DMart gains on Q1 showing, hopes of rise in demand

RAM PRASAD SAHU
Mumbai, 17 July

Shares of Avenue Supermarts (DMart) have gained about 5 per cent over the past week on better than expected June quarter (Q1FY25) performance, hopes of a recovery in discretionary demand, and margin gains going ahead.

The key takeaway from the results was the robust gross margin performance. Riding on improving mix, DMart posted a 34 basis point year-on-year (Y-o-Y) improvement in gross margins to 14.9 per cent. The company indicated that higher contributions from the more profitable general merchandise and apparel category led to the gross margin expansion.

Though there was an improvement, the gross margins are still lower as compared to the pre-pandemic levels (15.6 per cent/16.1 per cent seen in Q1FY20) as well as Q1FY23 (15.8 per cent), indicative of enough headroom to expand the share of discretionary categories, point out analysts led by Mehul Desai of JM Financial Research.

While the brokerage is positive on the company and has a "buy" rating, the key monitorables, according to it, are the pace of store expansion and the contribution of the discretionary category to sales.

Even though gross margins were better than Street expectations, the same was not reflected at the operating level. While the operating profit grew by 17.8 per cent over the year-ago quarter, margins were flat at 8.9 per cent, weighed down by higher costs.

Kotak Institutional Equities Research points out that the higher-than-expected gross margins were offset by higher employee costs (up 29 per cent Y-o-Y), as well as higher other operating costs (up 26 per cent Y-o-Y). Both standalone and consolidated results indicate this trend, indicating higher operating costs in offline operations, it adds. The brokerage has marginally cut its earnings per share estimates after the results while retaining its "sell" call.

IN EXPANSION MODE

"We retain a cautious stance on the stock in view of expensive valuations. Higher-than-expected revenue growth or margin expansion are key risks to our call," say analysts led by Garima Mishra of the brokerage.

Prabhudas Lilladher Research says that DMart's first quarter results meet expectations, indicating stabilisation in operational metrics. Sales per store grew by 4.7 per cent Y-o-Y, while sales per square foot increased by 4.4 per cent Y-o-Y, despite the opening of larger stores. The cost of retail rose marginally by 45 basis points Y-o-Y, driven by increased operating expenses aimed at enhancing service and sales capabilities for future growth. This led to a miss of 17 basis points on the operating profit margin front compared to analyst estimates. During the quarter, DMart expanded its footprint by adding 6 new stores, each larger by 50 per cent Y-o-Y and 20 per cent quarter-over-quarter (Q-o-Q). Looking ahead to the financial year 2025, analysts noted, that DMart plans to open approximately 45 new stores, continuing its focus on Tier-II and Tier-III cities, potentially accelerating store openings further.

Analysts also highlighted that DMart's long-term growth prospects remain strong, with the potential to operate over 1,500 stores in the duopoly market. However, they cautioned the slower expansion pace of DMart Ready compared to quick commerce players, which could pose challenges in the long term. Prabhudas Lilladher Research has a price target of ₹5,104 based on discounted cash flow (DCF) analysis. They noted that a re-rating of the stock appears unlikely given the current high valuations of 81 times FY26 earnings per share. Consequently, it has revised the stock recommendation from "buy" to "accumulate".

DMart's consolidated net profit rose 17.5 per cent Y-o-Y to ₹773.7 crore in Q1FY25, helped by improvement in sales from general merchandise and apparel. The company had posted a net profit of ₹658.7 crore in the same quarter a year ago. The supermarket chain operator's revenue from operations soared nearly 19 per cent Y-o-Y to ₹14,069.1 crore in Q1FY25 against ₹11,865.4 crore in the corresponding quarter in the last financial year.

Temper volatility in mid and smallcaps with multicap funds

SARBAJEET K SEN

Diversified equity portfolios tend to reward investors in the long term. Indian mutual fund investors appear to have embraced this approach. According to the latest data from the Association of Mutual Funds in India (Amfi), multicap funds received net inflows of ₹4,708 crore in June 2024, the highest among diversified equity schemes. Meanwhile, Franklin Templeton Asset Management Company (AMC) has launched the new fund offer (NFO) of Franklin India Multicap Fund.

"Multicap funds are a good choice for investors since they provide a fair distribution of exposure to large, mid, and small companies. Value and growth are well-balanced in multi-cap fund portfolios," says Manish Lodha, equity fund manager, Mahindra Manulife Mutual Fund.

A diversified offering Multicap funds invest 25 per cent of their portfolio each in large, mid, and smallcap stocks. The remainder is invested at the fund manager's discretion. "Multicap funds offer dedicated exposure, and hence participation, to all market cap segments. Diversification across market cap segments mitigates market cap-specific risk during periods of volatility," says Ajay Khandelwal, fund manager, Motilal Oswal AMC.

Growth with stability
The largecap stocks in their portfolios provide stability

OUTPERFORMER

while the mid- and small-cap stocks provide growth.

"Decent exposure to large caps provides overall portfolio stability while midcap and smallcap allocation provides adequate earnings delta to the portfolio. Hence, it is a good category over the medium term from a risk-adjusted returns standpoint," says Ankit Jain, senior fund manager, Mirae Asset Investment Managers (India).

Volatility exists

Substantial exposure to mid- and smallcap stocks brings inherent volatility. "The level of risk goes up in a multicap fund if the smallcap exposure is relatively high. In the past, there have been several instances of small caps underperforming the broader market," says Lodha. He adds that the capacity to invest nearly 50 per cent of these funds' corpus in large companies can, however, serve as a mitigating factor.

Distinct from flexicap

In flexicap schemes, the fund manager has the discretion to allocate as much of his fund's corpus as she likes to stocks of different market caps.

Despite this flexibility, many flexicap schemes invest heavily in large-cap stocks. As of June 30, 2024, flexicap schemes had invested 70 per cent of their funds in large-cap stocks. In a broad-based rally, which lifts mid- and smallcap stocks more than largecap stocks, multicap schemes perform better. "By investing in different market caps, multi-cap funds can capture growth opportunities across various sectors and market segments, including emerging companies with high growth potential," says Khandelwal.

However, in a narrow market led by a few largecap stocks, flexi-cap schemes with high large-cap allocations may be a better alternative. "The disadvantage of multi-cap is the relatively lower flexibility to move across different market cap segments depending on relative valuation," says Jain.

Who should invest

Investors keen on mid and smallcap stocks but wary of volatility should consider multicap equity schemes over standalone midcap or smallcap schemes. "A multicap fund should be a core product which provides an opportunity for optimal participation at all times," says Jain.

Invest in these schemes using systematic investment plans (SIP) and systematic transfer plans (STP). "As equity is a growth asset class, a minimum of five years is optimal, as it provides ample time for small and midcap stocks to grow," says Lodha.

ITR filing: Is dividend from shares and MF taxed?

As the last date to file income-tax returns (ITR) approaches, a common question is whether a recipient of dividends from their investment in shares or mutual funds has to pay tax on them.

Read full report here: mybs.in/2dWhPfd

Taxation and deduction

Dividends are reported in the ITR form under 'Income from other sources'. Taxpayers can claim a deduction of up to 20 per cent of the gross dividend income towards the interest expense incurred to earn it. However, expenses like commissions cannot be claimed as deduction.

How much tax?

If an investor in the 30 per cent tax bracket earns a dividend income of, say, ₹15,000, they are liable to pay ₹4,500 as tax. Additionally, a TDS (tax deducted at source) of 10 per cent is applicable on a dividend income above ₹5,000 in a financial year. This means if you receive ₹15,000 as dividend, a TDS of ₹1,000 (10 per cent of ₹10,000, as the first ₹5,000 is exempt) is deducted at source. However, this TDS can be adjusted against the total tax liability while filing ITR.
