels. For FY 2025–26, the Company will continue to operate its existing 6,000 MT capacity at an estimated 70% utilisation, translating into 4,200 MT. In addition, the new 8,000 MT capacity, which will only be operational for approximately three months during this year, has been annualised at an effective utilisation of 16.25%, contributing around 1,300 MT. Accordingly, the total effective capacity for FY 2025–26 is expected to be 5,500 MT. For FY 2026–27, the existing capacity will increase to 14,000 MT, which at 70% utilisation will yield 9,800 MT. Alongside, an additional 16,000 MT capacity, available for nine months of the year and operated at 65% utilisation, will contribute around 7,800 MT. This results in an estimated total capacity of 17,600 MT for the year. From FY 2027–28 onwards, once the full planned capacity of 30,000 MT becomes operational, it is expected to run at 70% utilisation, leading to an effective capacity of 21,000 MT on a sustainable basis.

The Raw Material Days stood at ~29 in FY 2023, ~40 in FY 2024, and ~52 in FY 2025. The increase in inventory holding is attributable to the Company's strategy of maintaining adequate stock to cater to unforeseen demand requirements, as well as its practice of procuring raw materials in bulk whenever favorable pricing opportunities are available, considering the significant volatility in metal prices. The company forecasts the RM days to reduce it to ~50 days in FY 2026 & ~45 days in FY 2027. Finished Goods Inventory days is calculated by dividing the cost of material consumed by closing raw materials, multiplied by the number of days in a year. The finished goods days stood at ~5 in FY 2023, ~5 in FY 2024, and ~3 in FY 2025. The company forecasts the same to ~3 days in FY 2026 & FY 2027.

The total estimated cost towards Total estimated cost towards Enhancement of Existing Facilities through New Machinery and Addition of an Aluminium Wire ROD Manufacturing Unit at Dehgam, Gujarat is (₹ 1,102.66 lakhs, out of which ₹ 649.59 lakhs has been funded through a loan sanctioned by Small Industries Development Bank of India (“SIDBI”) vide sanction letter dated August 29, 2024 and 150.00 from internal Accruals. The balance amount of ₹303.07 lakhs is proposed to be funded from the Net Proceeds of the Issue. Further, in compliance with Regulation 230(1)(e) of the SEBI ICDR Regulations, as amended, firm arrangements of finance have been made through the above-mentioned sanction letter issued by SIDBI, covering at least 75% of the total means of finance for the said object, excluding the amount proposed to be raised through the Issue and existing identifiable internal accruals.

The details of the verifiable means of finance are provided below:

Particulars	Details of financing arrangement
Date of Sanction Letter	August 29, 2024
Sanctioned Amount	₹ 649.59 Lakhs
Rate of Interest	Interest will be at the rate of 0.45% above SIDB’s one year Marginal Cost of Funds-based Lending Rate (MCLR) (presently being 8.4%) rising or falling therewith, with Monthly rests.
Repayment Terms	54 monthly instalments after a moratorium period of 9 months from the date of first disbursement of the loan.

Subject to applicable law, if the actual utilization towards the Objects is lower than the proposed deployment, such balance will be used for general corporate purposes to the extent that the total amount to be utilized towards general corporate purposes will not exceed 15% of the Gross Proceeds or Rs 10 Crores in accordance with Regulation 230(2) of the SEBI ICDR Regulations. In case of a shortfall in raising the requisite capital from the Net Proceeds or an increase in the total estimated cost of the Objects, business considerations may require us to explore a range of options including utilizing our internal accruals and seeking additional debt from existing and/or future lenders. We believe that such alternate arrangements would be available to fund any such shortfalls. Further, in case of variations in the actual utilization of funds earmarked for the purpose set forth above, increased funding requirements for a particular purpose may be financed by surplus funds, if any, available in respect of other purposes for which funds are being raised in the Fresh Issue. Any variation in the utilization of the Net Proceeds as disclosed in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus shall be subject to certain compliance requirements, including prior approval of the shareholders of our Company. The Objects may be varied in the manner provided in “Objects of the Issue – Variation in Objects” on page 122.

Our past expenditure may not necessarily reflect our future investment plans. We may be required to adjust estimated costs, fund allocations, or overall funding requirements owing to factors such as global and domestic aluminium market trends, fluctuations in raw material prices, economic conditions, increased competition, or other external factors beyond the control of our management. These circumstances may necessitate rescheduling or revising planned capital expenditure and funding requirements, including allocations for specific purposes, at the discretion of the Company’s management.

1 Executive Summary

The global non-ferrous metal industry is a critical enabler of industrial manufacturing and infrastructure, covering aluminium, copper, zinc, nickel, lead, and specialty alloys. These metals, valued for properties such as light weight, corrosion resistance, and conductivity. The sector is witnessing a structural shift toward circularity and recycling, driven by rising demand for sustainable materials, stricter ESG mandates, and resource security concerns amid ore price volatility and supply chain disruptions. Advanced technologies—such as AI-enabled scrap segregation, modern induction furnaces, and blockchain-enabled traceability—are reshaping operational efficiency and supply chain transparency. Asia-Pacific leads the market.

The non-ferrous metals industry presents a compelling long-term opportunity, underpinned by its critical role in global industrialization, urbanization, and the transition toward a low-carbon economy. Globally, the industry is on a steady growth path, supported by structural demand from sectors such as construction, automotive, aerospace, renewable energy, and consumer electronics. The increasing emphasis on sustainability and circular economy practices is further accelerating demand for recycled metals, with countries tightening regulations on carbon emissions and incentivizing green materials.

In India, the opportunity is even more pronounced. With rapid infrastructure development, expansion of the automobile sector, and strong policy thrust towards electric vehicles and renewable energy, demand for non-ferrous metals is expected to rise sharply. Government initiatives promoting recycling and resource efficiency position India as both a high-consumption and high-potential recycling hub. The combination of industrial demand, policy alignment, and sustainability imperatives ensures that the non-ferrous sector offers significant opportunities for long-term growth and investment.

Parmeshwar Positioning & Differentiators

Parmeshwar Recycling Limited (PRL), established in 2018, is engaged in the manufacturing of aluminium alloys, ingots, de-oxidizers, and the recycling of ferrous and non-ferrous scrap. The company distinguishes itself through ISO 9001:2015 certification, memberships with global and national industry associations such as BMR, MRAI, and Aluminium Association of India, and a strong focus on technology-driven, quality-led production. Its business model is closely aligned with circular economy principles, positioning it as a reliable B2B supplier in automotive, steel, and emerging green industries. Parmeshwar Recycling Limited has demonstrated steady topline growth, with revenues rising from ₹12,210.61 lakhs in FY 2023 to ₹15,070.44 lakhs in FY 2025, reflecting its expanding operational scale.

2 Global Macroeconomic Scenario

The global economy is projected to experience a deceleration in growth, with global GDP expanding by 2.8% in CY 2025, down from 3.3% in CY 2024. This slowdown is attributed to escalating trade tensions, particularly due to new U.S. tariffs, and heightened policy uncertainties. Global headline inflation is expected to decline to 4.3% in CY 2025 and further to 3.6% in CY 2026, as inflationary pressures ease across advanced economies, aided by tighter monetary policy, improved labour market conditions, and the resolution of supply disruptions. However, global trade growth is forecasted to slow significantly to 1.7% in CY 2025, reflecting the effects of escalating trade barriers and geopolitical instability.

In China, economic prospects remain constrained as the IMF downgraded its CY 2025 GDP growth forecast to 4.0%, due to persistent challenges in the real estate sector, weak consumer demand, and trade-related pressures. In Europe, growth is expected to stagnate, with Germany's GDP forecast at 0.0% in CY 2025, amidst trade disruptions and domestic weaknesses. The EU is actively seeking to address these challenges through renewed trade dialogue with the U.S.

Meanwhile, India continues to show resilience, with the IMF projecting stable real GDP growth of 6.2% in CY 2025, followed by a slight uptick to 6.3% in CY 2026. This is supported by robust rural consumption and sustained infrastructure investment. The IMF notes that India remains one of the fastest-growing major economies, driven by favourable demographics, expanding digital infrastructure, and rising investment activity. Consumer price inflation in India is projected to moderate to 4.2% in CY 2025, staying within the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) target range of 2–6%, which helps maintain purchasing power and economic stability. The IMF also highlights the importance of continued structural reforms in India, particularly in labour markets, logistics, and capital formation, to sustain medium-term growth momentum.

Overall, while inflation is declining globally, the economic outlook remains clouded by geopolitical uncertainty, trade fragmentation, and region-specific structural challenges. However, India's relative macroeconomic stability, demographic advantage, and ongoing investment cycle place it in a strong position amid global headwinds.

2.1 Global GDP Growth Scenario

The global economy began to recover from its lowest levels following the lifting of lockdowns in 2020 and 2021. The pandemic-induced lockdown was a key factor that severely disrupted economic activities, leading to a recession in CY 2020, where global GDP contracted by -2.7%.

In CY 2021, supply chain disruptions significantly impacted both advanced economies and low-income developing economies. The rapid spread of the Delta variant and the threat of new variants in mid-2021 further heightened uncertainty in the global economic environment.

Global economic activity saw a sharper-than-expected slowdown in CY 2022. The highest inflation in decades, observed in 2022, forced most central banks to tighten their monetary & fiscal policies. Russia's invasion of Ukraine exacerbated global food supply issues, further increasing the cost of living.

Despite initial resilience in early CY 2023, marked by a rebound from the pandemic and progress in curbing inflation from the previous year's highs, the situation remained precarious. Economic activity continued to lag its pre-pandemic trajectory, especially in emerging markets and developing economies, leading to widening regional disparities. Several factors impeded recovery, including the lasting impacts of the pandemic, geopolitical tensions, tightening monetary policies to combat inflation, reductions in fiscal support amid high debt levels, and extreme weather conditions. As a result, global growth slowed from 3.6% in CY 2022 to 3.5% in CY 2023.

The global economy maintained moderate momentum in CY 2024, with real GDP growth estimated at 3.3%, supported by easing inflationary pressures, recovering supply chains, and resilient consumer demand in some major economies. Advanced economies, particularly the U.S., benefitted from strong labour markets and improved private consumption. However, growth remained uneven across regions, with emerging markets facing tighter financial conditions and subdued export demand. Inflation declined faster than anticipated in many regions, enabling some central banks to consider gradual monetary easing by the end of the year.

2.2 Historical GDP Growth Trends

F – Forecast, Source – IMF World Economic Outlook April 2025

Note: Advanced Economies and Emerging & Developing Economies are as per the classification of the World Economic Outlook (WEO). This classification is not based on strict criteria, economic or otherwise, and it has evolved over time. It comprises of 40 countries under the Advanced Economies including the G7 (the United States, Japan, Germany, France, Italy, the United Kingdom, and Canada) and selected countries from the Euro Zone (Germany, Italy, France etc.). The group of emerging market and developing economies (156) includes all those that are not classified as Advanced Economies (India, China, Brazil, Malaysia etc.)

In the current scenario, global GDP growth is projected to decelerate to 2.8% in CY 2025, reflecting mounting economic pressures across both advanced and emerging markets. This marks a significant slowdown driven by intensifying trade fragmentation, the impact of new U.S. tariffs, and elevated geopolitical tensions. Structural weaknesses such as the ongoing real estate crisis in China, stagnant growth in the Eurozone, and tight financial conditions in major economies are expected to weigh heavily on global output. Additionally, stress in housing and banking sectors, coupled with subdued industrial activity, is contributing to a muted growth outlook. On the inflation front, the IMF projects global headline inflation to decline to 4.3% in CY 2025, continuing a disinflationary trend as energy prices stabilize and supply-side disruptions ease. The softening of labour markets—reflected in lower job vacancy rates and modest increases in unemployment—is also expected to help reduce core inflation. This provides room for some central banks to initiate cautious interest rate cuts, although the broader economic outlook remains uncertain due to persistent global risks.

2.3 GDP Growth Across Major Regions

GDP growth across major global regions—including Europe, Latin America & the Caribbean, Middle East & Central Asia, and Sub-Saharan Africa—continues to display varied trajectories. While some regions are stabilizing post-pandemic, others remain challenged by structural and cyclical issues. The global outlook presents a mixed scenario, with emerging economies continuing to outperform advanced economies.

Source-IMF World Economic Outlook April 2025 update.

In Emerging and Developing Asia, growth is projected to moderate from 5.3% in CY 2024 to 4.5% in CY 2025, before recovering slightly to 4.6% in CY 2026. India is expected to grow at 6.2% in CY 2025, supported by resilient rural consumption and sustained infrastructure investments, though lower than 6.5% growth recorded in CY 2024. In contrast, China's growth is likely to decelerate to 4.0% in CY 2025, amid persistent real estate concerns and weak domestic demand.

Sub-Saharan Africa is projected to grow at 3.8% in CY 2025, slightly below the 4.0% growth in CY 2024, with a further improvement to 4.2% in CY 2026. The recovery is being aided by improved weather conditions and better functioning supply chains.

In the Middle East and Central Asia, the economy is forecasted to expand at 3.0% in CY 2025, up from 2.4% in CY 2024, and further strengthen to 3.5% in CY 2026, driven by stabilization in oil production and ongoing economic reforms.

For Latin America and the Caribbean, modest growth of 2.0% is forecast for CY 2025, holding steady from CY 2024, with expectations of a rebound to 2.4% in CY 2026, helped by stronger macroeconomic management across key economies.

Emerging and Developing Europe remains subdued, with growth estimated at 2.1% in CY 2025, down from 3.4% in CY 2024, expected to be stable at 2.1% by CY 2026. The region continues to face structural manufacturing challenges, particularly in major economies like Germany.

Overall, while global growth is expected to remain steady, regional disparities persist, influenced by a combination of domestic challenges, external geopolitical tensions, and fluctuating commodity prices.

2.4 Global Economic Outlook

At the midpoint of the year, so far in 2025 the global economy continues to exhibit mixed performance, with divergence in outcomes across regions due to differences in economic growth, inflation dynamics, and policy responses. The global GDP growth is projected at 2.8% in CY 2025, down from an estimated 3.3% in CY 2024. While short-term prospects have improved since early 2024 due to easing inflation and gradual loosening of monetary policy in several regions, the broader environment remains challenging. Structural headwinds, such as tighter credit conditions, supply-side bottlenecks, and lingering geopolitical risks, are keeping global growth below historical averages.

The United States has continued to outperform other advanced economies, with growth projected at 1.8% in 2025, though slightly down from 2.8% in 2024, as the economy absorbs the lagged effects of previous monetary tightening and persistent inflation. In contrast, the Euro Area remains subdued, with GDP growth expected to 0.8% in 2025, supported by the European Central Bank's first-interest rate cuts since 2019 (implemented in June 2024) and stronger domestic demand. However, countries like Germany, France, and Italy continue to struggle due to weak manufacturing performance, whereas Greece and Spain have benefited from robust tourism activity.

In China, growth has held up at a projected 4.0% for CY 2025, supported by targeted stimulus and a gradual recovery in the real estate sector. Growth in the rest of Asia is also benefiting from a revival in global trade and domestic demand. India remains one of the strongest performers globally, with GDP growth forecasted at 6.2% in 2025, supported by robust consumption, capital investment, and favourable demographics.

In Latin America and the Caribbean, growth is more uneven. Larger economies like Brazil and Mexico are seeing moderate expansions, but the overall regional outlook is weaker, with GDP growth forecast at 2.0% in 2025, due to external headwinds, commodity price volatility, and political uncertainty. Meanwhile, Sub-Saharan Africa’s growth is expected to slow slightly to 3.8%, as global financial conditions tighten, and oil-exporting nations face declining revenues. The Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region is also seeing tempered prospects, with growth revised down to 2.6%, influenced by lower oil prices and ongoing geopolitical pressures.

Globally, industrial production has remained sluggish through the first half of 2025, constrained by high interest rates, trade fragmentation, and lingering supply chain disruptions. However, a mild recovery is anticipated in the second half of the year as global trade stabilizes and domestic demand for goods strengthens. Central banks in several advanced economies—including the Eurozone, Switzerland, Sweden, and Canada—have begun cutting rates to support demand, though inflation trends remain uneven. Disinflation has progressed slower than expected, particularly in services and wage-heavy sectors, making monetary easing cautious and data-dependent.

Overall, the global economy appears to be stabilizing, but growth in CY 2025 remains below historical averages. Advanced economies continue to grow modestly under the weight of tight policies and weak external demand, while emerging markets, particularly in Asia, show stronger but slowing momentum. The outlook for the remainder of 2025 depends significantly on geopolitical developments, the trajectory of inflation, and the pace of monetary easing.

3 India’s Macroeconomic Scenario9.4 Consolidation Trends

3.1 Gross Domestic Product (GDP)

India Expected to Grow at Twice the Pace of Global Economic Growth

The global economy continues to face persistent challenges, including the lingering effects of the COVID-19 pandemic, heightened geopolitical tensions, and climate-related disruptions that have affected energy and food supply chains. Global real GDP growth is projected at 2.8% in 2025, indicating a moderation in global momentum. In contrast, India’s real GDP is projected to grow at 6.2% in 2025, continuing its trend of significantly outpacing global averages and reaffirming its position as the fastest-growing major economy. This implies that India is expected to grow at more than twice the pace of global GDP, supported by strong domestic demand, structural reforms, and increased infrastructure investment. India’s resilience among the G20 economies further strengthens its role as a key driver of global economic growth in the coming years.

India’s Economic Growth Momentum Remains Strong - Surpassed USD 4 Trillion

In FY 2024-25, India was the fifth-largest economy globally, with an estimated real Gross Domestic Product (GDP) at constant prices of INR 184.88 lakh crore, against the Provisional Estimate of GDP for the year 2023-24 of INR 173.82 lakh crore registering a GDP growth rate of 6.4% as compared to 8.2% in FY 2023-24. India and Top 5 Global Economies GDP Growth Forecast

Note: P = Projections, Source: IMF World Economic Outlook April 2025 update.

In September 2024, India achieved a significant milestone by overtaking Japan to become the third most powerful nation in the Asia-Pacific region, as per the Asia Power Index 2024. India's overall score rose to 39.1, reflecting a 2.8-point increase from the previous year, driven by growing influence across economic, military, and diplomatic dimensions.

Key factors behind India's rise include its strong economic performance, expanding and youthful workforce, and increasing strategic engagement across the region. India's Economic Capability improved significantly, supported by its position as the world's third-largest economy in terms of purchasing power parity (PPP). Additionally, a notable increase in its Future Resources score highlights the demographic advantage that is expected to sustain its growth trajectory in the coming years.

3.2 Gross Value Added (GVA)

Gross Value Added (GVA) is the measure of the value of goods and services produced in an economy. GVA gives a picture of the supply side whereas GDP represents consumption.

Industry and Services sector leading the recovery charge

- India's economy demonstrated robust growth across various sectors. The gap between GDP and GVA growth turned positive. The positive gap between GDP and GVA growth indicates robust tax collections contributing to GDP growth.
- India's sector-wise economic performance in FY 2024-25 reveals a shift in momentum across its primary, secondary, and tertiary sectors, with notable differences compared to the previous fiscal year.
- The Primary Sector—comprising agriculture, livestock, forestry, fishing, and mining & quarrying—registered a growth of 3.6% in FY25, showing a notable improvement from the 2.1% growth in FY24. This uptick can be attributed to stronger performance in agriculture and allied activities, along with moderate gains in mining and quarrying. However, erratic monsoon patterns and rising input costs may have constrained agricultural output during the year.
- In contrast, the Secondary Sector—which includes manufacturing, electricity, gas, water supply & other utilities, and construction—recorded a solid growth of 6.5% in FY25, though lower than the impressive 9.7% growth seen in the previous year. This resilient performance was primarily driven by a notable recovery in manufacturing and robust momentum in infrastructure-related segments like construction and utilities.
- The Tertiary Sector or services sector posted 7.2% growth in FY25, slightly lower than the 7.6% achieved in FY24, yet it remained a major pillar of overall economic growth. Strong performances were observed in trade, hotels, transport, financial services, real estate, and professional services. However, public administration and defence services saw more modest growth, slightly dampening the overall momentum in this segment.
- Overall, growth in India's real Gross Value Added (GVA) in FY25 was primarily driven by the resurgence of the secondary sector and sustained strength in key segments of the services sector, even as the primary sector showed signs of moderation.

Sectoral Growth (Y-o-Y % Growth) - at Constant Prices

Sector-wise growth in GVA at constant (2011-12) prices (in %)	FY 2024	FY 2025
Primary	2.1	3.6
Secondary	9.7	6.5
Tertiary	7.6	7.2

3.3 Consumer Price Index (CPI)

Inflation Stable Inflationary Environment

In fiscal year 2025 (FY25), India's General Index inflation, as measured by the Consumer Price Index (CPI), averaged 4.6%, marking the lowest annual inflation rate since 2018–19. This moderation in inflation reflects a significant improvement in the country's price stability post-COVID. In March 2025, CPI Inflation stood at 3.34%, the lowest monthly rate since August 2019, indicating sustained disinflationary momentum in recent months.

Source: - RBI, Annual Report-Inflation, Money and Credit Dated May 29th, 2025

Several key factors contributed to this decline in inflation:

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) pursued a pro-growth monetary policy, aiming to strike a balance between supporting economic recovery and containing inflation. In parallel, the government actively intervened in food markets, particularly by augmenting buffer stocks of essential commodities and releasing them strategically to stabilize prices. These coordinated efforts helped ease supply-side pressures, especially on food inflation.

Looking ahead, projected CPI inflation for FY26 to average around 4%, signalling continued focus on maintaining price stability. In support of this trajectory, the RBI recently announced a cut in the repo rate, which is expected to result in a more accommodative monetary policy stance in the coming months. This environment of low inflation and easing interest rates may provide a favourable backdrop for economic expansion in the near term.

3.4 India Per Capita GDP Forecast

Per capita GDP growth for India is estimated at 9.19 % CAGR between FY 2025-FY 2030. Increased individual incomes are expected to create additional discretionary spending, which may be beneficial for the sector.

3.5 Private Final Consumption Expenditure (PFCE)

Private Final Consumption Expenditure (PFCE) represents the total spending by resident households on final consumption of goods and services, serving as a key indicator of consumer demand and overall economic well-being. It reflects the extent of household consumption and plays a crucial role in driving GDP growth. In FY2025, PFCE at constant prices rose to 56.7% of GDP, up from 56.1% in FY2024, indicating a gradual improvement in household spending patterns. This increase suggests stronger consumer confidence, supported by factors such as easing inflation, improving income levels, and a favourable consumption environment.

As per the Index of Industrial Production (IIP), the industrial sector grew by 4.0% in FY 2025, moderating from 5.9% in FY 2024 and 5.2% in FY 2023. This deceleration in overall IIP growth in FY 2025 reflects a softening of industrial momentum amidst global headwinds and tighter financial conditions.

Among key components:

- Manufacturing (which holds a 77.6% weight in IIP) registered a slower growth of 3.9% in FY 2025, compared to 5.5% in FY 2024 and 4.7% in FY 2023.
- Mining growth also moderated sharply to 2.9% in FY 2025 from 7.5% in FY 2024 and 5.8% in FY 2023.
- Electricity growth remained relatively stable at 5.1% in FY 2025, slightly down from 7.1% in FY 2024 and significantly lower than 8.9% in FY 2023.

This slowdown indicates tightening domestic demand and spillover effects from a weaker global industrial cycle.

According to the use-based classification:

- Capital Goods segment growth slowed to 5.5% in FY 2025, down from a high of 13.1% in FY 2023 and 6.3% in FY 2024, indicating a reduction in investment momentum.

- Primary Goods also witnessed slower growth at 3.9%, compared to 6.1% in FY 2024 and 7.5% in FY 2023.
- Intermediate Goods rebounded modestly to 4.1% in FY 2025, up from 3.8% in FY 2023, although still lower than 5.3% in FY 2024.
- Infrastructure/Construction Goods slowed to 6.6% in FY 2025 from 9.7% in FY 2024 and 8.4% in FY 2023, pointing to softening construction and infrastructure activity.
- Consumer Durables grew significantly by 7.9%, rebounding from 3.6% in FY 2024 and 0.6% in FY 2023, indicating improved demand in consumer electronics and appliances.
- In contrast, Consumer Non-Durables contracted by 1.6% in FY 2025, reversing the 4.1% growth in FY 2024, likely reflecting subdued rural and essential goods demand.

The divergence in growth across segments suggests an uneven industrial recovery in FY 2025. While certain consumer categories have rebounded, investment-related and primary sectors remain under pressure.

3.7 Overview on Key Demographic Parameters

3.7.1 Population growth and Urbanization

India's economic growth and expanding private consumption are intrinsically linked to its demographic and urbanization trends. According to the World Bank, India's population is estimated to have reached approximately 1.44 billion in 2024, reaffirming its position as the world's most populous country, ahead of China. This continued growth reflects an expanding labour force and consumer base, both of which are critical to sustaining long-term economic development.

A key metric in demographic analysis—the age dependency ratio, defined as the ratio of dependents (individuals aged below 15 or above 64) to the working-age population (15–64 years)—has been on a downward trajectory for several decades. From a high of 76% in 1983, the dependency ratio declined to 47% in 2023 and is estimated at 50.2% in 2024. This decline signifies that for every 100 working-age individuals, there are only about 50 dependents, indicating a favourable demographic dividend. A greater share of the population is now within the working-age group, potentially contributing to enhanced economic productivity and income generation.

However, a parallel trend is emerging in the form of a rising old-age dependency ratio—the proportion of individuals aged 65 and above relative to the working-age population. This figure has gradually increased, reaching 10.4% in 2024, suggesting the onset of an aging demographic shift. This highlights the growing need for robust healthcare systems, pension reforms, and social security mechanisms to address future challenges associated with an aging population.

India’s youthful demographic remains one of its most significant advantages. With a median age of around 29 years, India has one of the youngest populations globally. Nearly one-fifth of the world’s youth resides in India, and as millions enter the workforce each year, this demographic bulge offers enormous potential—provided it is met with adequate job creation, education, and skills training.

Urbanization, too, is transforming India’s socio-economic fabric. The urban population rose from 413 million in 2013 (32% of total population) to 519.5 million in 2023 (36.4%), and further to approximately 535 million in 2024 (36.9%), according to World Bank estimates. This rapid growth in urban areas underscores the need for sustainable urban planning, investment in infrastructure, and development of smart cities to accommodate and benefit from the shifting population dynamics.

3.7.2 Labour Force in India

India's labour force has experienced significant growth over the past decade. In 2010, the total labour force was approximately 467.56 million. By 2024, this number had increased to 607.69 million, reflecting a Compound Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) of 1.89% over the 14-year period.

This upward trend underscores the expanding working-age population and the country's ongoing economic development. However, it also highlights the need for effective employment policies to ensure that the growing labour force is adequately absorbed into productive sectors.

The labour force participation rate (LFPR) has also seen fluctuations, influenced by various socio-economic factors. As of 2024, the LFPR stood at 45.1%, indicating the percentage of the working-age population that is either employed or actively seeking employment.

These statistics emphasize the importance of implementing strategies that not only create employment opportunities but also enhance the quality and inclusivity of jobs across different sectors of the economy.

3.7.3 Breakdown of Employment by Sector

According to the Periodic Labour Force Survey (PLFS) 2023–24, the employment distribution across various sectors exhibits distinct gender-based patterns. A significant portion of male workers are engaged in agriculture, followed by notable participation in construction, manufacturing, and trade-related activities. In contrast, female workers are predominantly employed in agriculture, with considerable involvement in manufacturing and other services sectors. While female representation in trade and construction is lower compared to males, Additionally, a substantial proportion of employed women are self-employed, often contributing as unpaid helpers in household enterprises or operating small businesses, indicating a reliance on informal employment avenues.

3.7.4 Labour Laws in India

Labour is a subject under the Concurrent List of the Indian Constitution, enabling both the Central and State Governments to frame relevant legislation. In a major reform initiative, the Government of India has consolidated 29 existing central labour laws into four comprehensive Labour Codes to simplify compliance, reduce multiplicity of definitions, and promote transparency. These include:

- The Code on Wages, 2019
- The Industrial Relations Code, 2020
- The Code on Social Security, 2020
- The Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020

As of 31st December 2024, the Central Government and a majority of States/Union Territories had pre-published draft rules under all four Labour Codes. Regional consultations were held to align state-level rules with the central framework. Once fully implemented, these Codes are expected to harmonize the needs of workers and industry, facilitate ease of doing business, and support employment generation.

Additionally, the Ministry of Labour & Employment is revamping the Shram Suvidha Portal to improve regulatory compliance and has launched the e-Shram Portal to register workers from the unorganised sector. Over 30 crore registrations have been completed, and the portal has been integrated with 12 key social welfare schemes, enabling targeted delivery of benefits.

3.7.5 Disposable Income and Consumer Spending

Gross National Disposable Income (GNDI) represents the total income available to a nation's residents for consumption and saving after accounting for income transfers with the rest of the world. In FY24, Per capita GNDI grew by 9.85%, followed by a moderate growth of 8.05% in FY25. This steady increase indicates that households and businesses had more income at their disposal, which is critical for supporting both consumption and savings—key components of economic resilience and expansion.

The rise in GNDI has translated into higher consumer spending, as reflected in the growth of Private Final Consumption Expenditure (PFCE), which measures the total value of goods and services consumed by households. Per Capita PFCE grew by 8.04% in FY24 and further accelerated to 10.09% in FY25, highlighting strong consumer confidence and robust domestic demand.

3.8 Union Budget FY25-26 Highlights

The Union Budget FY 2025–26, presented by Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, introduces a comprehensive set of measures aimed at stimulating economic growth, enhancing infrastructure, and fostering inclusive development. With a focus on sectors such as agriculture, MSMEs, infrastructure, innovation, and exports, the budget seeks to create a conducive environment for sustained economic expansion.

- Capital Expenditure and Infrastructure Development

The government has earmarked a substantial ₹11.21 lakh crore (3.1% of GDP) for capital expenditure in FY 2025–26. This allocation is directed towards infrastructure projects, including rural development, manufacturing, and skill-building initiatives. Notably, the Urban Challenge Fund has been established with a corpus of ₹1 lakh crore, aimed at financing 25% of the cost of bankable urban infrastructure projects, thereby promoting sustainable urban development.

- Support for MSMEs

Recognizing the pivotal role of Micro, Small, and Medium Enterprises (MSMEs) in India's economic landscape, the budget introduces several measures to bolster this sector. The Credit Guarantee cover has been enhanced to ₹10 crore, unlocking ₹1.5 lakh crore in additional funding for MSMEs over the next five years. Additionally, the establishment of a Fund of Funds with a ₹10,000 crore corpus aims to provide equity support to startups and potential MSMEs, focusing on high-growth sectors such as electronics and renewable energy.

- Tax Reforms and Disposable Income

To stimulate consumption and investment, the budget introduces significant tax reforms. The tax-free income threshold has been raised to ₹12 lakh, and the new tax regime offers reduced rates for higher income brackets. These changes are expected to increase disposable income, thereby encouraging higher savings and investment among the middle class.

- Focus on Agriculture and Exports

The budget prioritizes agriculture as a key engine of development, with increased allocations for agricultural credit and initiatives aimed at enhancing productivity. Furthermore, measures to promote exports include the reduction of customs duties on select goods and the introduction of policies to facilitate easier market access for Indian products.

- Urban Development Initiatives

A significant increase in the budget allocation for the Ministry of Housing and Urban Affairs to ₹96,777 crore reflects the government's commitment to urban development. Key initiatives include the establishment of the Urban Challenge Fund, enhanced loans under the PM SVANidhi scheme, and substantial provisions for the Pradhan Mantri

Awas Yojana and Urban Rejuvenation Mission, all aimed at improving urban infrastructure and living standards.

The Union Budget FY 2025–26 presents a balanced approach to economic growth by addressing immediate consumption needs and laying the foundation for long-term sustainability. Through targeted investments in infrastructure, support for MSMEs, tax reforms, and sector-specific initiatives, the budget aims to foster an inclusive and resilient economy. These measures are expected to create new opportunities for financial institutions, as the growing demand for investment products will provide avenues for expansion and innovation in the financial services sector.

3.9 Concluding Remarks about Macroeconomic Scenario

The major headwinds to global economic growth remain significant, with escalating geopolitical tensions, volatile global commodity prices, high interest rates, inflationary pressures, instability in international financial markets, climate change, rising public debt, and the rapid evolution of new technologies. Despite these challenges, India's economy is relatively well-positioned compared to other emerging markets. According to the latest IMF forecast, India's GDP growth is expected to be 6.2% in 2025, maintaining its position as the fastest-growing major economy globally, well above the global growth projection of 2.8%. Key positive factors for the Indian economy include continued strong domestic demand, robust government support for capital expenditure, moderating inflation, growing investments in technology, and improving business confidence.

India's strategic position as a manufacturing hub is further strengthened by government initiatives, a skilled labour force, and a dynamic startup ecosystem, all of which bolster the country's economic outlook. The ongoing reforms and focus on innovation are enabling India to seize emerging opportunities, making it a growing player in the global manufacturing landscape. In addition, several high-frequency growth indicators—such as the Purchasing Managers' Index (PMI), E-way bills, bank credit, toll collections, and GST collections—have shown a positive trajectory in FY25. The normalization of employment post-economic reopening is expected to provide further support to consumption expenditure.

Public investment is also poised to grow, with the government allocating a significant ₹11.21 lakh crore for capital expenditure in FY25. The private sector's investment intentions are showing positive signs, as evidenced by increased new project investments and a strong import of capital goods. Furthermore, rural demand is likely to improve, bolstered by healthy sowing, better reservoir levels, and the positive progress of the southwest monsoon, coupled with the government's push for infrastructure investment and other policy measures. These factors are expected to further support the investment cycle and strengthen India's economic resilience in the coming years.

4. Industry Overview – Global and Indian Non-Ferrous sector

The global non-ferrous metal industry is a critical enabler of industrial manufacturing and infrastructure, covering aluminium, copper, zinc, nickel, lead, and specialty alloys. These metals, valued for properties such as light weight, corrosion resistance, and conductivity, are used across construction, automotive, aerospace, renewable energy, electronics, and packaging. Unlike ferrous metals, non-ferrous metals can be recycled indefinitely without losing their essential properties, making recycling a core part of the industry. The recycling of non-ferrous scrap involves processes such as collection, segregation, melting, refining, and casting, through which high-quality secondary metals are reintroduced into the production cycle. This integrated structure of primary production from ores and secondary production through recycling ensures both the availability of essential raw materials and the efficient use of resources. The industry thus functions as a vital link in the global industrial value chain, supplying versatile materials while maintaining resource continuity through recycling.

The industry spans both primary production from virgin ores and secondary production through recycling, with the latter gaining prominence due to its lower energy intensity and sustainability benefits. For instance, recycled aluminium consumes ~95% less energy compared to primary production, while copper recycling saves ~85%, making recycling a key lever in achieving global decarbonization goals.

Looking ahead, the industry is expected to become sustainability-focused and technology-driven, with recycling complementing primary production to ensure energy efficiency, emissions reduction, and raw material security.

4.1 Global Non-Ferrous Industry

4.1.1 Market Size & Recovery

The global non-ferrous metals market, estimated at USD 967.78 billion in 2024 and projected to reach USD 5,543.07 billion by 2033, reflects a strong long-term growth trajectory with a CAGR of 4.70% over the forecast period. This expansion highlights the increasing demand for non-ferrous metals such as aluminium, copper, zinc, nickel, and titanium, which are critical for diverse applications in construction, automotive, aerospace, renewable energy, and electronics. The market growth is being driven by rapid urbanization, infrastructure development, the shift towards electric vehicles, and the global emphasis on renewable energy systems such as wind and solar, all of which require lightweight, corrosion-resistant, and high-conductivity materials. Moreover, advancements in recycling technologies and circular economy initiatives are further supporting sustainable supply chains in the sector. Overall, the outlook indicates that non-ferrous metals will continue to play a pivotal role in global industrialization and green energy transitions, underpinning both developed and emerging market growth.

4.1.2 Non-Ferrous Metals

1. Aluminium - Aluminium has enormous recycling potential and is often reused for the same application for which it was originally manufactured. Its strength, flexibility and light weight make it ideal for Building & Construction. Recycling aluminium uses up to 95% less energy than producing aluminium using virgin raw materials. Recycling one aluminium can saves enough energy to power a 100-watt bulb for almost four hours.

2. Copper - After silver, copper has the best electrical conductivity of all the elements. It is also a very good thermal conductor and is readily alloyed with other metals like lead, tin and zinc for foundry applications to produce, among other goods, products for the transmission of water such as valves. Copper's recycling value is so high that premium-grade scrap holds at least 95% of the value of the primary metal from newly mined ore. Recycling copper saves up to 85% of the energy used in primary production. By using copper scrap instead of adopting the primary route, CO₂ emissions are reduced by around 65%.

Other common applications for recovered copper include:

- Electrical applications: Wires, circuits, switches and electromagnets.
 - Piping: Plumbing fittings and refrigeration, air-conditioning and water supply systems.
 - Roofing and insulation.
 - Household items: cookware, doorknobs and cutlery.
3. Zinc - Zinc is present in everyday life in the form of coins. 60% of total zinc production is still in use while the global end-of-life recycling rate for zinc is around 45%, according to the International Zinc Association. Secondary zinc production uses 76% less energy than primary. Old zinc scrap consists primarily of die-cast parts, brass objects, end-of-life vehicles, household appliances, old air-conditioning ducts, obsolete highway barriers and street lighting. Source – BIR (Bureau of International Recycling)

4.1.4 Non-Ferrous Metal Market Trends

- Growing Preference for Lightweight Materials in Automotive and Aerospace: The global non-ferrous metals market is witnessing strong demand from the automotive and aerospace sectors, driven by the increasing adoption of lightweight materials. Metals such as aluminium and titanium are preferred for their superior strength-to-weight ratio, which enhances performance, fuel efficiency, and compliance with stringent emission norms. The rising penetration of electric vehicles (EVs) is further accelerating demand, particularly for battery components and structural parts. This structural shift towards EV adoption is expected to remain a key growth driver for the non-ferrous metals industry.

- Expansion of Renewable Energy Infrastructure: The rapid scale-up of renewable energy capacity is significantly boosting the consumption of non-ferrous metals. Wind and solar energy projects require large volumes of aluminium, copper, and zinc for the manufacture of turbines, panels, storage systems, and wiring infrastructure. Supported by government investments and policy incentives worldwide, the transition to clean energy is accelerating at a record pace. The International Energy Agency reported that in 2023, global renewable capacity additions rose by nearly 50%, reaching 510 GW. This continued expansion of renewable infrastructure positions non-ferrous metals as a critical enabler of the global green energy transition.
- Shift Towards Sustainable Production and Recycling: Sustainability and circular economy principles are becoming central to the non-ferrous metals market. Given their high recyclability, metals such as copper and aluminium are increasingly being reused through closed-loop recycling systems. Globally, more than 30 million tons of aluminium scrap is recycled annually, accounting for one-third of total aluminium supply, with nearly 1.5 billion tons of aluminium currently in circulation. Recycling not only reduces dependency on virgin raw materials but also lowers energy consumption and overall production costs. With tightening environmental regulations and increasing corporate emphasis on green manufacturing, sustainable production practices are expected to play a pivotal role in shaping the long-term growth trajectory of the non-ferrous metals industry.

4.1 Indian Non-Ferrous Industry

The Indian non-ferrous metal industry is a critical pillar of the country's industrial and economic development, playing a pivotal role in sectors such as power, construction, automotive, renewable energy, and consumer goods. Characterized by metals such as aluminium, copper, zinc, and lead, the sector underpins India's infrastructure growth, energy transition, and manufacturing expansion. At its core, the industry is driven by rising demand for lightweight, durable, and energy-efficient materials, as well as the need to support sustainable development goals through recycling and resource efficiency. India has emerged as both a significant producer and consumer of non-ferrous metals, with domestic demand steadily increasing in line with urbanization, electrification, and industrialization.

Traditionally, the non-ferrous metal ecosystem in India has been fragmented, with a strong presence of small-scale scrap processors and unorganized recycling units. However, the landscape is evolving rapidly. With growing awareness of environmental sustainability, tightening global and domestic emission standards, and technological advancements in recycling and processing, the industry is moving toward a more organized and modernized framework. The recycling of aluminium and copper—sourced from used utensils, e-waste, discarded machinery, and power cables—illustrates the sector's ability to recover high-value materials while reducing dependence on primary mining.

To strengthen this transition, the Indian government has introduced several key policies such as the Vehicle Scrappage Policy (2021), Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) frameworks under e-waste and battery waste rules, and the Scrap Import Monitoring System (SIMS), all of which support cleaner and more traceable material flows. Furthermore, with major investments in renewable energy, electric mobility, and infrastructure under the National Infrastructure Pipeline (NIP), the demand for non-ferrous metals is set to accelerate.

Despite these positive trends, challenges persist in the form of price volatility in global commodity markets, continued dominance of the informal recycling sector, and gaps in collection and segregation infrastructure. Nevertheless, the long-term outlook remains robust. With strong demand drivers, supportive policy frameworks, and increasing alignment with global ESG commitments, the Indian non-ferrous metal industry is poised to witness sustained growth and play a defining role in the country's industrial future.

4.2.1 Market Size

The Indian Non-ferrous metal market is estimated at USD 33.30 billion in FY 2024 and is projected to reach USD 69.47 billion by FY 2033, expanding at a Compound Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) of 8.52% during the forecast period. This growth is driven by increasing industrialization, rising demand for secondary metals in automotive, infrastructure, and manufacturing sectors, and supportive government initiatives promoting sustainable and circular economic practices.

4.2.2 Transition from Primary to Secondary sourcing in Manufacturing

- Cost Efficiency of Recycled Metals - Recycled metals such as aluminium, copper, and steel require significantly less energy to process compared to primary extraction from ore. This translates into lower input costs for manufacturers, making secondary sourcing an economically viable and competitive option—especially during periods of commodity price volatility.
- Environmental compliance and Sustainability - Manufacturing using secondary (recycled) metals drastically reduces carbon emissions, air and water pollution, and landfill waste. With growing pressure from ESG norms, manufacturers are aligning operations with sustainability goals to remain globally competitive.
- Policy Incentives and Regulatory support - The Government of India has introduced various schemes that Favor the use of recycled metals such as the Scrap Recycling Policy (2019) promotes the scientific processing of scrap to support secondary steel production. The Production Linked Incentive (PLI) Scheme for Specialty Steel encourages value-added manufacturing, often using recycled inputs and Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) under e-waste and battery rules mandates recycling of end-of-life products, pushing OEMs to build circularity into sourcing.

- Adoption by Indian Industry - The Green Steel initiative, spearheaded by the Ministry of Steel, promotes the usage of scrap in Electric Arc Furnaces (EAFs) and Induction Furnaces to cut emissions and enhance energy efficiency.
- Global Alignment with Circular Economy - India's transition mirrors global trends, particularly in the EU, USA, and Japan, where recycled content mandates and carbon border adjustment mechanisms (CBAM) are pressuring manufacturers to shift to low-carbon, recycled inputs. As global supply chains become more traceable and carbon-sensitive, Indian exporters are being incentivized to meet recycled content benchmarks to retain market access.

In summary, the shift from primary to secondary sourcing is a structural transformation in India's manufacturing landscape—driven by economics, environmental imperatives, and regulatory direction—and will be central to achieving long-term industrial sustainability.

4.2.3 Value Chain Structure

The metal recycling value chain in India is a structured yet evolving system, involving multiple interconnected stages that determine the efficiency, output quality, and environmental sustainability of recycled metal production. Here's a detailed breakdown of each stage in the process:

1. Collection - The first stage in the metal recycling value chain is the collection of scrap, which forms the foundation of the entire process. In India, metal scrap is gathered from diverse sources, including industrial manufacturing units, construction and demolition debris, end-of-life vehicles (ELVs), and household or consumer products such as old utensils, wires, and cans. The informal sector dominates this stage, comprising (scrap dealers), ragpickers, and small-scale aggregators who play a vital but largely unregulated role. However, recent government initiatives like the Vehicle Scrappage Policy and the registration of authorized vehicle dismantlers are gradually formalizing this stage. Organized scrap collection centres are now emerging, with better traceability and environmental compliance, especially in urban clusters.

These formal systems help improve the quality and volume of metal scrap available for downstream processing.

2. Sorting - Once collected, the metal scrap undergoes sorting, a crucial step where it is segregated by type—primarily into ferrous (iron and steel) and non-ferrous (aluminium, copper, brass, zinc, etc.). Sorting ensures that different metal types are processed separately to maintain the purity and value of the recycled output. In the informal sector, sorting is done manually using basic tools, which often leads to contamination or loss of material value. Conversely, organized recyclers are investing in advanced automated sorting technologies such as magnetic separators for ferrous metals, eddy current separators for non-ferrous items, and sensor-based AI-driven systems that enable precision sorting. Accurate sorting is critical for improving the efficiency of the recycling process and achieving higher market prices for processed scrap.

3. Processing - The processing phase involves preparing the sorted scrap for smelting through mechanical operations such as shredding, cutting, baling, and cleaning. This step is essential to reduce the volume, remove coatings and contaminants, and make the scrap suitable for efficient remelting. Shredding is particularly important for complex items like automobiles or appliances, breaking them down into manageable pieces. Advanced recyclers use modern equipment for de-coating and degreasing, which enhances both environmental compliance and yield. Processing also includes visual or automated inspections for quality control. By investing in this stage, organized recyclers reduce logistics costs, increase throughput, and generate cleaner material that is more acceptable to downstream industries like construction, automotive, and manufacturing.

4. Smelting and refining - The final stage of the value chain is smelting and refining, where the processed scrap is melted in high-temperature furnaces to create usable metal forms such as ingots, billets, or rods. India predominantly uses Electric Arc Furnaces (EAFs) and Induction Furnaces (IFs) in this stage—especially for steel production. Non-ferrous metals like aluminium and copper are melted in specialized furnaces that ensure retention of their properties. Smelting recycled metals offers substantial energy and environmental benefits; for example, using scrap saves up to 95% of the energy needed for primary aluminium production and up to 70% for steel. After refining, the molten metal is cast and sold to industries including automotive, construction, electrical, and consumer goods, completing the circular loop. The emergence of sustainable practices and low-emission technologies is making this phase increasingly climate-friendly and efficient.

4.2.4 Non-Ferrous Metals

Aluminium

The aluminium industry is a cornerstone of the global non-ferrous metals sector, playing a pivotal role in industrial development and modern infrastructure. Known for its lightweight, corrosion resistance, high strength-to-weight ratio, and recyclability, aluminium has become indispensable across diverse applications such as transportation, construction, packaging, electrical, and renewable energy. The industry operates through an integrated value chain encompassing bauxite mining, alumina refining, aluminium smelting, and downstream product manufacturing, each adding significant value. With aluminium being the second most consumed metal worldwide after steel, its strategic importance continues to rise, particularly in the context of sustainable growth, electric mobility, and the energy transition. In India, the aluminium industry is marked by strong production capabilities, high-capacity utilization, and growing relevance in global trade, positioning it as a critical driver of both economic progress and sustainable development.

Aluminium Production & Capacity

Source – Niti Ayog

India's aluminium industry has consistently maintained a high-capacity utilization rate over the last five years, reflecting operational efficiency and steady demand. Production remained stable at around 3.6 million tonnes in FY20 and FY21, with a marginal dip in FY21 due to pandemic-related disruptions, while capacity stood at ~4.1–4.2 million tonnes. From FY22 onwards, production rose steadily to 4.16 million tonnes in FY24, nearly matching the available capacity of 4.17 million tonnes. This indicates that India is operating close to its installed capacity, signalling robust demand growth and efficient utilization of resources. Overall, the data suggests a mature industry with limited headroom for additional output without new capacity expansion, highlighting the need for fresh investments if India is to capture rising domestic and export demand for aluminium.

The WPI trends highlight distinct patterns across aluminium products. Aluminium ingots and alloys have shown the strongest long-term growth, with sharp post-pandemic surges reflecting robust demand from infrastructure, automotive, and energy sectors. Foil prices, though volatile, remain supported by packaging and pharma demand, while castings have grown more modestly, facing cost pressures and weaker end-use demand. Overall, alloys and ingots emerge as the key growth drivers, while foil and castings demonstrate cyclical but relatively subdued momentum.

Primary & Secondary Aluminium Usage – Sector -wise

Source –

Ministry of Mines

Primary aluminium is predominantly used in the power sector (55%), where its high purity is essential for conductors and transmission lines. It is also used in building and construction (15%) for structural and architectural applications, and in packaging, automotive, and consumer durables (7–8%), where virgin metal is preferred for its consistent quality and compliance with regulatory standards. In contrast, secondary aluminium—produced from recycled scrap—is widely used in the automotive industry (44%), particularly for die-cast components due to its cost efficiency and suitability for mass production. It also finds application in building and construction (21%) for non-structural components like window frames, along with other industrial uses (20%), packaging (8%), and consumer durables (6%). However, its use in the power sector is minimal (1%) due to its relatively lower purity, which does not meet the stringent conductivity requirements.

Although the share of secondary Aluminium consumption in India has increased over the years, the availability of domestic scrap and sourcing scrap from other nations have been challenging. India’s 88 industry heavily depends on imports, with scrap imports accounting for 85-90% of raw material needs, exposing recyclers to risks like currency fluctuations, global scrap price volatility, upfront cash payments, and longer turnaround times. Additionally, the lack of automation in scrap recycling activities such as sorting, cleaning, and segregation poses a challenge in setting up large capacity plants. The industry is labour-intensive and lacks full automation in recycling activities, leading to lower productivity and quality control compared to larger players. Furthermore, impurities in secondary Aluminium pose risks to major end-use industries like packaging, automobiles, building and construction, and consumer durables.

To overcome the challenges facing the domestic Aluminium industry, India needs a collaborative effort between the industry and the government. Significant investment in scrap collection and processing infrastructure is essential for sustainable development. Implementing advanced technologies for sorting, cleaning, and segregating scraps can enhance productivity and quality control. Policies that encourage the use of recycled Aluminium across various sectors will drive demand, while forming alliances among recyclers can facilitate the sharing of best practices and pooling of resources.

Trade Dynamics – Aluminium & Articles and Aluminium Scrap

The trade dynamics of aluminium and its articles, including aluminium scrap, underline India’s shifting position in the global non-ferrous metals market. During FY 2024–25, exports stood at USD 6,852.97 million, declining from USD 7,671.89 million in the previous year, reflecting weaker external demand and price pressures. Imports, however, rose sharply to USD 12,203.47 million from USD 10,361.83 million in FY 2023–24, driven by higher domestic consumption of semi-finished products and scrap to support downstream industries. This widening gap resulted in a net trade deficit of USD 5,350.50 million in FY 2024–25, underscoring India’s growing reliance on imports despite its strong aluminium production base.

Others	5,977.98	48.99%
Total	12,203.47	100.00%

India’s exports in this segment in FY 2024–25 stood at USD 6,852.97 million, with the USA (12.55%) and Turkey (11.16%) emerging as the top destinations, followed by Korea, Mexico, and Japan. Collectively, these five markets account for just over 43% of exports, while more than 56% is spread across other countries, indicating a well-diversified export base that reduces dependence on a few select markets. This diversified footprint supports resilience against regional demand shifts but also reflects relatively fragmented market penetration.

On the import side, India brought in USD 12,203.47 million worth of aluminium and scrap, highlighting a significant reliance on overseas supply. China (16.31%) and the USA (14.40%) were the leading suppliers, together contributing nearly one-third of imports, followed by the UAE, Saudi Arabia, and Malaysia. The concentration of imports among a few key suppliers, combined with almost 49% sourced from other countries, underscores both reliance on major trade partners and the need for multiple sourcing channels to support rising domestic demand.

Overall, India’s aluminium trade shows a clear contrast: exports are diversified across many destinations, while imports are concentrated among a few major suppliers, reflecting the country’s role as a competitive producer yet a growing net importer to meet its industrial requirements.

India’s aluminium trade profile shows a clear divergence between exports and imports. On the export side, the trade basket is overwhelmingly dominated by primary aluminium and value-added articles (99.61%), while aluminium scrap and waste contribute only 0.39%, underscoring India’s strength as a producer and exporter of refined aluminium products rather than secondary material.

In contrast, the import structure reveals a different trend: while primary aluminium accounts for 67.79%, a significant 32.21% is aluminium scrap and waste, reflecting India’s growing reliance on secondary raw materials to meet the needs of downstream industries such as automotive, construction, and packaging. The high share of scrap imports also highlights the role of recycling as a cost-effective and energy-efficient input for domestic manufacturing.

Overall, India’s aluminium sector positions itself as a net exporter of primary aluminium but remains import-dependent for scrap and waste, which are critical for supplementing domestic supply and supporting the circular economy.

Copper

Domestic Primary Refined Copper usage

With a CAGR of approximately 13.15%, there is a significant increase in domestic refined copper usage from 0.52 MT in 2020 to 0.84 MT in 2024. India's refined copper consumption surged more than 0.73 MT in 2023 and 2024, driven by extensive government infrastructure initiatives, a significant shift towards renewable energy, and growth in the automotive and electric vehicle sectors.

Recent Developments by Government

- In the 2024–25 Union Budget, the Indian government announced the removal of the Basic Customs Duty (BCD) on copper concentrate, cutting it from 2.5% to 0%. This change is intended to reduce copper production costs by making imported concentrates more cost-effective. Additionally, it aligns with the government's broader objectives of boosting domestic manufacturing and fostering self-reliance in critical mineral supply chains, ultimately enhancing India's competitiveness in the global copper market.

- In October 2024, the Indian government introduced a Reverse Charge Mechanism (RCM) for metal scrap transactions under GST. This move aims to improve tax compliance in the informal metal scrap sector, formalize the industry, and reduce tax evasion.
- In the Union Budget of 2025, the Indian government announced the removal of Basic Customs Duty (BCD) on waste and scrap from twelve critical minerals, including copper. This decision is designed to support domestic manufacturing by ensuring a reliable and affordable supply of key materials such as copper, cobalt, lithium-ion battery waste, lead, and zinc. Furthermore, the government is working towards implementing the policies aimed at recovering critical minerals from mining by products, further enhancing the resilience of the supply chain.

India's zinc production has exhibited a consistent growth trend over recent years, underscoring its critical role in the country's industrial and manufacturing landscape. The steady rise from 2019–20 through 2024–25 reflects increased demand from key sectors such as infrastructure, construction, galvanized steel, and automotive manufacturing. A sharp increase in output post-2020–21 suggests a strong rebound following pandemic disruptions, supported by both domestic consumption and export opportunities. Although there was a marginal decline in 2023–24, production quickly recovered in the following year, pointing to stable mining operations and sustained downstream demand. This upward trajectory highlights zinc's strategic relevance, particularly in corrosion resistance, metal alloys, and its growing potential in green technologies like batteries and renewable energy storage systems.

Detailed Overview

- Rapid urbanization, infrastructure push, and industrial expansion: In the near term, demand for non-ferrous metals such as aluminium, copper, and zinc is being propelled by accelerated infrastructure development, urban housing, and industrial growth. With major projects in transportation, smart cities, and power distribution underway, the industry will continue to see strong consumption over the next 3–4 years, though the pace may moderate slightly in the longer term as growth stabilizes.
Rising adoption in EVs, renewable energy, and power transmission: The medium to long term outlook is highly positive as aluminium and copper play a critical role in electric vehicles, solar panels, wind energy systems, and large-scale power transmission projects. As India scales its clean energy and e-mobility transition, the demand curve for these metals is set to steepen, making them vital enablers of the energy transition.
- Recycling and circular economy Focus: Growing awareness of resource efficiency is pushing the recycling of aluminium, copper, and zinc, which significantly reduces energy consumption compared to primary production. While adoption is moderate today, the momentum is expected to increase sharply over the next few years, aligning with global sustainability goals and reducing reliance on imported raw materials.
- Government policy support: Policy frameworks such as make in India, and Production Linked Incentive (PLI) schemes are creating an enabling environment for domestic production and capacity expansion. This strong government backing ensures that the sector remains a strategic focus area, sustaining high growth potential consistently across the short, medium, and long term.
- Expanding applications in new Industries: Non-ferrous metals are gaining ground in high-value applications such as aerospace components, automotive lightweighting, flexible packaging, and advanced electronics. While adoption is moderate in the immediate term, these applications are expected to accelerate rapidly over the medium to long term, diversifying demand sources and adding resilience to industry growth.

5.2 Challenges

India’s non-ferrous metal industry, while poised for growth, faces persistent challenges that could hinder its long-term sustainability and competitiveness. These challenges span structural inefficiencies, quality-related issues, and external market volatility. Below is a detailed analysis.

Challenge	Impact
	1–2 Years	3–4 Years	5–7 Years
1. Informal and unorganized recycling sector leading to inefficient collection and processing	High	High	Moderate
2. Lack of standardized recycling infrastructure and environmentally sound practices	High	High	Moderate
3. Contamination and inconsistent quality of scrap affecting recycled metal value	Moderate	High	High
4. Need for proper segregation, sorting, and handling to maintain material integrity	Moderate	High	High
5. Volatility in global metal prices impacting profitability and revenue stability for recyclers	High	Moderate	Moderate

Detailed Overview

1. Informal and unorganized recycling sector: A large portion of India’s non-ferrous recycling industry operates within the informal sector, leading to inefficiencies in collection, aggregation, and processing of scrap. In the short to medium term, this continues to pose a high impact by limiting economies of scale and formal value capture, though gradual formalization efforts may ease the challenge in the long term.

2. Lack of standardized recycling infrastructure: India’s recycling ecosystem is constrained by inadequate facilities for environmentally sound processing and limited adoption of advanced technologies. This infrastructure gap contributes to poor recovery rates and environmental risks, remaining a critical challenge in the next 3–4 years before gradually improving with increased investments and policy support.

3. Contamination and inconsistent scrap quality Scrap used for recycling often suffers from impurities, inconsistent grading, and lack of traceability, which directly reduces the quality and market value of recycled metals. While this issue is moderate today, its impact is expected to increase as demand for high-quality inputs grows across industries such as automotive, aerospace, and electronics.

4. Need for proper segregation and handling: Effective recycling requires robust systems for scrap segregation, sorting, and handling to preserve material integrity. Current gaps in this area limit efficiency and raise costs, with the challenge intensifying in the medium to long term as industries demand cleaner, certified, and standardized recycled inputs.

5. Volatility in global metal prices: The non-ferrous industry is highly exposed to fluctuations in international commodity markets, which can impact profitability, cash flows, and investment confidence. Price volatility is a pressing concern in the short term due to global uncertainties, but its relative impact may reduce over time as domestic recycling capacity and long-term supply contracts expand.

6. Government Initiatives and Policy Support

The Government of India has introduced several strategic initiatives to formalize and boost the Non-ferrous metal & recycling sector, focusing on sustainability, circular economy principles, environmental compliance, and industrial self-reliance. Here's an overview of these key programs:

- National Steel Policy - The National Steel Policy, 2023 reiterates India’s commitment to achieving self-sufficiency in steel production, promoting electric-arc furnace (EAF) and induction furnace (IF) routes that heavily utilize scrap metal. It outlines the expansion of steel capacity to 255 million tonnes by 2031—with scrap-based production central to its sustainability objectives.
- Steel Scrap recycling Policy, 2019 - The Steel Scrap Recycling Policy 2019 provides a framework to facilitate and promote establishment of metal scrapping centres in India for scientific processing and recycling of ferrous scrap generated from various sources. The policy seeks to establish an environmentally sound management system for ferrous scrap, ensuring high quality scrap for quality steel production, reducing import dependency, and decongesting cities from end-of-life vehicles. It also promotes the 6Rs principles of Reduce, Reuse, Recycle, Recover, Redesign, and Remanufacture through authorized centres, while ensuring compliance with Hazardous and Other Wastes Management Rules, 2016.

- National Non-ferrous Metal scrap recycling framework (2020) – It Aims to reduce scrap imports and promote a more efficient mineral value chain. The framework's objectives include creating economic wealth and jobs, increasing GDP contribution, and establishing a formal, organized recycling ecosystem with energy-efficient processes.
- Vehicle Scrappage Policy – This Policy Aims to phase out old and unfit vehicles, promoting a safer and more environmentally friendly transportation system. Under this policy, commercial vehicles and private vehicles older than 15 and 20 years, respectively, will be scrapped if they fail the mandatory fitness test, thereby being classified as End-of-Life Vehicles (ELVs).
- Extended producer responsibility (EPR) framework for non-ferrous metals – The Producers of non-ferrous metals to get registered with the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB) and fulfil their EPR obligations by ensuring the collection, recycling, or refurbishing of their products.
- National Resource efficiency - The Draft National Resource Efficiency Policy is guided by the principles of (i) reduction in primary resource consumption to 'sustainable' levels, in keeping with achieving the Sustainable Development Goals and staying within the planetary boundaries, (ii) creation of higher value with less material through resource efficient and circular approaches, (iii) waste minimization, (iv) material security, and creation of employment opportunities and business models beneficial to the cause of environment protection and restoration.
- PLI Scheme - Production Linked Incentive (PLI) Scheme for Specialty Steel was launched with an overall budget of Rs.6,322 crore in July 2021 to promote the manufacturing of 'Specialty Steel' within the country and reduce imports by attracting capital investments. As of 28th February 2025, the scheme has secured investment commitments worth ₹27,106 crore, of which ₹19,850 crore has already been achieved. On the production side, against a commitment of 7,940 thousand tonnes, actual production has reached 1,950 thousand tonnes, while in terms of employment, 9,259 jobs have been created out of the committed 14,760 jobs during the scheme's tenure. This reflects steady progress, with significant potential to further boost India's specialty steel ecosystem, enhance self-reliance, and strengthen its global competitiveness. Source – PIB
- Green Steel and Green Aluminium Initiatives - The Ministry of Steel has established a Green Steel Task Force and released a formal Green Steel Taxonomy that defines rating thresholds (e.g., steel emitting below 2.2 t CO₂e per tonne qualifies as "green", with a stricter "five-star" classification below 1.6 t CO₂e) to drive decarbonization, enhance scrap utilization, and promote energy-efficient production processes.
- Scrap Import Monitoring System - The Scrap Import Monitoring System (SIMS), introduced in 2019 by the DGFT, mandates prior online registration for importers of specified steel and aluminium scrap before shipment arrival. It aims to enhance traceability, quality control, and curb hazardous or low-grade scrap imports, while generating real-time data on import flows. This data helps policymakers monitor supply-demand gaps and supports industry participants in better raw material planning. Overall, SIMS strengthens transparency, safeguards domestic industries, and aligns scrap imports with sustainable manufacturing practices.

7. Technology & Digital Transformation

The Indian non-ferrous metal industry is witnessing a paradigm shift through the adoption of advanced technologies and digital solutions aimed at enhancing operational efficiency, quality control, transparency, and sustainability. Traditionally reliant on energy-intensive processes and fragmented recycling practices, the sector is now leveraging innovation and digital integration to align with global standards and domestic policy objectives. These transformations are pivotal for strengthening competitiveness, reducing environmental impact, and creating a traceable value chain.

- Adoption of Advanced Processing and AI-Driven Systems: Non-ferrous producers and recyclers are increasingly deploying sensor-based sorting, automated casting units, and AI-driven grading technologies to improve ore beneficiation, scrap processing, and product quality. These innovations ensure better separation of metals such as aluminium, copper, and zinc, while reducing wastage and meeting stringent specifications for high-end sectors like automotive, aerospace, and electronics.
- Digital Platforms for Traceability and Compliance: The push for regulatory oversight has accelerated the adoption of digital platforms for Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) and traceable recycling. Online government portals now allow real-time monitoring of scrap collection, processing, and credit trading, particularly for aluminium, copper, and lead. This shift strengthens accountability and ensures compliance with environmental standards across the non-ferrous ecosystem.
- Blockchain and Digital Marketplaces for Scrap Trading: Start-ups and large players are piloting blockchain-based solutions to enable traceability of high-value non-ferrous scrap, such as copper wiring, EV battery metals, and electronic components. Parallely, digital marketplaces for metal scrap are emerging to connect institutional scrap generators with certified recyclers, improving transparency, price discovery, and logistics efficiency. These innovations are particularly relevant for securing ESG compliance and meeting global buyer requirements.
- Integrated Recycling Parks and Smart Infrastructure: Supported by the Ministry of Steel and state agencies, integrated recycling parks are being established in key states such as Gujarat, Maharashtra, and Tamil Nadu. These clusters are equipped with automated dismantling units, emission control systems, and digital waste tracking, designed to process large volumes of non-ferrous scrap sustainably. By centralizing formal recycling activity, these hubs will reduce dependence on the informal sector and boost the supply of certified recycled metals.

- Scrap Import Monitoring System (SIMS) 2.0: The Directorate General of Foreign Trade (DGFT) has strengthened scrap import regulations through SIMS 2.0, a digital framework for prior registration and monitoring of scrap imports. For the non-ferrous industry, this ensures better quality control, prevents entry of contaminated or hazardous scrap, and enhances integration between ports, customs, and pollution control agencies, thereby safeguarding domestic production standards.

9. Competitive Landscape

The competitive dynamics of India's non-ferrous metal industry are influenced by structural efficiencies, technological progress, regulatory frameworks, and strategic positioning of players across the value chain. These factors determine cost competitiveness, access to raw materials, and ability to serve end-use industries effectively.

9.1 Key factors shaping Competition

- Collection Infrastructure and Supply Chain Integration: In the non-ferrous segment, particularly aluminium, copper, and lead, competitiveness depends on efficient sourcing of both primary ores and secondary scrap. Companies with integrated networks that include partnerships with industrial scrap generators, OEMs, and urban collection centres enjoy a secure raw material pipeline. However, the fragmented nature of India's scrap supply chain, especially in semi-urban and rural areas, creates inefficiencies. The gradual formalization of collection under Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) norms is expected to strengthen supply stability and improve competitive positioning.
- Regulatory Compliance and Environmental Norms: Environmental sustainability and compliance with CPCB guidelines, Hazardous Waste Rules, and global ESG standards are becoming central to competitiveness. Companies that invest in cleaner smelting technologies, energy-efficient furnaces, and pollution control systems are more likely to retain licenses and attract long-term contracts. Conversely, non-compliant players face risks of regulatory penalties and exit. This increasing emphasis on sustainable operations is consolidating the industry in favor of capital-intensive and compliant firms.
- Technology Adoption and Processing Efficiency: Competitive advantage is strongly shaped by technological innovation. Automated scrap sorting, AI-enabled quality checks, and advanced alloy recovery systems are enabling higher throughput and consistency in recycled non-ferrous metals. Energy-efficient furnaces and digitized process controls not only reduce costs but also help meet global quality standards. Players who adopt advanced processing capabilities are better positioned to supply critical industries like automotive, aerospace, and renewable energy.
- Strategic Partnerships and Backward Integration: Leading players are increasingly securing competitiveness through backward integration and strategic alliances. By setting up captive scrap yards, e-waste collection centres, or long-term procurement agreements with OEMs, companies can ensure steady raw material flow. Partnerships with municipal bodies or large infrastructure projects further enhance sourcing efficiency. Such integration reduces procurement risk, lowers input costs, and supports scale advantages over smaller competitors.
- Geographic Proximity to Industrial Hubs: Location is a critical determinant of cost competitiveness in the non-ferrous sector. Companies situated near key consumption clusters—such as automotive hubs, engineering zones, or construction corridors—benefit from lower freight costs and shorter supply lead times. Coastal locations add a further edge by providing efficient access to ports for importing concentrates and scrap or exporting finished products. This geographic advantage enables faster delivery and improved customer service, strengthening competitive positioning in both domestic and international markets.

9.2 Competitive Strategies

The non-ferrous metal industry in India is becoming increasingly competitive as companies face rising regulatory demands, sustainability expectations, and evolving requirements from high-value downstream sectors. To stay competitive, players are adopting strategies that emphasize supply security, technological advancement, ESG alignment, and digital transformation. These approaches are enabling firms to differentiate themselves, improve efficiency, and build long-term resilience.

- Supply Chain Integration: Leading players are securing competitiveness by developing direct linkages with bulk scrap generators, mining assets, and industrial users. Partnerships with OEMs, power utilities, and municipal bodies ensure a consistent and traceable supply of non-ferrous inputs such as aluminium scrap, copper wiring, and lead batteries. This reduces reliance on the fragmented informal sector, stabilizes raw material costs, and enhances quality control.

- Technological Upgradation: Investment in advanced technologies such as AI-enabled scrap sorting, hydrometallurgical recovery units, and energy-efficient smelting furnaces is reshaping competitiveness. Companies adopting automation, robotics, and sensor-driven separation are achieving higher recovery rates, reduced contamination, and compliance with international quality standards. Such upgrades allow suppliers to target high-margin industries like EVs, renewable energy, and aerospace.
- ESG Alignment and Green Branding: Growing global focus on ESG is driving companies to integrate sustainability into their operations. By obtaining certifications such as ISO 14001 and promoting low-carbon aluminium and green copper, firms are strengthening their positioning with environmentally conscious buyers. Disclosures on carbon savings and use of renewable energy sources in smelting further differentiate offerings in export markets.
- Digitalization and Traceability: To align with Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) norms and global ESG compliance requirements, companies are adopting blockchain platforms, IoT tracking, and digital supply chain monitoring. These tools provide transparency on scrap sourcing, treatment processes, and emissions, boosting buyer confidence and meeting regulatory obligations. Digital traceability is especially valued by multinational corporations and export-oriented industries.
- Vertical Integration for Secure Sourcing: Several players are moving toward vertical integration by investing in captive mines, dedicated recycling parks, or direct collection networks for e-waste, end-of-life vehicles, and industrial scrap. This strategy ensures a secure raw material pipeline, reduces price volatility risks, and enhances economies of scale. Vertical integration also strengthens bargaining power in global trade by ensuring supply stability for critical non-ferrous inputs.

9.3 Barriers to Entry

The non-ferrous metal industry in India presents significant entry barriers due to its capital-intensive nature, regulatory complexity, and dependence on established supply chains. New entrants face challenges not only in terms of operational setup but also in building credibility and competing with entrenched players. Key barriers include:

- High Capital Investment: Establishing operations in the non-ferrous sector requires substantial capital expenditure for smelting plants, rolling mills, alloying units, pollution control equipment, and logistics infrastructure. Investments are also needed in advanced furnaces, electrolytic refining technologies, and safety systems to ensure compliance with environmental and occupational norms. Such high fixed costs discourage small players from entering the formal market.
- Regulatory Compliance and Licensing: The industry is governed by stringent environmental and industrial regulations. Approvals are needed from multiple agencies, including the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEFCC), State Pollution Control Boards (SPCBs), and the Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS). Companies must also comply with the Hazardous Waste Management Rules, Scrap Import Monitoring System (SIMS), and sector-specific standards such as the Aluminium Scrap Standards. Navigating this complex regulatory framework requires expertise, time, and financial resources, creating a strong barrier for new entrants.
- Informal Sector Dominance: Similar to recycling, large portions of scrap collection and secondary processing in non-ferrous metals remain in the unorganized sector. Informal operators often function with lower costs, bypassing compliance and environmental safeguards, enabling them to undercut prices. For new, formal players competing in regulated markets, this makes it challenging to gain a foothold without offering significant value differentiation.
- Scrap Sourcing and Raw Material Availability: Consistent access to high-quality scrap and ores is critical in the non-ferrous segment, especially for aluminium, copper, zinc, and lead. Established players already maintain strong linkages with bulk scrap generators, captive mines, or import networks. New entrants face difficulties in securing long-term sourcing contracts and must also deal with volatility in global scrap trade policies, including import restrictions under SIMS.
- Brand Credibility and Buyer Relationships: End-user industries such as automotive, power, infrastructure, and aerospace demand quality-certified, traceable non-ferrous inputs. Large buyers typically rely on suppliers with proven track records, global certifications, and reliable performance histories. New entrants often lack this brand credibility, making it difficult to secure large contracts without investing heavily in certifications, branding, and long-term relationship-building.
- Volatility in Global Metal Prices: Non-ferrous metals are highly exposed to global commodity cycles, with prices influenced by factors such as Chinese demand, energy costs, and geopolitical tensions. New entrants, especially those without hedging mechanisms or financial buffers, are vulnerable to sharp price fluctuations that can erode margins and strain working capital. This price volatility raises risks for inexperienced or undercapitalized firms.

- Environmental and Social License to Operate: Non-ferrous operations, particularly smelting and refining, are energy-intensive and often associated with emissions, waste generation, and occupational hazards. Communities and regulators are increasingly scrutinizing projects for sustainability and worker safety. New entrants must invest in green technologies, renewable energy use, and social engagement initiatives to overcome negative perceptions and secure a long-term license to operate.

9.4 Consolidation Trends

The Indian non-ferrous metal industry is undergoing a gradual but significant consolidation, shaped by the twin imperatives of formalization and scale-building. While the sector continues to remain fragmented with a large presence of informal players, increasing regulatory scrutiny, ESG-driven demand, and raw material security challenges are accelerating mergers, acquisitions, and strategic partnerships. Larger players are strengthening their market positions by integrating supply chains, absorbing smaller operators, and expanding into specialized recycling and refining segments. Key consolidation trends include:

- Strategic Mergers & Acquisitions: Consolidation is being driven by rising demand for certified, high-quality non-ferrous metals such as aluminium, copper, and zinc. Mid-sized recyclers are merging with larger smelters and alloy producers to expand refining capacities, secure feedstock, and improve compliance with environmental standards. These deals allow companies to achieve economies of scale and stronger bargaining power with end-user industries like automotive, construction, and electronics.
- Vertical Integration and End-to-End Traceability: Leading companies are consolidating operations across the value chain—from scrap sourcing and dismantling to refining and alloying. This vertical integration improves quality consistency, lowers procurement costs, and enables compliance with Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) specifications. Traceability systems are increasingly embedded to meet the requirements of export markets and ESG-conscious buyers.
- ESG and Compliance-Driven Consolidation: Multinationals and institutional buyers are prioritizing non-ferrous inputs with certified recycled content and verified sustainability credentials. To meet these demands, organized recyclers are acquiring smaller, non-compliant operators and upgrading them with digital traceability, emissions reporting, and pollution-control systems. This shift is resulting in the gradual elimination of informal operators from the mainstream supply chain.
- Specialized Investments in Battery and E-Waste Recycling: The surge in demand for EVs, renewable energy storage, and electronics is catalyzing acquisitions in battery and e-waste recycling. Non-ferrous metals like lithium, cobalt, nickel, and copper recovered from these streams represent high-growth opportunities. Companies are consolidating regional e-waste operators and investing in dedicated battery recycling facilities, supported by the Battery Waste Management Rules (2022) and Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) mandates.
- Regional Cluster Consolidation in Industrial Hubs: States such as Maharashtra, Gujarat, Odisha, and Tamil Nadu are witnessing heightened consolidation activity due to their concentration of aluminium smelters, copper refineries, and alloy industries.

Regional recyclers are merging to serve nearby industrial clusters, reduce logistics costs, and enhance supply reliability. Proximity to ports further amplifies the attractiveness of these clusters for integrated operations.

- Rationalization of the Informal Sector: With policy instruments such as the Scrap Import Monitoring System (SIMS), EPR frameworks, and stricter environmental compliance, many small-scale informal recyclers are either exiting the market or being absorbed by larger organized firms. This rationalization is expected to gradually reduce fragmentation, enhance operational efficiency, and create a more transparent and accountable industry structure.

10. Future Outlook

India's non-ferrous metal industry is entering a phase of steady growth and strategic importance, supported by rising industrial demand, infrastructure development, and the global push for sustainable, lightweight, and energy-efficient materials. Aluminium, copper, zinc, and lead remain the key pillars, serving critical applications in power transmission, construction, transport, packaging, electronics, and renewable energy.

The Indian Non-ferrous metal market is valued at USD 33.30 billion in 2024 and is estimated to grow to USD 36.12 billion in 2025. The industry is projected to reach USD 69.47 billion by 2033, expanding at a Compound Annual Growth Rate (CAGR) of 8.52% during the forecast period. This growth is driven by increasing industrialization, rising demand for secondary metals in automotive, infrastructure, and manufacturing sectors, and supportive government initiatives promoting sustainable and circular economic practices.

Technological advancement will play a pivotal role in shaping industry competitiveness. The adoption of energy-efficient smelting technologies, AI-driven process control, and advanced alloy development is expected to improve productivity and reduce emissions. Simultaneously, the recycling of aluminium, copper, and other non-ferrous metals is gaining prominence as a cost-effective and environmentally sustainable supplement to primary production. This dual approach of expanding primary production while scaling secondary metal supply will enhance India's raw material security.

Policy frameworks such as the National Aluminium Policy, National Steel Policy (for recycling), and Production-Linked Incentive (PLI) schemes are expected to boost domestic production capacities, reduce import dependency, and attract fresh investment. Additionally, the government's net-zero and circular economy goals will accelerate the adoption of recycled non-ferrous metals, supported by Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) mandates and stricter environmental compliance.

On the global stage, India is positioned to emerge as a key supplier of value-added aluminium, copper, and zinc products, capitalizing on competitive costs and rising demand in Asia, the Middle East, and Africa. However, volatility in global commodity prices and geopolitical trade dynamics remain risks that could impact margins and investment cycles.

In summary, the non-ferrous metal industry in India is set to witness robust, long-term growth supported by industrial demand, policy support, recycling integration, and technological innovation. Over the next decade, the sector is expected to contribute significantly to India's infrastructure ambitions, clean energy transition, and global competitiveness in sustainable materials.

We are primarily engaged in business of manufacturing and supplying of Aluminium Ingots, Aluminium Alloy Ingots, Aluminium De-oxidizers which include products like Notch bars; cubes & shots. Our production processes are predominantly centered around recycling aluminium scrap, emphasizing sustainability and resource efficiency. In the recycling process, we segregate and recover non-ferrous metals like copper and magnesium found within aluminium scrap. Recovered metals are segregated at source for effective utilization. Substantial portion of the recovered aluminum is directed towards in-house processing, while a smaller portion is directly traded. Copper and magnesium, recovered as by-products along with certain portion of aluminum, are entirely disposed of through trading channels without undergoing any further beneficiation or fabrication.

Our Aluminum De-oxidizers are widely used in the steel industry as effective agents during steel melting, brass melting, and shot blasting operations. The Aluminium Alloys we manufacture are primarily used in the automotive sector due to their desirable properties, including stiffness, corrosion resistance, and high-temperature durability.

Our key product specifications include:

1. Aluminium Ingots: High purity levels of approximately 98%, each typically weighing between 18–20 kilograms.

enables timely procurement of raw materials and efficient dispatch of finished goods, reducing supply chain lead times and transportation costs. Gujarat's pro-manufacturing policies and supportive infrastructure further strengthen its competitive position.

Experienced and Visionary Promoter Group

Our Company is led by a team of seasoned professionals and promoters with multi-decade experience in the metals and recycling industries. The leadership team brings deep market insights, operational discipline, and long-standing vendor and customer relationships that are critical in managing input price volatility and sustaining throughput. Their ability to adapt to evolving industry trends and compliance requirements has enabled the company to scale its operations steadily since incorporation.

Growing Demand for Recycled Aluminium and Non-Ferrous Metals

As India embarks on a growing aluminium consumption trajectory, it must realize that both primary and scrap-recycling industries are essential to the vision of India's Aluminium Policy. Therefore, a fine balance must be maintained for the co-existence of primary and scrap so that it can cater to the future demand, both domestic and foreign. One of the unique properties of aluminium is recyclability. There are several reasons as to why Primary and scrap are crucial for India's Aluminium story. While, producing Aluminium from recycled scrap produces much less carbon emissions compared to primary metal, Primary aluminium production in terms of value addition is 15 times that of scrap recycling.

Secondary aluminium accounts for 30% of India's overall aluminium consumption of 3.3 million tons per year. In the past six years, secondary aluminium demand has almost doubled to 1.1 million tons, of which some 90% is imported.

MANUFACTURING PROCESS OF ALLOYS

The above represented process is designed to ensure consistent quality and adherence to customer specifications through rigorous material testing and control measures. The key steps involved in the manufacturing of aluminium alloys are detailed below:

1. Receipt and Storage of Raw Materials: The manufacturing process commences with the receipt of various grades of aluminium scrap and other raw materials such as silicon, copper, and magnesium. On arrival, materials are inspected and verified against purchase specifications. Approved materials are then stored in a well-organized manner in designated place, ensuring segregation to avoid contamination and facilitate traceability.
2. Spectrographic Analysis of Raw Materials: Prior to processing, the raw materials undergo a spectrographic analysis using an Optical Emission Spectrometer (OES). This step is critical to ascertain the chemical composition of the scrap and to determine its suitability for specific alloy production. Materials that do not meet predefined quality thresholds are either rejected or directed to the refining stage.
3. Sorting and Refinement: Based on the spectro analysis, the scrap is manually or mechanically sorted to separate metallics from non-metallics, remove impurities, and classify materials by alloy type. This step enhances efficiency in the melting process and improves alloy consistency.
4. Melting of Scrap in Furnaces: The sorted and refined scrap is loaded into induction or crucible furnaces where it is melted under controlled conditions. The process ensures homogenization of the base metal and prepares it for further alloying.
5. Sampling and Intermediate Spectro Analysis: A sample of the molten metal is extracted and subjected to spectrographic analysis to determine its current chemical composition. This analysis guides subsequent alloying decisions and ensures the melt is progressing toward the desired specification.
6. Alloying: Controlled quantities of alloying elements such as silicon, copper, magnesium, manganese, and others are added to the molten aluminium. These additions are made as per customer-specific requirements and international alloy standards (such as IS, ISO). The alloying process is continuously monitored to ensure precision.
7. Final Sampling and Spectro Analysis: After alloying, another sample is drawn from the molten metal and analyzed to verify that the final composition conforms to the required alloy specifications. Only after confirmation is the melt approved for casting.
8. Degassing and Fluxing: The molten alloy is subjected to a degassing process wherein inert gases such as nitrogen are injected into the melt. This step removes dissolved hydrogen and other impurities that may cause porosity in the final product. Simultaneously, fluxing agents are added to further purify the metal by separating non-metallic inclusions.
9. Casting into Ingots: The refined and alloyed molten metal is poured into pre-heated moulds to form ingots. This process is managed to ensure uniform shape, solidification, and surface quality. Cooling methods are employed to control the metallurgical properties of the ingots.
10. Stacking and Weighing: Once the ingots have sufficiently cooled, they are demoulded, cleaned, and transferred for stacking. Each batch is weighed, labeled, and documented for inventory control and customer invoicing.
11. Dispatch to Customers: The finished aluminium alloy ingots are packed as per customer and logistics requirements. They are then dispatched through company-managed or third-party logistics networks to domestic and international clients.

MANUFACTURING PROCESS OF INGOTS

1. Receiving and Storing of Raw Material: Raw materials, primarily aluminium scrap and other recyclable metals, are procured from verified vendors. Upon arrival, these materials are systematically logged, inspected for initial compliance, and stored under appropriate conditions to preserve their integrity until processing.
2. Spectro Analysis of Raw Material: Prior to further processing, spectrographic analysis is conducted on incoming raw materials to determine their chemical composition. This step ensures that the input material aligns with the desired metallurgical standards.
3. Sorting/Refining of Raw Material: The raw materials are then sorted and, if necessary, refined to eliminate impurities or segregate by alloy type. This enhances the efficiency of the melting process and contributes to the consistency of the final product.
4. Melting of Scrap in Furnace: The sorted scrap is charged into high-efficiency furnaces for melting. The use of modern furnace technology ensures optimization and maintains the required metallurgical parameters. The process ensures homogenization of the base metal and prepares it for further alloying.
5. Fluxing and Drossing: During the melting process, fluxing agents are introduced to remove non-metallic inclusions. Dross, a by-product containing oxides and other impurities, is systematically skimmed off to purify the molten metal.

6. Casting of Ingots / De-oxidizers: Once the molten metal has been refined, it is cast into moulds to produce either ingots or de-oxidizer products such as notch bars, cubes, or shots. Ingot casting involves pouring molten aluminium into metallic moulds or conveyor-based casting systems to form solid blocks with controlled dimensions and weight. For de-oxidizers, the molten aluminium is cast into smaller moulds or allowed to form spherical shots via a granulation process. The casting process is closely monitored to ensure temperature control, proper flow, and avoidance of air entrapment or defects.
7. Spectro Analysis of Ingots: Post-moulding, each batch of ingots undergoes spectrographic testing to verify that the final chemical composition meets the specified standards and customer requirements.
8. Stacking and Weighing of Ingots: The ingots are cooled, weighed, and stacked in compliance with operational safety and logistics norms, facilitating efficient handling and traceability.

COLLABORATIONS, ANY PERFORMANCE GUARANTEE OR ASSISTANCE IN MARKETING BY THE COLLABORATORS

Our Company has not entered into any collaboration, or performance guarantee or assistance for marketing with any Company.

MARKETING & DISTRIBUTION

We adopt a strategically balanced marketing and distribution approach to cater to both domestic and international markets for its aluminium alloy products. Our company primarily operates in the B2B segment, targeting industrial consumers across sectors such as automotive, engineering, electricals, and metallurgy. Its marketing strategy focuses on direct client engagement, product customization, and building long-term supply relationships. By offering tailored alloy compositions and products and consistent quality, the company positions itself not merely as a raw material supplier but as a solution partner to its clients.

In the domestic market, our Company has developed strong relationships with manufacturers and processors by ensuring timely deliveries and adherence to product specifications. We are benefitted from its location in Gandhinagar, Gujarat, which provides logistical advantages due to its connectivity to key industrial zones and ports. It leverages both road and containerized shipping networks to ensure cost-effective and timely transportation of goods.

Internationally, our Company exports its products to countries such as China and Hong Kong and sources raw material from regions including the United States, United Kingdom, and the Middle East. Our Company maintains an active presence in key trade exhibitions and industry forums to expand its reach and stay abreast of emerging customer requirements.

COMPETITION

The aluminium recycling and alloy manufacturing industry in which we operate is moderately fragmented and competitive. The key parameters of competition include product quality, chemical consistency, timely delivery, cost efficiency, and adherence to customer-specific technical standards. As a player in the secondary aluminium market, we primarily compete with other domestic recyclers and alloy manufacturers who cater to industries such as automotive, electricals, construction, and engineering.

While the market includes several unorganized players offering low-cost alternatives, Our Company differentiates itself through its various accreditations and certifications for quality management systems, consistent product output, and its ability to deliver customized alloy compositions as per client requirements. Our company's commitment to sourcing high-grade aluminium scrap, adherence to spectrographic testing standards, and reliable delivery timelines has helped build a loyal customer base and favorable word-of-mouth reputation in the industry.

In the domestic market, the competitive landscape includes manufacturers of aluminium alloys and de-oxidizers with established distribution networks and broader production capacities. Some competitors may enjoy scale advantages or operate integrated facilities, enabling more cost-competitive offerings. However, our Company leverages its strategic location in Gujarat, near industrial belts and key ports, to maintain a logistical edge in servicing both local and export demand. On the global front, the company faces competition from international producers of recycled aluminium products, particularly in price-sensitive export destinations. Nevertheless, our Company's flexible manufacturing approach, focus on sustainability, and ability to meet international quality benchmarks have positioned it favorably in select export markets.

Given the continued growth of downstream aluminium usage and the shift towards environmentally responsible sourcing, the competitive intensity in the industry is expected to rise. We aim to remain well-positioned by continuing to invest in quality control, customer service, and technological improvements.

PROCUREMENT OF RAW MATERIAL AND LOGISTIC SERVICES

The primary raw material used by our Company is aluminium scrap, which serves as the core input for manufacturing aluminium alloys and de-oxidizers. Our Company also utilizes other non-ferrous scrap materials such as copper and magnesium, depending on the alloy specifications required. Given the recycling-based nature of its manufacturing operations, the availability, quality, and cost of aluminium scrap play a crucial role in determining overall production efficiency and profitability.

Our Company follows a hybrid procurement strategy, sourcing scrap from both domestic suppliers and international markets. Domestically, the company procures material through a network of traders and aggregators located near industrial and urban centers. For its imported scrap requirements, we maintain procurement links with suppliers in the United States, United Kingdom, and countries in the Middle East. Fluctuations in global scrap metal prices, currency exchange rates, and import regulations may affect the cost and availability of raw materials. To mitigate these risks, our Company emphasizes supplier diversification, bulk procurement planning, and maintaining safety stock levels where feasible.

In terms of logistics, our Company engages third-party logistics service providers for the transportation of raw materials and finished goods. For domestic procurement, road transport is primarily used to ensure timely delivery to our manufacturing facility, while imported scrap is shipped via sea freight to designated ports and transported by road to the plant. The choice of logistics partners is based on factors such as reliability, cost efficiency, capacity, and compliance with applicable safety and environmental regulations.

TECHNOLOGY

The Company relies on information technology to support its accounting and business operations. For accounting and financial management, the Company uses Tally software, which enables efficient bookkeeping, preparation of financial statements, tax compliance, and inventory management. The software also facilitates accuracy in financial reporting and helps maintain statutory compliance. In addition, the Company uses a spectrometer as part of its operational processes to ensure precision and reliability in quality checks.

In addition to accounting, the Company continues to explore and adopt digital tools and technologies that enhance operational efficiency, record-keeping, and internal control systems. Our focus on leveraging reliable and widely accepted software solutions ensures transparency, consistency, and scalability in our financial and business processes.

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

The provision of section 135 of the Companies Act, 2013 and rules made thereunder pertaining to corporate social responsibility is not applicable on Our Company; as none of the following criteria is met in the preceding financial year: (a) Net-worth of ₹500 crores or more, or (b) Turnover more than ₹1,000 crores or more, or (c) Net Profit more than ₹5 crores or more.

HEALTH AND SAFETY

Our Company is committed to providing a safe and healthy working environment and complies with all applicable health and safety laws and regulations in India. We have adopted ISO 45001:2018, the international standard for occupational health and safety management systems, which reflects our structured approach towards identifying, managing, and mitigating workplace risks.

We prioritize employee well-being by:

- Implementing safety protocols and standard operating procedures across our registered office and manufacturing unit.
- Conducting regular safety drills and mock exercises to ensure preparedness for emergencies.
- Providing periodic training programs on workplace safety, fire safety, and emergency response.

To maintain hygiene and minimize risks, we ensure that our store premises and workplaces are kept clean, well-ventilated, and regularly sanitized. First-aid kits are strategically placed at key locations, and trained personnel are available to provide immediate assistance in case of medical emergencies.

By continuously reviewing and upgrading our health and safety measures, we aim to foster a secure, efficient, and sustainable workplace for our employees, thereby supporting productivity, morale, and long-term business continuity.

INDUSTRY RELATED LAWS AND REGULATIONS

THE FACTORIES ACT, 1948

The Factories Act, 1948, as amended, defines a “factory” to cover any premises that employ 10 or more workers on any day of the preceding 12 months and in which a manufacturing process is carried on with the aid of power or any premises where at least 20 workers are employed, and where a manufacturing process is carried on without the aid of power. Each state government has enacted rules in respect of the prior submission of plans and their approval for the establishment of factories and registration/licensing thereof. The Factories Act mandates the ‘occupier’ of a factory to ensure (i) the safety and proper maintenance of the factory such that it does not pose health risks to persons in the factory premises; (ii) the safe use, handling, storage and transport of factory articles and substances; (iii) provision of adequate instruction, training and supervision to ensure workers’ health and safety; and (iv) cleanliness and safe working conditions in the factory premises. The Factories Act provides for the imposition of fines and imprisonment of the manager and occupier of the factory in case of any contravention of the provisions of the Factories Act.

NATIONAL NON-FERROUS METAL SCRAP RECYCLING FRAMEWORK, 2020

The National Non-Ferrous Metal Scrap Recycling Framework, 2020, as amended (the “Non-Ferrous Metal Recycling Framework”) issued by the Ministry of Mines, Government of India, envisages bringing both product and processing stewardship to enhance Non-Ferrous Metal recycling. Its objectives include inter alia, the promotion of a formal and well-organized recycling ecosystem; adoption of data-based analysis and policy-making at all stages of the recycling chain; production of high-quality scrap for quality secondary production whilst minimizing the dependency on imports; achieving technological leadership in scientific methodology; bettering the quality of scrap produced; and to promote the 6Rs principles of Reduce, Reuse, Recycle, Recover, Redesign and Remanufacture through scientific handling, processing and disposal of all types of non-ferrous scrap, through authorized centers/facility. The Non-Ferrous Metal Recycling Framework aims to achieve its goal of having a sustainable non-ferrous metal recycling eco-system in the long run by, inter alia, setting up a central authority for the recycling of metals which may be called the Metal Recycling Authority; placing obligations on the stakeholders involved in the process; setting up an institutional mechanism for carrying out studies and advance research in the field of recycling of metal; and by having the government encourage and provide support to research & development in metal scrap recycling. It also aims to develop specified metal recycling zones with facilities for collection, segregation, dismantling, etc. of metal scrap and ensure quality control by fixing minimum infrastructure requirements for recycling units with clear minimum standards and criteria for the processing of recyclables to produce consistent, high-quality streams of recyclable material.

ALUMINIUM AND ALUMINIUM ALLOY PRODUCTS (QUALITY CONTROL) ORDER, 2024.

Under the Foreign Trade (Development and Regulation) Act, 1992, the Central Government is empowered to periodically formulate the Export Import Policy (the EXIM Policy) and amend it thereafter whenever it deems fit. All exports and imports must be in compliance with the EXIM Policy. The iron and steel industry has been extended various schemes for the promotion of exports of finished goods and imports of inputs. The major schemes available are the Duty Exemption and Remission Scheme and the Export Promotion of Capital Goods (EPCG) Scheme. The Duty Exemption Scheme enables duty free imports of inputs required for the production of exports by obtaining an advance license. The Duty Remission Scheme enables post export replenishment/remission of duty on inputs used in the export product. This scheme consists of a Duty-Free Import Authorization Scheme (DFIA), the Duty Drawback Scheme (DBK) and the Duty Entitlement Passbook (the DEPB). DFIA enables duty free replenishment of inputs used in manufacture of exports. Under the DEPB Scheme, exporters on the basis of notified entitled rates are granted duty credit, which would entitle them to import goods, except capital goods, without duty.

Further, in 2023 a “Guidelines for Prevention and Regulation of Dark Patterns,” issued by India's Central Consumer Protection Authority (CCPA), aims to protect consumers from deceptive design practices in digital interfaces that mislead users into actions they did not intend, thereby undermining their autonomy and violating consumer rights. These guidelines apply to all platforms systematically offering goods or services in India, including advertisers and sellers. Significant Developments Subsequent to the Last Financial Year

In the opinion of the Board of Directors of our Company, other than as mentioned below, since the date of the last financial statements disclosed in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus, there have not arisen any circumstance that materially or adversely affect or are likely to affect the business or profitability of our Company or the value of its assets or its ability to pay its material liabilities within the next twelve months.

Principal Factors Affecting Our Financial Condition and Results of Operations

Our Business is subjected to various risks and uncertainties, including those discussed in the section titled “Risk Factors” beginning on page 33. Our Company’s future results of operations could be affected potentially by the following factors:

1. Pricing of Aluminium on LME:

Our financial performance is highly influenced by the price of Aluminium on London Metal Exchange. As we continue to cater to an expanding our client base, maintaining strong relationships with existing clients and attracting new business opportunities is vital for revenue growth. However, fluctuations in market conditions, such as economic downturns, can result negatively on our financial performance.

2. Cost Management and Operational Efficiency:

Our ability to effectively manage costs plays a significant role in determining our profitability. Operational expenses, including natural gas, sorting and verification of grade of aluminium must be balanced against service revenues. As the sourcing of Aluminium from outside India, any delay in receipt of material can significantly affect the production timeline & delay the delivery deadline, managing material acquisition and optimizing operational efficiency are critical. Additionally, fluctuations in price of Aluminium impact overall operating expenses. Therefore, our success depends on continuously optimizing resources while ensuring high-quality delivery.

3. Compliance with International Standards and Regulatory Changes:

Our adherence to global quality, environmental, and information security certifications - ISO 9001:2015, ISO 14001:2015, and ISO 45001:2018, forms the backbone of our brand reputation and client trust.

4. Exchange Rate Volatility and Geopolitical Risks:

As a company sources its raw material majorly from Europe and Middle East, exchange rate fluctuations between the US Dollar (USD) and Indian Rupee (INR) have a significant impact on our financial results. A weakened INR against the USD can increase operational costs for our foreign suppliers, potentially leading to pricing adjustments or renegotiations. Moreover, geopolitical tensions, changes in trade policies, or economic instability in either country can disrupt the flow of business or affect the supply chain. For instance, tariffs restrictions could impact our relation with the foreign suppliers & also require us to source another supplier which affect the timelines of the business, eventually increasing operational cost and reducing our ability to deliver efficiently. Such risks need to be mitigated through strategic hedging, diversification, and ongoing market analysis to safeguard our financial health and ensure continued growth.

KEY PERFORMANCE INDICATORS

We utilise a set of financial and non-financial key performance indicators that our management reviews in evaluating the performance of our business. Our management believes that the presentation of these key performance indicators in this Draft Red Herring Prospectus is important to understanding our performance from period to period and also have an impact on our results of operations. ILLUSTRATION OF THE BOOK BUILDING AND PRICE DISCOVERY PROCESS

Bidders should note that this example is solely for illustrative purposes and is not specific to the Issue; it also excludes Bidding by Anchor Investors.

Bidders can bid at any price within the Price Band. For instance, assume a Price Band of ₹20 to ₹ 24 per share, Issue size of 3,000 Equity Shares and receipt of five Bids from Bidders, details of which are shown in the table below. The illustrative book given below shows the demand for the Equity Shares of the Issuer at various prices and is collated from Bids received from various investors.

Bid Quantity	Bid Amount (₹)	Cumulative Quantity	Subscription
500	24	500	16.67%
1000	23	1500	50.00%
1500	22	3000	100.00%
2000	21	5000	166.67%
2500	20	7500	250.00%

The price discovery is a function of demand at various prices. The highest price at which the Issuer is able to Issue the desired number of Equity Shares is the price at which the book cuts off, i.e., ₹ 22.00 in the above example. The Issuer, in consultation with the BRLM, may finalise the Issue Price at or below such Cut-Off Price, i.e., at or below ₹ 22.00. Allotment Process:

The entire Basis of allotment is based on Reverse Application number so that the lottery system allotment is truly random and there is absolutely no scope of discretion. The basis will be submitted to stock exchange for their approval and draw of lucky numbers for the ratio. The lucky no's are shared by the Exchange as per the ratio arrived for each category. Once the lucky numbers are assigned, the applications forming part of that category will be taken separately and their application numbers will be reversed. For example, if the application no. is 12345678, after reversal it will become 87654321. After reversing the application numbers, they will be arranged in ascending order and will be assigned with numbers starting from 1 according to the ratio. For example, in the first category of 1000 lot, the 30 application numbers will be reversed and arranged in ascending order. They will be assigned numbers from 1 to 3 repeatedly in loop. If the lucky numbers chosen by stock exchange is 1 & 3 for this category, then those applications which were assigned with numbers 1 & 3 will be allottee applications and the applications assigned with number 2 will be non-allottee application. This Process gets repeated for all the categories where allotment needs to be done on lottery basis.

RESTRICTIONS ON FOREIGN OWNERSHIP OF INDIAN SECURITIES

Foreign investment in Indian securities is regulated through the Industrial Policy, 1991 of the Government of India and Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999 ("FEMA"). While the Industrial Policy, 1991 prescribes the limits and the conditions subject to which foreign investment can be made in different sectors of the Indian economy, FEMA regulates the precise manner in which such investment may be made. Under the Industrial Policy, unless specifically restricted, foreign investment is freely permitted in all sectors of Indian economy up to any extent and without any prior approvals, but the foreign investor is required to follow certain prescribed procedures for making such investment. The government bodies responsible for granting foreign investment approvals are the Reserve Bank of India ("RBI") and Department of Industrial Policy and Promotion, Ministry of Commerce and Industry, Government of India ("DIPP").

The Government of India has from time to time made policy pronouncements on FDI through press notes and press releases. The DPIIT issued the Consolidated Foreign Direct Investment Policy notified by the DPIIT File No. 5(2)/2020-FDI Policy dated October 15, 2020, with effect from October 15, 2020 (the "FDI Policy"), which consolidates and supersedes all previous press notes, press releases and clarifications on FDI issued by the DPIIT or the DPIIT that were in force and effect prior to October 15, 2020. The Government of India proposes to update the consolidated circular on FDI Policy once every year and therefore, the FDI Policy will be valid until the DPIIT issues an updated circular.

In terms of the FEMA NDI Rules, a person resident outside India may make investments into India, subject to certain terms and conditions, and provided that an entity of a country, which shares land border with India or the beneficial owner of an investment into India who is situated in or is a citizen of any such country, shall invest only with government approval.

The transfer of shares between an Indian resident and a non-resident does not require the prior approval of the RBI, provided that (i) the activities of the investee company are under the automatic route under the foreign direct investment policy and transfer does not attract the provisions of the Takeover Regulations; (ii) the non-resident shareholding is within the sectoral limits under the FDI policy; and (iii) the pricing is in accordance with the guidelines prescribed by the SEBI / RBI.

Further, in accordance with Press Note No. 3 (2020 Series), dated April 17, 2020 issued by the DPIIT and the Foreign Exchange Management (Non-debt Instruments) Amendment Rules, 2020 which came into effect from April 22, 2020, any investment, subscription, purchase or sale of equity instruments by entities of a country which shares land border with India or where the beneficial owner of an investment into India is situated in or is a citizen of any such country ("Restricted Investors"), will require prior approval of the Government, as prescribed in the Consolidated FDI Policy and the FEMA Rules. Further, in the event of transfer of ownership of any existing or future foreign direct investment in an entity in India, directly or indirectly, resulting in the beneficial ownership falling within the aforesaid restriction/ purview, such subsequent change in the beneficial ownership will also require approval of the Government. Furthermore, on April 22, 2020, the Ministry of Finance, Government of India has also made a similar amendment to the FEMA Rules. Pursuant to the Foreign Exchange Management (Non-debt Instruments) (Fourth Amendment) Rules, 2020, a multilateral bank or fund, of which India is a member, shall not be treated as an entity of a particular country nor shall any country be treated as the beneficial owner of the investments of such bank or fund in India. Each Bidder should seek independent legal advice about its ability to participate in the Issue. In the event such prior approval of the Government of India is required, and such approval has been obtained, the Bidder shall intimate our Company and the Registrar to the Issue in writing about such approval along with a copy thereof within the Issue Period.
