RANKS 67 ON TRANSITION INDEX

Energy transition: Only India moving ahead in all aspects

MANISH GUPTA
New Delhi, June 27

INDIA, THE ONLY major economy, that is "making advances on all aspects of energy transition," the World Economic Forum (WEF) said in a report, even as the country still ranked a lowly 67 among 120 countries in terms of the progress in the transition.

The momentum of transition, which is key to the country meeting the multilateral carbon reduction goals, is "accelerating across the Energy Transition Index's (ETI) equitable, secure and sustainable dimensions," the WEF said. India is steadily improving across the three dimensions of the energy triangle over the past decade, and improved its score by more than 10 percentage points along with two other large emerging centres of demand - China and Indonesia.

"Achieving universal access to electricity, replacing solid fuels with clean cooking options (primarily liquefied petroleum gas) and increasing renewable energy deployment have been primary contributors to the improvement of India's ETI performance," the WEF said in the report "Fostering Effective Energy Transition 2023 Edition." At COP26, India committed to achieving net-zero emissions by 2070 and raised its ambition in its revised nationally determined contribution to reduce emission intensity by 45% from 2005 levels, and attain 50% of cumulative non-fossil fuel power generation capacity by 2030. Though the energy mix remains predominantly carbon intensive, Indian energy sector's sustainability profile has improved due to the reduced energy intensity and the increasing share of renewable energy, it said. "Improvements in the enabling environment have been driven by political commitment, an ambitious reform agenda, infrastructure investments and a competitive renewable energy landscape," the report stated. India's energy consumption has more than doubled since 2000.

Although the report notes that India maintains a well-diversified mix of energy trade partners, rising import dependence represents a risk amid global energy market volatility. Decarbonisation of power generation and electrification of final demand are key levers of India's energy transition, it said. The report further highlights that India will require a substantial increase in investments and the modernisation of the grid infrastructure if it wants to install 500 GW of non-fossil fuel power generation capacity by 2030.

WHEN EMPLOYERS DEFAULT ON EPFO DUES

Some former employees of ed-tech giant Byju's have alleged that the company hadn't deposited their dues to the Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO) for months. Against this backdrop, Saikat Neogi explains how one can check for EPF default by the employer and what recourse is available

If the employer goes bankrupt...

ONE OF OBJECTIVES of the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code is to balance the interests of all stakeholders, including employees. Provident fund, gratuity & pension are specifically included in workmen dues. Under Section 36 (4)(a)(iii), sums owed to workers pertaining to their provident fund, pension, and gratuity, shall not be included in the liquidation estate. This means that such sums due as a result of employer contributions cannot be utilised to pay off the firm's debts and must be paid to workers in full. This was confirmed by NCLAT in the Assam Tea EPFO case.

The Supreme Court, in February 2023, ruled in Jet Airways that workers are entitled to the entire amount of gratuity and provident fund dues. The successful Resolution Applicant must pay the unpaid balance of provident fund and gratuity to employees; failing to do so would be a violation of Section 30(2)(e) of IBC, which could result in the plan being deemed non-viable.

Checking for default

AN EMPLOYEE CONTRIBUTES 12% of her basic and dearness allowance to the retirement security schemes managed by the Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO); the employer contributes a matching amount. Of the employer's 12%, 8.33% of the ceiling amount of ₹15,000 a month goes towards Employees' Pension Scheme, which is the pension pool, and the rest is invested in Employees' Provident Fund (EPF).

The subscriber must regularly check the provident fund e-passbook by logging into the Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (EPFO) member portal and report any delay in the contributions to both the company's HR department and the EPFO. Though EPFO sends SMS alerts of the payments made, this can be erratic at times.

What happens on default

EMPLOYERS DEFAULTING on either their or the employees' share must pay damages under section 14B of the EPF & Miscellaneous Provisions Act, 1952—5% of the arrears if the default period is less than two months, 10% for 2-4 months, 15% for 4-6 months and 25% for >6 months. The damages are restricted to 100% of the arrears. An annual interest of 12% on the dues is charged for the period of delay.

Under Section 8F, EPFO can order post offices, banks, etc, to withhold payments due to the defaulting employers and remit the amount to the EPFO. Complaints can be lodged under Section 406/409 of Indian Penal Code against defaulting employers who deducted the amount from employees' salaries. The EPFO has set up a directorate of recovery to monitor the performance of field functionaries. Recovery actions, such as attachment/sale of movable or immovable property, arrest of directors of defaulting company, are provided for in the statute.

Non-payment of PF dues by employer

THE EPFO WILL pay the PF amount due to the member only to the extent of the amount realised from the employer. However, in case of late deposit of dues by the employer, after realising the dues, the members will get the full interest for each due month and it will not affect the interest due to the members on the contributions paid. A member can demand for a contribution card in form 3-A/ECR from the employer which shows the recovery contribution to the EPF.

On March 31, 2022 (per the latest available data), ₹14,202 crore was outstanding from defaulting employers, including ₹4,102 crore of penal damages and interest.

About 70% of the amount falls under Non Immediately Realisable category for reasons such as amount in dispute in courts or tribunals, establishments having entered into liquidation, grant of installments and establishments in respect of which rehabilitation scheme had been sanctioned by the Board for Industrial and Financial Reconstruction.

Of the total ₹12,742 crore due from the unexempted sector, ₹10,479 crore will have to be recovered from the private sector, ₹1,843 crore from the public sector and ₹420 crore from the co-operative sector.
