TRUMP-XI SUMMIT

China signals tariff cuts, agrees to expand agri trade

US & China to tackle non-tariff barriers, market access issues

REUTERS
Beijing, May 16

CHINA AND THE United States have agreed to expand agricultural trade through tariff reductions and tackle non-tariff barriers and market access issues, China's commerce ministry said on Saturday after this week's summit in Beijing. The agreements are "preliminary" and will be "finalised as soon as possible," the ministry said following US President Donald Trump's visit.

China's farm imports from the US still face an additional 10% levy after last year's rounds of tit-for-tat tariffs sharply curtailed trade, which fell 65.7% year-on-year to $8.4 billion in 2025, according to US Department of Agriculture data.

The commerce ministry said both sides aim to promote two-way trade, including in agricultural products, through measures such as reciprocal tariff reductions across a range of goods. It did not specify which products. China resumed purchases of some US farm goods after an October meeting, fulfilling a US-stated commitment to buy 12 million metric tons of soybeans by the end of February. It has also purchased some US wheat cargoes and large volumes of sorghum.

Market watchers expect a 10% cut in soybean tariffs, which could allow private Chinese crushers to resume purchases that were largely sidelined during last year's US harvest, when state crop traders were the only buyers.

"Tariff reductions on agricultural products would mark a normalisation of China-US farm trade, allowing commercial buyers to re-enter the market," said Johnny Xiang, founder of Beijing-based AgRadar Consulting. The ministry said both sides agreed to "resolve or make substantive progress" on non-tariff barriers and market access issues.

China will work to address US concerns over registration of beef facilities and poultry exports from certain US states, it said.

Beijing on Friday granted five-year registration extensions to 425 US beef plants that had largely been shut out after their registrations lapsed last year, and approved new five-year registrations for 77 additional US facilities.

Trump claims Xi agrees Iran must open Hormuz

Iran to soon unveil plan to manage traffic through strait

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
Washington, May 16

US PRESIDENT DONALD Trump said Chinese President Xi Jinping had agreed Tehran must reopen the Strait of Hormuz, though China gave no indication it would weigh in.

Flying back from Beijing on Friday after two days of talks with Xi, Trump said he was considering whether to lift US sanctions on Chinese oil companies buying Iranian oil. China is the biggest buyer of Iranian oil. "I'm not asking for any favours because when you ask for favours, you have to do favours in return," Trump said when asked by a reporter on Air Force One whether Xi had made a firm commitment to put pressure on the Iranians to reopen the strait.

Xi did not comment on his discussions with Trump about Iran, although China's foreign ministry criticised the war, calling it a conflict "which should never have happened, has no reason to continue". Iran has effectively shut the strait, which carried one-fifth of global oil and liquefied natural gas supply before the US and Israel launched attacks on February 28. The disruption to shipping has caused the biggest oil supply crisis in history, pushing up oil prices. Ebrahim Azizi, who heads the Iranian parliament's national security committee, said on Saturday that Tehran had prepared a mechanism to manage traffic through the strait along a designated route that would be unveiled soon.

Azizi said only commercial vessels and parties cooperating with Iran would benefit, and that fees would be collected for specialised services provided under the mechanism.

Suezmax tanker with Iraqi crude reaches India after Hormuz transit

A SUEZMAX TANKER identified as carrying Iraqi crude is approaching India after apparently crossing the Strait of Hormuz in recent days.

Observable daily commercial transits of the waterway in both directions dropped to five ships on Friday from 11 the previous day. There was a slight pick-up into Saturday morning, with six seen moving through the strait, vessel-tracking data compiled by Bloomberg show. Transits into and out of the Persian Gulf remain far below prewar levels as the conflict enters a 12th week. Tehran has made acceptance of Iran's sovereignty over the strait one of five preconditions for rejoining talks to end the war. — BLOOMBERG

India rejects Hague tribunal's arbitration on Indus Treaty

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, May 16

INDIA ON SATURDAY trashed a ruling by the Permanent Court of Arbitration in The Hague regarding certain hydroelectric projects in Jammu and Kashmir which Pakistan had objected to under the framework of the Indus Waters Treaty.

New Delhi, rejecting the award, said its decision to hold the Indus Waters Treaty in "abeyance" remains in force. India has been maintaining that the so-called Court of Arbitration (CoA) to look into the matter was "illegally constituted". "The illegally constituted so-called Court of Arbitration (CoA) has, on May 15, issued what it termed an award concerning maximum pondage supplemental to the award on issues of general interpretation of the Indus Waters Treaty," External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal said. "India categorically rejects the present so-called award, just as it has firmly rejected all prior pronouncements of the illegally constituted CoA," he said.

Jaiswal said India has never recognised the establishment of this "so-called" CoA. "Any proceeding, award, or decision issued by it is null and void. India's decision to hold the Indus Waters Treaty in abeyance remains in force," he said. A day after the April 22, 2025 Pahalgam terror attack, India took a series of punitive measures against Pakistan, including putting the 1960 Indus Waters Treaty in "abeyance".

SpaceX IPO: Firm targets Nasdaq listing by June 12

REUTERS
New York, May 16

ELON MUSK'S ROCKET and satellite maker SpaceX is aiming to list its shares as early as June 12 and has picked the Nasdaq as the trading venue for its blockbuster market debut, people familiar with the matter told Reuters on Friday. The listing, one of the most anticipated in years, is expected to headline this year's crowded IPO calendar that could also include AI heavyweights Anthropic and OpenAI, both of which are expected to tap public markets. SpaceX's debut comes at a pivotal moment for the IPO market, which has rebounded after struggling over the past couple of years amid volatility fuelled by US tariff policy and geopolitical uncertainty.

Set to trade under the ticker 'SPCX', the company has accelerated its IPO timeline and is now aiming to make its prospectus public as early as next Wednesday, with a roadshow launch targeted for June 4 and the share sale as early as June 11, according to three sources familiar with the matter. The new plan to IPO during the second week of June represents a quicker-than-expected timeline for SpaceX's offering, moving forward a process that had initially been targeted for late June — around the time of Musk's birthday — the sources said, requesting anonymity as the discussions are private. A faster-than-expected review of the company's IPO paperwork by the US Securities and Exchange Commission was partially responsible for the company's move to bring forward the listing timeline, the sources added. SPCX was previously the ticker for Tuttle Capital Management's SPAC-focused ETF before the firm switched to the SPCK ticker in April. The move at the time triggered speculation about SpaceX potentially choosing the newly available ticker.

Reuters was first to report in March that SpaceX was leaning toward listing its shares on the Nasdaq, as it sought early inclusion on the Nasdaq-100 index.

SpaceX did not immediately respond to requests for comment. Nasdaq and the SEC declined to comment. The listing would mark a major victory for Nasdaq, staving off competition from its crosstown rival, the New York Stock Exchange. It comes on the heels of the rollout of Nasdaq's anticipated 'fast entry' rules to speed up the entry of newly listed large-cap companies to its benchmark Nasdaq-100 index. Other leading index operators like S&P Dow Jones Indices and FTSE Russell have launched similar rules to fast-track new listings to their respective benchmarks.

Musk: Not selling any SpaceX shares

ELON MUSK SAID he is not selling any SpaceX shares, with the company reported to be preparing to file publicly for its long-awaited IPO as soon as next week. "I'm not selling any shares," Musk wrote on X in response to a user post that suggested he do so after a lockup period. The rocket, satellite and artificial intelligence company could file publicly for its IPO, according to people familiar with the matter. — BLOOMBERG

Exit from OPEC, OPEC+ not political, says UAE

THE UNITED ARAB Emirates' decision to withdraw from OPEC and OPEC+ was a sovereign and strategic choice based on a comprehensive assessment of its production policy and future capabilities, the UAE energy minister, Suhail Al Mazrouei, said on Saturday in a post on X. The minister added that the move was not politically motivated and did not reflect divisions with partners.

The UAE announced late April that it was quitting OPEC on May 1, dealing a blow to the oil producers' group as an unprecedented energy crisis caused by the Iran war exposes discord among Gulf nations. —REUTERS
